Foreign-Office, February 27, 1813.

DISPATCHES, of which the following are copies, have been received by Viscount Castlereagh, His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, from General Viscount Cathcart, K. T. His Majesty's Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary at the Court of Saint Petersburg.

My Lord, St. Petersburg, Jan. 8, 1813.

IHAVE the pleasure to acquaint your Lordship, that Count Heller arrived here last night from his uncle Count Wittgenstein, with accounts of the surrender of the Prussian corps which served in Courland under General York. And this officer states, that the French Marshal, Macdonald, has written to Count Wittgenstein to treat for capitulation, apparently not aware how completely he was surrounded.

Count Wittgenstein had sent Prince Replin to settle this business.

Accounts were received last Sunday of the capitulation of the garrison of Memel; and I saw in the hands of Field-Marshal Count Soltykoff, the copy of the capitulation. The Prussian Commandant was a Major, and the garrison consisted of two Prussian battalions, but there was no return of their strength, or of the ordnance and stores in the place.

Your Lordship will observe, that Gumbinnen and Insterburg are occupied, and that detachments are sent to Allanberg, Kreutzburg, and Braunsberg, between Dantzic and Konigsberg, so that I have no doubt but that the latter place is occupied by the Russian troops.

I have the honour to be, &c.

Journal of Military Operations from the 25th to the 30th December.

December 25.—General Count Wittgenstein reports, under date of the 24th, that parties of the detachment of Colonel Gerngross have discovered the enemy between Schlawe and Kelma, proceeding in the greatest haste towards Nemockstam.

Major-General Tutelkoff writes, under date of the 22d, that, on the 26th instant he hopes to be with his corps at Slonim. The enemy, on their precipitate retreat, have left there convoys of provisions.

Adjutant-General Wasilchikoff was, on the 22d, with the vanguard, at Malor Brestovitzé.

December 26.—Admiral Tchichagoff reports, under date of the 24th, that Major-General Landskoy, in pursuing the enemy into the Grand Duchy of Warsaw, had, on the 18th taken prisoners two generals, sixty-one officers of the état-major and others, two thousand one hundred and seventy-six soldiers, and twelve surgeons; and that besides, different parties of the vanguard have taken sixty officers of all ranks, and seven hundred soldiers. Lieutenant-General Sachen informs him also, that Lieutenant-General Mussin-Pushkin, in marching with his detachment to Rubeshoff, had, in the night of the 3d December, vigorously attacked the enemy, had beaten him, and taken prisoners one colonel, three officers, and two hundred soldiers.

General Count Wittgenstein reports, under date of the 24th, that when Tilsit was taken possession of by the detachment of Adjutant-General Golenistcheff Kutusoff, they found there in the hospitals thirty-three officers and eight hundred and thirty-five men, among whom three officers and thirty-seven soldiers belonged to our army. In the magazines were found two thousand bushels of rye and wheat, from eight to ten thousand bushels of oats, about five hundred quintals of hay, two hundred barrels of flour, thirteen boats laden with cannon shot and various implements of pioneers, fifty-eight head of cattle, eighty barrels of brandy, and two hundred quintals of gunpowder. Another party of this detachment had also made prisoners two officers and 100 men, and had taken thirty-five waggons laden with gunpowder.

Adjutant-General the Marquis of Paulucci reports, that he, at the head of his troops, entered Mitau on the 21st.

Lieutenant-General Rath passed, on the 24th instant, with eight battalions, from Minsk to Novoswerschenno.

December 27.—Admiral Tchichagoff reports, under date of the 26th, that when Major-General Laskin, on passing by the city of Wilna with his detachment, attacked the enemy's cavalry, Palamarenko, a non-commissioned officer of the regiment of Mariopol Hussars, took the standard of honour belonging to the 9th regiment of cuirassiers.

Adjutant-General Wasilchikoff writes, under date of the 25th December, that on that day he had detached three regiments of Cossacks, under the command of Colonel Andrianovitch, to Tikoczin, and that likewise on that day the Austrian corps under Prince Schwartzberg had left the government of Bialistock, which was to be entered by our troops on the 27th.

December 28.—The partisan Colonel Davidoff reports, under date of the 26th, that on the taking of Grodno he rescued the following Russians, who had been wounded and taken prisoners, viz. fourteen officers and 467 men, and that six hundred and sixty-one men were taken prisoners from the enemy; that there were also taken very considerable magazines full of corn of different kinds, as well as of brandy, all which he had delivered to Adjutant-General Korf, who was just then arriving there with his detachment.

General Count Platoff reports, under date of the 27th, that he is proceeding with his regiments to Insterberg, after detaching considerable parties to Braunsberg, by the way of Allenburg and Kreutzburg, in order to prevent the enemy from having any communication between Elbing and Konigsberg.

December 29.—General Count Wittgenstein writes, under date of the 27th, that, on the 26th, the towns of Insterburg and Gumbinnen were occupied by parties from the detachment of Adjutant-General Golenistcheff Kutusoff. In the former of these places, forty-two of our prisoners were rescued, and the enemy lost two hundred and twenty men in prisoners. There were also taken from him, four stands of colours. In the hospitals were found one colonel, twenty officers, and twelve hundred men; and in the magazines, twelve hundred bushels of oats, two thousand ditto of flour, three hundred quintals of buck wheat, thirty bushels of peeled barley, two thousand ditto of rye, two hundred ditto of wheat, fifteen barrels of salt, thirty ditto of brandy, and four hundred and fifty muskets. At Gumbinnen they took prisoners the French Commandant, a commissary of war, one colonel, forty-two officers, and fifteen hundred men. The infantry of this detachment and the artillery are at Raudibren, while the cavalry is observing the enemy's movements in the direction of Taurrogen.

Adjutant-General Wasilchikoff writes, that on the 27th the whole principality of Bialystock was occupied by our troops.

Thus then the frontiers of the Russian empire are entirely cleared of the enemy's troops, with the exception of a few remains of Macdonald's corps, which are likewise making their escape beyond our frontiers.

The head-quarters of the Field-Marshal are at Wilna.

MY LORD, St. Petersburg, Jan. 16, 1813.

IN a former dispatch I had the honour to enclose a journal of reports, received at head-quarters, to the 30th ultimo, with the addition of the important news of the capitulation of Memel, and convention of the Prussian part of the corps under Marshal Macdonald. The particulars of this transaction have not been published, but nothing can exceed the joy manifested by the Prussians on finding themselves at liberty to embrace the Russians, and to renew their former habits as companions in arms; of this there is the most certain evidence. The terms granted to the Prussians are extremely liberal. A detached corps, under General Mussenbach, was included, in the event that orders could reach him: these orders were in time, and, with the addition of the corps in question, the Prussian troops included in the convention, it is stated to me, amount to fifteen thousand men.

Marshal Macdonald, however, availed himself successfully of stratagem, and, while treating for conference, had made progress in removing the remainder of his force in the direction of Labiau. He was closely pursued during the night from the 1st to the 2d instant, and lost six hundred prisoners; but reports being received of a French corps in force at Wehlau, it became necessary to direct the attention of the principal part of the pursuers to an attack upon that post.

The occupation of Konigsberg by the Russian army is detailed in two short bulletins, which have been published, and which I have the honour herewith to enclose.

His Imperial Majesty has been occupied in forming a new distribution of his army, which is divided into several corps, which are advancing in different columns.

I learn with satisfaction, though not officially, that a very considerable corps is entrusted to Baron Wintzingerode, and that he has been promoted to the rank of Lieutenant-General.

The Emperor moved in the night of the 7th January from Wilna, to join the division which comprehends the guards, and the head-quarters of the whole army were at Merez on the 10th January: it was thought they would continue there for a day or two.

The Austrians under Prince Schwartzberg had retired from Bielestock, and were near Warsaw; but not in force to render it probable that they would contend with the superiority that might be opposed to them.

Zambrow is said to be fortified and garrisoned; but I do not conceive that any disposable force upon the Vistula can be adequate to the defence of the têtes-du-pont and fortresses on that river, especially where active operations can take place upon both banks.

The Emperor remained sixteen or seventeen days at Wilna, where His Imperial Majesty issued many regulations and decrees, for the restoration of order in various provinces which have suffered, and for prevention of disease from the infection of prisoners, and from the number of dead bodies and quantity of carrion still above ground. In the neighbourhood of Wilna sixteen thousand corpses are piled up in heaps, for the purpose of being consumed by fire, when sufficient wood can be procured; but numbers still remain uncollected in the roads and villages; and the mortality in the hospitals at Wilna continued to be very great.

The Emperor himself repeatedly visited all the hospitals.

Te Deum was sung in the Cathedral, in presence of the Court, on New Year's Day (O.S.), in thanksgiving for the expulsion of the French from the Russian territory, on which occasion the proclamation, of which the inclosed is a translation, was read; to which I have also added, the general order given out to the army at Wilna the 2d January, by Prince Kutusoff Smolensko.

I have the honour to be, &c.

(Signed) CATHCART.

P. S. I add the states, found at Wilna, of two regiments of the French guard, by which the condition of the others may be inferred. C.

The Commander in Chief of the Armies, Marshal Prince Kutusoff Smolensko, has reported as follows to His Imperial Majesty from his head-quarters at Orana, January 9 :

KONIGSBERG, the ancient capital of Prussia, is subject to your Imperial Majesty. This city was occupied on the 6th of January by Count Wittgenstein's advanced guard, under the orders of Major-General Schepeleff. Marshal Macdonald occupied the town with a corp d'armé, composed of the old French guards, and some troops who had escaped the general destruction of the enemy's grand army.

The wreck of his particular corps, constituting part of this total, was reduced to two thousand five hundred men; after the Prussians separated from them, there remained to him in all but about seven thousand men.

At the approach of the advanced guard, which briskly pursued the enemy without halting, he passed by Konigsberg, and abandoned it to Major-General Schepeleff, who entered it without meeting any resistance.

This astonishing facility in giving up the possession of this city is a consequence of the victories with which the arms of your Imperial Majesty have been crowned during the last two months. Macdonald's corps is pursued by Wittgenstein's, and Admiral Tchichagoff's army, by diagonal routes.

Report of the Marshal Prince Kutusoff, from the Town of Mereleh, dated January 10, 1813.

I HAVE the happiness to announce to your Imperial Majesty, that, previous to the occupation of Konigsberg, the General Schepeleff, commanding the advanced guard of Count Wittgenstein, continued to follow the enemy from Tilsit, and came up with him on the 23d, near Labiau; notwithstanding the favourable position which the enemy had taken, he was beaten at all points, with the loss of three cannon and three hundred soldiers. The General Schepeleff profited by his advantage to follow the enemy with vigour to the distance of thirty miles, and to enter Konigsberg along with them. Our troops entered the town two hours after midnight.

We have made thirteen hundred prisoners in the town itself, and eight thousand in the environs, who fell into our hands exhausted from fatigue.

We have found a considerable quantity of provisions and forage in Konigsberg. The inhabitants are recovering thirty pieces of cannon which the enemy have thrown into the river.

The General Count Wittgenstein renders justice to the courage and wise dispositions of General Schepeleff.

By the Grace of God, We, Alexander the First, Emperor and Autocrat of All the Russias, &c. &c. &c.

GOD and all the world are witness with what objects and what forces the enemy has entered our dear country. Nothing could avert his malevolent and obstinate intentions. Proudly calculating on his own forces, and on those which he had embodied against us from almost all the European powers, and hurried on by desire of conquest and thirst for blood, he hastened to penetrate even into the bosom of our great empire, to spread amongst us the horrors and all the misery of a war of devastation, and to come upon us by surprise, but for which he had long been preparing. Having foreseen, by former proofs of his unmeasured ambition and the violence of his proceedings, what bitter sufferings he was about to inflict upon us, and seeing him already pass our frontiers with a fury which nothing could arrest, we have been compelled, though with a sorrowful and wounded heart in invoking the aid of God, to draw the sword; and to promise to our empire, that we will not return it to the scabbard so long as a single enemy remains in arms on our territory. We fixed firmly in our hearts this determination, relying on the valour of the people whom God has confided to us; and we have not been deceived. What proofs of courage, of bravery, of piety, of patience, and of fortitude, has not Russia shewn? The enemy, who penetrated into her bosom with all his characteristic ferocity and rage, has not been able to draw from her a single sigh by the severe wounds he has inflicted. It would seem that with the blood which flowed, her spirit of bravery increased; that the burning villages animated her patriotism, and the destruction and profanation of the temples of God strengthened her faith, and nourished in her the sentiment of implacable revenge. The army, the nobility, the gentry, the clergy, the merchants, the people, in a word, all classes, all estates of the empire, neither sparing their property nor their lives, have breathed the same spirit—a spirit of courage and of piety, a love equally ardent for their God and for their country. This unanimity, this universal zeal, have produced effects hardly credible, such as have scarcely existed in any age. Let us contemplate the enormous force collected from twenty kingdoms and nations, united under the same standard, with an ambitious and atrocious enemy, flushed with success, which entered our country; half a million of soldiers, infantry and cavalry, accompanied by fifteen hundred pieces of cannon. With forces so powerful he pierced into the heart of Russia, extends himself, and begins to spread fire and devastation. But six months have scarcely elapsed since he passed our frontiers, and what is become of him? Let us here cite the words of the Holy Psalmist—

I myself have seen the ungodly in great power: and flourishing like a green bay-tree.

I went by, and lo, he was gone: I sought him, but his place could no where be found. PSALM xxxvii. v. 36, 37.

This sublime sentence is accomplished in all its force, on our arrogant and impious enemy. Where are his armies, like a mass of black clouds, which the wind has drawn together? They are dispersed as rain. A great part wetting the earth with their blood, cover the fields of the Governments of Moscow, Kalouga, Smolensko, White Russia, and Lithuania. Another part equally great has been taken in the frequent battles, with many generals and commanders. In fine, after numerous bloody combats, in the end whole regiments, imploring the magnanimity of their conquerors, have laid down their arms before them. The rest, composing a number equally great, pursued in their precipitate flight by our victorious troops, overtaken by cold and hunger, have strewed the road from Moscow to the frontiers of Russia with carcasses, cannons, waggons, and baggage; so that, of those numerous forces, a very inconsiderable part of the soldiers, exhausted and without arms, can with difficulty, and almost lifeless, return to their country, to serve as a terrible example to their countrymen of the dreadful sufferings which must overtake those rash men, who dare to carry their hostile designs into the bosom of powerful Russia. To-day we inform our well beloved and faithful subjects, with a lively joy, and grateful acknowledgments towards God, that the reality has surpassed even our hopes, and that what we announced at the commencement of this war, is accomplished beyond all measure; there is no longer a single enemy on the face of our territory, or, rather, there they all remain, but in what state? Dead, wounded, and prisoners. Even their proud Chief himself, has, with the utmost difficulty, escaped, with his principal officers, leaving his army dispersed, and abandoning his cannon, of which there are more than a thousand pieces, exclusive of those buried or thrown into the water, which have been recovered, and are now in our hands: the scene of the destruction of his armies surpasses all belief. One almost imagines that our eyes deceive us. Who has been able to effect this? Without derogating from the merited glory of the Commander in Chief of our armies, this distinguished General, who has rendered to his country services for ever memorable, and without detracting from the merits of other valiant and able commanders who have distinguished themselves by their zeal and ardour, nor from the general bravery of the troops, we must confess that what they have accomplished surpasses human power. Acknowledge then Divine Providence in this wonderful event. Let us prostrate ourselves before His sacred throne, and evidently seeing His hand chastising pride and impiety, instead of boasting and glorying in our victories, learn from this great and terrible example to be modest and peaceable executors of His law and His will; to resemble not those impious profanators of the temples of God, whose carcasses, without number, now serve as food for dogs and crows. God is mighty in His kindness and in His anger. Let us be guided by the justice of our actions, and the purity of our sentiments, as the only path which leads to Him. Let us proceed to the temple of His sanctity, and there, crowned with His hand, thank Him for the benefits which He has bestowed upon us; addressing to Him our ardent supplications, that He will continue to extend to us His favour, and to put an end to the war; granting us victory on victory, and the wished-for peace and tranquillity.

Given at Wilna, the 6th January, in the year of our Lord 1813, and the 12th of our reign.

ALEXANDER.

By the Grace of God, We, Alexander the First, &c.

THE deliverance of Russia from its numerous enemies, equally savage and atrocious in intentions and actions, their destruction complete in six months, so that notwithstanding their precipitate flight, only a very small part has been able to re-pass our frontiers, is evidently a divine favour especially bestowed on Russia; is an event so remarkable, that no time will efface it from the annals of the world. In eternal remembrance of the unexampled zeal, of the fidelity, patriotism, and love for religion, by which the Russian nation has distinguished itself in the time of calamity, and to witness our gratitude towards Divine Providence, who has preserved Russia from the ruin which menaced her, we propose to build in our first capital a church, under the name of the Saviour Jesus Christ, of which the particulars shall be published in due time. May God bless our enterprise! May God permit it to be accomplished. May this temple exist for many ages, and may there be burnt before the holy altar of God, the incense of gratitude of the most distant ages, at the same time with the love and imitation of the actions of their ancestors.

ALEXANDER.

Wilna, the 6th January 1813.

Order of the Day; issued by the Marshal General Kutusoff Smolensko to the Troops.

BRAVE and victorious troops! you are at last upon the frontier of the empire. Each of you have been the preserver of the country: Russia has bestowed upon you this title. The rapid pursuit of the enemy, and the extraordinary difficulties that you have supported in this campaign, astonish all nations, and have acquired for you immortal glory. Such brilliant victories are without example. During two whole months your hand has daily punished the miscreants. The road that they have pursued is strewed with dead bodies. Their Chief, in his flight, sought for his personal safety alone. Death has raged in their ranks; thousands fell together and perished. Thus has the wrath of the Almighty burst over them, and thus hath He protected His people.

Not resting ourselves in the midst of our heroic actions—we must still proceed farther: we must pass our frontiers, and endeavour to accomplish the defeat of the enemy in the face of their allies. But we will not follow the example of their rage and frenzy, which disgrace the soldier. They have burnt our habitations—have violated our sanctuaries; but you have beheld in what manner the arm of the Almighty has punished their impiety! Let us be liberal, and make a distinction between the enemy and the peaceable inhabitants! Justice and clemency towards the latter will manifest most certainly, that we do not seek to enslave them, nor aspire to a vain glory; but that our object is to free from misery and destruction even those who have taken arms against Russia. The constant desire of His Majesty the Emperor is, that the tranquillity of the inhabitants be not disturbed, and that their property may remain in perfect safety. At the same time that he makes known this his sacred desire, he firmly relies that each soldier will pay the utmost attention thereto, and that not one of them will dare to forget it; and I call upon the Commanders of Corps and Divisions, in the name of His Imperial Majesty, in order that they may accordingly strictly adhere to this instruction.

My LORD, St. Petersburg, Jan. 29, 1813.

I HAVE the honour to enclose a journal of the movements made by the several corps of His Imperial Majesty's army, from the 4th January to the 20th January.

No. 16706:

Your Lordship will observe that, by the rapid advance of the corps on the right, the enemy has been driven beyond the Vistula. The Russian troops being in possession of Elbing, Marienberg, Marienwerder, and Neuenberg.

The corps from Elbing and Marienberg, being drawn from the Nogat, attempted to make a stand at the tête-du-pont at Derschag, but were soon compelled to abandon it, and retired, part upon Dantzic and the remainder upon Stargardt, still pursued by the Russians.

It appears that the troops stationed in Dantzic, advanced to the Pregel, to favour Marshal Macdonald's retreat, and that they made no resistance at Elbing, having abandoned their artillery before their arrival at that place.

The attack upon Marienwerder seems to have been nearly a surprise; and Beauharnois is said narrowly to have escaped being made prisoner.

There is no report of the surrender of Pillau.

On the 13th January, the Emperor crossed the Niemen near Moretz, amid the acclamations of his brave troops, and has continued to march with a division of his army, in a western direction, through Berjniki, Krasnople, and Subalki to Lique, whence the last dispatches are dated.

Generals Millaradovitch and Dokteroff, with the troops which crossed the frontier at Grodno, move in a line parallel to that of the Emperor, on his left, and General Sacken's column is still farther to the left. There are also intermediate corps to keep up the communication between each of these columns.

The Austrians remained upon the Bug, probably with a view to create a diversion in favour of the army retiring upon Dantzic, as long as their own line of retreat may remain open.

Graudentz has a Prussian garrison.

The Russians have uniformly been received by the inhabitants of the Prussian dominions as friends and deliverers, of which there is ample testimony in all private letters from the army, as well as in public reports.

The retreat of the French through Prussia, has, like that from Moscow, been marked by the abandonment of magazines, tumbrils, and other stores.

Berthier, Victor, Macdonald, Daru, and Beauharnois, are named among the Generals who are gone to Dantzic. The precise force in that place does not appear to be clearly ascertained; but, cannot easily be estimated at more than half the number of an adequate garrison.

The intercepted courier from Bonaparte to Berthier, is said to have carried orders to complete the provisions of Dantzic for a long siege.

The service upon the Vistula appears to have been very ably performed, and I have enclosed a copy of the thanks that have been given to General Count Platoff, and the officers and troops under his command, in general orders.

The intense cold has continued, and the marches of all the columns have been long and severe.

I have, &c.

THE Commander in Chief of the Armies, Field-Marshal Prince Kutusoff Smolensko, has presented to His Imperial Majesty the continuation of the journal of the military operations from the 4th to the 20th of January, containing what follows :

January 4.—General Wittgenstein reports, under date of the 31st ultimo, that, in the direction which he had taken towards Prussia, to act against the corps of Marshal Macdonald, he had overcome all the difficulties occasioned by cross-roads, so as to come up with the enemy already at Tilsit. His cavalry immediately surrounded the most advanced troops of Macdonald, and separated him from the Prussian troops, under the command of General D'York, by the detachment of Major-General Diebitsch, whom he at the same time directed to enter into a negotiation with that General.

On the 30th Dec. Lieut.-General D'York signed a convention, by which he engaged to continue neutral with his troops, composed of thirty battalions of infantry, and six squadrons of cavalry, with thirty pieces of artillery.

Aide-de-Camp-General Golenistcheff Kutsoff, under date of the 31st, informed General Count Wittgenstein, that, in consequence of a similar agreement, the remainder of the Prussian troops had also separated themselves from Macdonald.

Thus the latter has only remaining with him five thousand men, with twenty pieces of artillery.

Aide-de-Camp-General Wassiltchikoff reports, under date of the 31st, that the Austrian troops were pursuing their retreat, in three columns, upon Warsaw, and that he, with his detachment, is at Mengeninge.

General Count Platoff marches with his troops from the Don upon Insterbourg.

Admiral Tchichagoff has sent in three reports. In the first he states, that he has detached from his van Major-General Lanskoï with the regiments of hussars, from Alexandria and White Russia, the dragoons of Livonia, and the third regiment of Ural, directing him to march upon Augustor. In the second he announces his arrival on the 2d Jan. at Verbalin, from whence he intends pursuing his route to Insterburg, in three marches, preceded by General Count Platoff, with his regiments.

The third report mentions, that the inhabitants of Prussia testify every where much joy at the approach of the Russian troops, and give them the best reception.

Lieutenant-General Baron de Sacken reports, under date of the 2d, that he has pursued the corps of General Regnier as far as the river Bug ; and that the enemy have lost, during their retreat, upwards of a thousand men in prisoners, and almost as great a number of sick, whom they have been obliged to abandon in different places.

General Baron de Sacken is at present with his corps between Granny and Turno, his left being in the latter place.

January 5.—General Count Wittgenstein reports, under date of the 3d, that after the Prussian troops, to the number of eighteen thousand men, with sixty pieces of cannon, had been compelled to conclude an agreement of remaining neutral, Macdonald, finding himself separated from the Prussians, resolved on a precipitate retreat with the remainder of his troops. Our cavalry is in pursuit of him ; on the very first day they took some officers and eight hundred men prisoners.

Count Wittgenstein having in the mean time learnt, that the enemy's troops which had been in Dantzic were marching to Taplaken and Welau, probably with a view of reinforcing Macdonald; or covering his retreat, took himself that direction, with his troops, and Lieutenant-General Count Steinheil was, on January 3, already in Taplaken and Welau. In order to deprive the enemy of the means of subsistence, he detached a strong party of horse towards the low country behind Königsberg and Elbing, where intelligence had been received that the enemy were collecting various kinds of corn.

Admiral Tchichagoff writes, that his headmost troops took possession of Insterburg on the 3d, and that Lieutenant-General Tchaplitz was at Gumbinnen, and Major-General Count Woronzow at Nemersdorf.

Lieutenant-General Tchaplitz observes, that when Major-General Count Orurk entered Stalupenen, he was received by the inhabitants with undisssembled joy and enthusiasm : every one exclaimed, "May the Emperor Alexander be the protector of an innocently suffering people !" and immediately the inhabitants busied themselves in providing our troops with food and forage.

January 6.—Aide-de-Camp-General Wassiltchikoff reports, under date of the 2d, that the Austrian troops are posted at Ostrolenka, Ostrow, and Broki, and that their outposts were extending to Kour.

January 7.—Admiral Tchichagoff reports, under date of the 5th, that, according to credible accounts of the inhabitants, the whole French army has passed, on its retreat, through Insterburg ; and that the French guards amounted, at that time, to no more than fifteen hundred men.

January 8.—General Count Wittgenstein states, in a report dated the 6th, that his vanguard, under the command of Major-General Schepeleff, on the 4th, came up with the enemy near Labiau, where the latter had taken an advantageous position, which he obstinately defended. The battle continued till noon ; and the enemy being driven from their position, retreated towards Königsberg, into which city Major-General Schepeleff's vanguard was carried on their shoulders. During this engagement, the enemy lost three pieces of cannon and three hundred prisoners, some of whom were officers. Major-General Schepeleff took possession of Königsberg, with the vanguard of the army, on the night of the 4th.

His Majesty the Emperor's head-quarters, and those of the Marshal, were on that day in the village of Orany.

January 9.—General Count Wittgenstein reports, in completion of his former statement concerning the taking of the city of Königsberg, that the enemy were driven out of that city by the four regiments of Cossacks, viz. that of Major-General Radionoff (2), of Lieutenant-Colonels Tschernosouboff (8) and Lostchiline, and of Major Seliwanoff, all under the command of Colonel Rudiger, who had observed the enemy's movements from the commencement of the evening, and, notwithstanding the darkness of the night, had taken advantage of every step they made for their retreat. On the 6th, at two o'clock after midnight, Colonel Rudiger, with the Cossacks before mentioned, pushed vigorously forward, and, after an obstinate fire of musketry, entered on the enemy's shoulders into the city, in which about thirteen hundred men were made prisoners. The rapidity with which our troops forced their way into the city, obliged the enemy, besides this, to leave about eight thousand of his exhausted troops behind him, and to sink about thirty pieces of artillery, with the cartridge-boxes, which belonged to the besieging train that was in Courland, and which the inhabitants are now employed in getting out. Besides this, several Russian Staff and other Officers and privates, who had at different times been made prisoners, were again restored to liberty; and a considerable quantity of provisions and forage were likewise found in the magazines. After taking possession of the city, Colonel Rudiger again set out with the aforesaid cavalry, without making the least delay, in pursuit of the enemy. In the course of our pursuit, of the enemy from Tilsit to Königsberg, and after taking possession of the city, he has lost fifty-one pieces of cannon in the whole.

Aide-de-Camp-General Wassiltschikoff states, under date of the 5th instant, that the Austrian troops, after strengthening their advanced posts, had drawn themselves towards Warsaw. The head-quarters of His Majesty the Emperor, and of the Field-Marshal, arrived this day in the village of Meritsch.

Extracts from the Journal of Military Operations of the Russian Armies.

GENERAL Platoff informs, under date of the 6th January, that the Prussians receive our troops in a friendly and open manner, and provide them willingly with provisions, and their horses with forage, for which we give them receipts. In return for their good conduct the most rigorous discipline and subordination are observed, to the great satisfaction of the inhabitants.

January 12.—The head-quarters of His Imperial Majesty, and of the General Field-Marshal, are at Meritsch.

January 13, 1813.—This day His Imperial Majesty, after having caused the Te Deum to be sung, entered the Grand Duchy of Warsaw, and repaired together with the whole of the head-quarters of His Highness the Field-Marshal, from Meritsch to Leypoussi.

January 14.—The head-quarters of His Imperial Majesty are at Posowgé.

January 16.—Head-quarters of His Imperial Majesty at Souwalky.

January 17.—Baron Winzingerode reports, that a party of the detachment of Colonel Davidoff has taken an Hungarian hussar, going with dispatches to Koluo.

Admiral Tchichagoff reports, under date of January 14, that the right bank of the Nogat is entirely freed from the enemy, and that the towns of Marienberg, Marienwerder, and Elbing are occupied by our troops, in the latter of which there were found considerable magazines of provisions.

General Platoff pursues the enemy on the road of Marienberg to Dantzic, while Major-General Schepeleff has crossed the Nogat at Sommeran, in order to harass his retreat by that road.

General Platoff entered Marienberg on the 13th. The enemy were vigorously pursued as far as Dirschan, where they made a stand at the tête-du-pont, but were repulsed, upon which they retreated by two roads; one party took that of Dantzic, the other went off towards Stargard. General Doctoroff pursues the latter.

When General Chernicheff entered Marienwerder, on the 12th January, the Viceroy of Italy and Marshal Victor were scarcely able to escape from the Cossacks. General La Pierre, four officers, and two hundred men, were made prisoners; likewise a courier, expedited by Napoleon to the Prince of Neufchatel, with dispatches.

On the road of Neuenberg Lieutenant-Colonel Adrianoff, in pursuing the enemy, met a squadron of Baden, destroyed it almost entirely, and took forty-seven prisoners.

The Emperor's head-quarters are at Souwalki (no date); on the 18th of January at Ratschky.

Head-quarters on the 19th January at Lyck.

GENERAL ORDERS TO THE ARMIES.

Head-Quarters, Town of Lyck, January 19, 1813.

I HAVE uncommon satisfaction in returning to the General of Cavalry, Count Platoff, as well as to the Generals, the Officers of the Staff, and others, and to the soldiers of his corps, my best thanks for the rapidity with which they have occupied the towns of Marienberg, Marienwerder, and Elbing, and for the military discipline and order, which on this occasion has been observed throughout. It is particularly agreeable to me to be able to carry this testimony of so distinguished and laudable a conduct, on the part of the Russian troops, to the throne of our august Monarch, who, with the tenderness of a father, interests himself in the happiness of the inhabitants of this country.

AT the Court at Carlton-House, the 20th of February 1813,

PRESENT,

His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT in Council,

IT is this day ordered in Council, that His Grace the Lord Archbishop of Canterbury, do prepare the form of a prayer to Almighty God, for His Royal Highness the Prince Regent.

And it is hereby further ordered, that His Majesty's Printer do forthwith print a competent number of copies of the said form of prayer, that the same may be forthwith sent round, and read in the several Churches throughout those parts of the United Kingdom called England and Ireland.

Jas. Buller.

AT the Court at Carlton-House, the 20th of February 1813,

PRESENT,

His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT in Council.

IT is this day ordered in Council, that every Minister and Preacher, as well of the Established Church in that part of Great Britain called Scotland, as those of the Episcopal Communion protected and allowed by an Act passed in the tenth year of Her late Majesty Queen Anne, Cap. 7. entitled, "An Act to prevent the disturbing those of the Episcopal Communion in that part of Great Britain called Scotland, in the exercise of their religious worship, and in the use of the liturgy of the Church of England, and for repealing the Act passed in the Parliament of Scotland, entitled An Act against irregular Baptisms and Marriages;" do, at some time during the exercise of the Divine Service, in such respective church, congregation, or assembly, put up their prayers to Almighty God for His Royal Highness the Prince Regent.

Jas. Buller.

THE following Addresses have been presented to His Royal Highness the Prince Regent; which Addresses His Royal Highness was pleased to receive very graciously:

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT.

The humble Petition of the Lord Mayor, Sheriffs, Commons and Citizens of the City of Dublin,

Sheweth,

THAT your Petitioners have heard with very great regret that a petition has again been presented to the United Parliament, in the name of the Roman Catholics of Ireland, containing demands of political power, which, if granted, would be ruinous to the Established Church and Government of our country.

That the Roman Catholics of Ireland are already placed upon a footing of political power and civil liberty, not enjoyed by any dissenters from the Established Church in any other state. They are the subjects under a mild and equitable Government, where they have comfort, protection, security and happiness, and live under laws impartial in their application and merciful in their execution.

And your Petitioners beg leave most humbly to impress upon your Royal Highness, that the lower orders of the Roman Catholics in Ireland are in possession of civil, religious, and political liberty, in as eminent a degree as the Protestants of the same rank and station; and even the restraints complained of by said petition affect a very inconsiderable number of the Roman Catholics, and only those who avow their object to be the attainment of political power, which they formerly not only studiously concealed, but repeatedly disclaimed, and which, if granted, would, in the place of that mild toleration and liberal policy experienced by His Majesty's subjects of every description in this realm, lay a fresh foundation for the exercise of that arbitrary and intolerant spirit which formerly had almost extinguished the Protestants of Ireland.

Your Petitioners have no private animosity against any person, but feel anxiously alarmed at conferring political power on persons professing a religion hostile in principle and in action also to the Established Church of this country, and who constantly separate their spiritual rulers from the temporal governors of the State, and assert the superior dignity and paramount authority of the former.

With the most perfect toleration of all persuasions, your Petitioners humbly conceive that both prudence and policy imperiously call upon them to defend and support their own. The interests of Christianity, the evidence of history, and the nature and unaltered spirit of the Romish Priesthood, all unite in leading us to deprecate the conferring political power upon the Roman Catholics of Ireland, which, if acceded to, all the fences and securities of our excellent Constitution in Church and State, established by Protestant legislators from the time of the Reformation to the reign of his present Majesty, would be destroyed and annihilated, and His Majesty's Protestant subjects be again devoted to the miseries, calamities, and persecutions which they never ceased to experience when Popery had the ascendancy.

Petitioners therefore pray that your Royal Highness will benignly interpose, so as that the demands of the Roman Catholics of Ireland may be rejected, and thereby the Constitution in Church and State preserved unimpaired and inviolate.

In testimony whereof the common seal of said City is hereto affixed this 10th day of February 1813.

[Presented by Lord Sidmouth.]

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

WE, the Grand Jury of the County of the City of Dublin, at Hilary Term assembled, beg leave to approach your Royal Highness with great humility and respect, to express the deep concern we feel at the repeated and unwarrantable attempts which have been made by the Roman Catholics of Ireland, from time to time, and with deliberate perseverance, to obtain an unconditional and unqualified repeal of those legal securities of our religious and civil establishments, which were provided for the Protestants by the wisdom and firmness of the most sagacious statesmen and the most distinguished patriots amongst our ancestors.

We beg leave, however, to state to your Royal Highness, that we have witnessed with satisfaction the removal of those disabilities and restraints, during His Majesty's beneficent reign, which affected the persons and properties of our Roman Catholic fellow-subjects, and with which concessions they not only professed themselves grateful, but fully satisfied.

We cannot conceive that it would be prudent or safe that the Roman Catholics of Ireland, who acknowledge the religious supremacy of a foreign jurisdiction, should be admitted freely and unconditionally, and without limit or restraint, into the Highest and most confidential offices of power and trust, and should possess the right of framing the laws for a State whose constitutional and national religion is Protestant, and whose Ecclesiastical and Civil Establishment and Laws are so intimately united and blended together, that whoever is permitted to administer the Government and enact the Laws for the one, must necessarily superintend the interest and regulate the concerns of the other.

Feeling that the Protestant cause has long been identified with that of the British nation, we are firmly convinced that the concessions demanded, if granted, would shake the very pillars on which the Protestant Throne of these realms is founded—would threaten the existence of the Protestant Establishment—would change many of our laws, and subvert many of our sacred institutions—would extinguish the very spirit of the glorious Revolution of 1688, and would bring into contempt those great characters who, under Divine Providence, brought about that happy event;—and, in fine, would, in the present state of political parties, deliver up the country to Roman Catholic ascendancy.

Being therefore convinced, that the demands of the Roman Catholics have far more for their object the acquirement of political power than the amelioration of their religious condition, and that their political power cannot be increased without endangering, if not subverting, our Civil and Religious Constitution as established at the Revolution, we most humbly entreat your Royal Highness not to sanction any applications from the Roman Catholics of Ireland for further concessions, that our Protestant Constitution in Church and State may be transmitted entire to posterity.

(Signed) John Ershaw, Foreman.

Grand Jury Room, Court of King's Bench,
February, 1813.

[Presented by Lord Sidmouth.]

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales,
REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The humble Address and Memorial of the undersigned Protestant Noblemen, Gentlemen, Freeholders and Inhabitants of the County of Antrim.

Most dutifully sheweth,

That your Memorialists have good reasons for believing, that it is the intention of the Roman Catholics of Ireland to bring their case under the consideration of the Imperial Parliament early in the ensuing Session, and to claim as a matter of right from the Legislature, the repeal of all those restrictive statutes by which they are still affected.

That your Memorialists therefore, humbly beg leave to approach Your Royal Highness, to state their profound conviction that a compliance with such a demand, would not only be inconsistent with the fundamental principles of the British Constitution, but highly dangerous to the peace of the realm and the security of the throne. They beg leave humbly to represent to Your Royal Highness, that this state is essentially Protestant, that Protestantism is the tenure by which the Crown is held, and that no class of His Majesty's subjects can possess any right to demand privileges inconsistent with this vital part of the constitution.

They beg leave also, most humbly and respectfully to remind Your Royal Highness, that it was by the Protestants of this empire that Your Illustrious Family was placed upon the throne, and that it has been by their valour, their loyalty, and their exertions, that your ancestors have been upheld upon it to the present day, against the attacks and machinations of foreign and domestic foes. Under these circumstances, while your Memorialists entertain the most cordial regard for their Roman Catholic fellow subjects as individuals, and utterly disclaim those sentiments of bigotry and intolerance of which they have been unjustly accused, they confidently rely upon Your Royal Highness's known attachment to the genuine principles of the constitution, and your regard for the sacred obligations under which you accepted the high station which you now fill with so much credit to your own fame, and so distinguished advantage to the State, that you will be graciously pleased to withhold your sanction from any measure, which can have a tendency to shake the security or endanger the ascendancy of the Protestant religion, by introducing into the councils of the nation any class of men who shall refuse to give the most satisfactory pledges, that they are no longer under any foreign influence whatsoever.

That your Memorialists are anxious to embrace this opportunity of laying at the feet of Your Royal Highness, the assurance of their unshaken loyalty and unvaried attachment to our most gracious Sovereign, to Your Royal Highness's person, and to the House of Brunswick, to whose virtues they look up as the stay and safeguard of the State. They have beheld with the highest satisfaction and approbation, the patriotic conduct of Your Royal Highness in the arduous situation in which you have been placed as Regent of the United Kingdom; and they beg leave to offer their sincere congratulations on the wisdom which has distinguished your councils, and the glorious successes which have attended your arms in the different quarters of the globe. They trust that the same ability shall continue to direct your measures, and the same successes to attend them, until amidst the blessings of surrounding nations, to whom your protection has been extended, the glory and the happiness of Your Royal Highness shall at length be firmly established on the glory and happiness of a loyal, grateful, and affectionate people.

[Presented by the Earl of Yarmouth, Member of Parliament for the County of Antrim, and signed by the High Sheriff and 15,600 Noblemen, Gentlemen, Clergy, Freeholders, and Inhabitants of the County.]

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales,
REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

WE, the Protestant Inhabitants of the Queen's County, beg leave to approach your Royal Highness at this particular period, with our most humble and dutiful address.

We presume to state to your Royal Highness, that it has been asserted in Parliament, and by persons assuming to act on behalf of our Roman Catholic fellow-subjects at many public meetings, and in various publications, that the several claims made upon the wisdom of Parliament on behalf of the Roman Catholic body, should be established by legislative provisions.

From the various publications which have appeared on this subject, we have been able to collect, that it is demanded on behalf of our Roman Catholic fellow-subjects, that they should be eligible to certain great civil and military offices of the State, and to sit in both Houses of Parliament, free and discharged from those qualifications which the law has fixed for the eligibility to said offices and privileges of their Protestant fellow-subjects.

We have been able to collect, that it is also demanded on behalf of our said fellow-subjects, that they be permitted to retain and establish, within the realm of the United Kingdom, an Ecclesiastical Hierarchy, composed of Archbishops, Bishops, and other Dignitaries of the Roman Catholic Church, together with the several subordinate orders of their clergy, with all the authorities and jurisdictions incident to such orders, free and discharged from all connection with, controul, or supremacy by the Royal Prerogative of the crown.

It has been asserted, that a compliance with the above claims would be but a just extension to our Roman Catholic fellow-subjects, of the benefits of the British Constitution; and it has further been asserted, that the Protestants of Ireland have abetted and encouraged such claims on the wisdom and authority of the crown, and of both Houses of Parliament.

We beg leave humbly to lay before your Royal Highness, that although we are desirous to remove from our Roman Catholic fellow-subjects, all reasonable ground for dissatisfaction or complaint, by admitting them to every civil and political privilege, as far as is consistent with the safety of the Protestant establishment in Church and State; yet we never did assent to or encourage any such unqualified claims as above stated; nor do we believe them to have been abetted or encouraged by any considerable portion of the Protestants of Ireland; and we beg leave to express our deep dissatisfaction at the very indecorous manner in which such claims have, in many instances, been promulgated and supported. And most sincerely do we lament, that our Roman Catholic fellow-subjects, whose welfare and happiness we consider as entirely involved in our own, should have unwarily permitted some individuals to interfere in the management of their concerns; who seem to consider menace as the instrument of conciliation; and a systematic attempt to violate the freedom of election, as a proof of their attachment to the spirit of the British constitution.

We further dutifully express our humble opinion to your Royal Highness, that such unqualified claims and demands, so far from being necessary to a full participation of the rights of the British Constitution, are in direct opposition to its fundamental principles, which principles were insisted on and established by Roman Catholic Kings and Roman Catholic Parliaments, long previous to any question of ascendancy between Protestant and Roman Catholic establishment.

With respect to any Penal Laws, if any such now exist, which the exigency and danger of former times rendered necessary, we submit their revision or abolition entirely to the wisdom of Parliament, declaring that we desire nothing more ardently than a full co-operation with our Roman Catholic fellow-subjects, in our mutual endeavours to promote harmony and good will amongst ourselves, and to preserve the vigour of the laws and the integrity of the empire. But if any such subject should come under the consideration of your Royal Highness and of Parliament, we pray that the spirit and principle of those guards which the wisdom of Roman Catholic Kings and Roman Catholic Parliaments enacted, to preserve the independence of a Christian Church and of a regal state, against the ambitious interference of a dextrous and active foreign power, may remain hallowed and intire.

We further presume, in aid of our humble opinion, to call to your Royal Highness's recollection, that by a series of laws enacted from the time of your Royal Highness's progenitor, Edward First, to the time of Henry Seventh, during which time the King and Parliament were Roman Catholics; and particularly by the 25th of Edward Third, entitled "the Statute of Provisors," all which laws still remain unrepealed, and would continue in force, although every law enacted by Protestant Kings and Protestant Parliaments were repealed, all interference or nomination of the Pope to any dignity, rank, authority, or benefice within these realms was strictly prohibited, and the acceptance of any commission for any such purpose was made subject to high penalties.

Such Sir, we humbly apprehend, is the relation which Roman Catholics themselves established between the British Constitution and the Roman Catholic Hierarchy, a relation justified by experience, and sanctified by the lapse of a long succession of ages; and if our Roman Catholic fellow-subjects claim the British Constitution, and no more, it seems but just, that if they receive it, they should receive no less.

On behalf of ourselves and the other Protestant inhabitants of this county, who have signed petitions to both Houses of Parliament against the Roman Catholic demands.

Drogheda, Governor.
Castle Coote, Governor.

IF an Officer of the Commissariat shall be wounded in action, and it shall appear upon an inspection made of him by the Army Medical Board, at any period not sooner than a year and a day after the time when he was wounded, that he has in consequence of his wound lost a limb or an eye, or has totally lost the use of a limb, or that his wound has been equally prejudicial to his habit of body with the loss of a limb, such Officer shall be entitled to a pension, commencing from the time when he was wounded, and depending as to its amount upon the rank he held at that period, according to the scale annexed. This pension being granted as a compensation for the injury sustained, is to be held together with any other pay and allowance to which such Officer may be otherwise entitled, without any deduction on account thereof.
