Copy of a Letter from Vice-Admiral Sir Andrew Mitchell, K. B. Commander in Chief of His Majesty's Ships and Vessels at Halifax, to William Mårdsden, Esq; dated Bermuda, 24th of March 1805.

S I R,

I HAVE the Honor to enclose, for the Information of the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, Three Letters relative to the Capture of His Majesty's Ship Cleopatra, on the 17th of February last, by the French Frigate La Ville-de Milan, after a very severe Action.

Their Lordships will with Pleasure observe how fortunate the Leander has been in falling in with both Ships, taking La Ville de Milan, and retaking the Cleopatra.

No Language of mine can do sufficient Justice to the Perseverance in the Chace, and gallant Conduct of Sir Robert Lawrie, Bart. his Officers, and young Ship's Company, in the Action with the Enemy, which will ever reflect the highest Honor on them, when their Lordships consider the Superiority of the Ships and Men.

I cannot omit, at the same Time, to give full Credit to the Zeal shewn by the Leander's Ship's Company, and with what Alacrity and anxious Wish (Captain Talbot reports to me) they shewed to engage both the Frigates, then in the Haze, and under French Colours, when the Leander bore up to place herself between them to bring them to Action:— from the high Opinion I have of the Officers, and the uniform good and steady Conduct and Discipline of the Men, I trust they would have given a good Account of them.

The Cleopatra sailed for Halifax the 18th Instant, under the Charge of Captain Sir Robert Lawrie, for the Purpose of being valued and refitted as soon as possible.

La Ville de Milan I shall take to Halifax with the Squadron. She is a very fine Frigate, of the largest Class, only One Year old the Day of the Action, and completely fit for His Majesty's Service in every Respect, except the Damage she received in her Masts, Yards, &c. in the Action, having also a great Quantity of spare Stores on board. I therefore trust their Lordships will give the necessary Orders for her being purchased into His Majesty's Service. I shall take upon me to direct Commissioner Inglesfield to cause the proper Officers of His Majesty's Dock Yard to value her Hull, Stores, &c. agreeable to their Lordships' Instructions on that Head.

I have the Honor to be, &c.

A. MITCHELL.

His Majesty's Ship Leander, off St. David's Head, Bermuda, Wednesday 6th March

SIR, 1805, at Ten A. M.

I HAVE the Honor to inform you, that I proceeded to Sea, and cruized in His Majesty's Ship under my Command, according to your Orders; dated the 13th of last Month.

On Saturday the 23d February, at Twelve o'Clock at Noon, a Sail was seen from the Mast-Head, bearing South of us; the Weather at this Time was hazy, with Squalls of Wind and Rain from the Northward. All sail was immediately made in chace, the Weather becoming still more hazy, in a few Moments we lost Sight of the Chace; at half-past Two o'Clock it cleared away a little to the Southward, and we again got Sight of her. I found we had considerably neared the Chace, and that it was a large Ship under Jury Masts, standing to the South-East. At Three o'Clock we saw another Ship a short Distance from the Chace, steering the same Course, also under Jury Masts, in Appearance a much larger Vessel. As we closed them very fast, we soon clearly saw they were both Frigates; on their making us out to be a Man of War, they closed to support each other, fired a Gun to Leeward, and hoisted French Ensigns from their Main-Stays; at Four o'Clock we were within Gun-Shot of them, they separated, the Frigate nearest to us put before the Wind, the other steered with it, on her Larboard Quarter. By half-past Four o'Clock we got within Mullet-Shot of the smallest Frigate, gave her one of the Main-Deck Guns; when, after a few Minutes Hesitation, she hauled down her Colours, and hove to.

On my hailing this Frigate, I am sorry to tell you, Sir, that I was informed by them, she was His Majesty's Ship Cleopatra, of Thirty-two Guns, lately commanded by Sir Robert Lawrie, Bart. She was taken on Sunday the 17th of February, after having brought to and sustained a most severe and gallant Action for the Space of Three Hours and a Quarter, by a French Frigate nearly double her Force, in Size, Complement of Men, and Weight of Metal.

Observing that the Part of the Crew left on board her belonging to His Majesty's Ship Cleopatra, had come on Deck, and taken Possession of her on the Ship striking to us: I hailed, ordered them to make sail, and steer after His Majesty's Ship Leander. Again made sail in Chace, and in about an Hour's Time got alongside the French Frigate; she hauled down her Colours, and struck to us without a Gun being fired on either Side.

On hailing the French Frigate, you, Sir, may easily judge how happy I must have felt, on hearing I was answered by my Friend Sir Robert Lawrie, who told me he was well, and that the Ship was La Ville de Milan, Nineteen Days from the Island of Martinique, bound to France.

La Ville de Milan is a remarkably fine and handsome Frigate, about one Year old, One Thousand

Two Hundred Tons Burthen, mounting Fourteen long Nine-Pounders on her Quarter-Deck, Six long Nine-Pounders on the Forecastle, Fifteen Ports of a Side on the Main-Deck; when she sailed from France, had Twenty-eight Eighteen-Pounders mounted on it—now Twenty-six; Two were landed from her at Martinique.

When the Action commenced between La Ville de Milan and His Majesty's Ship Cleopatra, she was commanded by Monf. Reynaud, Capitaine de Vaisseau, had on board Three Hundred and Sixty Men as her Complement, besides a Number of Officers and Soldiers of the French Army, going Passengers to Europe.

The Officers of La Ville de Milan agree in saying, that having Dispatches on board for France, with Orders not to speak any Thing during their Passage, every Thing was done in their Power to avoid being brought to Action by the Cleopatra.

Monf. Reynaud was killed by the last Shot fired from the Cleopatra; he was esteemed an experienced and active Officer, and had served in the late King of France's Service as an Auxiliary Officer. He sailed in La Ville de Milan from L'Orient, the 1st of last August, as Commodore of Six of their largest Frigates, with Troops embarked on board them, to be landed on the Island of Martinique; after having performed this Service, he was ordered, as the French Officers express it, to make a Sweep through the Islands.

Monf. Guillet, Capitaine de Frigate, and Second Captain of La Ville de Milan, commanded when she struck to us, and Monf. Carron, her Second Lieutenant, had the Command of the Cleopatra.

It is not possible for Officers to speak in stronger Terms than the French Officers do in Praise of Sir Robert Lawrie's Perseverance in so long a Chace, except it is in the Praise they bestow on him, his Officers, Seamen, and Marines for their gallant Conduct during so long and severe an Action.

It is a very painful Part of my Duty to be obliged to inform you, Sir, that your eldest Son, who was doing Duty as an acting Lieutenant, is included among the Number badly wounded on board the Cleopatra: as soon as the Weather admitted of his being removed, I had him brought on board this Ship, and I have great Pleasure in telling you he is much recovered; and from the Experience, great Care and Attention of Mr. Clifford, Surgeon of the Leander, I have every Reason to believe that you will, in a short Space of Time, have the Satisfaction of finding him once more gallantly exerting himself for the Honor, and in the Defence of his King and Country. Sir Robert Lawrie speaks in the highest Terms of his Conduct, and, indeed, of that of all the Officers, Seamen and Marines of His Majesty's Ship Cleopatra.

Sir Robert has, at my Request, been so kind as to take Charge of the Cleopatra till she arrives in Port. I have given Mr. Nairne, First Lieutenant of His Majesty's Ship Leander, Charge of La Ville de Milan; the Length of Time he has had the Honor to serve under your Flag would make it superfluous in me to attempt to point out to you, Sir, his meritorious Services and Abilities as an Officer; the only Comment I can make on his Conduct on this Occasion, is, that nothing can exceed the Exertions he has made in putting La Ville de Milan in a sea-worthy State.

The Alacrity of the Officers, Seamen, and Marines of His Majesty's Ship under my Command during the Chace, and their Steadiness on going down to attack the two Frigates, who had closed, in Appearance with a Determination to make a formidable Resistance, convinced me, Sir, that had they waited to make the Resistance they seemed disposed to do, the Leander would not have justified her good Name.

I have the Honor to be, &c
JOHN TALBOT, Post Captain.
 To Vice-Admiral Sir Andrew Mitchell, K. B.
&c. &c. &c.

His Majesty's Ship Leander, Murray's Anchorage, Bermuda, March 7, 1805.
 SIR, I HAVE the Honor to send you inclosed a Letter I this Day received from Sir Robert Laivrie, Bart. From the Statement made therein, you will find, Sir, that the Credit of the British Flag has seldom been more honorably and gallantly supported than on the present Occasion; and the French Officers, whom I have Prisoners on board this Ship, cannot themselves avoid to acknowledge, that had not the Cleopatra unfortunately forged a-head of La Ville de Milan the latter Part of the Action, La Ville de Milan must have surrendered to the Cleopatra. I have the Honor to be, &c.

(Signed) J. TALBOT.

His Majesty's Ship Cleopatra, at Sea, February 25, 1805.
 SIR, I HAVE to request that you will be pleased to acquaint the Commander in Chief, that on Saturday the 16th Instant, in Lat. 28 Deg. N., Long. 67 Deg. W., at Ten A. M., saw a Ship in the S. E. standing to the E. N. E., the Wind at N. W.; made Sail towards her; at Eleven perceived the Chace to be a large Frigate, with Fifteen Ports of a Side on the Main Deck; cleared Ship for Action, and hoisted American Colours to induce him to bring to for us; but, instead of which, he made more Sail; the Weather squally; made and shortened Sail occasionally; carried away several Studding Sail-Yards, and the Foretop-Mast Studding Sail Boom, shifted over the Starboard one, and set the reefed Lower Studding-Sail; a good deal of Swell; the Chace apparently steering so as to keep the Studding-Sails drawing full; and that at Daylight on the 17th, was about Four Miles a-head; fresh Breezes and Swell as before. At half-past Ten he took in his Studding Sails, and hauled more up; when we got within about Three Quarters of a Mile took in ours also. At half-past Eleven he hauled his Mainsail up, and kept more to the Wind; upon our steering so close with him upon his Quarter he again set it and Stayails, trying to gain the Wind of us (upon which Point of Sailing he had the Advantage); we made all Sail, the Chace having some Time before hoisted French Colours, and we ours.

On his seeming to draw a-head from us, at the Distance of about half Gun-shot, fired our Bow Chacers, which he returned occasionally from his Stern.

His Guns appearing so well directed, and of heavy Metal, and to prevent being raked by them,

NO. 15799.

B

I was obliged to steer so as to keep on his Quarter, though prolonging the Chace. Latitude, at Noon, 29 Deg. 24 Min. N., Long 64 Deg. 20 Min. W. At half-past Two P. M. having got within about a Cable's Length from the Enemy, he luffed close to the Wind, and gave us Two Broadfides, which, when at less than a half Cable's Distance, we returned, and a warm Action commenced, both Ships trimming Sails, steering sometimes close to the Wind, and at others about Three Points free, during which we had considerably the Advantage. About Five, having shot away his Main-topfail-Yard, we forged a-head, although the Mizzen-topfail was squared, and both Jib, Stay, and Haulyards gone, finding neither Fore nor Main Clue-Garnets left to haul the Courses up, our Running Rigging cut to Pieces, so as to render it impossible to either shorten or back a Sail, and both Main and Spring Stays were shot away, the Mainmast only supported by the Storm Stayfail-Stay, I was induced to cross his Bow, and, by hauling up, to have raked him, in Preference to exposing our Stern to the Fire of Twenty-five Pieces of Cannon from his Broadside; but in the Act of which an unfortunate Shot struck the Wheel, the broken Spokes were jammed against the Deck, so as to render it immoveable, as well as the Rudder, which, at the same Time, was choaked in the End by Splinters, Pistols, &c. placed near it. Our Opponent, availing himself of our ungovernable Situation, with the Wind upon his Quarter, gave us the Stern, running his Head and Bow-sprit over our Quarter-Deck, just abaft the Main Rigging, and, under the Cover of a very heavy Fire from Muskets and Musketoons, attempted to board us, but was drove back; we exchanged a few Musketry with them; but their great Advantage in Height and Superiority of Numbers, as well as by their Musketoons from their Tops, cleared our Decks, and in at our Ports. The only Two Guns we could bring to bear, being fired from within board, did them little Injury, the Shot passing through their Lower Deck. Most of our Sails laying a-shiver, or partly a-back, and bore down by so heavy a Ship, (having been intended for a Seventy-four,) going almost before the Wind, and much Sea running, appearing to cut us asunder at every send, I saw no Prospects of saving this Ship, or the Lives of the numerous Wounded that then were below, on the Suggestion of the First Lieutenant we attempted to hoist the Fore-topmast Stayfail; and I directed the Spritsail Topfail to be set also; but, in the Execution of which Orders, every Man was knocked down by their Musketry and other small Shot as they made their Appearance. At a Quarter past Five they succeeded in boarding, and I was compelled to surrender to the French Frigate La Ville de Milan, of Forty-six Guns, French Eighteen-Pounders, on the Main-Deck, and Eights on the Quarter-Deck and Forecastle; Three Hundred and Fifty Men, besides several Officers and Passengers: commanded by Monsieur Reynaud, Capitain de Vaisseaux, and Monsieur Gillet, Capitaine de Frigate; the former was killed, and the latter badly wounded in the Action, and immediately afterwards the Cleopatra became a perfect Wreck, not a Spar standing but the Mizzenmast, the Bow-sprit and other Masts gone by the board, and I fully expected she would have foundered before both Ships could get clear of each other.

I trust it will be found that every Exertion was made to bring a Ship of so superior Force into Action, and in maintaining of it. La Ville de Milan is nearly double our Size and Force, being a new Ship of about Twelve Hundred Tons Burthen, and having almost twice our Number of Men on board, as we only mustered at Quarters One Hundred and Ninety-nine, being Ten short of Complement, and that from the Strength of the Ship's Company in able Seamen, and there were several in the sick List.

From Lieutenant Balfour I received every Assistance, as from a good and zealous Officer, as also from Lieutenants Kinfman and Croke, and Lieutenant Bowen of the Bermuda, who kept up a well-directed Fire from the main Deck, and Mr. Mitchell, Midshipman and Acting Lieutenant, from the Quarter-Deck, at which Lieutenant Appleton of the Marines assisted, having no Men to spare for Small Arms, but was wounded early.

The steady and cool Conduct of Mr. Best (the Master) confirmed what I had always expected from him: to go further in particularizing Individuals would be too tedious; but I think it my Duty to mention Mr. M'Carthy's (the Boatswain) Conduct, who is badly wounded, was highly spirited and active; and more Gallantry and Bravery could not have been displayed than by both Officers and Men of so young a Ship's Company, many being under Twenty Years of Age, and only Three Marines, who had joined that Corps more than Two Weeks before they were embarked.

I have no Hesitation in saying, that had not the above unlucky Accident occurred, she must have struck to us, as the next Morning her Foremast and Bow-sprit were the only Masts standing, much cut in the Hull, and I counted Eleven Shot in the Wreck of her Main-Mast; that our Twelve-Pounders could not do that Justice too from its Size, nor the Thickness of her Sides, that was so well intended.

I beg most earnestly to solicit Sir Andrew Mitchell's Patronage in Favor of Messrs. Howes and Ridgeway, (Master's-Mates,) as Two very meritorious and promising young Men, having considerably more than served their Time, and passed for Lieutenants; their Conduct on this Occasion, as well as for several Years before, with me, has been much to my Satisfaction, and in my humble Opinion, to entitle them to Promotion, as well as for Mr. Balfour the First Lieutenant; as you, Sir, must be the best Judge of the Situation we have reduced the French Ship to, so as to render her Chance of Escape from our numerous Cruizers almost an absolute Impossibility. I have the Honor to be, &c.

SIR,

I HAVE the Honor to inform you, that in consequence of Information of a Spanish Merchant Schooner being at Anchor off the Bay of Senegal, I proceeded immediately in quest of her, and had the good Fortune to meet with her at that Anchorage. She proves the Spanish Schooner the Carmara, pierced for Sixteen Guns, having only Two on board, laden with Wine, formerly in Possession of the French, employed as a Privateer by Victor Hughes at Cayenne, has done considerable Mischief to the British Trade on this Coast, was now intended to have been presented by the Governor of Senegal to Victor Hughes as a further Annoyance to our Trade on this Part of the Coast.

I have the Honor to be, &c.
