SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1808.

Downing-Street, September 2, 1808.

DISPATCHES, of which the following are Copies and Extracts, were last Night received from Lieutenant-General Sir Harry Burrard and Lieutenant-General Sir Arthur Wellesley, dated from Head Quarters at Lourinha, addressed to Viscount Castlereagh, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, and brought by Captain Campbell, Aid-de-Camp to Sir Arthur Wellesley.

Extract of a Letter from Lieutenant-General Sir Arthur Wellesley, dated Head-Quarters at Caldas, the 16th of August 1808.

IMARCHED from Lyria on the 13th, and arrived at Ahobaça on the 19th, which Place the Enemy had abandoned in the preceding Night; and I arrived here Yesterday. The Enemy, about Four Thousand in Number, were posted about Ten Miles from hence, at Boriça; and they occupied Brilos, about Three Miles from hence, with their Advanced Posts. As the Possession of this last Village was important to our future Operations, I determined to occupy it; and as soon as the British Infantry arrived upon the Ground, I directed that it might be occupied by a Detachment, consisting of Four Companies of Riflemen of the 60th and 95th Regiments. The Enemy, consisting of a small Piquet of Infantry and a few Cavalry, made a trifling Resistance and retired; but they were followed by a Detachment of our Riflemen to the Distance of Three Miles from Brilos. The Riflemen were then attacked by a superior Body of the Enemy, who attempted to cut them off from the Main Body of the Detachment to which they belonged, which had now advanced to their Support; larger Bodies of the Enemy appeared on both the Flanks of the Detachment, and it was with Difficulty that Major-General Spencer, who had gone out to Cebidos when he had heard that the Riflemen had advanced in pursuit of the Enemy, was enabled to effect their Retreat to that Village. They have since remained in Possession of it, and the Enemy have retired entirely from the Neighbourhood.

In this little Affair of the Advanced Posts, which was occasioned solely by the Eagerness of the Troops in Pursuit of the Enemy, I am concerned to add, that Lieutenant Bunbury, of the 2d Battalion of the 95th, was killed, and the Honourable Captain Pakenham wounded, but slightly; and we have lost some Men, of whose Number I have not received the Returns.

Return of Killed, Wounded, and Missing in the Action at Lourinha, August 15, 1808.

5th Batt. 60th Foot—1 Rank and File, killed; 5 Rank and File, wounded; 17 Rank and File, missing.

2d Batt. 95th Foot—4 Rank and File, missing.

Officers killed and wounded.

95th Foot—Lieutenant Bunbury, killed; Captain the Honourable H. K. Pakenham, wounded.

Head Quarters, at Villa Verde, August 7, 1808.

THE French General Laborde having continued in his Position at Roleia since my Arrival at Caldas on the 15th Instant, I determined to attack him in it this Morning. Roleia is situated on an Eminence, having a Plain in its Front, at the End of a Valley, which commences at Caldas, and is closed to the Southward by Mountains, which join the Hills, forming the Valley on the Left, looking from Caldas. In the Centre of the Valley, and about Eight Miles from Roleia, is the Town and old Moorish Fort of Cebidos, from whence the Enemy's Piquets had been driven on the 15th, and from that Time he had Posts in the Hills on both Sides of the Valley, as well as in the Plain in Front of his Army, which was posted on the Heights in Front of Roleia, its Right resting upon the Hills, its Left upon an Eminence on which was a Windmill, and the whole covering Four or Five Passes into the Mountains in his Rear.

I have Reason to believe that his Force consisted of at least Six Thousand Men, of which about Five Hundred were Cavalry, with Five Pieces of Cannon; and there was some Reason to believe that General Loison, who was at Rio Major Yesterday, would join General Laborde by his Right in the Course of the Night. The Plan of Attack was formed accordingly, and the Army having broken up from Caldas this Morning, was formed into Three Columns; the Right, consisting of Twelve Hundred Portuguese Infantry and Fifty Portuguese Cavalry, destined to turn the Enemy's Left, and penetrate into the Mountains in his Rear; the Left, consisting of Major General Ferguson's and Brigadier-General Bowes's Brigades of Infantry, Three Companies of Riflemen, a Brigade of Light Artillery, and Twenty British and Twenty Portuguese Cavalry, was destined, under the Command of Major-General Ferguson, to ascend the Hills at Æbidos, to turn all the Enemy's Posts on the Left of the Valley, as well as the Right of his Post at Roleia; this Corps was also destined to watch the Motions of General Loison, on the Enemy's Right, who I had heard had moved from Rio Major towards Alcoentre last Night. The Centre Column, consisting of Major-General Hill's, Brigadier-General Nightingale's, Brigadier-General Craufurd's, and Brigadier-General Fane's Brigades, (with the Exception of the Riflemen detached with Major-General Ferguson,) and Four Hundred Portuguese Light Infantry, the British and Portuguese Cavalry, a Brigade of Nine-Pounders, and a Brigade of Six-Pounders, were destined to attack General Laborde's Position in Front.

The Columns being formed, the Troops moved from Æbidos about Seven o'Clock in the Morning. Brigadier-General Fane's Riflemen were immediately detached into the Hills on the Left of the Valley, to keep up the Communication between the Centre and Left Columns, and to protect the March of the former along the Valley; and the Enemy's Posts were successively driven in. Major-General Hill's Brigade, formed in Three Columns of Battalions, moved on the Right of the Valley, supported by the Cavalry, in order to attack the Enemy's Left; and Brigadier-General Nightingale and Craufurd moved with the Artillery along the high Road, until at length the former formed in the Plain immediately in the Enemy's Front, supported by the Light Infantry Companies, and the 45th Regiment of Brigadier-General Craufurd's Brigade, while the Two other Regiments of this Brigade (the 50th and 9th), and Half of the Nine-pounder Brigade were kept as a Reserve in the Rear.

Major-General Hill and Brigadier-General Nightingale advanced upon the Enemy's Position, and, at the same Moment, Brigadier-General Fane's Riflemen were in the Hills on his Right; the Portuguese Infantry in a Village upon his Left; and Major-General Ferguson's Column was descending from the Heights into the Plain. From this Situation the Enemy retired by the Passes into the Mountains with the utmost Regularity and the greatest Celerity; and notwithstanding the rapid Advance of the British Infantry, the Want of a sufficient Body of Cavalry was the Cause of his suffering but little Loss in the Plain.

It was then necessary to make a Disposition to attack the formidable Position which he had taken up. Brigadier-General Fane's Riflemen were already in the Mountains on his Right, and no Time was lost in attacking the different Passes, as well to support the Riflemen as to defeat the Enemy completely.

The Portuguese Infantry were ordered to move up a Pass on the Right of the whole; the Light Companies of Major-General Hill's Brigade and the 5th Regiment moved up a Pass next on the Right; and the 29th Regiment, supported by the 9th Regiment, under Brigadier-General Nightingale, a Third Pass and the 45th and 82d Regiments, Passes on the Left. These Passes were all difficult of Access, and some of them were well defended by the Enemy, particularly that which was attacked by the 29th and 9th Regiments. These Regiments attacked with the greatest Impetuosity, and reached the Enemy before those whole Attacks were to be made on their Flanks: the Defence of the Enemy was desperate, and it was in this Attack principally that we sustained the Loss which we have to lament, particularly of that gallant Officer the Honourable Lieutenant-Colonel Lake, who distinguished himself upon this Occasion.

The Enemy, was, however, driven from all the Positions he had taken in the Passes of the Mountains, and our Troops were advanced in the Plains on their Tops. For a considerable Length of Time the 29th and 9th Regiments alone were advanced to this Point, with Brigadier General Fane's Riflemen at a Distance on the Left, and they were afterwards supported by the 5th Regiment, and by the Light Companies of Major-General Hill's Brigade, which had come up on their Right; and by the other Troops ordered to ascend the Mountains, who came up by Degrees. The Enemy here made Three most gallant Attacks upon the 29th and 9th Regiments, supported, as I have above stated, with a View to cover the Retreat of his defeated Army; in all of which he was, however, repulsed; but he succeeded in effecting his Retreat in good Order, owing, principally, to my Want of Cavalry, and secondly, to the Difficulty of bringing up the Passes of the Mountains with Celerity, a sufficient Number of Troops, and of Cannon, to support those which had first ascended. The Loss of the Enemy has, however, been very great; and he left three Pieces of Cannon in our Hands.

I cannot sufficiently applaud the Conduct of the Troops throughout this Action. The Enemy's Positions were formidable, and he took them up with his usual Ability and Celerity, and defended them most gallantly. But I must observe that although we had such a Superiority of Numbers employed in the Operations of this Day, the Troops actually engaged in the Heat of the Action were, from unavoidable Circumstances, only the 5th, 9th, 29th, the Riflemen of the 9th and 60th, and the Flank Companies of Major-General Hill's Brigade, being a Number by no means equal to that of the Enemy:—their Conduct, therefore, deserves the highest Commendation.

I cannot avoid to take this Opportunity of expressing my Acknowledgments for the Aid and Support I received from all the general and other Officers of this Army. I am particularly indebted to Major-General Spencer for the Advice and Assistance I received from him;—to Major-General Ferguson for the Manner in which he led the Left Column, and to Major-General Hill, and Brigadier-Generals Nightingale and Fane for the Manner in which they conducted the different Attacks which they led. I derived most material Assistance also from Lieutenant-Colonel Tucker and Lieutenant-Colonel Bathurst in the Offices of Deputy-Adjutant and Deputy Quarter-Master General, and from the Officers of the Staff employed under them. I must also mention that I had every Reason to be satisfied with the Artillery under Lieutenant-Colonel Rose.

I have the Honour to inclose herewith a Return of Killed, Wounded, and Missing.

I have the Honour to be, &c.

Head Quarters at Lourinha,

My Lord, August 18, 1808.

SINCE I wrote to you last Night, I have heard from Brigadier-General Anstruther, that he is on the Coast of Piniche, with the Fleet of Victuallers and Store-Ships, in Charge of Captain Bligh of the Alfred, with a Part of the Force detached from England under Brigadier-General Ackland, in consequence of the Receipt of Orders which I had left at Mondego Bay for General Ackland, which he had opened. I have ordered Brigadier General Anstruther to land immediately, and I have moved to this Place, in order to protect his landing, and facilitate his Junction.

General Loison joined General Laborde in the course of last Night at Torres Vedras; and I understand that both began their March towards Lisbon this Morning: I also hear that General Junot has arrived this Day at Torres Vedras, with a small Corps from Lisbon; and I conclude that the whole of the French Army will be assembled between Torres Vedras and the Capital, in the course of a few Days.

I have the Honour to be, &c.

Head Quarters Maceira,
My LORD, Augt. 21, 1808.

THE Report which I have the Honour to inclose to your Lordship, made at my Request by Lieutenant-General Sir Arthur Wellesley, conveys Information which cannot but prove highly gratifying to His Majesty.

On my landing this Morning, I found that the Enemy's Attack had already commenced, and I was fortunate enough to reach the Field of Action in Time to witness and approve of every Disposition that had been, and was afterwards made by Sir Arthur Wellesley, his comprehensive Mind furnishing a ready Resource in every Emergency, and rendering it quite unnecessary to direct any Alteration.

I am happy on this Occasion to bear Testimony to the great Spirit and good Conduct displayed by all the Troops composing this gallant Army in this well contested Action.

I send this Dispatch by Captain Campbell, Aide-de-Camp to Sir Arthur Wellesley, no Person being better qualified to give your Lordship Information.

I have the Honour to be, &c.
(Signed) HARRY BURRARD,
Lieutenant-General.
To the Right Hon. Lord Castlereagh,
&c. &c. &c.

SIR, Vimiera, Augt. 21, 1808.
I HAVE the Honour to report to you, that the Enemy attacked us in our Position at Vimiera this Morning.

The Village of Vimiera stands in a Valley, through which runs the River Maceira; at the Back, and to the Westward and Northward of this Village, is a Mountain, the Western Point of which touches the Sea, and the Eastern is separated by a deep Ravine from the Heights, over which passes the Road which leads from Lourinha and the Northward, to Vimiera. The greater Part of the Infantry, the 1st, 2d, 3d, 4th, 5th, and 8th Brigades were posted on this Mountain, with Eight Pieces of Artillery; Major-General Hill's Brigade being on the Right, Major-General Ferguson's on the Left, having one Battalion on the Heights, separated from the Mountain. On the Eastern and Southern Side of the Town is a Hill which is entirely commanded, particularly on its Right, by the Mountain to the Westward of the Town, and commanding all the Ground in the Neighbourhood to the Southward and Eastward, on which Brigadier-General Fane was posted with his Riflemen and the 50th Regiment, and Brigadier-General Anstruther with his Brigade, with half a Brigade of Six-Pounders and half a Brigade of Nine-Pounders, which had been ordered to the Position in the Course of last Night. The Ground over which passes the Road from Lourinha commanded the Left of this Height, and it had not been occupied, excepting by a Piquet, as the Camp had been taken up only for one Night; and there was no Water in the Neighbourhood of this Height.

The Cavalry and the Reserve of Artillery were in the Valley, between the Hills on which the Infantry stood; both flanking and supporting Brigadier-General Fane's Advanced Guard.

The Enemy first appeared at Eight o'Clock in the Morning, in large Bodies of Cavalry on our left upon the Heights on the Road to Lourinha; and it was soon obvious that the Attack would be made upon our Advanced Guard, and the Left of our Position; and Major-General Ferguson's Brigade was immediately moved across the Ravine to the Heights, on the Road to Lourinha, with Three Pieces of Cannon: he was followed successively by Brigadier-General Nightingale with his Brigade, and Three Pieces of Cannon; Brigadier-General Ackland with his Brigade, and Brigadier-General Bowes with his Brigade. These Troops were formed (Major-General Ferguson's Brigade in the first Line; Brigadier-General Nightingale's in the Second; and Brigadier-General Bowes's and Ackland's, in Columns in the Rear) on those Heights, with their Right upon the Valley which leads into Vimiera; and their Left upon the other Ravine, which separates these Heights from the Range which terminates at the Landing Place at Maceira. On these last-mentioned Heights, the Portuguese Troops which had been in the Bottom near Vimiera, were posted in the first Instance, and they were supported by Brigadier-General Craufurd's Brigade.

The Troops of the Advanced Guard on the Height to the Southward and Eastward of the Town were deemed sufficient for its Defence, and Major-General Hill was moved to the Centre of the Mountain on which the great Body of the Infantry had been posted, as a Support to these Troops, and as a Reserve to the whole Army. In addition to this Support these Troops had that of the Cavalry in the Rear of their Right.

The Enemy's Attack began in several Columns upon the whole of the Troops on this Height; on the Left they advanced, notwithstanding the Fire of the Riflemen, close to the 50th Regiment, and were checked and driven back only by the Bayonets of that Corps. The 2d Battalion, 43d Regiment, was likewise closely engaged with them in the Road which leads into Vimiera; a Part of that Corps having been ordered into the Church-yard to prevent them from penetrating into the Town. On the Right of the Position they were repulsed by the Bayonets of the 97th Regiment, which Corps was successfully supported by the 2d Battalion 52d Regiment, which, by an Advance in Column, took the Enemy in Flank.

Besides this Opposition given to the Attack of the Enemy on our Advanced Guard by their own Exertions, they were attacked in Flank by Brigadier-General Ackland's Brigade in its Advance to its Position on the Heights on the Left, and a Cannonade was kept up on the Flank of the Enemy's Columns by the Artillery on those Heights.

At length, after a most desperate Contest, the Enemy was driven back in Confusion from this Attack with the Loss of Seven Pieces of Cannon, many Prisoners, and a great Number of Officers and Soldiers killed and wounded. He was pursued by the Detachment of the 20th Light Dragoons, but the Enemy's Cavalry were so much superior in Numbers that this Detachment has suffered much, and Lieutenant-Colonel Taylor was unfortunately killed.

Nearly at the same Time the Enemy's Attack commenced upon the Heights on the Road to Lourenha. This Attack was supported by a large Body of Cavalry, and was made with the usual Impetuosity of the French Troops. It was received with Steadiness by Major-General Ferguson's Brigade, consisting of the 36th, 40th, and 71st Regiments; and these Corps charged as soon as the Enemy approached them, who gave Way, and they continued to advance upon him supported by the 82d, one of the Corps of Brigadier-General Nightingale's Brigade, which, as the Ground extended, afterwards formed a Part of the first Line; by the 29th Regiment, and by Brigadier-General Bowes's and Ackland's Brigades, while Brigadier-General Craufurd's Brigade, and the Portuguese Troops, in two Lines, advanced along the Height on the Left. In the Advance of Major-General Ferguson's Brigade six Pieces of Cannon were taken from the Enemy, with many Prisoners, and vast Numbers were killed and wounded.

The Enemy afterwards made an Attempt to recover a Part of his Artillery by attacking the 71st and 82d Regiments, which were halted in a Valley in which it had been taken. These Regiments retired from the Low Grounds in the Valley to the Heights, where they halted, faced about, fired, and advanced upon the Enemy, who had by that Time arrived in the Low Ground, and they thus obliged him again to retire with great Loss.

In this Action, in which the whole of the French Force in Portugal was employed under the Command of the Duke D'Albrantes in Person, in which the Enemy was certainly superior in Cavalry and Artillery, and in which not more than Half of the British Army was actually engaged, he has sustained a signal Defeat, and has lost Thirteen Pieces of Cannon, Twenty-three Ammunition Waggon, with Powder, Shells, Stores of all Descriptions, and Twenty Thousand Rounds of Musket Ammunition. One general Officer (Beniere) has been wounded and taken Prisoner, and a great many Officers and Soldiers have been killed, wounded, and taken.

The Valour and Discipline of His Majesty's Troops have been conspicuous upon this Occasion, as you, who witnessed the greatest Part of the Action, must have observed; but it is a Justice to the following Corps to draw your Notice to them in a particular Manner, viz.—the Royal Artillery commanded by Lieutenant-Colonel Rose; the 20th Dragoons, which had been commanded by Lieutenant-Colonel Taylor; the 5th Regiment, commanded by Colonel Walker; the 2d Battalion 95th Foot, commanded by Major Travers; the 2d Battalion, 60th Regiment, commanded by Major Davy; the 2d Battalion 43d, commanded by Major Hull; the 2d Battalion 52d, commanded by Lieutenant-Colonel Ross; the 97th Regiment, commanded by Lieutenant-Colonel Lyon; the 36th Regiment, commanded by Colonel Burne; the 46th, commanded by Colonel Kemmis; the 74th, commanded by Lieutenant-Colonel Pack; and the 82d Regiment, commanded by Major Eyre.

In mentioning Colonel Burne, and the 36th Regiment to you upon this Occasion, I cannot avoid to add that the regular and orderly Conduct of this Corps throughout this Service, and their Gallantry and Discipline in Action have been conspicuous.

I must take this Opportunity of acknowledging my Obligations to the General and Staff Officers of the Army. I was much indebted to Major-General Spencer's Judgment and Experience, in the Decision, which I formed with respect to the Number of Troops allotted to each Point of Defence; and for his Advice and Assistance throughout the Action. In the Position taken up by Major-General Ferguson's Brigade, and in its Advance upon the Enemy, that Officer shewed equal Bravery and Judgment; and much Praise is due to Brigadier-General Fane, and Brigadier-General Anstruther, for their gallant Defence of their Position in Front of Vimiera, and to Brigadier-General Nightingale; for the manner in which he supported the Attack upon the Enemy, made by Major-General Ferguson.

Lieutenant-Colonel G. Tucker, and Lieutenant-Colonel Bathurst, and the Officers in the Departments of the Adjutant and Quarter-Master-General, and Lieutenant-Colonel Torrens, and the Officers of my personal Staff, rendered me the greatest Assistance throughout the Action.

I have the Honour to inclose herewith, a Return of the Killed, Wounded, and Missing.

I have the Honour to be, &c.

(Signed) ARTHUR WELLESLEY.
