Admiralty-Office, April 12, 1809.

CAPTAIN JOSEPH SPEAR, of His Majesty's Sloop the Wolverine, arrived at this Office this Morning with Dispatches from Rear-Admiral the Honourable Sir Alexander Cochrane, K. B. Commander in Chief of His Majesty's Ships and Vessels at the Leeward Islands, addressed to the Honourable William Wellesley Pole, of which the following are Copies:

Neptune, Fort-Royal Bay, Martinique, February 25, 1809.

SIR,

By my Letter of the 18th, a Duplicate of which accompanies this, together with one of the 4th, the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty will have been informed, that it was intended to open a Fire on the Enemy from Four Batteries on the succeeding Day, in addition to his own Guns turned upon him from Fort Edward, which was accordingly done at Half past Four in the Afternoon, the Time appointed.

The Enemy at first returned the Fire with Spirit, but it gradually slackened until the following Morning, and then entirely ceased, except at long Intervals, which made it evident he was beaten from his Guns.

While the Batteries were kept constantly firing on the Enemy from the Western Side, Captains Barton and Nesham, of the York and Intrepid, with about Four Hundred Seamen and Marines, continued to be employed in getting the heavy Cannon, Mortars, and Howitzers, up to Mount Surirey from the Eastern Side of the Fort, which was a Service of the utmost Labour and Difficulty, owing to the Rains and Deepness of the Roads; but notwithstanding which, a Battery of Four Twenty-Four Pounders and Four Mortars was finished by the 22d, and the Guns mounted ready for Service.

On the following Day several more Guns were got up, and ready to be placed in an advanced Battery, intended to consist of Eight Twenty-four-Pounders; a similar Battery was preparing to the Westward, and the whole would have been in a State to open on the Enemy by the 26th, had not a Flag of Truce been sent from the Fort on the 23d, with Proposals for a Surrender, on the Principle of being sent to France on Parole; but Lieutenant-General Beckwith, the Commander of the Forces, and myself, not judging it proper to accede to such Terms, the Batteries, which had before opened their Fire, recommenced the Attack at Half past Eight o'Clock
