Stockholme, Nov. 5.

E are much troubled here at an unhappy accident that within these three or sour days happened to our king, who by the fall of his Horse broke his Leg, and very much bruised himself; though the Physicians assumed there is no danger, and that His Majesty will be quickly well again. The French Ambassador here is not at all pleased with the Treaty of Guaranty, concluded between this Crown and the States-General of the United Provinces, though the sold design of it, is to maintain the Peace of Nimeguen and of Westphalia; and his Excellency having made, its we are informed, some Representations to the Ministers on this occasion, he was Answered, That the King was resolved to adhere to the Interests of the Empire.

Madrid, New. 13. The 9th Instant we received by an Express, the welcome News of the arrival of the New-Spain Fleet at St. Lucar, which, as we are afflured, brings home eleven Millions of Pieces of Eight, most Coined Money, whereos a Million and a half is for the King. Yesterday the Dukede Giovinazzo returned from his Embassy in Pornugal; and the same day arrived the Count Dada; with a Cardinals Cap for Signior Mellini, the Popes Nuncio here. Levies are making in this Kingdom for the Service of the Spanish Netberlands; and we are told, that very considerable supplies of Money will be sent Vienna, Nov. 20. The Letters we receive from the Upper Hungary inform us, That the railing of the Siege of Zaibmar had occasioned a great mi understanding between the Transylvanians and the Hungarians. The Place was belieged by the former; and the Hungarians think the Enterprize needed not to have been quitted as it was, if they had been zealous in ir, or defired to succeed in it; and say, that the Prince of Transylvania while he pretends to assist them, is pursuing his own particular Interest, and they have fent great Complaints of him to Constantinople. In the mean time the Prince of Transylvania being distrissed with this their distrust of him, is retired towards his own Countrey, and the Rebels Commanded by Count Teckeley have repassed the River Tibisque; and Count Caprara, General of the Imperial Troops, is marching to make the best advantage he can of so favourable a Conjecture. At the Dyet at Oedenburg things proceed very flowly, there being great differences between the Roman Catholicks and Protellant States, so far, that they are often about leaving the place and returning home; but through the Care and Prudence of the Emperors Ministers, things are still kept in such a state, as to give a prospect of a happy conclusion. We are expecting to hear of the opening of the Conferences at Francfort, which it's to be wished may have a good success for the establishing a lasting Peace; but they that restect upon the present state of things, and the methods that the French have made use of since the Peace of Nimeguen, cannot promise themselves any great Matters from these Conferences. The Emperor has sent Orders to his Commissioner at the Dyes at Ratinbonne, to hasten their Resolutions in order to the sinishing the Work that has been so long in hand, for raising an Army for the Desence of the Empire.

Cologne, Decemb. 2. The Deputies of the City of Liege, icem very much concerned, that they have not yet been able to obtain an Audience of their Prince, by whom the Popes Nuncio affured them before they same from home, they should upon their promised Submission, be very kindly received; so that this matter after all the fair hopes we had of a speedy consultion thereof, seems to be avastand again. As for the affairs of this City, there is not much to be said at present: The thing we are now here most sollicitious about is, how to make the best provision for our security, having been allarmed by some advices we have received as if there was a design upon this City.

Hamburg, Nov. 27. From Berlin they tell us, that the Elector of Brandenburg is sending the Baron Schwerin to the Emperor, to enter into Measures with his Imperial Majesty, for the preserving the Peace of the Empire. The Princes of Lunenburg, and the Elector of Saxony, as well as other Princes are it's said, likewise entring into Engagements for their common Desence and Security.

Hamburg, Novemb. 28. There are Letters from Coponhagen, which tell us that the King of Danemarke had expected his Brother the King of Sweden, would have acquainted him with the Allyance between him and the States-General before it was concluded; However that it was hoped the King of Danemarke would become a Party in it, seeing its only scope is to maintain the Peace. We are expecting here Bevill Skeltan Esg; Envoye Extraordinary from His Majesty of Great Britain, to the Dukes of Lunenburg, and to the Hanse Towns,

To the Kings most Excellent Majesty. A
The Humble Address of the Town and Burrough of Circncester, in the County of Gloucester.

Dread Sovereign,

E Your Majelties most Durisul and Loyal Subjects, Suhabitants of the Town and Borough of Circineste, being incouraged by Your Majetties most, Gracious Acceptance of the many Addresses already Presented to Your Majetty from other parts of this Your Kingdom of England, have at length taken the considence of approaching Your Royal Presence, with a Devotion next to that we pay unto she King of Kings; Prostrating our selves at the seet of Your Sacred Marietty, where we unseignedly, and with all Thankshipels to Almighty God, acknowledge the happiness we have enjoyed under Your Majetties most Just, Wise, Benigne, and Chatlous Government over us, from the time of your miraculous Restauration, even to this day: And we Declare this our entire Affection to Your Majetties Person and Government, to be of annuals.

a much antienter date than Tour Majesties late m st Gracious Dectaration: We are glad indeed and rejoyce that this hath proved so effectual to remove the unreasonable tears and jealouses of many, misinformed by the Factious Demagogus amongst us; and most thankfully acknowledge Your Majesties great Condescension therein: But for our selves we lumbly beg seave to say this Truth, That we needed it not; being abundantly farissied of Your Majesties Justice and Goodnels by a more demonstrative Declaration given us in the constant tenor of Your Actions and Government over us. This hath long since spoken loud enough to all the Inhabitants of this our siland; That our happiness is not to be paralested in any of our neighbour Nations. We profess our selves amazed at the unaccountable Discontents and ingratitude of those among us that have found pretences of complaining in the midst of the most described circumstances, and cannot but judge their Sin and Guilt far greater than that of the old Murniters among the Islands of Canaan. Great and Gazious SIR, we are sensible that in you we enjoy the best of Kings, and shall endeayour to the atmost of our Power, to approve our selves the best of Subjects, by a chearial sestomance of all that Duty which we not sincerely and affectionately offer to Your Majesty our Persons and Purses, our Lives and Fortunes, with whatever Interest we have, or are able to make, to Defend Your Sacred Person; to maintain the Succession of Your Crown in its due and legal Descent, and to affect your Royal Prerogative, (with which our own just Rights and Liberries, have an intepara ble Connex.on) against all Incroachments, whether Papal or Popular; and all Antimonarchical Lesigns and Attempts whatsbeerer.

That A mighty God would Gracioully please to bless your Majelly with the continuance of a wise Council, that may be able to tountermine and defear all the subtle and restless Machinations of your Majelties and our Enemies; and Grant you along and prosperous Reign, under which the truly Antient and Catholick Faith, prosessed in the Church of Figland, may slowish; And in order hereunto, That Your Majesties most Graci in suclinationsmay in due time meet with a Temperage, Sober, Reigious, and Loyal Houle of Commons, that may throughout all their Consultations, Conscientionsly mind the Solem Oath they severally take at the very entrance of them, According to their I van to All standards Granted, a belonging to the Ruge Highers, it is their and Successor; unted an antegral to the Imperial Count sitis seam: That may carefully shun the Footsteps of that satal Assembly in special Count sitis seam: That may carefully shun the Footsteps of that satal Assembly in the ominous period of the successing 40. threatening little less danger to us, if Your Majesties Wisloog had ot seasonably interposed; that may before it be too laste with all thankful submission, accept the Gracious offers on your Majessies part, if the securing of the establish Religion, and the Lipart, and Property of the Subject, without presuming fartle er us press that, which your Majesti: hash so often for Dechard (and your Majesties Supream Council and Court in this, together with an errire Parliament of our Siler-Nation have expressed to be their Sence also) cannot in Honour, Conscience, or Safety be Granted; that may readily according to their bounden Duty, ashit your Majesty with successing to their bounden Duty, ashit your Majesty with successing to their bounden Duty, ashit your Majesty with such have been so long desired, and so often frustrated, chietly by the unleasonable disturbances of some who have ver presended most to desire them. And finally, that may be Mikers of none, but, effectural Repairers of all, our Breaches, is the bearty Prayer of whitehal. Dec. 7, The Justices of the Peace of Middlesex, being this day ordered to attend His Majelly in Council, His Majelly was pleased to renew His former Orders for their tending the Oaths of Allegiance and Supremacy, to all Persons that are supected to be Papills and for the Prosecuting such as resulted them, according to Law.
