The London Gazette.

Published by Authority.

From Saturday, June 13, to Tuesday, June 16, 1812.

THE following Addresses have been presented to His Royal Highness the Prince Regent; which Addresses His Royal Highness was pleased to receive very graciously:

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, the Mayor, Recorder, Aldermen, and Commonalty of the City of Durham and Framwelgate, assembled in Guildhall, most humbly offer to your Royal Highness our sincere condolence on the late most atrocious murder of the Right Honourable Spencer Perceval, in the act of discharging his public duty—a man who, by his private virtues, obtained very general admiration and esteem.

In the midst of our deep-felt regret, it is a peculiar comfort to reflect, that this deplored deed was the work of one malignant mind, and that it has excited general grief and abhorrence.

Whilst thus approaching your Royal Highness in the mingled language of sorrow and consolation, suffer us also to present our most faithful assurances of sincere attachment to your Royal Highness; of our steadfast loyalty to our revered Sovereign; and fervent zeal for the tranquillity, welfare, and honour of our beloved country.

In testimony whereof, we have caused the corporate seal of the said City to be hereunto affixed, this 27th day of May in the year of our Lord 1812. Thos. Chipchase, jun. Mayor.

[Presented by Mr. R. Lambton, and Mr. Wharton.]

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, the Mayor, Recorder, Aldermen, and Capital Citizens of the City of Carlisle, in Council assembled, beg leave to offer to your Royal Highness our condolence, and to express our detestation and horror at the late unexampled act of atrocity, which has stained the very threshold of the Commons' House of Parliament with the blood of your Royal Highness's late Minister, the Right Honour-abla Spencer Perceval, and thereby deprived your Engla Highness and the country of the services of one of the most virtuous and enlightened statesmen that has ever appeared in these or any other times—a man on whom the country had justly founded her dearest hopes, as the person best qualified to secure the happiness of the people in these agitated and turbulent times, and to ensure a glorious termination to the arduous struggle in which we are engaged, for the preservation of our just rights and the maintenance of the liberties of Europe. And also to express our entire confidence in the wisdom and patriotism of your Royal Highness, in making choice of such Ministers as will virtuously and vigorously determine to maintain the honour and dignity of the crown, with the safety and happiness of the people.

Given under the common seal of the said City, the 29th May 1812.

George Blamire, Mayor.

[Presented by Mr. Spencer Stanhope.]

To His Royal Highness GEORGE, PRINCE REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

WE, the Mayor, Bailiffs, and Commonalty of the City of Oxford, in Common Council assembled, humbly beg leave to express to your Royal Highness our heartfelt abhorrence of the foul assassination of the Right Honourable Spencer Perceval.

Deeply impressed as we are with a sense of Mr. Perceval's public services and private virtues, it is not without the strongest feelings of concern and regret that we condole with your Royal-Highness upon the loss of so faithful a servant of the crown, so able and upright a Minister to the country, and so distinguished an armament to society.

so distinguished an ornament to society.

Amidst the affliction, however, of the melancholy catastrophe, we have felt great relief and satisfaction from the alacrity displayed by Parliament to provide suitably for Mr. Perceval's family; a measure, indeed, of indispensable justice, as arising out of the manner and circumstances of his death, yet rendered doubly acceptable by the universal tribute, with which it was accompanied, to the merits of that lamented statesman, able Spencer Perceval, and thereby deprived your Estates and the country of the services of one of the most virtuous and enlightened statesmen. To this alleviation of private sufferings, as a source of consolation, permit us to add our configuration of the most virtuous and enlightened statesmen.
