Stockholme, Nov. 5.

WE are much troubled here at an unhappy accident that with in these three or four days happened to our King, who by the fall of his Horse broke his Leg, and very much bruised himself; though the Physicians assure us there is no danger, and that His Majesty will be quickly well again. The French Ambassador here is not at all pleased with the Treaty of Guaranty, concluded between this Crown and the States-General of the United Provinces, though the sole design of it, is to maintain the Peace of Nimeguen and of Westphalia; and his Excellency having made, as we are informed, some Representations to the Ministers on this occasion, he was Answered, That the King was resolv'd to adhere to the Interests of the Empire.

Madrid, Nov. 13. The 9th Instant we received by an Express, the welcome News of the arrival of the New-Spain Fleet at St. Lucar, which, as we are assured, brings home eleven Millions of Pieces of Eight, most Coined Money, whereof a Million and a half is for the King. Yesterday the Duke de Giovinazzo returned from his Embassy in Portugal; and the same day arriv'd the Count Dada, with a Cardinals Cap for Signior Mellini, the Popes Nuncio here. Levies are making in this Kingdom for the Service of the Spanish Netherlands; and we are told, that very considerable supplies of Money will be sent thither.

Vienna, Nov. 20. The Letters we receive from the Upper Hungary inform us, That the raising of the Siege of Zathmar had occasion'd a great misunderstanding between the Transylvanians and the Hungarians. The Place was besieg'd by the former; and the Hungarians think the Enterprize need'd not to have been quitted as it was, if they had been zealous in it, or desir'd to succeed in it; and say, that the Prince of Transylvania while he pretends to assist them, is pursuing his own particular Interest, and they have sent great Complaints of him to Constantinople. In the mean time the Prince of Transylvania being dissatisfied with this their distrust of him, is retir'd towards his own Countrey, and the Rebels Commanded by Count Teckelej have repass'd the River Tibisque; and Count Caprata, General of the Imperial Troops, is marching to make the best advantage he can of so favourable a Conjecture. At the Dyet at Oedenburg things proceed very slowly, there being great differences between the Roman Catholics and Protestant States, so far, that they are often about leaving the place and returning home; but through the Care and Prudence of the Emperors Ministers, things are still kept in such a state, as to give a prospect of a happy conclusion. We are expecting to hear of the opening of the Conferences at Francfort, which it's to be wish'd may have a good success for the establishing a lasting Peace; but they that reflect upon the present state of things, and the methods that the French have made use of since the Peace of Nimeguen, cannot promise themselves any great Matters from these Conferences. The Emperor has sent Orders to his Commissioner at the Dyet at Ratisbonne, to hasten their Resolutions in order to the finishing the Work that has been so long in hand, for raising an Army for the Defence of the Empire.

Cologne, Decemb. 2. The Deputies of the City of Liege, seem very much concern'd, that they have not yet been able to obtain an Audience of their Prince, by whom the Popes Nuncio assured them before they came from home, they should upon their promised Submission, be very kindly received; so that this matter after all the fair hopes we had of a speedy conclusion thereof, seems to be as a stand again. As for the affairs of this City, there is not much to be said at present: The thing we are now here most solicitous about is, how to make the best provision for our security, having been alarmed by some advices we have received as if there was a design upon this City.

Hamburg, Nov. 27. From Berlin they tell us, that the Elector of Brandenburg is sending the Baron Schwerin to the Emperor, to enter into Measures with his Imperial Majesty, for the preserving the Peace of the Empire. The Princes of Lunenbourg, and the Elector of Saxony, as well as other Princes are it's said, likewise entering into Engagements for their common Defence and Security.

Hamburg, Novemb. 28. There are Letters from Copenhagen, which tell us that the King of Danemarke had expect'd his Brother the King of Sweden, would have acquainted him with the Alliance between him and the States-General before it was concluded; However that it was hop'd the King of Danemarke would become a Party in it, seeing its only scope is to maintain the Peace. We are expecting here Bevill Skelton Esq; Envoye Extraordinary from His Majesty of Great Britain, to the Dukes of Lunenbourg, and to the Hanse Towns,

To the Kings most Excellent Majesty.

The Humble Address of the Town and Burrough of Cirencester, in the County of Gloucester.

Dread Sovereign,

WE Your Majesties most Dutiful and Loyal Subjects, Inhabitants of the Town and Burrough of Cirencester, being encouraged by Your Majesties most Gracious Acceptance of the many Addresses already Presented to Your Majesty from other parts of this Your Kingdom of England, have at length taken the confidence of approaching Your Royal Presence, with a Devotion next to that we pay unto the King of Kings; Prostrating our selves at the feet of Your Sacred Majesty, where we unfeignedly, and with all Thankfulness to Almighty God, acknowledge the happiness we have enjoyed under Your Majesties most Just, Wise, Benigne, and Gracious Government over us, from the time of your miraculous Restauration, even to this day: And we Declare this our entire Affection to Your Majesties Person and Government, to be of
