Tripoli, July 1.

THe account we had of the French Men of War and Gallies fitted out at Tboulon and Marseilles, designed as was reported against this place, hath so Allarmed those here, that to avoid the danger most of their Ships are gone to the Levant to Cruise there, and to expect what the event of this Summer will be in these Parts: But the French not appearing as yet upon these Coasts, gives them ground to believe that their design was not against them, or if it was, that it is diverted. The Purchase which these Pyrates have brought or sent hither within these two Months is pretty considerable, viz. the Sancta Sophia, a Venetian built Ship under French Colours, Laden at Alicant with Salt, Spanish Wool, &c. for Venice; a great Brigantine, bound from Cephalonia for Messina, a Genouese ship, one of Marseilles, a Petach of Ragusa, and another French Ship laden with fine Goods from Venice to Roan.

Lisbon, Aug. 20. The Chevallier de Chateau Regnant lyes before Sally with three French Men of War, while two others of his Squadron are Cruising on that Coast. The 31 Instant two French Frigats came into our River, and Anchored in the Road of St. Catherine, the Captain of the Fort permitting them so to do, upon the assurance the Marquis de Langeron, who Commanded those Frigats, gave him, that he had the Princes leave; but the Prince was so far offended with the said Captain of the Fort, because he had not any Order for what he did, that he put him out of his place, and caused him to be Imprisoned, though at the Intercession of the French Ambassador he was restored to his Liberty and Command.

Genova, Sept. 4. It was reported that the French Gallies had Orders to come back hither, but now we have an account that they are retiring to Marseilles, where they will Winter. The ill News we have of the Plagues spreading it self in Spain, puts a great stop to the Trade of these Parts. The five Gallies of this State are hourly expected from the Coast of Sicily; the manner of the Salutes between them and those of the great Duke of Tuscany has been fairly adjusted.

Florence, Sept. 10. From Turin they write, That they were expecting a French Man of War at Nizza, who is to carry the Marquis de Pronero, Ambassador from the Duke of Savoy, to Portugal; And that the Proposals which had been made by the French Ingenier for the making of a Mole and Arsenal at Nizza were such, that the Court of Savoy saw it would be a work too great and expensive to be undertaken, and therefore they had for the present laid aside the farther thoughts of it. The French Gallies, as well those that are in the Spanish Seas, under the Command of the Duke de Vivonne, as those that have been Cruising on the Coast of Ita- ly, are so full of sick men, that they will be forced to return home without doing any thing.

Lintz, Sept. 10. We are told that the Emperor intends to hold a great Council, at which the Duke of Lorraine will Assist, where matters of great importance will be debated, and resolutions taken concerning them. The Earl of Middleton, Envoy Extraordinary from the King of England, has had several Conferences With the Commissioners appointed to Treat with him.

Berlin, Sept. 18. We are informed that the Prince of Orange has sent to desire our Elector to hasten his Journey to Hall and Magdeberg, for that he is desirous to meet him there, and that his Electoral Highness, who is unwilling to take that Journey because the Plague is broke out in the Neighborhood of Hall, has invited the Prince hither. The Reports that have been spread abroad of new Levies making here are wholly groundless, there appearing not any such intention in our Elector for the present. It is said that the Elector has resolved to add some new Fortifications to the City of Wesel, and the Inhabitants there are not without Apprehensions that a new Citadel will be Built.

Cologne, Sept. 20. The Letters we receive from Alsace only tell us that the French Troops are marching towards their Winter Quarters, thereby freeing those parts and particularly the City of Strasbourg of the fears they were in while the laid Troops kept the Field. In Hungary, if we may believe what is writ from thence, the Rebels grow more and more powerful, they having at present a great many French Soldiers as well as Poles in their Service: they have lately Plundered and burnt Keisermarke, and had several advantageous Rencontres with the Imperial Parties. From Vienna they write, That the Earl of Middleton was arrived there, That he had had Audience of the Emperor, and been in Conference with the Ministers.

Hamburg, Sept. 20. The Prince of Orange is expected in a day or two at Zell, where will be a great concourse of Persons of Quality, and several sorts of Divertisements are preparing for them. They write from Wismar, That that City will now very suddenly be restored to the Swedes. The Letters from Stockholme speak as if that Crown was going to enter into a new Alliance with France, which some of the Senators did however oppose, thinking it the Kings Interest to take other measures now than he had done formerly.

Amsterdam, Sept. 24. The States of Holland continue as yet assembled to endeavour to compose the differences between this Province and Zealand, towards which it's said they have made some Progress. The great discourse here is of what hath lately happened in Offend Road, where on the 18th Instant a Spanish Man of War was taken by several Brandenburg Frigats, by way of Reprizal, as is said, for the Arrears of Subsidies due to the Elector of Spain, which it's pretended amount to 1600000 Gilders.

ders, about 160 thousand Pounds sterl. The Heer Van Leeuwen will in few days begin his Journey for England. We begin here to be somewhat mistrustful of the Merchandizes that are brought from Germany, fearing they may come from places infected, about which care is going to be taken.

Hague, Sept. 23. The States General have commanded the Ninth of the next Month to be observed as a day of Solemn and publick Devotion, to supplicate the Divine Benediction upon the Councils of this State, for the continuance of its present Peace, &c. Mr. Sidney is gone for England.

Hague, Sept. 24. On Saturday last the Spanish Envoy presented a Memorial to the States General, wherein he acquainted them, That on the 18th Instant eight Men of War Boarded and took a Ship belonging to the King his Master in the Road of Ostend, bound for Cadiz; and after having made great Complaints of this manner of proceeding, he desires the States to cause strict enquiry to be made who those Ships belong to, that they may be stoppt and secured in case they come into any of their Ports, and that they will order their Men of War, if they meet them at Sea, to Attack and Seize them, in pursuance of the Alliance between the King of Spain and this State: Adding that if this Attempt proceeds from any pretention of Arrears of Subsidies, they ought to remember that those Debts were contracted for the assistance and defence of this State, and that if they do not resent this Action they may be exposed to the like Attempts on account of those Subsidies they are likewise in Arrear; and concluding that he hopes the States will employ their Forces for the obtaining the King his Master a just reparation at a time when his Majesty spares no cost for the putting the Low Countreys into a Posture of Defence, as well in consideration of the Interest of this State, as his own. Since the delivery of this Memorial we understand that those Ships prove to be the Brandenburg Frigats (which we told you in our last were at Schonevelt;) That the Commander in Chief is one Benjamin Raule, a Zealander, and that most of his men are of that Country. The Ship he has taken is valued at 800000 Gilders, and it's said that when he has executed his Commission in these parts, his design is either for the West Indies, or to the Red Sea, to intercept the Presents and Offerings of the zealous Mahometans sent to Mecca.

Brussels, Sept 24. From Ostend we have an account that the Brandenburg Frigats have set afloat the Master and Seamen of the Spanish Man of War they took the 18th Instant in that Road; and that they continue to cruise within sight of Ostend, to intercept, as is imagined, the Prince of Parma, or at least some of the Ships that come with him, on Board of which it's said is a great deal of money for the service of these Countries; but a Vessel having been sent out by the Governor of Ostend, to advise the Prince, if he can meet with him, of the danger, it's hoped (if he be not strong enough to encounter with those Frigats) he will have time to avoid them, by changing his course. The Sieur Christin, appointed one of the Commissioners for the Conferences at Courtray, parted from hence this morning, the Sieur Waes, his Colleague, being already there. We are now very quiet again, the Assembly of the Nations being broke up after an assurance given them, that for the future no moneys shall be raised without their Consent, with which they are so well satisfied, that they offer, if his Excellency will call them together again, to grant a Tax upon Beer and Wine, but his excellency being so near quitting this Government, will leave it to be done by his Successor the Prince of Parma.

Antwerp, Sept. 24. The Seizure of the Spanish Man of War by the Brandenburg Ships has very much Allarmed us, as well for the interruption it is like to give to Trade, as the other consequences it may have. We are informed that the Duke of Villa Hermosa has sent an Express to Berlin, to complain of this manner of proceeding, and to demand reparation.

Deale, Sept. 18. Yesterday arrived in the Downs the Hunter Frigate from Jamaica, which was feared to have been lost.

Whitehall, Sept. 16. This morning their Majesties and his Royal Highness went hence to Newmarket, to pass a Fortnight or three Weeks there.

Whitehall, Sept. 18. This Afternoon the Prince Elector Palatine parted from hence, His Majesties Barge carrying him to Greenwich, where he embarked on one of the Kings Yachts.

Whereas the Adventurers of the Royal Fishery are now sitting out their Doggers from the River of Thames, for the white Herring and Cod Fishings, These are to give notice to such Fishermen as are skill'd in the said Fisheries, and shall be willing to serve the said Adventurers on Board their said Doggers, That upon their Repairing to the House of Mr. Benjamin Watson, Merchant, in Crooked Lane, London, they shall have there such Proposals given them by the said Mr. Watson, for the entrance into the said service as shall be to their just satisfaction.
