

To which Address His Royal Highness was pleased to return the following most gracious answer :

“ I return you my warmest thanks for your loyal and dutiful Address.

“ The victory, with which it has pleased Almighty God to bless the operations of the allied army under its illustrious commander Field-Marshal the Marquess of Wellington, cannot fail to have excited in every part of the United Kingdom the strongest emotions of exultation and gratitude; and it is with the utmost satisfaction, that I receive such a testimony of the feelings, which animate the metropolis of the empire, on this most interesting and important occasion.

“ Success so splendid and decisive, so glorious, in all respects, to the arms of His Majesty, and of His allies, is calculated to contribute most essentially to the establishment of the independence of the Peninsula, on a firm and lasting foundation, and to the improvement of our prospects in all other parts of the world.”

They were all very graciously received, and had the honour of kissing the hand of His Royal Highness.

Westminster, July 14, 1813.

THIS day, the Lords being met, a message was sent to the Honourable House of Commons by the Deputy Usher of the Black Rod, acquainting them, that The Lords, authorised by virtue of a Commission under the Great Seal, signed by the Prince Regent, in the name and on the behalf of His Majesty, for declaring His Majesty's Royal Assent to several Acts agreed upon by both Houses, do desire the immediate attendance of the Honourable House in the House of Peers to hear the Commission read; and the Commons being come thither, the said Commission, empowering the Lord Archbishop of Canterbury, the Lord High Chancellor of Great Britain, and several other Lords therein named, to declare and notify the Royal Assent to the said Acts, was read accordingly, and the Royal Assent given to
