York-House, August 19, 1811.

This Day His Excellency Hadje Hassan, Ambassador from the Dey of Algiers, had an Audience of Leave of His Royal Highness the Prince Regent:

To which he was introduced by the Earl of Liverpool, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State;

And conducted by Robert Chester, Esq; Assistant-Master of the Ceremonies.

THE following Addresses have been presented to His Royal Highness the Prince Regent; which Addresses His Royal Highness was pleased to receive very graciously:

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT.

The humble Address of the Gentlemen, Clergy, and Freeholders of the County of Sligo, convened by due Notice.

WE, the Gentlemen, Clergy, and Freeholders of the County of Sligo, humbly presume to offer to Your Royal Highness the Assurance of our dutiful and affectionate Attachment to His Majesty and His Illustrious House, and to express our high Sense of the noble and dignished Discharge of the Administration entrusted to Your Royal Highness during the much lamented Indisposition of our beloved King.

And we particularly acknowledge your Wisdom and Prudence, and correct Sense of the public Opinion, in the Re-appointment of His Royal Highness the Duke of York to be Commander in Chief, to whose former Services, and admirable Regulations, we very much attribute the Success of His Majesty's Arms that has of late so greatly redounded to the Honour and Safety of these Dominions.

A. B. Cooper, High Sheriss.

[Transmitted by His Grace the Lord Lieutenant.]

To His Royal Highness George, Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

WE, His Majesty's loyal Subjects, the Gentlemen, Clergy, and Freeholders of the County of Galway, convened by the High Sheriff pursuant to a public Requisition for that Purpose, beg Leave to approach Your Royal Highness with Sentiments of the most unfeigned Attachment to His Majesty's Person and Family, and to offer to Your Royal Highness the humble Tribute of our Admiration and Gratitude for the Line of Conduct which, under Circumstances of unexampled Difficulty and Embarrassment, Your Royal Highness has thought proper to adopt in the arduous Situation to which you have been called, in confequence of the Calamity with which it has pleafed the Almighty to afflict our beloved Sovereign. Regardless of any Occurrence which might be supposed to wound private Feelings, Your Royal Highness has facrificed every personal Consideration to the Safety of the People you were born to govern, and to a delicate Sense of filial Duty towards a revered Parent in the Hour of his Misfortune; the Empire has feen, and appreciated as it ought, a Conduct in which the native Dignity of the Mind and the affectionate Emotions of the Heart were equally confpicuous.

But amidst the various Acts which have irre-fishedly commanded the public Applause, we cannot refrain from particularizing the Re-appointment of His Royal Highness the Duke of York to the high Station which he lately filled, as one or the most advantageous Meafures of Your Royal Highness's Government. We have beheld with Indignation the Confpiracy which was formed to traduce the Character of that illustrious Personage as Com-mander in Chief of His Majesty's Forces; and we rejoice that, if any well-meaning Men have been the Dupes of that Conspiracy, a Developement has since taken place which must have opened their Eyes, and made them look with Horror at the base Combination by which they have been imposed on; the Conspirators have fallen out among themselves and proved the Infamy of each other, and the Nation has configned both to Oblivion and Contempt. We look to our Army, and there we find a com-plete Refutation of all Calumny against the public Conduct of its Commander; at no Period of the British History has the Nation had such an Army, and this decisive Fact alone is the best Test of the Merits of the Man under whose directing Hand it has risen to a State of such unrivalled Perfection. We therefore most humbly return to Your Royal Highness our grateful Acknowledgements for having, by his Restoration to the Command of that Army, done an act which at once unites in it suffice to the Individual and vital Advantage to the Empire; and we trust that the happy Union which subsists among all the Branches of the Royal Family will foon finally extinguish that Jacobin Spirit which still lurks in some profligate Minds, and seems to take Delight in Attempts to debase Royalty, and pull down that Keystone of the Arch which supports the Fabric of human Society.

John D' Arcy, Sheriff.

[Prefented by John D' Arcy, Efq; Sheriff, and Richard Martin, Efq; M. P. for the County of Galway.]
