ruin our Commerce, and to ſink us in the Eſteem of all the Nations of the World: And we rejoice, moſt gracious Sovereign, to find ourſelves unſhackled from a Peace uſed by our inveterate Foe to bind us, and hold him free.

With theſe Sentiments we make offer to your Majeſty to ſupport your juſt Claims, and the Intereſt, Honor, Freedom, and Independence of our Country, with our Lives and Fortunes.

Deeply ſenſible of the ineſtimable Value of your Majeſty's ſacred Life, under whoſe mild and patriotic Reign we have enjoyed the unbounded Bleſſings of our free Conſtitution, we moſt earneſtly pray that Almighty God may enable your Majeſty to conduct your People, united in their Efforts, ſucceſsfully to repel every Danger which threatens them, and to continue thoſe united Exertions until they ſhall be crowned by a ſafe, honorable, and permanent Peace.

Signed by our Preſes, in our Name, and by our Appointment, at Ayr, the Twenty-ſecond Day of June One thouſand eight hundred and three.

Eglinton, Preſes.

[Preſented by the Right Honorable Lord Pelham.]

To the KING's Moſt Excellent Majeſty.

Moſt Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the High Sheriff, Lord Lieutenant, Noblemen, Gentlemen, Clergy, Freeholders, and other Inhabitants of the County of Huntingdon, beg Leave to renew our Sentiments of Fidelity and Allegiance to your Majeſty's Perſon, and to aſſure your Majeſty that we are moſt fully convinced of the unavoidable Neceſſity of the preſent War, for the Preſervation of our glorious Conſtitution, and for repelling the inordinate Ambition of France, which nothing but the depriving us of our Exiſtence as a free and independent Nation can ſatisfy.

It is our fervent Prayer, that under the Protection of an all-wiſe and gracious Providence, the Valour of your Fleets and Armies may bring the preſent Conteſt to a glorious and happy Concluſion; and to produce this Effect, we, on our Parts, individually pledge ourſelves to ſupport your Majeſty with our Services, Lives, and Fortunes.

[Preſented by Sir James Duberley, the High Sheriff.]

To the KING's Moſt Excellent Majeſty,

The humble Addreſs of the Mayor, Bailiffs, Burgeſſes, and Inhabitants of the Town and County of the Town of Southampton.

SIRE!

MAY it pleaſe your Majeſty to permit the Mayor Bailiffs, Burgeſſes, and Inhabitants of the Town and County of the Town of Southampton, to lay at your Feet their ſincere Profeſſions of Loyalty, and Pledges of their utmoſt Exertions, on an Occaſion which calls forth to Arms all Men who have a Senſe of the Happineſs enjoyed under your benign and parental Government.

The inſidious Character of the French Conſul, his boundleſs Ambition and inſatiate Thirſt of Power, are ſo well known, that all Surpriſe is loſt in the Indignation we feel at a Conduct which irreſiſtibly compels your Majeſty to renew a Conteſt, the Sores of which are yet unhealed, and its Progreſs marked by Deſolation and the Voice of Miſery.

Ever zealous in Defence of our Holy Religion, our Country, and our King; exulting in the Unanimity which inſpires our Fellow-Subjects; and in the unrivalled Bravery of your Fleets and Armies, we hear the Sound of War without Diſmay, cheerfully offering to your Majeſty our firm Support in a Cauſe ſo highly intereſting to your Kingdoms, and to the injured and inſulted States of Europe.

Proceed, great Sir, to aſſert the Dignity of your Crown, your Rights of Dominion, and the Welfare of your People, that it may again be ſeen what Men can do who fight for all Things ſacred, all Things dear, againſt an impious and tyrannical Uſurper!

And may the God we worſhip, and in whom we truſt, appoint your Majeſty to be the Avenger of ſuch complicated and extended Wrongs; and when the Sword ſhall have done its deadly Work, may he make you the Meſſenger of glad Tidings to deſpairing Nations reſtored to Liberty and Peace.

Signed in the Name and at the Requeſt of the Meeting, A. Scott, Mayor.

[Preſented by James Amyatt, Eſq; one of the Repreſentatives in Parliament for the ſaid Town.]

To the KING's Moſt Excellent Majeſty.

WE, the Noblemen, Gentlemen, Clergy, Freeholders and others of the County of Angleſey, deeply impreſſed with a Senſe of public Duty, humbly beg Leave to addreſs your Majeſty at this momentous Criſis. We are truly ſenſible of the various Bleſſings we enjoy under a Conſtitution formed upon Principles that embrace the equal Good of all Orders of Men, as well as of your Majeſty's paternal Care in the Government and juſt Adminiſtration of the Laws of theſe Realms.

With theſe Impreſſions, and impelled by every other Feeling that can attach us to our Country, we regard the Preparations and Menaces of France (profeſſedly with a View to our Extermination,) not with Diſmay, but as Men conſcious of the Importance of the Conteſt in which we are engaged; a Conteſt involving no leſs than the Preſervation of our Civil and Religious Rights, our perſonal Poſſeſſions, our domeſtic and ſocial Happineſs; or, on the other Hand, conſigning us to the deſpotic Rule of a foreign Tyrant, whoſe Power, accidentally acquired, has hitherto been principally exerted in the Subjugation of the People of France, in the Overthrow and Plunder of defenceleſs States, in rapacious Exactions from involuntary Allies, in a ſolemn Mockery of a ſanctities of Religion, and whoſe Act of Peace, as it now appears, concealed the treacherous Project of a more deſtructive War.

We therefore humbly entreat your Majeſty to receive the Aſſurance of our moſt zealous Support, collectively and individually we will exert our utmoſt Efforts to repel every Attempt at Invaſion, nor will we ſuffer any Abatement of the Means in our Power to aid the Meaſures your Majeſty may be graciouſly pleaſed to direct for the general Welfare.

W. B. Hughes, Sheriff.

[Preſented by the Right Honorable Lord Uxbridge.]
