THE following Addresses have been presented to His Royal Highness the Prince Regent; which Addresses His Royal Highness was pleased to receive very graciously:

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The humble, dutiful, and loyal Address of the Mayor, Aldermen, and Burgesses, jointly with the Inhabitants of His Majesty's ancient Town and Parish of Portsmouth.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, Aldermen, Burgesses, and Inhabitants of Portsmouth, impelled by every consideration of feeling and of duty, humbly beg leave to offer to your Royal Highness our sincere condolence on the atrocious deed that has deprived your Royal Highness and the country of the services of the Right Honourable Spencer Perceval, whose public and private virtues were held in the highest estimation by all ranks of His Majesty's subjects.

Lamenting, in common with the whole nation, an event so abhorrent to the character of Englishmen; we experience some consolation in the reflection, that it was the act of a single individual, and not connected with any of those events which are now unhappily disgracing some of the manufacturing districts;—events which we are anxious to mark with our deepest indignation, while, at the same time, we express our sincere hope that the attempts made to aggravate the circumstances of temporary pressure, and to excite discontent by misleading the minds of His Majesty's subjects, will fail in their object.

Impressed with sentiments of loyalty and sincere attachment to our much revered sovereign, and to your Royal Highness's person, and anxious to preserve unimpaired our invaluable constitution, as handed down to us by our ancestors from the glorious Revolution of 1688, and to secure which your august family was placed on the British throne, we pledge ourselves to resist every measure of hostility which may be exerted against it, and to stand forward on all just occasions in the defence of the laws, the government, and the religion of the country.

[Presented by Sir Thomas Miller, Admiral Markham, Mr. Heathcote, and Mr. Chute.]

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, Aldermen, and Capital Burgesses of the Borough of Preston, in the County of Lancaster, in Common-council assembled, beg leave to approach your Royal Highness with the warmest sentiments of attachment to your royal person.

We feel with other men the abhorrence and detestation of the wicked and atrocious act of assassination committed on the person of the late Right Honourable Spencer Perceval, within the walls of the Honourable House of Commons; and we beg leave to condole with your Royal Highness on an event by which your Royal Highness has been deprived of an able and faithful servant, the country of one of their brightest ornaments. It is, however, some consolation to us at this particular crisis, to find that it was the cruel act of a desperate individual, and did not originate in any system of disaffection. The crime of assassination is such at which the feelings of Britons have ever indignantly revolted, and which cannot fail of casting a stigma upon the national character, unless instantly effaced by a general expression of public abhorrence; and we fervently hope and trust that it will never again disgrace the British name. Permit us to assure your Royal Highness of our firm attachment to our revered Sovereign and our excellent constitution; and of our determination to support the crown and dignity of the United Kingdom.

Given under the Common Seal of the said Borough, the 1st day of June, in the fifty-second year of the reign of His Majesty King George the Third, and in the year of our Lord 1812.

[Presented by James Allan Park, Esq. (one of His Majesty's Counsel,) Recorder of the Borough of Preston.]

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, the Bailiffs and Capital Burgesses of the Borough of Tamworth, in the Counties of Stafford and Warwick, impelled by our regard for the principles of religion and morality, (the best interests of society,) and urged by an unfeigned attachment for the political constitution of our country, presume to offer our most sincere condolence to your Royal Highness upon the numerous crimes of unprecedented atrocity which have been lately perpetrated within this kingdom, and particularly for the wanton and malignant assassination of the Right Hon. Spencer Perceval; by which fatal and deplorable event your Royal Highness has been deprived of a faithful and zealous Minister, and the kingdom of an able and upright statesman. We deem it our duty thus publicly to express our abhorrence of the horrid crime of murder, whenever or wheresoever committed; and our feelings on this painful occasion are greatly increased by the consideration, that the assassin's hand has destroyed a man of the first eminence and consideration in the state; and in private life, of the most amiable and exemplary character. Amidst the dismay that surrounds us it is some consolation to know, that this sad instance of human depravity is to be ascribed to the wickedness of an individual, and is not imputable to any plan of confederated malignity. Whatever attempts may be made by designing men to inflame the public mind, in these eventful times, by false representations of assumed grievances, or by exaggerated statements of unavoidable calamities, incident to unfruitful seasons, and to the subtle machinations of a powerful and unrelenting enemy, we confidently hope, that all such mischievous designs will be frustrated by the vigilant exertion of those powers which the laws have wisely placed in the hands of government, for the preservation of the public peace, for the safeguard of human life, and for the protection of private property.

Deign, Sir, to accept this address, as the humble pledge of our loyalty to the King, of our duty to your Royal Highness as Regent, and of our respect and veneration for the laws and constitution of the realm.

Given under the Seal of this Corporation, the 27th day of May 1812.

[Presented by Lieutenant-General Loftus and Mr. Peel.]

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The dutiful Address of the Court of Mayor, Aldermen, and Capital Burgesses of the ancient Borough Town of Malden, in the County of Essex.

May it please your Royal Highness,

THOUGH we are not the first to approach your Royal Highness to offer our sincere condolence, and to express our abhorrence at the unprecedented and atrocious act of assassination on the person of the Right Honourable Spencer Perceval, committed within the walls of Parliament, yet we humbly assure your Royal Highness, that we yield to none in affectionate regard for your royal person, and in the deep sense we entertain of your constant and unceasing endeavours to promote the honour and interests of this kingdom.

Impressed with these sentiments, we embrace this opportunity of expressing our detestation of this foul and deliberate act of sanguinary vengeance, at the same time that we deplore the loss of a man so eminently distinguished for his public services, and so transcendent an example of private worth.

Most fervently do we hope, that the feelings of abhorrence and indignation, so generally expressed by all ranks of His Majesty's subjects, may effectually prevent the repetition of an act so atrocious in itself, and so foreign from the exalted and honourable character of Englishmen.

May God protect your royal house and person; may your councils prosper, and your arms be crowned with success; may all ranks of His Majesty's subjects unite in supporting that government under which they enjoy so many and such distinguished blessings; and may they transmit unimpaired, to the latest posterity, that constitution in church and state, which, amidst the wreck of surrounding nations, has so signally maintained the security, honour, and happiness of these realms.

Signed by order of the Court,

Wm. Coold, Town Clerk.

To His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The humble, dutiful, and loyal Address of the Mayor, Aldermen, and Capital Burgesses of the Borough of Banbury, in Common Hall assembled.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, the Mayor, Aldermen, and Capital Burgesses of Banbury, in Common Hall assembled, most humbly beg permission to express to your Royal Highness, our deep concern and dutiful condolence on the severe loss which your Royal Highness and the country have sustained in the death of the late Right Honourable Spencer Perceval; and the horror, detestation, and grief excited in our minds by the commission and consequence of a crime so atrocious as that which has been the occasion of our addressing your Royal Highness.

Amidst the poignancy of feeling consequent upon this distressing event, we beg leave most dutifully to represent to your Royal Highness, the consolation we have derived by the proof afforded upon the trial of the assassin, that this dreadful crime was the act of a single individual, and that its perpetration does not involve the character of the nation. Whilst we have felt it incumbent on us to lay before your Royal Highness this expression of our condolence, we cannot omit assuring your Royal Highness, the grateful sense we entertain of the promptitude with which your Royal Highness has been pleased to recommend Parliament to make a suitable provision for the widow and family of the person whose loss we so much deplore; and we pray your Royal Highness to accept our assurances of duty, loyalty, and attachment to their Majesties, your Royal Highness, and all the Royal Family.

Done at a Common Hall, this 9th day of June 1812.

[Presented by the Earl of Guilford, High Steward of Banbury, accompanied by Mr. Dudley North, Member for the Borough, and Lord Glenbervie Recorder.]

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT.

The humble Address of the Clergy, Magistrates, Merchants, Manufacturers, and other Inhabitants of the Town of Birmingham.

WE, His Majesty's loyal, dutiful, and faithful subjects, the Clergy, Magistrates, Merchants, Manufacturers, and other Inhabitants of Birmingham, beg leave to approach your Royal Highness, with sentiments of devoted attachment to your royal person, family, and government, and to express our abhorrence of the atrocious assassinations which have lately disgraced our country, and in particular, of the diabolical murder of the Right Honourable Spencer Perceval, Prime Minister of the Crown.

We assure your Royal Highness, that whatever difference of opinion may exist amongst us upon political subjects, there can be no difference as to the great principles of morality and justice, and that we unreservedly unite in sentiments of horror and indignation at the infamous crime to which the late Prime Minister has fallen a sacrifice, a crime not more repugnant to our feelings, than destructive of the security and happiness of society.

We entreat your Royal Highness to believe, that there is not in His Majesty's dominions any description of subjects more patient under privations, more devoted to your Royal Highness's person and family, and more determined to support and enforce the laws of their country, than the inhabitants of Birmingham.

In the name and on the behalf of the inhabitants of Birmingham,

Thomas Attwood, High Bailiff.

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The humble Address of the Mayor, Aldermen, and Burgesses of the Borough of Stockton, and of the Gentlemen, Clergy, and other Inhabitants of the Town of Stockton-upon-Tees, and the Neighbourhood.

WE, the Mayor, Aldermen, and Burgesses of the Borough of Stockton, and the Gentlemen, Clergy, and other Inhabitants of the Town of Stockton-upon-Tees, and the Neighbourhood, humbly beg leave to offer to your Royal Highness our sincerest sentiments of condolence on a late most calamitous event, by which your Royal Highness has been deprived of the abilities of a most faithful servant, and the country left to deplore the loss of a man, whose private virtues, from the concurrent testimony of all who knew him, were an ornament to human nature.

At the time we express our unfeigned sorrow for an act of such peculiar atrocity, we cannot avoid feeling some degree of consolation in reflecting, that the deed of the assassin was not connected with any traitorous system of disaffection, but confined to the villainy of an individual, and we would hope, the only one in your Royal Highness's regency, capable of an outrage so disgraceful to the honour of the name of Briton.

At this period, Sir, be graciously pleased to accept also our united assurances, that every endeavour shall be exerted to preserve undisturbed the tranquillity of this neighbourhood; and that, highly estimating the advantages of the constitution under which we live, we will most readily associate to defeat the plans of those who may be disposed to combine for the subversion of the public peace.

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The humble Address of the Mayor, Aldermen, Common Councilmen, Bailiffs, and Burgesses of the Town of Cambridge.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's faithful subjects, the Mayor, Aldermen, Common Councilmen, Bailiffs, and Burgesses of the Town of Cambridge, in Common Hall assembled, beg leave to approach your Royal Highness with the warmest assurance of our loyal attachment, and with unfeigned condolence upon the melancholy death of the late Right Honourable Spencer Perceval by the hand of an assassin.

We have referred to the earlier and less enlightened periods in the history of civilized Europe, and we blush for the character of modern times, while we feel constrained to record the confession, that we find no parallel for the recent extraordinary instance of savage and deliberate atrocity, which has deprived your Royal Highness of an able, upright, and conscientious servant, society of one of its brightest ornaments, and the Senate of a most distinguished member.

It has, however, been some relief to us, amid the gloom which this afflicting event has occasioned, to have witnessed the splendid tribute which the great Council of the Nation have unanimously paid to the public and private virtues of your lamented Minister, in a manner so honourable to themselves, and so strongly in unison with all the generous feelings of Englishmen.

In the present difficult crisis of our country, we implore the blessing of Divine Providence upon your Royal Highness's councils, and upon the grave deliberations of Parliament. We rely with an entire confidence in that anxiety for the public welfare, which your Royal Highness has convinced us you inherit from our venerable and beloved Sovereign, that you will adopt such measures as may be most conducive to the restoration of internal tranquillity and prosperity; and which, while they preserve unscathed the dignity of the crown, may maintain inviolate the liberties of the people, and uphold the public character and honour of the nation.

Given under our common seal, this 25th day of May, in the year of our Lord 1812.

[Presented by the Duke of Rutland, accompanied by the Honourable Lieutenant-General Finch and Lieutenant-General Manners.]

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The dutiful and loyal Address and Condolence of the Provost, Magistrates, and Council of the Royal Burgh of Ayr.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Provost, Magistrates, and Council of his ancient burgh of Ayr, beg leave humbly to express our horror and indignation at the late wicked and atrocious murder committed by the hand of a barbarous assassin upon the Right Honourable Spencer Perceval, First Lord of His Majesty's Treasury, and Chancellor of the Exchequer, in the lobby of the Honourable House of Commons, as he was proceeding to the exercise of his public duty. Convinced of the public and private virtues of that Minister, who, with indefatigable zeal, always exerted his best endeavours in the service of his king and country, we hope that we may be allowed to condole with your Royal Highness, and the nation at large, on the loss all have sustained in the death of that distinguished individual.

Although we lament the disturbances that have taken place in other parts of the kingdom, we trust that the general loyalty and good sense of His Majesty's subjects will be expressed on all occasions, and their utmost endeavours exerted to put an end to such atrocities.

We have to renew the assurances of our loyalty to your Royal Highness's person and government, of our zealous attachment to our most excellent constitution, and our readiness to guard and defend them with our lives and fortunes.

Signed, in our name and by our appointment, at the council table of the said burgh, this 27th day of May 1812,

[Transmitted by Lieutenant-General Campbell, M. P. for the Burgh, and presented by Lord Sidmouth.]

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT.

Address of the Inhabitants of the Towns of Manchester and Salford, and the Neighbourhood, on the late assassination of the Right Honourable Spencer Perceval.

WE, the undersigned Inhabitants of the Towns of Manchester and Salford, and the Neighbourhood, beg leave at this time to approach your Royal Highness with expressions of our most heartfelt condolence for the irretrievable loss which yourself and the United Kingdom have lately sustained by the assassination of the Right Honourable Spencer Perceval.

In whatever point of view we contemplate this horrid tragedy, we see nothing in it but what tends to excite our justest indignation, to harrow up the best feelings of humanity, and to draw forth the tear of sympathy, attended with a deep sigh of lamentation over the outrage done to the laws, to the virtues, and to the security of the country. It is not only that we deplore, in the person of the lamented victim, the untimely extinction of pre-eminent talents, sanctioned and ennobled by the most undeviating uprightness and the most inflexible integrity of character: It is not only that we lament an able counsellor lost to the kingdom, a tender husband and father snatched away from his family, a bright example from the country, and an amiable friend from society; but our principal alarm and sorrow arise from the consideration that vice hath begun to assume amongst us so bold a front, and that we are made to tremble alike at the malignity of its purpose and the audacity of its enterprise; whilst we behold the most unexampled violence offered to the precepts of religion and justice, even within the walls of that house which was erected for their encouragement, their protection, and extension.

Yet in the midst of our distresses on the present melancholy occasion, a gleam of hope and consolation dawns upon our minds from the belief, which we are not unwilling to cherish, that private resentment, unconnected with any organized plan of insurrection and sedition, has been solely instrumental in producing the catastrophe which we deplore. We derive the higher satisfaction from this consideration, because we are not insensible to the terrible spirit of disorder and insubordination which hath lately manifested itself in various parts of the United Kingdom, and particularly in our own neighbourhood; and we are anxious to assure your Royal Highness, that in proportion as this spirit excites our horror, in the same degree it will rouse all our zeal and energy to repress it. But convinced that our dependence, on this occasion, must not rest on ourselves alone, but on that divine power which is above ourselves, our constant and fervent supplications will be offered up to the Most High, that, in the wisdom and goodness of His adorable providence, He will be pleased to bless and protect your Royal Highness and the government with which you are invested; and that your Royal Highness may long live to see union, peace and prosperity, extended throughout the empire, by the very opposition which was designed for their overthrow and annihilation.

[Presented by John Blackburn, Esq. M. P.]

To His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, the Aldermen, Recorder, Com-burgesses, and Burgesses of the ancient and loyal borough of Grantham, in the county of Lincoln, beg leave humbly to approach the throne, and to offer to your Royal Highness our sincere condolence, and to express our indignation and horror at the most atrocious assassination of the Right Honourable Spencer Perceval, First Lord of His Majesty's Treas-sure, and Chancellor of the Exchequer, within the walls of Parliament.

It is with heartfelt satisfaction we have observed the unanimity of both Houses of Parliament in giving testimony to his virtues, merited by the purity and integrity of his character, allowed by all parties; and we join them in the strongest detestation of the atrocious act of the assassin, who, by a crime always held in abhorrence by Englishmen, has plunged into deep distress a numerous and amiable family, and a generous and feeling people.

In thus humbly addressing the throne, by conveying our sorrow for this public and private loss, we have satisfaction in observing that the assassin, (who has suffered the just vengeance of the law,) appears to have stood unconnected in his crime, and, without views of a political nature, raised his arm against the innocent victim of his unjust revenge: but the avowal of the monster, that the horrid deed was occasioned by the Minister's protecting the public purse against an unfounded attack upon it, and his declaration that it was intended as "a warning to Ministers," that they should never hereafter resist the most nefarious demands of unprincipled assassins, cannot be too strongly reprobated.

Being sensible of the peculiar blessings of our invaluable constitution, in its three branches, we humbly beg leave to assure your Royal Highness of our unalterable and devoted attachment to your Royal Highness's person and august house, under whose mild sway we of this realm have so long experienced the most inestimable blessings, and of our firm resolution to exert ourselves to the utmost in the defence of the crown and dignity of these dominions, Rutland, Recorder.*

To His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

WE, the Mayor, Aldermen, Capital Burgesses, and the Inhabitants of the borough and parish of Barnstaple, and its neighbourhood, beg permission to approach your Royal Highness with sentiments of unfeigned condolence on an event which has recently filled every humane and loyal bosom with the deepest grief and indignation.

The assassination of the Right Honourable Spencer Perceval, late Prime Minister, within the very walls of the House of Commons, is, we believe, a deed of unexampled atrocity in the annals of this nation, and, we fervently hope, will never find a parallel in the time to come. In the dreadful catastrophe, however, which we now deplore, there are circumstances which cannot fail to excite the keenest sensibility of our loss. The great and good man, whose fate we lament, has been torn from us at a juncture highly critical, and full of interest; and the nation cannot but grieve for one who, in a situation of great difficulty and responsibility, had directed her councils with courageous wisdom, and proved himself, on every occasion, a faithful servant of his Sovereign, and a vigilant and intrepid supporter of the laws, liberties, and religion of his country.

The horrid murderer has undergone the well-merited penalties of the law; and although we cannot contemplate his hardened and inflexible depravity without detestation, we feel a comfort in finding that his crime stands wholly unconnected with those outrages which have brought disaster and disgrace on some parts of the kingdom.

For the suppression of those evils which, originating in a misguided populace, have in some instances terminated in deeds of violence abhorrent to the national character and spirit, and for the restoration of public tranquillity, we rely with confidence on the wisdom and energy of your Royal Highness's government, and on the co-operation of all His Majesty's loyal and affectionate people throughout the empire.

With solemn assurances of our inviolable attachment to your Royal Highness's house and person, and with prayers for your health and happiness, we pledge our best endeavours in support of the laws, and maintenance of our happy and glorious constitution.—Dated at Barnstaple the 21st May 1812.

To His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The humble and dutiful Address and Condolence of the Bailiff, Aldermen, Common-Councilmen, Chamberlain, Free Burgesses, Clergy, and Inhabitants of His Majesty's ancient and loyal Borough and Port of Great Grimsby, in the County of Lincoln.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, the Bailiff, Aldermen, Common-Councilmen, Chamberlain, and Free Burgesses of the Corporation of Great Grimsby, and Clergy and Inhabitants of the same Borough, do most humbly beg leave to approach your Royal Highness at this most important and momentous juncture, to tender our unaffected condolence, and to express our deepest sorrow, horror, and detestation at the unexampled and most atrocious act of assassination which was perpetrated on the person of the Right Honourable Spencer Perceval; First Commissioner of His Majesty's Treasury, and Chancellor of the Exchequer; a man endowed with the most amiable manners and exalted mind, possessing, in the most eminent degree, every public and private virtue; and this too at a time when he had arrived within the walls of the Honourable the House of Commons, of which he was so distinguished a member, and so bright an ornament, being on his way to the discharge of his most important public duties.

We had hoped that in a murder so foul, a crime so cowardly and abominable, as that of premeditated assassination, a thing so abhorrent to the generous nature of Britons, there had been neither participator nor accessory, and that the dreadful sensation and alarm it had created in the nation might have been speedily allayed by the discovery that this horrible deed was wholly unconnected with that treasonable and sanguinary system which has lately shewn itself in some parts of this kingdom; but we are now bereft of that cheering reflection by the perusal of those most vile and treasonable letters addressed to your Royal Highness, and to the Right Honourable John M'Mahon, your Royal Highness's

Secretary, and which appeared in the Gazette of the 19th instant; and fear that the mind of this deluded assassin, being known to be of a description suited to their purposes, had been worked upon by some factious miscreants to deprive your Royal Highness and the nation of this most energetic, firm, and faithful Counsellor, being, by experience, fully satisfied that their diabolical schemes and machinations could never succeed so long as your Royal Highness was pleased to continue him at the head of the government. Yet we have some consolation in the belief that the exposition of the existence of such baseness and disaffection will convince all the loyal and well disposed of His Majesty's subjects of the necessity of rallying round and supporting the throne; and that it will form a cement of the large mass of the people for the general good, and by that mean prevent the success of the plans of the factious, misled, and deluded.

We have the firmest reliance that His Majesty's government, under your Royal Highness's guidance and most paternal affection, assisted by Parliament, will frame such immediate and energetic laws and regulations, which, with the unextinguishable loyalty of the very great majority of the subjects of the United Empire, will be exerted to prevent a repetition of so foul an atrocity, and put a stop to the already overgrown licentiousness of a vile faction, and cause them to return to their duty and allegiance; that the constitution of this only free and happy country in Europe may suffer no deterioration, nor its loyal and peaceable inhabitants be plunged in anarchy and confusion.

We beg leave to assure your Royal Highness on an event so truly melancholy, and so greatly to be deplored, more especially on account of the many public and private virtues of so distinguished a character, of our steady loyalty and attachment to your royal house and person; and of our resolution, most determinedly, to support the crown and dignity of the realm, our established religion, and incomparable constitution, with our lives and fortunes, to the very last extremity, not only in words, but in fact.

Great Grimsby, May 28, 1812.

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales,
REGENT of the United Kingdom.

WE, the Bailiffs, Aldermen, and Burgesses of the ancient Borough of Bridgnorth, in Common Hall assembled, together with the Clergy, Gentry, and other Inhabitants of that Town and Neighbourhood, beg leave to approach your Royal Highness with sentiments of sincere condolence on the ever-to-be lamented death of your late upright and virtuous Minister the Right Honourable Spencer Perceval, under the hand of an assassin.

Whilst, Sir, we shudder at the contemplation of a deed abhorrent from humanity, and alien from the character of Englishmen; we yet derive some consolation from the conviction that it was the act of one infuriate mind, and not connected with any of those atrocities which still continue to disgrace various parts of the country, and which we trust will speedily be put a stop to by your Royal Highness's mild but vigorous measures.

We fully sympathize with your Royal Highness in feelings of poignant regret at the many afflictions which press so heavily at this time on your august person and on the nation at large; and we eagerly embrace this opportunity of offering to your Royal Highness, the assurance of our unshaken loyalty, and of our inviolable attachment to the happy, invaluable, and unrivalled constitution of our country.

Signed on behalf of the Corporation of Bridgnorth, and the common seal of the Corporation being affixed, John Milner, Richard Baker, Bailiffs of Bridgnorth; Joseph Smith, Town Clerk.

Signed on behalf of the Clergy, Gentry, and other Inhabitants of the Town and Neighbourhood of Bridgnorth,

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT.

The humble and dutiful Address of the Inhabitants of the Town and Neighbourhood of Lancaster.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Inhabitants of the Town and Neighbourhood of Lancaster, beg leave most humbly to approach your Royal Highness with our unfeigned condolence on the late horrible murder of the Right Honourable Spencer Perceval, First Commissioner of His Majesty's Treasury, and Chancellor of the Exchequer.

We deeply feel this unprovoked and most tragical event, aggravated, if possible, by its audacity, and by being perpetrated on the person of an able, zealous, and honest servant of his Prince and his country, and at the very entrance of the House of the great Representative Body of the Nation; of a crime so peculiarly wicked, we are at a loss to express our just abhorrence.

At this critical period, when the public mind is so much agitated by scenes of riot and insubordination, we reflect with considerable satisfaction, that this vile assassin has been proved to be totally unconnected with any associate, or any system of sanguinary violence; and we trust that the energetic measures which have been already adopted, will effectually prevent similar atrocities.

Grateful for the civil and religious blessings which we now enjoy, and deprecating the misery which a state of anarchy invariably produces, allow us most gracious Prince to avail ourselves of the present opportunity, of assuring your Royal Highness of our united loyalty and attachment to His Majesty's sacred person and family, and of pledging ourselves to resist every insidious attempt of the mischievous and disaffected, to disturb the peace and good order of society, and to defend, by every means in our power, the integrity of our unrivalled constitution.

Dated at Lancaster, in the county of Lancaster, the 30th day of May, in the year of our Lord 1812.

[Presented by Mr. Dent and Mr. Patten, Members of Parliament for Lancaster.]

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

WE, the undersigned Gentlemen, Clergy, and other Inhabitants of the Town of Warrington, in the County Palatine of Lancaster, humbly presume to approach your Royal Highness, to offer our sincere condolence, and to express our detestation and abhorrence of the foul assassination of the late Right Honourable Spencer Perceval, First Lord of His Majesty's Treasury, and Chancellor of the Exchequer; an act rendered (if possible) more atrocious by its having been committed within the walls of that house, where he had so often and so powerfully maintained the independence and interests of his country, and at a moment when he was hastening to the further discharge of those important duties which his splendid talents and unimpeached integrity so fully enabled him to perform.

It is at the same time a matter of some consolation to us to learn, that this malignant and horrible deed was the offspring solely of one depraved and revengeful mind, and wholly unconnected with any factious or political views; and we beg leave to express our unceasing and implicit confidence and reliance on those laws which have so promptly consigned the desperate murderer to the ignominious fate which he so justly merited.

Permit us to convey to your Royal Highness the sincere satisfaction we feel at the liberal and becoming manner in which your Royal Highness has thought proper, with the concurrence of Parliament, to provide for the afflicted family of the lamented Statesman, and to assure your Royal Highness, that, however great and severe the pressure of the times may be, we are confident every true Briton will cheerfully submit to any privation to second so laudable an intention.

Allow us also to congratulate your Royal Highness upon the continued tranquillity of this town and neighbourhood, and to assure you that we will use our utmost endeavours to preserve and maintain it, being duly convinced that a due submission to the laws is the best mode of evincing our love of liberty, and our firm attachment to the true principles of the constitution.

With minds fully impressed, that the sole object which your Royal Highness has hitherto kept in view is, to increase the happiness and prosperity of the empire committed to your charge, and to maintain its honour unsullied; we beg leave to assure your Royal Highness that we confidently look forward to a continuance of that fostering care and anxiety in the discharge of your important functions, which we have already witnessed, upon principles truly calculated to insure the best interests of the country, and to express to your Royal Highness our inviolable attachment to our revered and gracious King, to yourself, and every other branch of his illustrious family.

Admiralty-Office, June 23, 1812.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. Richard Bawden, Mate of the Hind Revenue Cutter, addressed to Admiral Sir Robert Calder, Bart. and transmitted to John Wilson Croker, Esq.

Hind Revenue Cutter, Cawsand-Bay,
June 19, 1812.

SIR,

I BEG leave to acquaint you, for the information of my Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, that, while cruising in His Majesty's revenue cutter the Hind, about seven P. M. yesterday, the Dodman bearing W. N. W. distance about six or seven miles, and blowing hard, with a high sea running, the weather hazy, I found myself in the near presence of a French lugger privateer, then having in company an English brig which she had captured. This cutter became engaged with the lugger: the latter showing every disposition to board the former, I gave him three broadsides, fell on board him, and his masts were carried away, boarded, and took possession of him; but soon after the vessels were separated, the lugger was found to be in a sinking state, and it was with great difficulty the officers and men of this cutter were withdrawn from her, as were, at the same time, her commander, his first officer, and seven of his crew, who are now on board the Hind. The lugger at this time appeared to have settled in the water very much, and being by that time dark night, we soon lost sight of her, and there is every reason to suppose she sunk.

From the report of her commander, Jean Le Duc, this lugger proves to be the Incomparable, belonging to St. Maloes, one hundred and twenty tons burthen, armed with fourteen twelve pounder carronades, having a crew of fifty-three men; out from Roscoe four days, had made no capture previous to the brig then in her company; during the action seven of her crew were killed, and nine men wounded. The crew, except the nine persons now in the Hind, and those seen in the brig's boat, remained in the lugger.

I am happy to inform you, that none of the crew of the Hind have received any hurt whatever, and that their conduct on this occasion was most exemplary and brave, against so superior a force, and in such extreme bad weather.

On the Hind appearing, the lugger withdrew her men from the brig, and none of her crew having been removed at the same time, the brig's both topmasts were carried away. I did not wait to board the brig, but pursued the lugger, and in passing I ordered the master of the brig to bear away for the nearest port; but I have not since seen that vessel, and have every reason to think the Frenchmen perished in her boat, as we saw them rowing towards the lugger, and they have not been since heard of.

The Hind has received no other damage than in her rigging and sails,

I am, &c.

RICH. BAWDEN, Mate, in Command of Hind Cutter.

As several Artificers and Manufacturers, Subjects of Great Britain, have, from Time to Time, gone into Foreign Countries to exercise their several Callings, contrary to the Laws of these Kingdoms, the following Abstracts of Acts of Parliaments of Their late Majesties King George the First and Second, and of His present Majesty, for preventing such Practices, are published, for the Information of all Persons who may be ignorant of the Penalties they may incur by Disobedience to them: And it will be observed, that such Penalties likewise extend to those who are any ways concerned or instrumental in the Sending or Enticing Artificers or Manufacturers out of these Kingdoms, or in the Exportation of the Tools and Instruments used by them, as well as to the Artificers or Manufacturers themselves.

Statute 5 George I. Chap. 27.

IF any person shall contract with, entice, or solicit, any artificer in wool, iron, steel, brass, or other metal, clock-maker, watch-maker, or any other artificer of Great Britain, to go into foreign countries out of the King's dominions, and shall be convicted thereof, upon indictment or information in any of the Courts at Westminster, or at the Assizes or Quarter Sessions, he shall be fined any sum not exceeding ONE HUNDRED POUNDS for the first offence, and shall be imprisoned three months, and till the fine be paid. And if any person having been once convicted shall offend again, he shall be fined at the discretion of the Court, and imprisoned twelve months, and till the fine be paid.

If any of the King's subjects, being such artificers, shall go into any country out of His Majesty's dominions, to exercise or teach the said trades to foreigners; and if any of the King's subjects in any such foreign country, exercising any of the said trades, shall not return into this realm within six months after warning given by the Ambassador, Minister, or Consul of Great Britain, in the country where such artificers shall be, or by any person authorised by such Ambassador, &c. or by one of the Secretaries of State, and from henceforth inhabit within this realm; such persons shall be incapable of taking any legacy, or of being an executor or administrator, or of taking any lands, &c. within this kingdom, by descent, devise, or purchase, and shall forfeit all lands, goods, &c. within this kingdom, to His Majesty's use, and shall be deemed alien, and out of His Majesty's protection.

Upon complaint made, upon oath, before any Justice of Peace, that any person is endeavouring to seduce any such artificer, or that any such artificer hath contracted or is preparing to go out of His Majesty's dominions, for the purposes aforesaid, such Justice may send his warrant to bring the person complained of before him, or before some other Justice; and if it shall appear by the oath of one witness; or by confession, that he was guilty of any of the said offences, such Justice may bind him to appear at the next Assizes or Quarter Sessions: And if such person shall refuse to give security, the Justice may commit him to gaol till the next Assizes or Quarter Sessions, and until he shall be delivered by due course of law. And if any such artificer shall be convicted, upon indictment, of any such promise, contract, or preparation to go beyond the seas, for the purpose aforesaid, he shall give such security to the King not to depart out of His Majesty's dominions, as such Court shall think reasonable, and shall be imprisoned till security given.

If any of the above offences shall be committed in Scotland, the same shall be prosecuted in the Court of Justiciary or the Circuits there.

Statute 23 George II. Chap. 13.

IF any person shall contract with, or endeavour to seduce any artificer in wool, mohair, cotton, or silk, or in iron, steel, brass, or other metal, or any clock-maker, watch-maker, or any other artificer in any other of the manufactures of Great Britain or Ireland, to go out of this kingdom or Ireland into any foreign country not within the dominions of the Crown of Great Britain, and shall be convicted, upon indictment or information, in the King's Bench at Westminster, or by indictment at the Assizes or General Gaol Delivery for the county, &c. wherein such offence shall be committed in England, or by indictment in the Court of Justiciary or any of the Circuit Courts in Scotland, or by indictment or information in the King's Bench at Dublin, if such offence be committed in Ireland; the person so convicted shall, for every artificer contracted with or seduced, forfeit FIVE HUNDRED POUNDS, and shall suffer imprisonment in the common gaol of the county or stewardry wherein such offender shall be convicted for twelve calendar months, and until forfeiture be paid: And in case of a subsequent offence of the same kind, the persons so again offending shall forfeit, for every person contracted with or seduced, ONE THOUSAND POUNDS, and shall suffer imprisonment in the common gaol of the county or stewardry wherein such offender shall be convicted, for two years, and until such forfeiture be paid.

If any person in Great Britain or Ireland shall put on board any ship or boat, not bound directly to some port in Great Britain or Ireland, or to some other of the dominions of the Crown of Great Britain, any such tools or utensils as are commonly used in, or proper for the preparing, working up, or finishing of the woollen or silk manufactures, or any part of such tools, he shall, for every offence, forfeit all such tools, or parts thereof, put on board, and TWO HUNDRED POUNDS, to be recovered by action of debt, &c. in any Court of Record at Westminster, or in the Court of Session in Scotland, or at any of the Four Courts in Dublin respectively, wherein no essoin, &c. shall be allowed.

It shall be lawful for any Officer of the Customs in Great Britain, or for any Officer of the Revenue in Ireland, to seize and secure, in some of His Majesty's warehouses, all such tools or utensils prohibited to be exported, as such officer shall find on board any vessel not bound directly to some port in Great Britain or Ireland, or to some other of the dominions of the Crown of Great Britain; and all tools so seized shall, after condemnation, be publicly sold to the best bidder; and one moiety of the produce shall be to the use of His Majesty, and the other moiety to the officer who shall seize and secure the same.

If the Captain of any vessel in Great Britain or Ireland knowingly permit any of the said tools, prohibited to be exported, to be put on board his vessel, he shall, for every such offence, forfeit ONE HUNDRED POUNDS, to be recovered as the penalties inflicted upon persons exporting the tools; and, if the vessel belongs to His Majesty, the Captain shall not only forfeit ONE HUNDRED POUNDS, but shall also forfeit his employment, and be incapable of any employment under His Majesty.

If any Officer of the Customs in Great Britain or of the Revenue in Ireland, take, or knowingly suffer to be taken, any entry outward, or sign any cocket or sufferance for the shipping or exporting of any of the said tools, or knowingly suffer the same to be done, he shall forfeit ONE HUNDRED POUNDS, to be recovered as aforesaid, and also forfeit his office, and be incapable of any office under His Majesty.

One moiety of the forfeitures shall be applied to the use of His Majesty, and the other moiety to the use of the person who shall sue for the same.

Statutes 14, 21, 25, and 26 of His present Majesty.

BY these Statutes the like penalties and forfeitures as above-mentioned are extended to persons packing or putting on board any vessel, not bound directly for some port in Great Britain or Ireland, any machine, engine, tool, press, paper, utensil, or implement whatsoever, used in or proper for the working or finishing of the cotton, steel, or iron manufactures of this kingdom, or any part or parts of such machines or implements, or any models or plans thereof; and all Captains of ships and other persons receiving or being in possession of any such articles, with an intent to export the same to foreign parts, and all Custom-house Officers suffering an entry to be made thereof, are respectively liable to the like penalties as are above-mentioned, in the case of tools and utensils used in the woollen and silk manufactures.

Admiralty-Office, May 26, 1812.

Notice is hereby given, that a Session of Oyer and Terminer and Gaol Delivery, for the Trial of Offences committed on the High Seas within the Jurisdiction of the Admiralty of England, will be held at Justice-Hall, in the Old Bailey, London, on Friday the 26th of June next, at eight o'clock in the morning.
