

The London Gazette.

Published by Authority.

From Tuesday, June 16, to Saturday, June 20, 1812.

THE following Addresses have been presented to His Royal Highness the Prince Regent; which Addresses His Royal Highness was pleased to receive very graciously:

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the undersigned Inhabitants of the Town of South Shields and its vicinity, beg leave to approach your Royal Highness with the strongest assurances of attachment to your person, and of our resolution to support your government with zeal, constancy, and firmness.

While we sympathize most deeply with your Royal Highness on the lamented indisposition of our venerable and beloved Sovereign, we eagerly seize this opportunity to convey to your Royal Highness the ardent feelings of gratitude excited in our breasts by the numerous blessings which we have enjoyed, during the long and glorious reign of your royal father; and more especially under the unequivocal proofs so repeatedly afforded, under circumstances of peculiar difficulty, of his sacred regard of those fundamental principles of the constitution which seated your illustrious family on the throne of these realms.

At the same time, we most respectfully beg leave to offer to your Royal Highness, our condolence and unfeigned regret at the murderous catastrophe which has deprived your Royal Highness of a faithful and loyal servant, and the country of an able and upright Minister, whose integrity and talents were universally admired; a catastrophe which has filled our hearts with the most poignant grief, and our breasts with the utmost horror and detestation at the atrocious crime, and its perpetrator.

We also beg leave to express our indignation at the attempts which have been too successfully made to indispose the people against the government, for events which have so evidently been beyond their controul, and lament the excesses committed by some of the populace; but trust that the firm and moderate manner which your Royal Highness in council has put the laws of the country in force, will speedily bring those misguided people to obedience, and a due sense of their duty.

Convinced that it is the intention of your Royal Highness to rule this nation with a moderate yet firm government, we beg leave to assure your Royal Highness that the strictest attention shall be paid by us to the laws of our country; and that we will exert ourselves on every occasion, in guarding the peace of this town and its vicinity.

Relying on the goodness of the Almighty to continue in prosperity the British nation, and guard with His divine power the British people from the evil machinations of their enemies, we ardently pray that your Royal Highness may long be preserved to the nation, in health, prosperity, and happiness.

Jos. Bulmer, Chairman.

To His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The humble, dutiful, and affectionate Address of the Mayor, Recorder, Aldermen, and Bailiffs, of the Borough of Chepping Wycombe, in the County of Bucks, in Common Council assembled.

WE, the Mayor, Recorder, Aldermen, and Bailiffs, of Chepping Wycombe, humbly intreat permission to approach your Royal Highness, and express our deepest sorrow and abhorrence at the violent and horrid murder of the late Right Honourable Spencer Perceval, First Commissioner of His Majesty's Treasury, and Chancellor of the Exchequer.

This shocking deed we are happy to learn is in no way connected with any system of a sanguinary nature, but the sole act of a wretched individual. We most sincerely lament the loss which the family of the deceased, and the nation at large have sustained by the death of so excellent and valuable a man.

We beg permission to assure your Royal Highness of our firm and unshaken attachment to your royal house and person; and our fixed determination to support the crown and dignity of these realms.

Signed by order of the Council,

Rt. Nash, Town Clerk.

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT.

The dutiful and loyal Address of the Mayor, Aldermen, and Burgesses of the Borough of Chesterfield, in the County of Derby.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, Aldermen, and Burgesses, of the Borough of Chesterfield, in Common Council assembled, beg leave to approach your Royal Highness, with feelings of the deepest sorrow, to express our grief and indignation at the foul and atrocious murder lately committed on the person of the Right Honourable Spencer Perceval, when he was actively employed in the discharge of the duties of his high official situation; and to condole with your Royal Highness on this melancholy event, rendered more afflicting and distressing from the universal benevolence of heart, the unrivalled mildness of manners, and the distinguished talents of the unfortunate victim.

It affords us, however, some consolation, and we beg leave to express to your Royal Highness our satisfaction, that this sanguinary deed was confined to the hand of a single assassin, and that he was the sole perpetrator of an act at which humanity shudders, and which is almost without example in the annals of civilized society.

We entreat permission on this occasion, to assure your Royal Highness of our firm attachment to our venerable and gracious Sovereign, to your Royal Highness's person and government, and our determined resolution to support the crown and dignity of these realms to the utmost of our power.

Given under the common seal of the Borough of Chesterfield, the 29th day of May 1812, John Elam, Mayor.

To His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The humble and dutiful Address of the Mayor, Aldermen, Commonalty, Gentlemen, Clergy, and other Inhabitants, of the Town of Penzance.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, the Mayor, Aldermen, Commonalty, Gentlemen, Clergy, and other Inhabitants, of the Town of Penzance, humbly beg leave to express to your Royal Highness the horror and indignation excited in our minds by the deliberate and base assassination of the Right Honourable Spencer Perceval, First Commissioner of His Majesty's Treasury, and Chancellor of the Exchequer, when entering the House of Commons for the faithful and arduous discharge of his public duties.

To offer to your Royal Highness our condolence on this mournful event, which has deprived the country of a person eminently distinguished for his public and private virtues.

And at the same time to assure your Royal Highness, of our steady loyalty and unfeigned attachment to your royal house and person.

In behalf of the meeting,

Thomas Giddy, Mayor.

To His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The humble and loyal Address of the Burgesses and Inhabitants of the Borough of Evesham.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, the Burgesses and Inhabitants of the Borough of Evesham, in the County of Worcester, beg leave most humbly to express to your Royal Highness the deep concern we feel at the untimely fate of the Right Honourable Spencer Perceval. By which lamented event, your Royal Highness and the country have been deprived of a Minister, no less eminent in his public, than amiable in his private station; deprived of his valuable life in the conscientious discharge of his public duties, by the hands of a malignant assassin; we feel, in common with every loyal subject, the utmost grief, indignation, and horror at the commission of an act of such atrocity; and beg leave most dutifully to express to your Royal Highness, our firm reliance on your paternal care for the welfare of these realms, and our determination to afford every support in our power to the government of your Royal Highness, and to the due observance of the laws of our country.

Signed, on behalf of the meeting, this 28th day of May 1812,

Edward Dolman Cooper, Mayor of Evesham, Chairman.

[Presented by Mr. Manning and Mr. Howorth.]

To His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

WE, His Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, Aldermen, and Capital Burgesses, of the Borough of Evesham, in the County of Worcester, in Common Council assembled, do humbly beg leave to express to your Royal Highness our heartfelt sorrow and horror, when we contemplate the late assassination of the Right Honourable Spencer Perceval, in whom your Royal Highness has lost a most valuable servant, and the country its brightest ornament.

Assassination is not characteristic of Britons; our history is stained by very few instances of it. A brave and generous nation, who have been, and still continue to be, most formidable to their enemies both on the ocean and in the field, contemptuously scorn either to injure them privately, or to murder them when unarmed.

We derive, therefore, some consolation, when we reflect on the late most atrocious event, from perceiving that the infatuated and furious assassin had no accessaries to his crime; and we are determined to use our utmost diligence in detecting and punishing all malevolent writers of anonymous and threatening letters, which can only have a tendency to perplex the government of your Royal Highness, and to disturb the peace of His Majesty's dominions.

Given under the seal of the said Borough, at the Guildhall there, the 2d day of June 1812, Edward Dolman Cooper, Mayor.

[Presented by Lord Northwick.]

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The humble Address of the Mayor, Burgesses, and Inhabitants, of the Borough of Marlborough, in the County of Wilts.

MAY it please your Royal Highness, graciously to accept our humble and dutiful Address of Condolence on the late most daring attack on His Majesty's government, by the atrocious assassination of the late Right Honourable Spencer Perceval, Chancellor of His Majesty's Exchequer, when employed in the discharge of his public duties, and within the walls of Parliament.

Whilst, in common with all His Majesty's loyal subjects, we participate in sentiments of the deepest horror and detestation at an act of such unprincipled, and almost unprecedented, villainy, and of sincere regret for the loss which your Royal Highness and the public, as well as the afflicted family of this eminent and virtuous person, have sustained by his lamented death, we have great consolation in knowing, that a single individual, actuated by motives solely of a private nature, had the wickedness to conceive and perpetrate the diabolical deed which we now deplore; and that your Royal Highness has most graciously and humanely anticipated the wishes of the nation at large, by recommending to Parliament the making a suitable and liberal provision for the injured widow and children of the deceased Minister.

And we humbly beg to offer to your Royal Highness, the assurances of our dutiful and affectionate attachment to our beloved and revered Sovereign, to your Royal Highness, and to every branch of your illustrious house.

[Presented by Lord Bruce.]

To His Royal Highness GEORGE PRINCE REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

MAY it please your Royal Highness to permit His Majesty's loyal subjects, the Mayor, Recorder, Aldermen, and Citizens of the ancient City of Chester, to approach your august person with our sincerest expressions of condolence on a late deplorable event, which has deprived your Royal Highness of an upright and faithful servant, the country of an active and intelligent Minister, and society of a worthy and amiable man.

Educated, as we have happily been, in the mild principles of Christianity, we contemplate with horror an atrocious act, which, under its aggravated circumstances, would have disgraced the darkest ages of heathen superstition; with what astonishment and indignation, then, must we reflect, that it was daringly perpetrated amid the refined scenes of civil life, in the face of a humane and enlightened people, and within the very walls of Parliament!

Trusting, however, that the general effusions of sorrow which have followed "this foul and most unnatural murder," may tend to efface the stain which must otherwise have indelibly marked the British character, we most devoutly hope that Providence may still continue its protection to this highly-favoured country, and that its choicest blessings may attend your Royal Highness's person and government.

In testimony whereof we have caused the common seal of our said City to be hereunto affixed this 8th day of June, in the fifty-second year of His Majesty's most auspicious reign.

[Transmitted by Robert Steele, Esq. and presented by Lord Sidmouth.]

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

May it please your Royal Highness,

We, the Lord Mayor, Sheriffs, Commons, and Citizens of the City of Dublin, with hearts full of the sincerest duty and affection, beg leave to approach your Royal Highness to offer our condolence, and to express our utmost abhorrence at the foul and atrocious murder of that great and good man, the Right Honourable Spencer Perceval, First Commissioner of His Majesty's Treasury and Chancellor of the Exchequer.

Permit us also to avail ourselves of this opportunity to express our most earnest assurances to your Royal Highness, that the citizens of Dublin, ever firmly united in principles of loyalty and fidelity to your illustrious house, will invariably persevere in the most dutiful and affectionate attachment to your royal person and government; and that their zealous endeavours shall be ever employed to promote a constant obedience to the laws, as the best mode of preventing that flagitious crime which has disgraced the manly and generous character of the British nation, and deprived your Royal Highness of one of your most faithful and able servants.

In testimony whereof, the common seal of said City is hereto affixed this 27th day of May 1812.

[Transmitted by His Grace the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, and presented by Lord Sidmouth.]

To His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The humble and dutiful Address of the Gentlemen, Freeholders, Justices of the Peace, Commissioners of Supply, and Heritors of the County of Roxburgh, convened at their anniversary meeting, held here this day.

May it please your Royal Highness,

We, the Gentlemen, Freeholders, Justices of the Peace, Commissioners of Supply, and Heritors of the county of Roxburgh, humbly beg leave to approach your Royal Highness, with feelings of strong attachment to your Person and Government.

We deeply lament the indisposition of our much beloved Sovereign, and earnestly pray for his recovery.

We humbly condole with your Royal Highness, and beg leave to express our horror and detestation at the late atrocious murder of the Right Honourable Spencer Perceval, Chancellor of the Exchequer, the integrity of whose public character, and exemplary virtues in private life, had combined to excite the confidence of the country in his administration of your Royal Highness's government. But while we deplore these melancholy events, we feel much comfort and consolation in the wisdom and firmness with which the weighty and important affairs of the empire have, and we fondly hope and trust, will continue to be conducted, by your Royal Highness and His Majesty's Ministers.

We humbly beg leave to congratulate your Royal Highness on the late brilliant successes of His Majesty's fleets and armies; and we offer our earnest wishes for a continuance of them during the present arduous struggle in which the country is engaged. And we conclude with again assuring your Royal Highness of our steady loyalty and attachment, and of our firm determination to maintain and support the crown and dignity of the realm, to the utmost of our power; and that the life of your Royal Highness may be long preserved, and the result of your councils may ever tend to the honour, glory, and prosperity of the empire; is our most fervent wish and earnest prayer.

Signed, in our name and by our appointment, at Jedburgh, this 2d day of June 1812.

John Rutherford, Preses.

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales,
REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The humble Address of the Provost, Fellows, and Scholars, of the College of the Holy
and undivided Trinity of Queen Elizabeth, near Dublin.

May it please your Royal Highness,
We, the Provost, Fellows, and Scholars of the College of the Holy and undivided Trinity of Queen Elizabeth, near Dublin, beg leave, with the most profound respect and attachment, to express to Royal Highness the sentiments of grief and indignation with which we have been filled by the foul murder of the late Right Honourable Spencer Perceval. We view with horror the atrocity of the act: We lament that the moral feelings of the nation have been outraged by a crime so detestable, as must cast a deep shade over its character; but for the indignation and abhorrence so strongly and so generally manifested throughout the empire.

Our feelings on this occasion are mingled with the most heartfelt sorrow, when we reflect that the individual who has thus fallen a victim to the honest discharge of a public duty, was so distinguished by his many admirable virtues, and so fenced round by the respect and veneration which great worth, unimpeached integrity, and distinguished zeal for the public service naturally excite, that it seems as if no superiority of moral and religious excellence can afford security against the hand of the assassin. Yet, while we deplore the loss of so valuable a life—a loss embittered by so many circumstances of unprecedented horror—we cannot but derive some consolation from the assurance;
that this dreadful act was not connected with any sanguinary system. Impressed with these sentiments, and connected as we are with the great interests of education, we feel it more particularly our duty to come forward and join our voice to that of the public, in attestation to moral and religious worth, and in reprobation of a crime so abhorrent

from every Christian principle, and so directly subversive of society itself.

We beg leave to avail ourselves of this opportunity to declare our firm determination to exert ourselves, on all occasions, in maintaining the laws, the government, and the religion of the empire, and to assure your Royal Highness of our loyal and affectionate attachment to your Royal Father, our beloved and venerable Sovereign, to your Royal Highness, and to all the branches of your illustrious house.

Ireland, and presented by Lord Sidmouth.]

To His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales,
REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The humble Address of the Aldermen, Bailiffs capital and other Burgesses of the ancient Borough of Denbigh.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's loyal and dutiful subjects,
the Aldermen, Bailiffs, capital and other Burgesses of the ancient Borough of Denbigh, beg leave to approach your Royal Highness, to offer our condolence, and to express our horror and detestation at the unprecedented and cruel assassination of the Right Honourable Spencer Perceval, late First Lord of His Majesty's Treasury, and Chancellor of the Exchequer, within the walls of the Honourable House of Commons, when proceeding to the discharge of his important duties.

We trust that, though the painful sensation will be long felt which this calamitous event has excited,
yet that the national alarm will be speedily allayed,
by the discovery that this horrible deed is unconnected with any system of a sanguinary nature, too frequent instances of which we are truly sorry to observe; daily occur in other parts of the Kingdom, which bear a stamp hitherto unknown to the manly and generous character of the English people.

We fervently hope and believe that the unextinguished loyalty of the faithful subjects of the united empire will be exerted to prevent a repetition of so foul and atrocious a murder.

We beg permission to assure your Royal Highness, on an event so melancholy and so much to be deplored, on account of the many private virtues of so distinguished a character, of our steady loyalty and unfeigned attachment to your Royal house and person, and our resolution to support the crown and dignity of these realms.

Signed and passed under our common seal, this 27th day of May 1812, by order of the meeting,
J. C. Williams, Town Clerk.

[Transmitted by Mr. M. Biddulph, and presented by Lord Sidmouth.]

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT
of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

WE, the Bailiff, Capital Burgesses, and Inhabitants of the Borough of Leominster, respectfully in-treat your Royal Highness to accept the sincere as-urances of our loyal and faithful attachment to your Royal Highness's person and government.

We feel ourselves irresistibly called upon, at the present important crisis, to express our unfeigned abhorrence, detestation and grief, at the late ever-to-be-lamented assassination of the Right Honourable Spencer Perceval;—an event not less to be deplored as affecting the dearest interests of the nation, and endangering the security of all social order, than atrocious in the particular circumstances which marked that dreadful act.

To these sentiments of regret and condolence we humbly beg leave to add, our firm reliance in the wisdom and energy of your Royal Highness's Councils, to retrieve the loss which your Royal Highness and the kingdom at large have sustained, and to preserve inviolate, against all attacks, that glorious constitution, in Church and State, which this nation has so happily enjoyed since the accession of your Royal Highness's family to the throne of these realms; and which, under the blessing of Providence, has been, in so eminent a degree, maintained and protected, during a long and arduous reign, by the virtues and firmness of our most beloved and venerable Sovereign.

Signed, at the request of a Meeting, the 28th day of May 1812.

Frederick Allen, Bailiff of Leominster.

To His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The humble and dutiful Address and Condolence of the Mayor, Aldermen, capital Burgesses, and Recorder, of the Borough of Harwich, in the county of Essex, and of the Clergy and other Inhabitants of the same Borough.

May it please your Royal Highness,

With the most heart-felt regret and sorrow for the loss which your Royal Highness and the kingdom have sustained by the atrocious murder of that most amiable and excellent man, your late much-lamented Prime Minister, the Right Honourable Spencer Perceval, and with that abhorrence which Britons must ever feel at such a barbarous deed—a deed deplored even by the revengeful assassin himself; we all anxiously desire to join in the general expression of national grief, and to offer you our sincere condolence.

The humanity and justice of your Royal Highness could not fail to feel poignantly for the murder of any of your meanest subjects, but when your First Minister falls by a murder so unprecedented, and for and in the discharge of his public duties, your Royal Highness, who could best appreciate the talents and virtues of such a faithful servant, must have experienced the largest share of that sorrow, which men of every political party have equally laboured to express.

We therefore do most sincerely admire, and as gratefully acknowledge your goodness, in so promptly recommending to Parliament a liberal provision, to alleviate, as far as possible, the sorrows of his afflicted widow and numerous family; and at the same time we cannot too strongly testify our national detestation of such a disgraceful deed as gave rise to the occasion.

May the hand of the Almighty long preserve the life of your Royal Highness, and prosper your government; and in the place of him whom we so justly lament, raise you up Ministers and Counsellors of such wisdom, integrity, and zeal for the public service, as (we are well persuaded) actuated him, whose heart, we doubt not, when fatally wounded, was full of affectionate allegiance and loyalty to you and his Sovereign, and warm with the good of his country and the welfare of mankind.

This shall ever be our earnest prayer and most anxious wish; and, with every sentiment of attachment to your royal house and person, and to the crown and dignity of this realm, we beg leave to subscribe ourselves, your Royal Highness's loyal and most devoted servants.

John Hopkins, Mayor.

To His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The humble, dutiful, and loyal Address and Condolence of the Inhabitants of the Town of Derby, in the County of Derby.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, Inhabitants of this Town, humbly beg leave to approach your Royal Highness, to express our heartfelt concern, and to tender you our most sincere condolence, at the unexampled and atrocious act of assassination committed on the person of the Right Honourable Spencer Perceval, when on the way to discharge his important official duties; an act in all cases so every way abhorrent to the tender feelings of the human heart, and so contrary to the general character and principles of this brave and generous nation, and in the present instance rendered so doubly hateful, so enormous, and so grievous in its consequences, from the high and exalted station, the manifold and great virtues, talents, pure benevolence of heart, and conciliatory manners of the unfortunate victim, and the place in which this diabolical and fatal crime was perpetrated. Yet amidst the universal grief and distress occasioned by this melancholy event, we humbly beg to express to your Royal Highness our sentiments of satisfaction, that the sanguinary deed we so deeply deplore has been clearly defined to be the act of a malignant and inveterate individual, unconnected with any system of general depravity or discontent. And that Parliament, in conformity to the meritorious wishes of your Royal Highness, has made such a suitable and just provision for the widow and children of the lamented Minister, as will ever reflect the highest honour on your Royal Highness's recommendation, and the generosity of this enlightened nation.

We also beg to assure your Royal Highness of our steady loyalty and unfeigned attachment to our venerable and most gracious Sovereign, your Royal Highness's person, and illustrious family, and of our firm determination, to support to the utmost the crown and dignity of these realms.

[Presented by Mr. Mundy.]

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales,
 REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The humble Address of the Mayor, Aldermen, Assistants, Common Council, and Inhabitants of the Borough of Colchester, in the County of Essex.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, the Mayor, Aldermen, Assistants, Common Council, and Inhabitants, of the ancient Borough of Colchester and its Neighbourhood, with every sentiment of duty and loyalty, beg leave to approach your Royal Highness, and to lay before you our expressions of grief, horror, and indignation, at the late atrocious assassination of the Right Honourable Spencer Perceval, First Commissioner of his Majesty's Treasury, and Chancellor of the Exchequer, within the walls of the Honourable the Commons House of Parliament, when proceeding to the execution of his important public trust.

The deep distress we feel, in common with every honest member of society, at the deprivation of a character of such acknowledged and pre-eminent virtues, derives additional bitterness from the reflection that his existence was terminated, by means so repugnant to the feelings of humanity, and which bear a stamp so hostile, and so foreign to the British name.

To the fostering protection of your Royal Highness, and to our country, we tenderly commend the sorrowing family of the lamented victim of assassination, not doubting that your princely care, the sympathy of their country, and the remembrance of the fair fame of their deceased relative, will console and support them in their hour of affliction and trial.

Influenced by the peculiar and critical aspect of the present times, permit us respectfully to assure your Royal Highness of our readiness to rally round the throne; to uphold and maintain the excellent constitution under which we live, and by unextinguishable loyalty and zeal, to contribute every exertion in our power to promote obedience to the laws, and to secure the honour and independence of His Majesty's crown and government.

[Presented by Mr. F. Smythies, Mayor of Colchester, accompanied by Lieutenant-Colonel Bawtree, Mr.
 John Round, R. H. Davis, Esq. M. P. and R.
 Thornton, Esq. M. P.]

To George Augustus, PRINCE REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

May it please the Prince,

SEEING that in consequence of the lamented affliction of our beloved Sovereign thy father, thou art called to the high office of administering the regal government of this country, we, his dutiful subjects, the religious Society of Friends, are de-sirsous of representing to thee a subject, in which we believe the welfare of our country is deeply concerned.

It is now many years since war has been spreading its desolation over great part of the civilized world; and as we believe it to be an evil, from which the spirit of the Gospel of Christ would wholly deliver the nations of the earth, we humbly petition thee to use the royal prerogative, now placed in thy hands, to take such early measures for the putting a period to this dreadful state of devastation, as we trust the wisdom of thy councils, as they seek for divine direction, will be enabled to discover.

Impressed with a grateful sense of the religious privileges we enjoy under the present government,
 we submit this highly important cause of suffering humanity, which is peculiarly near to our hearts, to thy most serious consideration; that thus thou may'st become an honoured instrument in the hand of the Almighty, in promoting his gracious designs respecting the inhabitants of the earth.

Signed in, by order, and on behalf of the yearly meeting of the said People, held in London, this 29th day of the 5th month 1812, by John Wilkinson, Clerk to the Meeting
 this Year.

To which Address His Royal Highness was pleased to return the following most gracious answer:

I am deeply sensible of the calamities which necessarily attend a state of war.

It would, therefore, be most grateful to my feelings, to observe such a change in the views and conduct of the enemy as would admit of the cessation of hostilities, consistently with a just regard to the important interests which have been committed to my charge, and which it is my indispensable duty to maintain.

I reflect with great satisfaction on the religious privileges secured to you by the wisdom and benevolence of the laws; and you may rest assured of my constant protection.

His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT.

The Prince Regent and the Knights Companions being seated, the Chancellor signified to the Chapter His Royal Highness's pleasure, in the name and on the behalf of the Sovereign, that the stall vacant in the Royal Chapel of St. George at Windsor, be filled; and as, by the statutes, none but a Knight can be elected, Henry Pelham Duke of Newcastle was introduced and knighted by His Royal Highness with the sword of state.

The Knights Companions then proceeded to the election; and the suffrages being collected by the Chancellor and presented to the Prince Regent, Henry Pelham Duke of Newcastle was, by the command of His Royal Highness, in the name and on the behalf of the Sovereign, declared duly elected.

His Grace was thereupon received at the door of the Chapter Room by the two Junior Knights Companions, and conducted between them to the Prince Regent, preceded by Garter (bearing the ensigns of the Order on a crimson velvet cushion) and Black Rod.

Garter presenting the garter to the Prince Regent, His Royal Highness, assisted by the two Senior Knights Companions, buckled it on his Grace's left leg; the Chancellor pronouncing the admonition.

Garter then presented the ribband with the George to the Prince Regent; and the Duke of Newcastle kneeling, His Royal Highness, with the assistance of the said two Senior Knights Companions, put the same over his Grace's shoulder; the Chancellor, in the mean time, pronouncing the admonition: and his Grace having kissed His Royal Highness's hand, and saluted severally the Knights present, withdrew.

The Chapter ended, Garter called over the Knights; and a procession was made back to His Royal Highness's apartment, in the order as before.

ADMIRAL LORD KEITH has transmitted to John Wilson Croker, Esq. a letter from the Hon. Captain Bouverie, of His Majesty's ship Medusa, to Captain Sir George Ralph Collier, of the Surveillante, giving an account of the destruction of the French national store-ship La Dorade, of fourteen guns and eighty-six men, on the 5th instant, in the harbour of Arcasson, by the boats of the Medusa, under the directions of Lieutenant Josiah Thompson. Notwithstanding the enemy were prepared for the attack and the boats were hailed before they were within musket-shot, the ship was carried, after a desperate struggle, in which the whole of the crew, excepting twenty-three taken, were either killed or compelled to jump overboard; the commander of the vessel (a Lieutenant de Vaisseau) was amongst the latter, severely wounded. The Medusa had none killed, and only five wounded.

At daylight the ship was got under weigh, but after proceeding about a league down the harbour, she grounded; and the tide then running out with great violence, she was set fire to, after the wounded had been taken out, and some time after blew up.

The Dorade had been watching an opportunity to escape from Arcasson since the month of April 1811.

Captain Bouverie highly commends the conduct of Lieutenant Thompson and the other officers and men employed on this occasion.
