Vienna, March 20.

P Reparations are making here for the Reception of their Imperial Majesties, who had resolved to part from Lintz as yesterday, but our Letters that arrived this day from thence, inform us, that the indisposition of the Imperial Prince, will keep the Court there some days longer. From Hungary they write, that the Turks continue to make Provision in their Frontier Places, as if they had thoughts of a War on that side, which we may well believe they have, if what we are told of their being in a Treaty with the Moscovites be true. In Hungary as well the Imperial Troops as those of the Malecontents, continue in their Quarters assigned them, and though the Emperor to gratifie the latter, has called a Dyet, and that other Steps have been made towards an Accommodation, yet they continue to have a watchful eye upon one another; and Count Caprara, who Commands the Emperors Forces will not permit them to stir out of their Quarters.

Lintz, March 23. Part of the Emperors Family has already left this place and is gone for Vienna; and their Imperial Majesties would not have been here now, but that the Imperial Princes being somewhat out of order, has made them put off their departure till the 28th of this Month. The Duke of Lorrain and the Queen of Poland his Wife, parted from hence yesterday for Inspruck. We have Letters from Hungary which tell us, that it is generally believed in those parts. that the Turks will employ their Arms on that side the next Summer, for that they provide Magazines in their Frontier places, and that their Troops begin already to march that way.

Franfort, March 27. The French are preparing the ways between Verdun, Metz, Buneville, and St. Dies, for the more easie passage of the Troops that are ordered to march to Alsace. From Ratisbonne they write, that the Dyet had resumed the consideration of the matter of the Mint, which they have been so long labouring to make a Regulation in.

Strasburg, March 28. The Baron de Monclar is returned from France; and is expected to morrow at Haguenaw, as is said, to mark out a Camp for the Troops that begin to draw together. The Fortifications at Saar Louis and Longwi advance apace, seventeen Battalions being employed therein at each place.

Hamburg, March 28. A great many Horses are buying up in Holftein for the Service of the French King. Prince Louis and his Wife the Princess Radzeville are arrived at Berlin. In Poland the Dyet is still sitting; we may expect our next Letters will tell us of its being ended, and of the Resolutions they have taken.

Berlin, March 30. The 27th Instant arrived here Prince Louis and the Princess Radzeville, they were received by the Burghers in Arms, and Saluted with a Discharge of all the Canon round the Town. They intend to go and visit the Elector to morrow at Postdam. It is reported that the Plague is broke out at Magdeburg, which if true, will put off the Electors Journey thither, which he has resolved in order to his receiving the Homage of those his Subjects; and that he may be truly informed, he has sent thither Colonel Borsfelt to enquire into the occasion of this Report. From Cleves we have an Account, that General Spaen, who is Governour for his Electoral Highness of that Country, has given out Commissions for the raising of Men both Horse and Foot, which probably will somewhat alarm the Spaniards considering how things at present stand between them and his Electoral Highness, who seems resolved to pursue his pretensions upon them.

Cologne, April 1. On Saturday last Count Taft the Emperors Envoye to several Princes of the Empire; arrived here, and the next day had an Audience of our Elector: and to morrow he parts again from hence for Dusseldorp, and from thence for Munster. By Passengers come from Liege we are told, that our Electors Troops had posted themselves near that City, and two days since an Officer who came hither to raise Men privately for the service of the said City, was seized by order of our Elector, and sent prisoner to Brevil.

Liege, April 1. Several Troops are come to Verriers, and its given out they are sent by our Prince for the security of the States of this Diocess, which are now Assembled by his order at St. Tron; but we have a great jealousy that their real design is against us, and therefore we are going to raise 500 Foot and 100 Horse; and our Magistrates have on severe penalties, forbid all persons to remove themselves or their Goods from hence, which the apprehensions they are now in would otherwise make many do; In the mean time these disorders give a great disturbance to our Trade, and People begin to be sensible that they have been led into them by those who preferred their own private Design and Animosities to the publick good.

Brussels, March 30. The Nations of this City have finally granted a Supply of 800000 Livres, being the Sum which the Duke de Villa Hermosa demanded of them before he left this Government; which our present Governour the Prince of Paym has accepted of; and People here hope he will now change his Resolution of removing the Court thence His Highness parts to morrow for Antwerp, but will return hither again. From Luxemburg we have an Account, Account, that the Peasants had fallen upon 250 French Dragoons which were quartered in a Village near Arlon, and had killed above 40 of them, and the Officer that Commanded them, besides several that were burnt in the Houses which they retired into, and which the Peasants for that reason set fire to.

Amsterdam, April 4. Our last Letters from Spain gave an Account, that the differences betw. en that Crown and the Elector of Brandenburg continued in the same state as formerly, the King of Spain insisting to have the Ship taken by the Brandenburg Frigats in the Road of Ostend, first restored, before a composition of their differences be Treated of: In the mean time Advice, as we are told, is come from the West-Indies, that the Brandenburg Frigats have taken two Spanish Ships, one of them being very richly laden. From the French Conquests in Flanders they write, that Monsieur de Bissy, who is now with a Body of French Troops in Luxemburg had received Orders to possess himself of Arlon, and Virton, as he had done of Orchimont. From the Hague we have an Account, that the States of Holland are separated.

Hague, April 1. The Prince returned hither last night from Breda, where he had been to see the new Fortifications that are making there, and to give the necessary Orders about finishing them this Summer, twenty Regiments being designed for that Service, who are to march thither about a Fortnight hence. His Highness was this morning in the Assembly of the States of Holland, where the Debate concerning the Customs was resumed, but it meeting with much difficulty its believed the States will separate, without being able to regulate that Matter this Session. The Prince intends to go hence on Monday next for Dieren, and from thence on the 15th to Hummelingen, though some think the illness of the Duke of Hanover may put off the meeting intended there, to some other time. The Report that has been spread abroad for several days of the Bishop of Munster's death, proves a mistake, his Minister here having received Letters of a fresh date, which give an Account that he had overcome his Distemper, and was in a fair way of recovery. A Memorial has been presented to the States-General, in the name of the Regents of the Country of Drenthe, in which they Declare their Resolution to persist in their right of choosing their Great Bailiff themselves, and that they cannot submit this Matter to the determination of the States-General, for that they are Parties; of which after some Debate, Copies were given to the Deputies of Holland, Utrecht, Zealand, Friesland, Groningen, &c. to communicate to the States of those Provinces.

Hague, April 4. This morning the Prince of Orange parted from hence for Dieren, from whence he goes to the Hunting-meeting at Hummelingen, to which we are told, the Electoral Prince of Brandenburg will likewise come. The Heer Fagel and other Deputies of the State have been in Conference with Monsieur d'Avaux the French Ambassador, on the occasion of the Complaint which the Spaniards make of their Count de Bissy's Proceedings in Luxemburg; the said Deputies desiring the Ambassador to acquaint the King his Master with the trouble it puts the States in, and with their desire that he will leave this Matter of the Dependancies to be adjusted by the Commissioners who are for that purpose in Conference at Courtray, and that in the mean time his Majesty will order his Troops to withdraw out of the Spanish Territories, which the said Ambassador has promised to do; though at the same time he told them, that Orchimont, Virton and Arlon, were Dependancies of the Bishopricks of Metz, Toul, or Verdun, and not of any Place yielded to his Master by the Treaty of Naneguen, and therefore the Commissioners at Courtray could not take cognizance thereof.

Portsmouth, March 29. Yesterday in the afternoon came to an Anchor at Spithead the Pearl Frigate, Captain Williams from the Westward.

Oxford, March 28. This morning His Majesty came into the House of Lords in His Royal Robes, and having sent for the Commons, and They attending, His Majesty told them, That their Beginnings had been such, that he could expect no good success of this Parliament, and therefore thought fit to Dissolve them, and accordingly the Lord Chancellor by His Majesties Command, Declared the Parliament Dissolved.

Whitehal, March 29. This morning His Majesty returned hither from Oxford, having lain the last night at Windsor; and this Evening the Queen likewise arrived.

This is to give Notice, that this Work (proposed to Subscription at Thirty Shillings in Quires, Ten Shillings whereof to be paid in hand, and the remainder on Delivery) is now finished, and will be ready to be delivered the first day of the next Term. The Body of the Book has been Printed near nine Months, and according to our Design, should have been Published before last Christmas; but the extraordinary trouble of fitting the Indices to this Edition delayed us beyond our Expectation or Foresight, both as to Time and Charges. The Books will be delivered by J. Dunmore in Lux-lans, T. Diving at the Harrow in Fleetstreet, B. Toth at the Ship in St. Pauls Churchyard, T. Sawbridge at the three Flower de-uices, and C. Meern in Little Britain; and by other Booksellers in London; the two Universities, and several other Parts in England mentioned in the Proposals at large.

Thomas Warren of London, Apothecary, living at the Heart and Anchor in St. Lawrence Lane near Chancery, having after great cost and trouble, found out a most curious way of preserving dead Bodies from Putrifaction, or change of Colour, without Disboweling, Searclothing, or cutting any part, and undertaking for 5 l. to secure any dead Body above ground for several years; he caused publick Notice to be given thereof; but some persons, perceiving the great satisfaction this his Invention has given to all persons that made use of it, have pretended to make use of his Powder, as bought from him; Wherefore he desires it may be known, that there was never any yer sold of it, nor is it to be had but from himself.

Richard Rous, a fat lusty man with brown Hair, but much Gray; between 40 and 50 years of age, with a Cinamon colour Suit, a Gray Camlet Gampain Coat, a Black broad brim'd Hat buttoned up on one side, disturbed in his Senses; If any one chance to see the said person, you are desired to take care of him, and gives Notice to Nicholas Rous, Coachmaker in St. Martins Lane near Chancery-Cross at the sign of the Peace shall have satisfaction, and their Charges born.
