Whitehall, September 29, 1812.

THE following extracts and letter have been received at the East India House from the Governor General in Council at Fort William, in Bengal.

Extract of a Dispatch from the Governor-General in Council, dated 6th March 1812.

WE deem it proper to transmit a circumstantial detail of the assault upon the celebrated fortress of Callinger; and the insuperable obstacles which occasioned its failure. This detail is contained in a dispatch from Colonel Martindell, commanding the troops, dated the 4th ultimo. We have the honour to transmit a copy of that dispatch, together with the copy of a letter from the Adjutant-General, in which the former has been communicated to Government;

We participate most cordially in the applause bestowed by his Excellency the Commander in Chief and by Colonel Martindell, on the exemplary gallantry and persevering intrepidity manifested by the officers and men engaged in the assault; an assault which, although it failed in the immediate attainment of its object, can scarcely be deemed unsuccessful; since to the terror inspired by it must be ascribed the subsequent surrender of this almost impregnable fortress, on terms and in a manner which have maintained the credit of our arms, without any sacrifice of dignity, or any concessions of material importance to our interests. We concur also entirely in the praise bestowed by the Commander in Chief on the distinguished zeal, judgment, and exertions of Colonel Martindell, in conducting the arrangements and operations of the late service in Bundelcund.

We deeply lament the loss, in killed and wounded, which, by the return accompanying Colonel Martindell's dispatch, your Honourable Court will find has attended this enterprise, but we have the satisfaction to learn, that, with very few exceptions, the wounded are in a state of recovery, and that the total number of those who have been killed, or who have died of their wounds, including officers, does not exceed nineteen or twenty.

To N. B. Edmonstone, Esq. Chief Secretary to Government, Secret Department.

SIR,

I AM directed by the Commander in Chief to request you will lay before the Right Honourable the Governor-General in Council, the enclosed copy of a dispatch dated the 4th ultimo, but only received this morning, from Colonel Martindell, commanding in Bundelcund, detailing the particulars of the assault on Callinger, on the morning of the 2d of February, and transmitting a return of the killed and wounded in that most gallant enterprise.

Although the Commander in Chief deeply laments the loss sustained by the British troops in the attempt to carry Callinger by storm, his Excellency considers the early surrender of that celebrated fortress to the British power, as the immediate consequence of the impression made on the mind of the enemy, by the determined spirit shewn in the assault of the breach, and by the severity of the loss he experienced on that occasion.

The Commander in Chief trusts that, although the exertions of Lieutenant-Colonel Mawbey, of His Majesty's 53d foot, and of the brave officers and men who acted under him on this arduous service, were not crowned by the immediate success which they deserved, owing to the formidable natural obstacles which opposed them, their zeal and gallantry will not be viewed the less entitled to the distinguished approbation of his Lordship in Council.

Reverting to the arrangements made for assembling the force before Callinger, and for investing the place, as well as to the progress of the siege, the Commander in Chief finds just occasion for bringing to the favourable notice of Government, the conduct of Colonel Martindell in the general direction of the important service confided to his experience and ability; and the persevering zeal and exertions manifested by all descriptions of the troops, the detachments of the European cavalry, artillery, and infantry, the native infantry and pioneers in the laborious operations of the siege prior to the assault on the 2d February. The Right Honourable the Governor-General in Council will have noticed with peculiar satisfaction, in Colonel Martindell's former dispatches, the testimony borne to the services rendered by the artillery and engineer departments throughout the siege; and to the exemplary valour displayed by Captain Smyth, the directing engineer, on the morning of the 2d February.

I have the honour to be, &c.

G. W. FAGAN, Adjutant-General.

*Adjutant-General's Office, Fort William,
March 5, 1812.*

To Lieutenant-Colonel Fagan, Adjutant-General.

SIR,

WITH reference to my letter to your address of the 2d instant, reporting the failure on the morning of that day, I have now the honour to transmit a return of the killed and wounded, and to state for the information of his Excellency the Commander in Chief, that the storming party consisted of five companies of His Majesty's 53d regiment, twelve companies of grenadiers, and nine companies of light infantry of the line, divided into three columns of eight companies each, exclusive of the grenadiers and light infantry of His Majesty's 53d, under Captain Fraser of that corps; and the following is the disposition that was made on the day previous to the attack.

The forlorn hope, consisting of a serjeant and twelve privates of His Majesty's 53d regiment, were to lead, followed by the grenadiers and light infantry of that corps. The 1st, or leading column, consisting of the remaining three companies of His Majesty's 53d, and five companies of grenadiers; the 2d column, composed of eight companies of grenadiers and light infantry, under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel Fraser, of the 1st battalion of the 11th regiment, and the 3d column of eight companies of grenadiers and light infantry, under the command of Major Cumberledge, of the 2d battalion of the 2d regiment.

The grenadiers and light infantry of His Majesty's 53d, after gaining the summit of the breach, were ordered to file to the right and left along the rampart. The 1st column was instructed after entering the breach, to push along the north front; the 2d through the grove, nearly in the centre, and the 3d column along the south side of the fort: the several columns were to co-operate and support each other as circumstances may have required.

The top of the breach was crowded by the enemy during the whole of the storm, exposed to a most severe fire of cannon and musketry, which destroyed them in great numbers.

The foot of the breach being high, it was impossible to get to it without the assistance of ladders, and all those that got up them to the top of the rock, which is the foot of the breach, were as instantly knocked down by the constant shower of heavy stones. To these insurmountable obstacles is to be ascribed the failure on the 2d instant, and I beg you will be pleased to assure his Excellency that the conduct of Lieutenant-Colonel Mawbey, and that of every officer and man employed on the storming party, was such as to meet my entire approbation; and at the same time that I regret the loss of some brave officers and men, with our want of complete success, I am satisfied that the whole did every thing in the power of men. I have further the satisfaction to assure his Excellency, that the lustre of our arms has not been tarnished on this occasion, but on the contrary the persevering bravery and great exertions of the troops has struck terror into the enemy and the surrounding country.

I directed Major Kelly with the troops under his command in the town, consisting of ten companies of native infantry, to divert the attention of the enemy while the principal attack was going forward, by making a false attack on the gateway, and if opportunity offered to enter the fort by the causeway leading up to it; but the natural strength of the passage is such, added to the state of preparation of the enemy, that it was not practicable to do any thing effectual in this quarter, and I beg you will be pleased to assure his Excellency that the Major and his party did all that it was possible for them to do, under existing circumstances, and that his conduct and that of his officers and men merit every praise.

I have the honour to be, &c.

THE following Address has been presented to His Royal Highness the Prince Regent; which Address His Royal Highness was pleased to receive very graciously:

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT.

The humble Address of His Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects the Inhabitants of the Towns of Manchester and Salford.

WE, His Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects of the Towns of Manchester and Salford, most humbly approach the throne with those lively sentiments of joy and exultation which must fill the bosom of every Briton, upon the brilliant and repeated victories achieved by the forces of His Majesty and his allies in the Peninsula, and particularly upon the late glorious event of the battle of Salamanca, followed by the recovery of the capital of the kingdom of Spain.

We have seen with admiration, the valour, military skill, and unremitting perseverance, of that great hero and consummate general the Marquess of Wellington, and the brave armies under his com-hand, who have so often baffled and triumphed over the boasted tactics of our arrogant foe, and recently obtained over those unjust invaders one of the greatest victories that have graced the annals of this or any other age; a victory which, we trust, will diffuse its influence throughout Europe, by spreading dismay amongst the servile satellites of the tyrant, and inspiring with courage and confidence the many nations who are panting for the restoration of freedom.

May the Almighty vouchsafe a continuance of success to His Majesty's arms in this glorious struggle of freedom and humanity, against cruelty, oppression, and slavery, and may that success be the means of increasing the commerce and prosperity of these kingdoms, and of speedily accomplishing, what is the object of all just wars, an honourable and lasting peace.

BANKERS' LICENCES.

Stamp-Office, London, September 19, 1812.

Notice is hereby given, that, by the Stamp Act, 48 Geo. 3, c. 149, all licences granted to Bankers or others, to issue promissory notes, payable to the bearer on demand, and allowed to be re-issued, will expire on the 10th of October next, and that they must be renewed within one month from that day, or penalties will be incurred.

That a separate licence must be taken out for every place where the notes shall be issued, unless the persons to be licensed had issued their notes at several places before the 2d July 1808, and originally obtained one licence for all such places; in which case only, they will be again included in one licence.

That every licence must specify the names and places of abode of the persons to be licensed, and the name of the place or places where, and the name of the bank, firm, or title under which, the notes are to be issued; and licences to persons in partnership must specify the names, and places of abode, of all the persons concerned in the partnership, whether all their names appear in the notes or not; and in default thereof the licences will be void. With these particulars a specimen of the notes must also be left at this Office, by the persons applying for such licences.

That a penalty of 100l. for every offence is imposed on the issuing of promissory notes, of the description aforesaid, without a licence, or at any other place, or under any other firm or title, than is specified in the licence; and a penalty of 50l. for every offence is imposed on the issuing of promissory notes of any description, or bills of exchange, not duly stamped, and on the re-issuing of promissory notes not allowed to be re-issued, as well as on the re-issuing of notes allowed to be re-issued after the period fixed for that purpose.

The Commissioners of Stamps having had occasion to prosecute several country Bankers, for the penalties incurred by their disregard of the provisions of the Act, this notice is given that all persons concerned may in future conform thereto, and avoid the penalties for which they will otherwise be prosecuted; and that persons applying for licences, may come prepared with all the requisite particulars to be inserted therein, without which the licences cannot be filled up; so as to protect the parties against the penalties of the Act.

By order of the Commissioners,

Wm. Kappen, Secretary.

Trinity-House, London, September 24, 1812.

Notice is hereby given, that, pursuant to the directions of the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, a Floating Light is now moored off Bembridge Ledge, at the east end of the Isle of Wight, S. E. 90 fathoms from the true situation of the Nab Buoy, in five fathoms at low spring ebbs, with the following angles and compass bearings, viz.

Nettlestone Point and St. Helen's Sea Mark, 20 deg. 27 min.

St. Helen's Sea Mark and Ashdown Beacon, 10 deg. 44 min.

Ashdown Beacon and sharp Western Edge of Culver Cliff, 29 deg. 3 min.

nose Point, 8 deg. 42 min.

Nettlestone Point, N. W. Northerly.

Ashdown Beacon, W. b N.  $\frac{1}{2}$  N.

S. E. Buoy Princessa, S. S. W.  $\frac{1}{4}$  S.

Warner, N. b W.

Nettlestone and East Cowes Points in One, N. W.

The first rise of the land to the right of the high land over Dunnose Point, is on the sharp angle and highest part of the middle of Culver Cliff.

Ships coming from the westward, round the S.E. buoy of the Princessa will be a good birth to the eastward of that shoal when the light bears N. b E.

If the passage between Betty's Ledge and the N. W. buoy of the Princessa must unavoidably be taken in a dark night, ships must bring the light to bear N. E. b E.  $\frac{1}{2}$  E., and must persevere in keeping it upon that bearing, as the tide between Betty's Ledge and the Princessa (on which in many parts there are not more than 19 or 20 feet) runs with a velocity that makes this channel dangerous to ships drawing much water. The light may be passed close on either side; the anchorage in St. Helen's Road is in the direction of the Warner buoy, where the ground is excellent, about one mile from the light.

The light will be exhibited for the first time on the night of Tuesday the 29th instant, and continued constantly from sunset to sunrise, for the benefit of navigation. And masters and pilots are to observe, that two distinct lights will be shewn from this vessel in two lanterns, suspended from two separate masts, at 43 feet distance asunder, and hung at different heights, the one lantern at 25 feet, the other at 18 feet height above the vessel's deck, by which this floating light will be readily distinguishable from the Owers floating light, other lights in that vicinity.

Notice is hereby given, that application is intended to be made to Parliament during the next session, for leave to bring in a bill to explain and amend, or repeal, a certain Act passed in the sixteenth year of the reign of His late Majesty King George the Second, intituled "An Act to make the hamlet of Bethnal-Green, in the parish of Saint Dunstan, Stepney, in the county of Middlesex, a separate and distinct parish, and for erecting a parish church therein;" and also another Act passed in the twenty-fourth year of the reign of His said late Majesty King George the Second, intituled "An Act for cleansing and enlightening the open places, streets, and other passages, and regulating the nightly watch and beadies, in the parish of Saint Matthew, Bethnal-Green, in the county of Middlesex;" and also another Act passed in the third year of the reign of His present Majesty, intituled "An Act for maintaining, regulating, and employing the poor within the parish of Saint Matthew, Bethnal-Green, in the county of Middlesex;" and also another Act passed in the thirteenth year of the reign of His present Majesty, intituled "An Act to enable the inhabitants of the parish of Saint Matthew, Bethnal-Green, in the county of Middlesex, to pay debts already contracted in finishing and furnishing their workhouse; and on account of the poor of the said parish, and for their further relief;" and all other existing laws relating to the lighting, watching, paving, and cleansing the said parish of Saint Matthew, Bethnal-Green, and to the maintaining, regulating, and employing the poor within the said parish; and to make more effectual provision for lighting, watching, paving, cleansing, regulating, and improving the streets, squares, roads, lanes, and other open passages, ways, and places within the said parish; and for maintaining, regulating, and employing the poor of the said parish of Saint Matthew, Bethnal-Green, in the county of Middlesex.—Hoxton-Square, September 4, 1812. John Wilks, Solicitor.

Notice is hereby given to the Members of both Houses of Parliament, that their letters and packets will, on the 15th instant, begin to pass free as usual, being forty days before the day on which the new Parliament is summoned to meet.
