Whitehall, August 21, 1813.

Whereas it hath been humbly represented unto His Royal Highness the Prince Regent, that, on Saturday morning last the 14th instant, the body of the Reverend Nicholas Westcombe was found in a lane called Old Gallows-Lane, close adjoining to the city of Winchester, most inhumanly murdered, and also robbed of a silver watch, with no maker's name, but supposed to be numbered 4811, and other articles of value;

His Royal Highness, for the better apprehending and bringing to justice any person or persons who may have been aiding, assisting, or in any manner concerned in the perpetration of the said atrocious murder, is hereby pleased, in the name and on the behalf of His Majesty, to promise His Majesty's most gracious pardon to any such person or persons so aiding or assisting in the said murder as aforesaid (except the person or persons who actually committed the same) who shall discover his or their accomplice or accomplices therein, so that he, she, or they may be apprehended and convicted thereof.

SIDMOUTH.

And, as a further encouragement, a reward of ONE HUNDRED POUNDS is hereby offered by the family of the deceased, to any person making such discovery as aforesaid (except as is before excepted), to be paid on the conviction of any one or more of the offenders.

Notice is hereby given, that application is intended to be made to the Honourable the House of Commons, in the next session of Parliament, for leave to bring in a Bill to be passed into an Act, for rebuilding and enlarging the church or chapel in the chapelry of Newton, within the parish of Manchester, in the county palatine of Lancaster; or for building a new church or chapel in a convenient situation within the said chapelry; and also for enlarging the burying ground in the said chapelry; and for imposing and levying necessary rates or duties for effecting those purposes. Dated this 14th day of August 1813.
