From Saturday December 29, 1810, to Tuesday January 1, 1811.

Downing-Street, December 31, 1810.

A DISPATCH, of which the following is an Extract, was Yesterday received at Lord Liverpool's Office, addressed to his Lordship by Lieutenant-General Viscount Wellington, dated Cartaxo, 15th December 1810.

NO Alteration has been made in the Enemy's Position in Front of this Army since I had the Honour of addressing you on the 3th Instant, and all the Deferters and Prisoners continue to report the Distress which the Troops suffer.

The Enemy detached a Body of Cavalry, consisting of Four Regiments, towards Coimbra; but, finding that Town occupied by General Bacellar, they have returned again to their Station in the Rear of the Right of their Army.

I am concerned to forward the enclosed Report from Marshal Sir William Beresford, of the Death of Captain Fenwick, the late Commandant of Obidos. During the last Two Months he had been engaged more than Twenty Times with the Enemy's foraging Parties, and I have had several Opportunities of reporting his Success.

Upon this last Occasion he had made an Attack upon, and had driven in, a Party, consisting of Eighty Grenadiers, in the Neighbourhood of Evora, near Alcobaca, which had come there in Search of Provisions, having under his Command a Detachment of the same Number of the Militia of the Garrison of Obidos, and was pursuing them when he was mortally wounded, and he died on the 10th; we have thus sustained a great Loss, and he is lamented by all who had any Knowledge of his Gallantry and Exertions.

It is generally reported that the Battalions composing the 9th Corps have marched towards Madrid, where Preparations were making for the Assembly of a large Body of Troops. It is certain that all these Troops, as well as Gardanne's Detachment, have retired from the Frontiers of Portugal.

My LORD, Cartaxo, December 11, 1810.

IT is with much Regret that I communicate to you the Loss of Captain Fenwick (Lieutenant in the Buffs), who died the following Day of the Wounds he received in the Attack he made upon the Enemy at Evora, on the 8th Instant.

Your Lordship will equally feel with me the Loss of this enterprising gallant young Officer, who since the Enemy's being in their late and present Position, has been of so much Service, and who in such various Instances given Proofs of his Talents and undaunted Courage.

I have the Honour to be, &c.
(Signed) W. C. BERESFORD.
