

Lumley and from Colonel Browne, I have received the most able and the most zealous Assistance and Support. The former protected the Line from the Enemy during our March, and covered our Rear during the Siege. The latter conducted it with great Judgement and determined Bravery.

The established Reputation of the Royal Artillery has been firmly supported by the Company under my Orders, and I consider myself much indebted to Captains Watson, Dickson, Carmichael, and Willgreffs, for their zealous and able Exertions. Captain Fanshaw of the Engineers was equally zealous, and though young in the Service conducted himself with such propriety that I have no doubt of his proving a valuable Officer. Owing to great Fatigue he was taken ill in the midst of our Operations, and Captain Dickson readily undertook his Office, and executed it with the greatest Judgement.

From the Heads of Corps and Departments, from the General Staff of the Army, from the Medical, and from my own personal Staff, I have received the most prompt and cheerful Assistance.

It is insufficient to say, that the utmost Cordiality has subsisted between Rear-Admiral Stirling and myself; I have received from him the most friendly Attention, and every Thing in his Power to grant.

The Captains and Officers of the Navy have been equally zealous to assist us; but I feel particularly indebted to Captains Donnelly and Palmer for their great Exertions. They commanded a Corps of Marines and Seamen that were landed, and were essentially useful to us with the Guns, and in the Batteries, as well as in bringing up the Ordnance and Stores.

This Dispatch will be delivered to you by Major Tucker, who was wounded at the Assault; and as he has long been in my Confidence, I beg Leave to refer you to him for further Particulars.

I have the Honour to be, &c.

S. AUCHMUTY,

Brigadier-General Commanding.

To the Right Honourable William Windham,

&c. &c. &c.

P. S. I am extremely concerned to add, that Lieutenant-Colonels Vassal and Brownrigg both died Yesterday of their Wounds. I had flattered myself with Hopes of their Recovery; but a rapid Mortification has deprived His Majesty of Two most able and gallant Officers.
