

“ and exercise a Proportion of His Subjects in England under certain Regulations, and more effectually to provide for the Defence of the Realm;” it is, amongst other Things, enacted, That it shall be lawful for His Majesty on any Returns then made, or which should thereafter be made, of the Numbers of Persons liable to serve in the Militia in the several Counties in England, under any Act then in force, or under any Act which might be passed in that Session of Parliament, to direct His Privy Council to take such Returns into Consideration, and to apportion any Number of Men, not exceeding 200,000, among the said Counties, according to the Number so returned, and thereupon to direct that the Numbers so apportioned should be transmitted to the respective Lieutenants of the said Counties, (Notice whereof should be thereupon Thrice printed in the London Gazette;) and that such Lieutenants should, immediately after the last Publication of such Notice, summon General and Subdivision Meetings of Lieutenantancy in their respective Counties; and that at such General Meetings the Numbers so fixed for each respective County should be divided and apportioned among the Hundreds of such respective Counties; and at such Subdivision Meetings, the Numbers so apportioned among each respective Hundred should be divided and apportioned among the Parishes of such respective Hundreds, in the Manner then in Use with respect to the Militia:—And whereas under a certain Act, passed in the same Session of Parliament, intituled “ An Act for the Return of correct Lists of Persons liable to serve in the Militia under an Act passed in the Forty-second Year of His present Majesty, and to suspend the Ballot for the Militia in England for Two Years;” Returns have been made of the Numbers of Persons liable to serve in the Militia in the several Counties in England, conformable to the Forms prescribed by certain Schedules thereto annexed; And whereas His Majesty hath been pleased by His Order in Council of the Fourth instant, made in pursuance of the said Act first above-mentioned, to direct His Privy Council to take the said last-mentioned Returns into Consideration, and to apportion Two Hundred Thousand Men among the said Counties, according to the Number so returned, and thereupon to direct that the Numbers so apportioned shall be transmitted to the respective Lieutenants of the said Counties, and be Thrice printed in the London Gazette, for the Purposes mentioned and expressed in the said Act; His Majesty’s Privy Council, in obedience to His Majesty’s said Directions expressed in the said Order, and in pursuance of the Powers and Authorities contained in the said Act first above-mentioned, have accordingly apportioned, and do hereby apportion among the several Counties in England, Two Hundred Thousand Men, according to the several Numbers specified in the Schedule hereunto annexed for each of the said Counties respectively, and amounting in the Whole to Two Hundred Thousand Men, and which Schedule His Majesty’s Privy Council are pleased to direct shall be taken as Part of this Order; and His Majesty’s Privy Council do hereby also direct that this Order, and the Schedule hereunto annexed, be transmitted to the respective Lieutenants of the said Counties in England, in order that they should proceed upon the same, in pursuance of the Directions of the said Act of Parliament first above-mentioned; and His Majesty’s Privy Council do hereby further direct, that this Order, and the said Schedule to the same annexed, be Thrice printed in the London Gazette.

W. Fawkener.

An APPORTIONMENT of 200,000 Men, out of 820,420, being the whole Number returned as liable to serve His Majesty in the several Counties of England and Wales.
