WAR DEPARTMENT.

Downing-Street, September 12, 1812.

LETTERS, of which the following are extracts, have been received by Earl Bathurst from Colonel Sir Howard Douglas, dated Castrorontrigo, 22d, and Astorga, 29th August.

Castrorontrigo, August 22, 1812.

WHEN the Earl of Wellington transferred his head-quarters from Mojados to Cuellar, the Gallician divisions, then occupying La Nava and Pollos, crossed the Douro again, and General Santocildes established his head-quarters in Valladolid. On the 7th instant Tordesillas capitulated, and the siege of Toro was undertaken, but with means very insufficient.

On the 12th the enemy advanced, with about seven thousand infantry and one thousand five hundred cavalry, from Palencia towards Valladolid, which was only occupied by one battalion. General Santocildes retired, taking the road by Torrelobaton towards Villalpando. The enemy now advanced towards Toro; and it was ascertained that their objects were to relieve Toro and Zamora, and then to march to Astorga, to raise the siege, and, having withdrawn the garrison, to destroy the works.

The Spanish troops were withdrawn from before Toro, which the enemy immediately abandoned; and General Santocildes, having collected all his force at Belver, on the Rio Seco, commenced his retreat on Benevente, near which place the enemy's cavalry came up with that of the 6th army (about four hundred), and in the affair which followed we sustained some loss.

On the 19th instant Astorga surrendered, when the enemy had already reached La Bañeza, from which place they have since retired, on hearing of the loss of that garrison, which was of such importance as to lead them into these operations. I have no doubt, from the direction they have taken, that they will now withdraw the garrison of Zamora, and entirely abandon the line of the Douro.

Astorga was commanded by a General of Brigade, was defended by a Lieutenant-Colonel of engineers, and the garrison was composed of two battalions of the 23d and one of the 1st infantry of the line—in all one thousand two hundred effectives at the time of the surrender.

Astorga, August 29, 1812.

THE enemy retired from La Bañeza on hearing of the fall of Astorga, and took the direction of Zamora; they evacuated the latter place on the morning of the 27th, retiring by Toro towards Valladolid.

The Gallician army has again moved forward, and now occupies cantonments on the Esla, in the towns and villages near Villamanan.

Downing-Street, September 12, 1812.

LETTERS, of which the following are extracts, have been received by Earl Bathurst from Lieutenant-Colonel William Parker Carrol, dated Zornoza, 24th August, and off Portugalette, 26th August.

Zornoza, August 24, 1812.

I HAVE the honour to acquaint you that, on the 13th instant, General Rouget, with a force of nearly three thousand men, advanced from Durango to attack Bilbao. General Renovales took up a position on the left bank of the river, having his right on the heights of Bolucta and Ollargan, defending the new bridge of Bolueta; his reserve at Castrejana. As soon as the enemy's force was ascertained, General Renoyales formed his plan of attack: part of the vanguard and Campillo's regiment were to pass the river at Portugalette, and proceed to the heights of Santo Domingo, to attack the enemy's right at daybreak on the 14th, whilst General Porlier, with the vanguard, attacked the enemy who were in possession of the two bridges in the town, and the troops at the bridge of Bolueta and the heights of Ollargan were to attack the enemy's left, which was strongly posted on the heights of Begona and el Morro.

At three o'clock on the morning of the 14th, the attack commenced with great vigour, and, after a heavy fire of four hours, the enemy was driven from the bridges of the town, and from the heights of Begona and Morro; and at nine o'clock, they commenced a precipitate retreat towards Zornoza, pursued by General Renoyales's division, and the vanguard, headed by Porlier: had the troops which were to have attacked the enemy's right, arrived at the appointed time, the victory would have been most complete, and probably General Rouget, with the greater part of his troops, would have been cut off from Durango. Their loss on this occasion far exceeded ours, which was twenty killed and fifty wounded. It was highly gratifying to see the steadiness of the newly raised troops of General Renoyales's division. Too much praise cannot be bestowed on their Chief, in whom they place the greatest confidence, and who is indefatigable in his exertions to complete and organise his division.

Since the 15th we occupied Galdacano and Zornoza, our advance close to Durango, which point the enemy have strengthened, having two guns on the bridge of Yurreta, and occupying several houses in the town; they have also an encampment on their left of the town, on the heights of Santa Lucia and Bctuno.

On the night of the 20th, we received intelligence that the enemy were moving to attack us, and that a column had marched to Orduna, the high road from which to Bilbao joins the road from Zornoza to Bilbao, about a mile from the latter town. General Mendizabal determined to fall back and wait the enemy on the left bank of the river, in nearly the same position as that occupied by General Renoyales on the 14th instant.

On the night of the 21st the enemy advanced from Durango in three columns, two by Zornoza, the other by Villaro, with a view of possessing themselves of the heights that led from Arrigorriaga, and flanked those of Bolueta, which was the right and the key of our position. Renoyales's division occupied from the heights of Bolueta to those of Olaviaga, which supported our left, covering the bridges of St. Anton, the wooden bridge, and the bridge of boats.

At daybreak on the morning of the 22d, General Mendizabal with part of the vanguard, proceeded to attack this column, directing that the division of Iberia should meet us at Arrigorriaga. Dispositions were made, which seemed to ensure the destruction of this column. The enemy on finding that we were in possession of the bridge of Arrigorriaga and roads leading to Bilbao, changed their direction, and by a most rapid march, favoured by the thickness of the woods, effected their junction with the second column, which was destined to make a simultaneous attack upon the bridge of Bolueta. General Mendizabal, with the vanguard, and Longa's division, arrived in time to resist the enemy's attack; their principal efforts were to force the bridge of Bolueta, which was defended in the most gallant manner; the enemy suffering considerable loss without being able to gain a foot of ground; their efforts on the left of our line proved equally unsuccessful.

General Renoyales at the head of his brave peasant soldiers met their attack at every point; the enemy attempted in vain to force the two bridges of the town, and that of boats; night coming on the enemy retired to his position on the heights of St. Domingo, el Morro and Begona. Arrangements were made for a combined attack upon the enemy's position, but finding that he had, upon being attacked by Renoyales, who crossed the river in front of the heights of Banderas, early in the night, commenced his retreat, no time was lost in pursuing him, and notwithstanding the great advantage he had in point of time, from the rapidity with which the division of Iberia marched, we came up with him near the town of Zornoza, and attacked his rear with such vigour, that his retreat became a confused and disorderly flight; insomuch that they did not avail themselves, as they might have done, of several strong positions which the road from Zornoza to Durango presents. At one of the strongest of these positions they made an effort to stand, but the gallantry of the Commandant-General Longa, who at the head of his troops led the attack, animating them by his example, who charged the enemy with a few cavalry and a small body of infantry, obliged him to abandon this position, and fly for safety to the town of Durango.

The enemy's loss has been very considerable; we have taken some horses and prisoners. As yet I am unable to give you a detail of this victory, as my attention was occupied on our right, and in the pursuit of the enemy with the division of Iberia.

The General in Chief has not as yet received the details from the commanders of divisions.

This victory has been highly creditable to the Spanish army. The advantages which will result, and the confidence it inspires in this newly raised army will, I have no doubt, produce the very best effects. The enemy's force appears to have been from five to six thousand. We understand, from prisoners and deserters, that Rouget, Duvernette, and another General, lately from France, commanded in this action.

On board His Majesty's Ship Venerable, off Portugalette, August 26, 1812.

I HAVE the honour to acquaint your Lordship, that we have just received information that Caffarelli, who is much exasperated at the failure and defeat of Rouget, has marched a force of from two thousand five hundred to three thousand men to Durango, to reinforce Rouget, and that they purpose making another attack upon Bilbao.

I am returning to join General Mendizabal.

The troops are in the highest spirits.

Admiralty-Office, September 12, 1812.

Extracts of Letters from the Captains of His Majesty's Ships named in the Margin, addressed to Vice-Admiral Sawyer, Commander in Chief of His Majesty's Ships and Vessels at Halifax, and transmitted to John Wilson Croker, Esq.*

*His Majesty's Ship Acasta, at Sea,
July 24, 1812.*

I BEG to acquaint you, that His Majesty's ship Acasta, under my command, fell in with, and captured this day, in latitude 44, 15 N. and longitude 62, 30 W. after a short chase, the American privateer brig Curlew, pierced for twenty guns, but having only sixteen on board, with a complement of one hundred and seventy-two men.

* Acasta, Colibri, Emulous.

His Majesty's Sloop Colibri, Cape Sable, bearing West 12 Leagues, July 26, 1812.

I BEG leave to acquaint you, that on Sunday at eight A. M. we descried two ships to the northward, and a schooner to the S. E., the former apparently steering a course for Halifax; hauled up in chace of the schooner; at noon exchanged numbers with His Majesty's schooner Bream; wore in chace of the ships to the northward, which we found had hauled up for us, the leadmost evidently a man of war with an American ensign, and pendant flying; she soon tacked and made sail from us, with a bark, her prize; we continued closing with her, and at a quarter before three o'clock we came alongside, and the action became general, and at three they called out for quarter; brought too, and took possession of the American ship privateer Catherine, from Boston, out eight days, and had taken nothing but the said bark: she is a beautiful and well equipped ship, pierced for sixteen guns, mounting fourteen long six-pounders, and a complement of eighty-eight men, commanded by Francis A. Burnham; she had one man killed, and one wounded; her men ran below, which accounts for their suffering so small a loss.

*His Majesty's Sloop Emulous, at Sea,
July 31, 1812.*

HIS Majesty's sloop under my command, fell in with, yesterday evening, the American privateer brig Gossamer, of fourteen carriage guns, with one hundred men, and after a short chace came up with and captured her: she left Boston on the 24th instant, had made one capture, the ship Mary Anne, of Greenock, from Jamaica bound to Quebec.

BY command of the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, notice is hereby given, for the information of the Masters and Pilots of His Majesty's ships, and for the benefit of navigation in general, that the beacon upon the Trident or Whittle Rock, in False Bay, at the Cape of Good Hope, disappeared in the tempestuous weather which preceded the 10th of June last.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

THE Trustees for carrying into effect an Act of Parliament for rendering the navigation in the Frith and River of Clyde more safe and equimodious, have erected a Light House on the Point of Toward, a low rocky situation near the entrance to Rothsay Bay, on the west side of the Frith; and give this public notice that the same will be lighted on the 1st of November next.

Its bearing, coming in Channel from the Cumray Light House, is by the compass N. N. E. $\frac{1}{2}$ E. distance $9\frac{3}{4}$ miles; and, from the Clough Light House, W. S. W. $\frac{1}{2}$ S. distance $6\frac{3}{4}$ miles.

To distinguish the Toward Light from the others in the Frith, it is constructed to revolve horizontally, presenting a bright and dim light, alternately, in every direction, except on the N. E. side, where so much of it is totally darkened as to prevent its being seen from the rocks called the Captains Bridges' off Inellan, and the Gantocks off Denoon; so that vessels navigating along the shore to the northward of this light, by being careful to keep it in sight, will avoid any risk from these rocks.—Glasgow, September 7, 1812.
