Lishon, Nov. 11.

He Court is gone to Alcamara, and will remain there all this month; the Queen and the Infanta being very much delighted with the place, We are expecting here the Marqvis de Dronero, who comes in the quality of Ambassador Extraordinary from the Duke of Savoy, to demand the Infanta in Marriage, and to perform the ceremony of the Espoulais in the name of the said Duke. On Wednesday last parted from honce an Envoy whom our Prince sends to Turin, he embarked on a merchants, Ship for Geneua.

Warlaw, Nov. 27. The King and Queen of Poland are removed from Fawarrow to oZlklew, which is his Majesty patrimonial Estate, with intention to remain there till the meeting of the Dyet, when the Court will return hither. We have advice from the Court will return hither. Faste the Capital of Walachia, that the Ottoman Forces are quartered along the Danube and that their head quarter is at Budzwill, from whence it is concluded that the faid Troops are defign to take the field very carly the next year; and there are some Letters which affine us that the Grand Signior, or at least the Gran Vizier will be at the head of them, in ors der to the obliging the Moscovits to yield to those terms, which higherto they have rejected, with a contempt of the threats which the Turks made use of to bring them to a complyance. Its belived this Crown has now wholy layed afide the thoughts of an offensive War against the Turks, and that which, will be defired of the approaching Dyet will he to make such provision, as that the Kingdom may be able to carry on a defensive one, in case the Turks should have such a design;

Stockbolme, Nov. 27. On Saturday next the General Dyet of this Kingdom will seperate. They have taken resolutions in two great points, the one concerning the reunion of the alienated Crown Lands (which the Nobility have, been finally obliged to consent to) and the other concerning the revision, and examination of what was done, during the Kings Minority. On Tuesday next the Queen makes her publick Entry into this place, and the next day will be Crowned, which will be performed with great State and Solemnity. On monday last Mr., Warwick, Envoy Extraordinary from His Majelly of Great-Brittain was conducted to his first Audience of the King. On Sunday next will be per's formed with great pomp the Funerals of Gustavia Wrangel, who was General of the Forces of this King-don, a command so great that it has concinued vacant ever fince his death which happoned in the year 1695. Count Magnus de la Gardie is expected here to take possession of the Office of Ricks-Draff, being in that quality to let the Crown upon the Queens Head.

Madrid, Nov. 28. The Dutch Ambaffador at this Court has had feveral conferences with the Duke de Modina Celi, concerning the differences arisen between this Crown and the Elector of Brantdenburg, for the composing of which, the States have made offer of their Mediation, accompanying it with such arguments as might induce the King to lay and the Resentment he has of what happened in the Read of Oftend, and to encline to filth overtures as may tend to a compositive, which is in neeffact in the present conjuditive of Affairs; But hitherto the King has not accepted the Mediation of the faid States? but demands to have first the Shin faken by the Brandenburg Frigats restored. The 15th in stant being the Feast of St. Leopold, which name the Emperor bears, the Grandees and the Nobility of both Sexes appeared very rich in their Cloaths, and were all to complement the Queen Mother, because of her near relation to the Emperor. Two days fince arrived here an Express from Milan, sents by the Count de Melgar Governor of that Country, but we know not what he brought.

Bellin, Decemb. 4. The marching of io many Troops towards Cleves, and the fending Lieutenant General Spaen, who is Governor for his Electoral Highness of thar Country thither in so much hast; makes several people expect to here of some action on that fide; though others are of another opinion 3 and think that what our Elector does, is only by way of precautian, in case the Spaniards should attempt any thing upon those his territorys in return of what the Brandenburg Frigats' did in the Road of Oftend, which at they same time they cannot believe they will do, confidering how affairs now stand in Christendom, and the occasion that might thereby be given to those that are really to make use of any that may serve for the promoting their gacat deligns. The Plague is very confiderably a hated at Leipsicke.

Lintz, Decemb, We are expecting with some impatience the confirmation of the news we have had here for foint days past, of a Peace being concluded with the Hungarian-Malecontents, which we have the more reason to believe for that we were befor informed from very good thands that Count Teckely and other principal men among the Hungarians were endeavoring all they could to difpose them to a submission to the Emperor upon the terms proposed, by leting them see the little confidence they could have in the promises of allistance which the Grand Vizier had so offelt made them, and invade they were complyed wirls, how danger-tous those very factors might be to the liberrys they were now fighting for. What was said of the Duke of Lowaine's coming hither proves a mistake? his Highnessus at Fienna, where his wife the Queen of Poland now Lyer in, but from thence he will return again to Affrait! We have feen bere, as they have do no work of her places, the Comet that has lately appeared, upon which the Astronomers are making their observations,

Strasburg, Decemb, 7. As the Spring approaches, so do out feats and those holds of oundless, for such are the preparations that are making by the Franci. that they give us but too much cause to believe that they have great defigns in hand, and that this City is particularly concerned in them. Our only hopes are, that the Emperor and the Princes ofthe Empire will on their fide take fuch measures, as that we may have the advantage of their protection, in case we are attacked. Our Letters indeed from Lintz tell us, that his Imperial Majeity is making new leavies; and at the same time; we are informed that several Princes of the Empire are going to raise men, for the Emperors service but we wish that the preparations, which are making on that fide may be equal to those on the other, though we have reason enough to doubt it: continue to fee the Comet.

Hamburg, Decemb. 11. The Prince of Hanoner, Eldelt Son to the Duke of that name is preparing for his journey for England. We are informaed that the Bilhop of Muniter has given out Commissions for the raising of several new, Troops, and that they are deligned for the lervice of the Emperor, who as our Letters from Linea tell us, is resolved to have a very considerable Army in the field the next Spring, which he will be the better able to do, if the advices we have of a Peace box ing conclued with the Hungarian Malecontents be We are at present very quiet in these parts and hope we shall continue to.

Hague, Decemb. 17. The Letters, we receive from Flanders speak hardly of any thing besides the great preparations that are making by the Exemple, and the apprehensions they have, that they are deligned against those Provinces, which its feared are not in the condition that is necessary for theirs defence, though the Prince of Perms is doing what he can to put them into it. Several of the Sub-jects of this State that were in the service of the filector of Brandenburg having quitted it, so soon as they understood the Placaet that was published by the States General for that purpose, it has renewed the displeasure which his Electoral Highness took against the said Placaet, and has put him, as they write from Berlin upon a resolution of re-turning it with a like on his part.

Bruffels, Decemb, 14. We understand that the Count d' Archinto, and Don Bernardo de Salinas have finally effected what they went to Antwerp about, having settled the affairs of that City, and obtained its confine for the paying feveral Imposts as formerly. The Indisposition of the Prince of Parma full continues upon him; to the great hindrance formerly. of the publick affairs, tho his Highness omits not during the least relaxation, to apply himself thereunto; the chief matter he is more particularly zealous in, is the fettlement of the Army upon such a foot, as that it may answer the present occasions, the rencounter that happened the other night between the Prince of Vaudement and fome persons, that are as yet unknown, begins to be otherwise interpreted than it was at first, many people now looks ing upon it as a Ducl, deligned on both fides; fet though they were three perions that at first met the Prince yet it was only one that fought with him, the other two immediately retiring, as the third did upon the breaking of his Sword been last night with the Prince of Parma, to give him an account of what he had done, and to receive his directions upon it, he returned to Ammero. this morning, from whence we expect him and Don Bernardo de Salinas back again to morrow, having fetled the matters they went thither about. The Prince of Parms continues very much indifpoled, which obliged him to receive Mr. Legg, who had his Audience this afternoon, in his bed. From Germany they write that the Elector Paletine- the Elector of Saxony, and the Bishop of Wartsburg were going to raise each 10 or 12000 men.

Falmouth, Decemb. 8. The 5th Infant came is here the fonas of Dover. The Malter reports that off of Sailly he faw a Ship lye upon her fide, but knows not what the was,

Portsmouth, Decemb, 12, Wo have an account from Cowes, that about the beginning of the last weeka Vessek sitted out as a Privarier, met a Dutch Galliot-Hoy on the other fide of the Isle of Wight laden with wine and Brandy from France, boarded her and took her (pretending they had Letters of Reprisall) and fet the men ashore upon the Island, who presently applyed themselves to the Governor of Cower Castile, and the Vessel accedentally coming into the Road, was felfed, the Captain committed priloner to the Castle and the rest of the Seamen scured, as Pyrats. These two last nights appeared to us here, about a clock in the Evening a pale bright fiream, supposed to come from a Star fet in the West.

Persimoush, Decemb. 14. Yefterday the Crown Frigat set Sail from the Spitebead for Plimouth.

London, Decemb. 14. This day was made Publick. the Speech of the Lord High Strongerd in Westmin-ster-Hall, as the time of his pronouncing the Fudgment of the House of Peers, against the Lord Piscount Stafford. Printed by his Majesties Printers.
