Cadiz, April 30. Aptain Booth in the Adventure Engaged the Go.den Horse of Argiers, mounted with upwards of 40 Guns, 508 Men, Morat Raiz a Dutch Renegado Commander, og the 8th Instant, about two a clock in the Morning near Cape de Gat; the Fight continued till about three in the afternoon, when the Algerine having her Main Mast shot by the Board, and her Captains Thigh broke with a Musket Bullet, the Turks resolved to yield, but seeing a fresh Ship with Turkish Colours, and other Signals to the Leeward (which afterwards proved to be His Majesties Frigat the Nonesuch, Capt. Wheeler) in expectation of Succor from it, they took new Courage, and continued the Fight with extraor-dinary Resolution till night, by which time the Algerine had 120 Men wounded, 109 killed outright, all his Masts shot by the board, and five or fix foot Water in her Hold. Captain Booth having all his Rigging cut in pieces, and every thing out of order, and apprehensive of engaging in that Condition with the said fresh Ship, which he took for granted to be an Enemy, and lest by her means the Prize might, escape, he Commanded the Calabash Fireship, then attending him, to burn which of them he could most conveniently graple with, which had certainly been executed, had not the Boat of the faid Fireship been accidentally staved in the night. At break of the next day, Captain Wheeler having taken down the Turkish Colours, and set up English ones, seized the Algerine without Firing one Gun: By this Action 37 English Captives were redeemed on board the said Prize; and of Dutch and Spaniards 21; and three English and one Dutch-man killed.

Berlin, May 7. The Baron d' Hostel, Envoye from the Prince of Parma, Governor of the Spanish Netherlands (whose Errand, as we are informed, is to complain of the Proceedings of the French in the Countrey of Luxemburg) arrived here the fourth Instant, and had yesterday his first Audience of the Elector and Electres; it is believed he will not make any long stay here. Our last Letters from Poland give an Account, hat the Negotiation between the Poles and the Moscovites, concerning the Defensive Alliance, advanced not, for that the latter would not proceed therein till they had an answer from the Czar to what they had wrote about the Poles refuling the 20006 Horse, demanded by the Czar, which looks somewhat strange, and as if they affected a delay; for fince the Poles have now confented to that Article, which was the only one that remained in dispute, there is no reason why the Moscovite Ambassadors should not proceed to the Conclusion of the Treaty, unless it be, that they would gain time to see what success the Negotiation that is faid to be on foot for the making a Peace between the Czar and the Grand Signior may have. By Letters from Riga in Livonia we have Advice, that the Czar lay desperately fick, and that it was believed, the next Post would give an account of his death, which if so, may make a great alteration in Affairs.

Amsterdam, May 13. The Brandenburg Frigats, which ofter they had taken the Spanish Ship in the Road of Oftend, went for the West-Indies to pursue the same design, and to make what Prizes they could upon the Spaniards, are come back, having taken two Spanish Ships and a Galiot, but nothing near so richly laden as was at first reported. These proceedings will, it's feared, still keep open the Differences between that Crown and his Electoral Highness, and render the Endeavours that are used for an amicable composure of Matters, ineffectual. The Minister which the Prince of Parma sent to the Princes of Germany, to complain of the proceedings of the French in Luxemburg, has been likewife at Berlin, but he made a very short stay there, and it's believed had no very satisfactory Answer; though for the rest he was very kindly received.

Hague, May 16. From Hummelingen they write, that the Princels of Orange would leave that place, on the 18th, and the Prince the 22 on their return hither. The States-General having thought it necesfary that the Orders they made some time since, for the cleaning the Lower Rhine and the Isel, should without farther delay be put in execution, they have fent three of their Body thither, to have the care of that work. The Prince of Anspach, and the Duke of Holstein are still here, expecting the return hither of the Prince of Orange, being unwilling to leave this Countrey without seeing his Highness. The Sieur Smitz, Envoye from the Princes of Lunenburg, has notified his arrival to all the Forreign Ministers, and will in a day or two have his Audience of the States. Yesterday we'reccived Advice that the Brandenburg Frigats that have been in the West-Indies, are come back, a person that was on board one of them having left them in the Baltick, who reports that they had with them three Prizes, which they had taken from the Spaniards, but that they were not of any great value. The young Prince of Hanover is come hither from Brufsels, and will divert himself some time in this place."

Bruffels, May 13. From Gaunt they write, that Bruffels, May 13. From Gaunt they write, that his Highnels (who returns thither to morrow from Bruges, and will be here towards the end of the week) had agreed with the Coloness of the Walroon Regiments, as also those of the English and Scotch, concerning the Recruits they are to make, so that we hope now very suddainly to see a good Army on foot, according as was projected by his Highnels, upon his sirst entring upon this Governal

ment. From Strasburg they write of the 9th Inflant, that the Chapter was again met, in order to the choosing a Dean; and that Prince William of Furstemberg arrived there that day to addit at it, and that it was believed the French would employ their Interest to have the Election fall upon him.

Bruffels, May 13. People are here in some impatience to see what issue the affair of the Deacon of one of the Nations who is now a Prisoner at Vilvord, will have; the Fiscal has exhibited a Charge against him, but what the particular crimes he accuses him are, we know hor. As well the Spanish as French Commissioners are now at Courtray, and intended to renew the Conserences as yesterday; we with they may have the desired success, that so all differences concerning Limits and Dependencies, which may otherwise one day trouble the Peace between the two Crowns, may be composed, and the friendship between the two Crowns made thereby the more sirm and lasting.

Portsmouth, May 8. Friday in the afternoon failed from Spitthead the Antelope and Pearl Frigats, to thile to the Westward; and yesterday came to an Anchor in St. Helens Road the English Ruby, Captain

Allen Commander.
