By His Royal Highness the PRINCE of WALES,
REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, in the Name and on the Behalf of His Majesty.

A PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE, P. R.

WHEREAS it hath been represented unto Us, that divers unfortunate and misguided persons, who have been induced by the artifices of wicked and designing men to take some oath or engagement contrary to the Acts of Parliament in that behalf made in the thirty-seventh and fifty-second years of His Majesty's reign, or one of those Acts, or to steal ammunition, fire-arms, and other offensive weapons, for the purpose of committing acts of violence and outrage against the persons and property of His Majesty's peaceable and faithful subjects, and who are not yet charged with such their offences, may be willing and desirous to make a disclosure or confession of such their offences, and to take the oath of allegiance to His Majesty, upon receiving an assurance of His Majesty's most gracious pardon for such their offences: We, therefore, acting in the name and on the behalf of His Majesty, being willing to give such assurance, upon such conditions as are hereinafter-mentioned, and earnestly hoping, that the example of the just and necessary punishments which have been inflicted in the Counties of Lancaster, Chester, and York, upon certain offenders, lately tried and convicted in those counties, may have the salutary effect of deterring all persons from following the example of their crimes, by a renewal of the like atrocities, have thought fit, by and with the advice of His Majesty's Privy Council, to issue this Proclamation; and as an encouragement and inducement to His Majesty's misguided subjects, to relinquish all disorderly practices, and return to their due and faithful allegiance to His Majesty; We do hereby, acting in the name and on the behalf of His Majesty, promise and declare that every person, not having been charged with any of the offences herein-before mentioned, who shall, previous to the first day of March next ensuing, appear before some Justice of the Peace or Magistrate, and declare his offence, and the oath or engagement by him taken, and when and where the same was taken, and in what manner, or the ammunition fire arms, or other offensive weapons by him stolen, and when, where, and from whom the same were stolen, and the place where the same were deposited; and also, according to the best of his knowledge and belief, the place where the same may be found, and who shall at the same time take, before such Justice of the Peace or Magistrate, the oath of allegiance to His Majesty, shall receive His Majesty's most gracious pardon for the said offence; and that no confession so made by any such person shall be given in evidence against the person making the same in any court, or in any case whatever.

Given at the Court at Carlton House, the eighteenth day of January, one thousand eight hundred and thirteen, in the fifty-third year of His Majesty's reign.

GOD save the KING.

Lord Chamberlain's Office, December 28, 1812.

NOTICE is hereby given, that a Drawing-Room will be held at St. James's, on the 4th of February next, for the celebration of Her Majesty's birth-day.

Lord Chamberlain's Office, January 22, 1813.

NOTICE is hereby given, that His Royal Highness the Prince Regent will hold a Levee at Carlton-House, on Monday the 1st of February next.

Whitehall, January 16, 1813.

His Royal Highness the Prince Regent having been pleased, in the name and on the behalf of His Majesty, to nominate the late Major-General Isaac Brock to be a Knight Companion of the Most Honourable Order of the Bath, by warrant bearing date the 10th day of October last; in consideration of the great ability and judgment with which he planned, and the promptitude, energy, and fortitude with which, having under his command, in the province of Upper Canada, a force of only seven hundred men, including militia; and about six hundred Indians, he accomplished the capture of the post of Fort Detroit on the 16th day of August last, and the surrender of two thousand five hundred of the enemy's troops, and about twenty-five pieces of ordnance, without the sacrifice of any British blood on the occasion: and the said Sir Isaac Brock having, since the date of the said nomination, in a second attempt of the enemy to invade the said province on the Niagara frontier, unfortunately, but gloriously, fallen in battle, in the town of Queenstown, on the 13th of the said month of October, at the head of a small body of regular troops, consisting of the flank companies of the 49th regiment of foot, whilst animating by his presence, and gallantly encouraging them (even after he had received the mortal wound, and was in the agonies of death) to sustain their position against a very superior force; thus conducting, by so eminent an example of valour and self-devotion, to the ultimate defeat and capture of the enemy; His Royal Highness, desirous of commemorating these important services, has thought fit, in the name and on the behalf of His Majesty, to grant and ordain that the supporters which, by virtue of the statutes of the said Most Honourable Order, the said Sir Isaac Brock would have been entitled to bear, may, together with certain armorial ensigns allusive to those services, be placed on any monument to be erected to his memory; and that the arms, crest, and motto, without such supporters, may be henceforth borne and used by the descendants, respectively, of his late father, John Brock, some time of the Island of Guernsey, Esq. deceased; as a memorial to them, and to His Majesty's subjects in general, of the loyalty, ability, and valour of the said Sir Isaac Brock, whose valuable life was thus gloriously devoted to the service of his country:

Provided the said armorial ensigns be first duly exemplified according to the laws of arms, and recorded in the Herald's Office; otherwise the said royal licence and permission to be void and of none effect:

And also to order, that the said royal concession and declaration be registered in His Majesty's College of Arms.

THE following Addresses have been presented to His Royal Highness the Prince Regent; which Addresses His Royal Highness was pleased to receive very graciously:

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The humble Address of the Provost, Fellows, and Scholars of the College of the Holy and Undivided Trinity of Queen Elizabeth, near Dublin.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, the Provost, Fellows, and Scholars of the College of the Holy and Undivided Trinity of Queen Elizabeth, near Dublin, beg leave to offer to your Royal Highness the humble tribute of our unfeigned respect and veneration, to profess our loyalty to your Royal Highness's illustrious house, and our unalterable attachment to that venerable Constitution in Church and State to which the Empire owes its greatness, and the subject his safety; by which our liberties have been preserved, and our religion protected.

Removed by our academic situation from political pursuits, we have always been desirous to avoid the discussions to which they inevitably lead, and we have been withheld from expressing an opinion with respect to the great change proposed in the Constitution of this United Kingdom, in favour of our Roman Catholic fellow-subjects, by additional motives arising from the peculiar circumstances in which we are placed.

Receiving among our students Roman Catholics indiscriminately with Protestants, we have felt it incumbent upon us, as a powerful means of preserving their confidence and their regard, to refrain from interfering in any question in which their interests were involved.

Nor do we now come forward to depart from a line of conduct, the motives for which we humbly hope your Royal Highness will condescend to approve; but we find it necessary to guard that conduct from misrepresentation, and to protest against the sophistry which may pretend to deduce our political opinions from the silence we have deemed it advisable to observe.

Attached by the strongest ties to that regulated freedom and that inestimable blessing, a pure Christian Church, which these countries have so long enjoyed, we beg leave humbly to express our hope that these may ever be made the chief objects of attention, preserved with scrupulous solicitude, and transmitted to our most remote posterity with securities unimpaired.

[Transmitted by His Grace the Lord Lieutenant, and presented by Lord Viscount Sidmouth.]

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, REGENT of the British Empire, &c.

The humble Petition of the Inhabitants of the County of Monaghan, professing the Protestant Religion, assembled at the County Court-House of Monaghan, by public notice, on Wednesday the 28th day of October 1812.

Sheweth,

THAT your Petitioners, confiding in the united wisdom of Parliament, and not wishing to agitate the public mind, have hitherto declined giving any opinion on the subject of the Roman Catholic claims; but when your Petitioners see the Roman Catholic body, in their aggregate meetings, outstepping all bounds of moderation, and presuming to dictate to the Legislature, they think it high time to come forward and declare their sentiments on that important subject, and the more so as your Petitioners have heard that it has been asserted in Parliament, that the Protestants of Ireland were friendly to the unqualified demands of the Roman Catholics.

Your Petitioners owe it to themselves (in contradiction to the various charges of bigotry and intolerance that have of late been made against them) to declare; that in the retrospect of their conduct towards their Roman Catholic fellow-subjects, they feel conscious that they have not borne them any hostility on account of their religious opinions, but on the contrary have treated them with kindness and liberality.

Your Petitioners, impressed with those feelings, would gladly concede to their Roman Catholic brethren every privilege that can be given consistent with the spirit and principles of the British Constitution as established at the Revolution, and guaranteed by the Act of Union. But your Petitioners have seen with concern, that concessions to the Roman Catholics, hitherto, have only produced demands, and those latterly of so alarming a nature, as, if complied with, must necessarily tend to subvert the Protestant settlement of this country, on which they firmly believe the connection between the two countries, and ultimately the security of the Empire, depends.

Your Petitioners, animated by the most lively sentiments of gratitude and affection towards your Royal Highness, which have been excited by the conduct of your Royal Highness in the exercise of the high powers now vested in you, beg leave to approach your Royal Highness with an humble but firm confidence, that, before your Royal Highness will consent to any radical change in that happy Constitution under which your Petitioners have so long enjoyed civil and religious liberty, your Royal Highness will give to a matter of so much importance the fullest consideration; and your Petitioners humbly pray, that if any further concessions are to be granted to the Roman Catholics, your Royal Highness will not consent to any that shall not be so formed as to guard against any future attacks and encroachments, and at the same time to afford perfect security to that Establishment, which your Petitioners consider vitally interwoven with the welfare and stability of this Protestant State.

We beg leave at the same time to express to your Royal Highness the high sense we entertain of your Royal Highness's goodness, in having thought proper to continue to us the blessings we have uniformly enjoyed under the administration of His Grace the Duke of Richmond.

Chas. Esatt Sheriff, Chairman.

[Transmitted by His Grace the Lord Lieutenant, and presented by Lord Viscount Sidmouth.]

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT.

WE, His Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Protestant Noblemen, Gentlemen, Clergy, and Freeholders of the County of Tyrone, approach your Royal Highness with sentiments of the warmest attachment to your Royal Highness's person, family, and government.

In the virtues of your Royal Highness, we recognise the surest pledge that His Majesty's Protestant subjects will ever experience; under your Royal Highness's Government, the protection which has been invariably and effectually extended to them by your illustrious house; we owe it however to your Royal Highness, to ourselves, and to our posterity, humbly and respectfully to lay at the foot of the throne our firm conviction, that the unqualified and unrestricted concessions required by our Roman Catholic fellow-subjects, are incompatible with the principles and spirit of the British Constitution, we implore your Royal Highness graciously to continue your protection to our Constitution in Church and State, to rely on our fidelity and devotion to our Sovereign, to the honour and dignity of your Royal Highness, and to those principles which placed your royal ancestor on the throne of these realms.

Signed, in behalf of the Meeting,

Robt. W. Lowry, Sheriff of the County of Tyrone.

Omagh, January 2, 1813.

[Transmitted by His Grace the Lord Lieutenant, and presented by Lord Viscount Sidmouth.]

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, PRINCE REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

WE, the Protestant Noblemen, Gentlemen, Clergy, Freeholders, and other the Protestant Inhabitants of the County of Limerick, actuated by the most lively and loyal attachment to the sacred person of our most gracious King, and to the Government of the United Kingdom, as administered by your Royal Highness, humbly beg permission to lay these our sentiments of attachment and duty at the foot of the throne.

Zealously attached to those principles which have placed your illustrious house on the throne of these realms, and which (under the blessing of Providence) have exalted them to a degree of liberty, prosperity, and public happiness unparalleled in the history of nations, we most dutifully approach your Royal Highness, and respectfully submit our opinions upon the subject of Catholic Emancipation, one of the most important points which, in our humble judgment, have ever called for the consideration of the Legislature.

We are influenced by no illiberal or bigotted spirit of exclusion or oppression: most gladly would we accede to the extension of every privilege consistent with the perfect safety of those Establishments in Church and State, under which we have enjoyed security and increasing prosperity, since the period of the glorious Revolution; but while the Roman Catholics claim unqualified concession, and refuse to submit their Establishment to those wholesome ties, which the security of the Protestant Constitution requires, we deem it our duty to declare that such concession would be incompatible with the spirit of the British Constitution, and would tend to subvert the Protestant settlement of this country, and ultimately to sever the connection between Great Britain and Ireland, upon which the security of the Empire depends.

Through your Royal Highness's care, we firmly rely, that if the ancient and venerable fabric of the Constitution, under which we and our forefathers have so long enjoyed security, protection, and happiness, must now be modified, such substantial bulwarks for the defence of what may remain, may be raised, as shall firmly uphold the Protestant Establishment, and set this question at rest for ever.

A DISPATCH, of which the following is a copy, has been received by Viscount Castlereagh, His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, from His Excellency General Viscount Cathcart, K. T. His Majesty's Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary to the Court of Russia, dated

My LORD, St. Petersburg, Jan. 2, 1813.

I HAVE the honour herewith to transmit to your Lordship copies of two proclamations, together with a nominal list of the General Officers who have been taken prisoners by the Russian armies, which I have just received from Wilna, but which have not yet been published here.

No further official intelligence of military operations has been received here since my last.

Private letters of the 30th, from Liebau, mention, that the French troops stationed at that place marched, on the 22d of December, for Memel; from which it appears impossible that they should not have been cut off, if they attempted Tilsit, which was occupied on the 11th by Count Wittgenstein, who was nearer to Königsberg.

I have the honour to be, &c.

(Signed) CATHCART.

DECLARATION.

AT the moment of my ordering the armies under my command to pass the Prussian frontier, the Emperor, my master, directs me to declare, that this step is to be considered in no other light than as the inevitable consequence of the military operations.

Faithful to the principles which have actuated his conduct at all times, His Imperial Majesty is guided by no view of conquest. The sentiments of moderation which have ever characterised his policy are still the same, after the decisive successes with which Divine Providence has blessed his legitimate efforts. Peace and independence shall be their result. These His Majesty offers, together with his assistance, to every people, who, being at present obliged to oppose him, shall abandon the cause of Napoleon, in order to follow that of their real interest. I invite them to take advantage of the fortunate opening which the Russian armies have produced, and to unite themselves with them in the pursuit of an enemy whose precipitate flight has discovered its loss of power. It is to Prussia in particular to which this invitation is addressed. It is the intention of His Imperial Majesty to put an end to the calamities by which she is oppressed, to demonstrate to her King the friendship which he preserves for him, and to restore to the Monarchy of Frederic its éclat and its extent. He hopes that His Prussian Majesty, animated by sentiments which this frank Declaration ought to produce, will, under such circumstances, take that part alone which the wishes of his people and the interest of his states demand. Under this conviction, the Emperor, my master, has sent me the most positive orders to avoid every thing that could betray a spirit of hostility between the two powers, and to endeavour, within the Prussian provinces, to soften, as far as a state of war will permit, the evils which for a short time, must result from their occupation.

(Signed) The Marshal Commander in Chief of the Armies,
PRINCE KOUTOUSOFF SMOLENSKO.

PROCLAMATION.

WHEN the Emperor of All the Russias was compelled, by a war of aggression, to take arms for the defence of his states, His Imperial Majesty, from the accuracy of his combinations, was enabled to form an estimate of the important results which that war might produce with respect to the independence of Europe. The most heroic constancy, the greatest sacrifices, have led to a series of triumphs, and when the Commander in Chief, Prince Koutousoff Smolensko, led his victorious troops beyond the Niemen, the same principles still continued to animate the Sovereign. At no period has Russia been accustomed to practise that art, (too much resorted to in modern wars,) of exaggerating, by false statements, the success of her arms. But with whatever modesty her details might now be penned, they would appear incredible. Ocular witnesses are necessary to prove the facts to France, to Germany, and to Italy, before the slow progress of truth will fill those countries with mourning and consternation. Indeed it is difficult to conceive that in a campaign of only four months duration, one hundred and thirty thousand prisoners should have been taken from the enemy, besides nine hundred pieces of cannon, forty-nine stand of colours, and all the waggon train and baggage of the army. A list of the names of all the Generals taken is hereunto annexed. It will be easy to form an estimate from that list of the number of superior and subaltern officers taken.

It is sufficient to say, that out of three hundred thousand men, (exclusive of Austrians,) who penetrated into the heart of Russia, not thirty thousand of them, even if they should be favoured by fortune, will ever revisit their country. The manner in which the Emperor Napoleon repassed the Russian frontiers can assuredly be no longer a secret to Europe. So much glory, and so many advantages, cannot, however, change the personal dispositions of His Majesty the Emperor of All the Russias. The grand principles of the independence of Europe have always formed the basis of his policy, for that policy is fixed in his heart. It is beneath his character to permit any endeavours to be made to induce the people to resist the oppression and to throw off the yoke which has weighed them down for twenty years. It is their Governments whose eyes ought to be opened by the actual situation of France. Ages may elapse before an opportunity equally favourable again presents itself, and it would be an abuse of the goodness of Providence not to take advantage of this crisis to reconstruct the great work of the equilibrium of Europe, and thereby to insure public tranquillity and individual happiness.

Copy of a Letter from Captain Rowley, of His Majesty's Ship the Eagle, addressed to Rear-Admiral Fremantle, and transmitted to John Wilson Croker, Esq. by Vice-Admiral Sir Edward Pellew.

SIR, Eagle, off Ancona, Sept. 23, 1812.
I HAVE to acquaint you, that having anchored this ship on the 16th instant, in-consequence of calms, off Cape Maistro, I directed the first lieutenant, during the night, to lie off the Cape with the three barges, to intercept the enemy's coasting trade; and that on the following day I weighed and anchored off the Po, where I was joined by the barges, with two gun-boats, and fifteen vessels laden with oil, each vessel carrying from a six to an eight pounder, which had been captured by the boats that day: the particulars of this gallant affair reflect the greatest honour on the officers and men employed in it.

In the morning, a convoy of twenty-three sail, with two gun-boats, were perceived standing towards Goro, which, on the Banges approaching, drew up in line of battle, under cover of a four-gun battery, and the beach lined with armed people, with the two gun-boats advanced in their front.

Lieutenant Cannon, with the whole of his small force, instantly attacked, and carried the largest gun-boat, and turned her guns upon the convoy, whilst he performed the same manœuvre, with equal success, on the second, and then directed his attention to the convoy, which, after some resistance, struck their colours, excepting two who made their escape. Not being able to man all of them, six were burnt, to prevent their falling into the hands of the enemy.

When I consider, Sir, the strong position the enemy were in, each vessel carrying a heavy gun, besides musketry, under the protection of two gun-boats, flanked by a fort, and that the shallowness of the channel occasioned our boats to be frequently aground, while rowing up to make the attack, I feel I should neither be doing my duty or justice to my own feeling, were I not to recommend most strongly to your notice the officers employed on this service; and sorry am I that this recommendation can no longer benefit Lieut. Cannon, who died of his wounds on the 22d.

In the death of this gallant young man the country has lost one of its most promising officers, and I have deeply to regret the loss of a most valuable, and tried first Lieutenant.

He has left two brothers, midshipmen on board the ship, one of whom has served his time, and passed his examination for a Lieutenant, and has also frequently distinguished himself in action.

A list of the killed and wounded I have the honour of enclosing.

Lieutenant Festing, on whom the command devolved, on Lieutenant Cannon's being wounded, deserves much credit in continuing the attack, and conducting the captured vessels out.

I have the honour to be, &c.

Copies of two Letters from Captain Hoste, of His Majesty's Ship the Bacchante, addressed to Rear-Admiral Fremantle, and transmitted to John Wilson Croker, Esq. by Vice-Admiral Sir Edward Pellew.

His Majesty's Ship Bacchante, at Anchor

SIR, off Rovigno, Sept. 1, 1812.

HAVING received information that several vessels were lading with ship timber for the Venetian Government, at Port Lenna, on the coast of Istria, I yesterday evening detached the boats of this ship, under the direction of Lieutenant O'Brien, First Lieutenant, to bring them out, which I am happy to say he completely effected, though they were lying under the protection of one French xebec of three guns and two French gun-boats.

Lieutenant O'Brien received information of this unexpected force of the enemy from two merchant vessels he captured at the entrance of the port, and who stated their force to be very superior to his own; notwithstanding this he proceeded to the attack, and very gallantly carried them by boarding, as well as the timber vessels. At daylight I had the pleasure of seeing the whole of this division of the enemy, and their convoy of seven vessels, coming towards the ship.

I am happy to say this service has been executed without any loss on our parts, which I consider as chiefly owing to the arrangements of Lieutenant O'Brien, the gallantry and promptitude with which he led the boats to the attack, and the brave, determined support he received from those under his command. He speaks in high terms of Lieutenant Gostling, Third Lieutenant, Lieutenant Haig, of the Royal Marines, and the officers and men under his orders in the different boats, for their gallantry and coolness.

The enemy's force consisted of La Tisiphone, French national xebec, of three guns, one six-pounder and two three-pounders, and twenty-eight men; gun-boat No. 1, one nine-pounder, two three-pounders, and twenty-four men; gun-boat No. 2, one nine-pounder and twenty men; intended for the protection of the trade on the coast of Istria from Pola to Trieste.

I have the honour to be, &c.

His Majesty's Ship Bacchante,
September 18, 1812.

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to inform you, that, this morning, at day break, I discovered an enemy's convoy between Tremite and Vasto, on the coast of Apulia, standing along-shore to the N. W. Calm and baffling winds prevented my closing with them in the ship, and I therefore detached the boats, under the command of Lieutenant O'Brien, First of this ship, to endeavour to intercept them, which, I am happy to say, he completely succeeded in.

I had an opportunity from the ship of seeing the nature of this service, and the gallantry displayed in the execution of it. The merchant vessels, on the approach of the boats, anchored, and hauled their vessels aground, leaving eight armed vessels to protect them outside, who took up an excellent position for that purpose. The crews of the convoy quitted their vessels, and lined a thick wood astern of them, well adapted for their defence, and bush-fighting, and which completely commanded the coast.

In this situation they awaited our boats, which were led to the attack by Lieutenant O'Brien with his accustomed gallantry, and I want words, Sir, to convey to you my admiration of the determined manner in which this service was performed: the boats pushing through a very heavy fire of grape and musquetry, carried every thing before them, boarding and driving the enemy from their vessels in every direction: the Marines at the same time landing, forced them from their position in the wood, leaving our brave men in quiet possession of this valuable convoy, consisting of twenty-six vessels, laden chiefly with oil and almonds, from Barri, bound to Venice, a list of which I inclose herewith, with a statement of their armed force.

Lieutenant O'Brien was most ably seconded by Lieutenant Hood, second of this ship, Lieutenant Haig, of the Royal Marines (who lets no opportunity escape him of distinguishing himself,) and speaks in the highest terms of the conduct of the whole of the petty officers and seamen employed with him.

It is with additional pleasure I have to state, that our loss has been but trifling, two seamen wounded only, and those not dangerously.

I have the honour to be, &c.

At the Court at Carlton-House, the 9th of December 1812,

PRESENT,

His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT in Council.

WHEREAS it is expedient to prevent doubts respecting the continuance and effect of the Order in Council of the nineteenth of August one thousand eight hundred and seven, respecting vessels under the flag of Mecklenburg, Oldenburg, Papenburg, and Kniphausen, and the Order in Council of the twenty-fifth November one thousand eight hundred and seven, respecting the ships and goods belonging to Prussia and Lubec; His Royal Highness the Prince Regent is pleased, in the name and on the behalf of His Majesty, and by and with the advice of His Majesty's Privy Council, to order and declare, and it is hereby ordered and declared, that the said two Orders in Council, bearing date respectively the nineteenth day of August one thousand eight hundred and seven, and the twenty-fifth of November one thousand eight hundred and seven, shall be considered as null and of no effect; provided nevertheless, that nothing in this Order contained, shall be construed to affect any question depending in judgment, respecting either of the said Orders, on any capture made prior to the date of this Order: but such questions shall be decided in the same manner as if this Order and Declaration had not been issued.

And the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury, His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, and the Judge of the High Court of Admiralty, and the Judges of the Courts of Vice-Admiralty, are to take the necessary measures herein as to them may respectively appertain, Whitehall, January 15, 1813.

Whereas it hath been humbly represented unto His Royal Highness the Prince Regent, that, some time between the afternoon of Monday the 28th and Wednesday the 30th of December last, some person or persons did feloniously enter the dwelling-house and premises of William Webb, situate at Roddenbury-Hill, in the parish of Warminster, in the county of Wilts, yeoman (close to the borders of Longleat-Park), and did commit a most horrid and barbarous murder upon the bodies of the said William Webb, and of Mary Gibbons his maid servant, by the use of a gun, loaded with shot and nails, and of some heavy keen cutting instrument; and whereas it hath been further represented, that there is just reason to believe, that the said dwelling-house was then plundered of many valuable articles, particularly one silver cream-jug, one silver snuff-box, two silver table-spoons, five silver tea-spoons, and a considerable quantity of gold and silver coin;

His Royal Highness, for the better apprehending and bringing to justice the persons concerned in the said murders, is hereby pleased, in the name and on the behalf of His Majesty, to promise His Majesty's most gracious pardon to any one of them (except the person or persons who actually perpetrated the same) who shall discover his or their accomplice or accomplices therein, so that he, she, or they may be apprehended and convicted thereof.

And, as a further encouragement, a reward of TWO HUNDRED POUNDS is hereby offered to any person making such discovery as aforesaid (except as is before excepted), to be paid on the conviction of any one or more of the offenders.
