By His Royal Highness the PRINCE of WALES, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, in the name and on the behalf of His Majesty.

A PROCLAMATION

For a General Thanksgiving.

GEORGE, P. R.

WE do most devoutly and thankfully acknowledge the great goodness and mercy of Almighty God, who, in addition to the manifold and inestimable benefits which this Kingdom has received at His Hands, has continued to us His protection and assistance in the war in which, for the common safety of His Majesty's Dominions, and for disappointing the boundless ambition of France, We are now engaged, and has given to the arms of His Majesty, and to those of His Allies, a series of signal and glorious victories over the forces of the enemy; and, therefore, duly considering that such great and public blessings call for public and solemn acknowledgments, We have thought fit, in the name and on the behalf of His Majesty, and by and with the advice of His Majesty's Privy Council, to issue this Proclamation, hereby appointing and commanding that a General Thanksgiving to Almighty God, for these His mercies, be observed throughout those parts of the United Kingdom called England and Ireland, on Thursday the thirteenth day of January next; and for the better and more orderly solemnizing the same, We have given directions to the Most Reverend the Archbishops, and Right Reverend the Bishops of England, to compose a Form of Prayer suitable to the occasion, to be used in all churches and chapels, and other places of public worship; and to take care for the timely dispersing of the same throughout their respective dioceses. And We do strictly charge and command, that the said Public Day of Thanksgiving be religiously observed by all His Majesty's loving subjects, as they tender the favour of Almighty God, and upon pain of suffering such punishment, as may be justly inflicted upon all such who shall contemn or neglect the same.

Given at the Court at Carlton-House, the seventh day of December, one thousand eight hundred and thirteen, in the fifty-fourth year of His Majesty's reign.

GOD save the KING.

WAR DEPARTMENT,

Downing-Street, December 23, 1813.

MAJOR Alexander Macdonald has addressed to Earl Bathurst a letter and its inclosure, of which the following are copies, dated

Oliva, near Danzick,
December 1, 1813.

My LORD,

MY letter of the 21st ultimo will have informed your Lordship that the batteries of the first parallel, containing seventy-four pieces of ordnance, of various calibres, were opened against the works of the Bischof's-berg on the 17th, and that nearly the whole of the granaries of that part of Danzick called the Speicher Island, containing, it is supposed, from a thousand to twelve hundred lasts of corn and rice, had been burnt by the fire of the batteries established above the suburb of Ohra.

I have now the gratification further to inform your Lordship, that articles of capitulation for the surrender of the important fortress of Danzick (of which I inclose a copy) were signed on the 29th ultimo.

I have great pleasure in being able to assure your Lordship, that the troops composing this division of the allied army have distinguished themselves by their gallant conduct as often as opportunities have offered. It is but justice also to acknowledge that the defence which has been made by the enemy has been judicious, and that he has disputed every inch of ground which could be at all advantageous to him, and from which he was only driven by superior numbers.

I have, &c. &c.

(Signed)

ALEX. MACDONALD,
Major Rl. Horse Artillery.

CAPITULATION of the place of Danzick, under special conditions, concluded between their Excellencies Lieutenant-General Borozdin, the Major-General Weljaminoff, exercising the functions of Chief of the Staff, and the Colonels of Engineers Monfredi and Pullett, furnished with full powers by his Royal Highness the Duke of Württemberg, Commander in Chief of the troops employed in the siege of Danzick, on the one part, and their Excellencies the Count d'Heudelle, General of Division, the General of Brigade d'Hericourt, Chief of the Staff, and the Colonel Richemont, likewise provided with the full powers of his Excellency Count Rapp, Aide-de-Camp of the Emperor, Commander in Chief of the 10th corps d'Armée, Governor-General, on the other part.

Art. I. The troops composing the garrison of Danzick, and occupying the forts and redoubts dependent thereon, will march out of the town, with their arms and baggage, on the 1st January, 1814, at ten o'clock, a. m. by the gate of Oliva, and lay down their arms in front of the battery of Gottes Engel, if before that period the garrison of Danzick is not relieved by a body of troops equivalent in numbers to the besieging army, or if a treaty concluded between the belligerent powers shall not have before that period determined the fate of the town of Danzick. The officers shall retain their swords. From a consideration of the vigorous defence and distinguished conduct of the garrison, the detachment of the Imperial Guard, and a battalion of six hundred men shall retain their arms, and they shall take with them two six-pounders, as well as the ammunition waggons thereunto belonging. Twenty-five cavalry soldiers shall likewise retain their horses and arms.

Art. II. The fort of Weichselmünde, the Holm, and the intermediate works, as well as the keys of the outer gate of Oliva, shall be given over to the combined army on the morning of the 24th December, 1813.

Art. III. Immediately after the present capitulation shall have been signed, the fort Lacoste, that of Neufahrwasser, with its dependencies, and the left bank of the Vistula, as far up as the redoubt Gudin, and the line of redoubts situated on the Zigankenberg, as well as the Mowenkruzschanze, shall be delivered up in their present state to the besieging army. The bridge which now communicates from the tête-de-pont of Fahrwasser to the fort of Weichselmünde, shall be drawn back, and placed at the mouths of the Vistula, between Neufahrwasser and the Mowenkruzschanze.

Art. IV. The garrison of Danzick shall be prisoners of war, and be conducted to France. The Governor, Count Rapp, formally pledges himself that none of the officers or soldiers shall serve, until they have been regularly exchanged, against any of the powers now at war with France. An exact return shall be drawn up of all the Generals, Officers, non-commissioned officers, and soldiers composing the garrison of Danzick, without any exception whatsoever. A duplicate shall be made of this return. Each of the Generals and Officers shall sign an engagement, and shall give his parole of honour, not to serve against Russia or her allies until their exchange. An exact return shall likewise be drawn up of all the soldiers under arms, and another of those who are wounded or sick.

Art. V. The Governor, Count Rapp, engages to accelerate as much as possible the exchange of the individuals composing the garrison of Danzick, man for man, against an equal number of prisoners belonging to the coalesced powers, but if, contrary to expectation, this exchange could not take place for want of the necessary number of Russian, Austrian, and Prussian prisoners, or others belonging to the Allied Courts, or if the said Courts should oppose any impediment, then, at the expiration of one year and one day, commencing from the 1st of January, 1814, new style, the individuals composing the garrison of Danzick shall be relieved from the formal obligation contracted by article IV. of the present capitulation, and they may be again employed by their government.

Art. VI. The Polish and other troops belonging to the garrison shall have full and entire liberty to share the fate of the French army; in which case they shall be treated in the same manner, excepting, however, such troops whose Sovereigns might be allied to the powers coalesced against his Majesty the Emperor Napoleon, which shall be put in march towards the dominions or the armies of their Sovereigns, and follow the orders they will receive from them, and which they shall send officers to solicit accordingly, immediately after the signing of these presents.

The Polish and other officers shall give each their parole of honour in writing, not to serve against the allied forces until their regular exchange, conformably to the explanation contained in Article V.

Art. VII. All the prisoners, of whatever nation they may be, belonging to powers at war with France, and who are at present in Danzick, shall be at liberty, without their being exchanged, and shall be sent to the Russian advanced posts by the gate of Petershagen, on the morning of the 24th December, 1813.

Art. VIII. The sick and wounded belonging to the garrison shall be treated in the same manner, and with the same care as those of the allied powers, they shall be sent to France, after being perfectly re-established, under the same conditions as the rest of the troops composing the garrison of Danzick. A Commissary of War, and Medical Officers, shall be left with those sick, to take care of them, and claim their return.

Art. XX. As soon as a certain number of individuals belonging to the allied powers shall have been exchanged against an equal number of individuals belonging to the garrison of Danzick, in that case the latter may consider themselves relieved from the engagement formally contracted by them through Article IV. of the present capitulation.

Art. XXI. The troops of the garrison of Danzick, excepting those who, by the terms of Article VI. are to follow the orders of their Sovereigns, shall march by fixed junctions in four columns, at two days distance, one from the other, and according to the marching route hereunto annexed; and they shall be escorted to the advanced posts of the French army. The means of subsistence for the garrison of Danzick shall be furnished to them on their march, conformable to the annexed return.

The first column will begin its march on the 2d of January 1814; the second will depart on the 4th, and so on.

Art. XII. All the French non-combatants, and who do not bear arms, may follow, if they choose, the troops of the garrison; but they cannot claim the rations fixed for the military. They may further dispose of the property which shall be recognised as belonging to them.

Art. XIII. On the 24th December 1813, there shall be delivered up to the Commissary appointed by the besieging army, all the cannon, mortars, &c. &c. arms, ammunition, plans, drawings, designs, the military chests, all magazines of whatever description they may be, the pontoons, all effects appertaining to the corps of engineers, to the marine, the artillery, the train, waggons, &c. &c. without any exception whatsoever, and a duplicate inventory shall be made thereof, and delivered to the Chief of the Staff of the combined army.

Art. XIII. The Generals, Officers of the Staff, and others, shall retain their baggage, and the number of horses fixed by the French regulations; and shall, consequently, receive forage during the march.

Art. XIV. All details relating to the means of transport to be granted, either for the sick or wounded, or for the officers, shall be regulated by the Chiefs of the respective Staffs.

Art. XV. The Senate of Danzick reserve the right of presenting to his Majesty the Emperor Napoleon their claims to the liquidation of all debts that may have been contracted on both sides; and his Excellency the Governor-General places himself under the obligation to cause vouchers to be given to those with whom such debts may have been contracted; but under no pretence can hostages be detained for these debts.

Art. XVI. Hostilities of every description shall cease on both sides from the signing of the present treaty.

Art. XVII. Any Article that may be deemed doubtful shall be construed in favour of the garrison.

Art. XVIII. Four true copies shall be made of the present capitulation, of which two shall be in the Russian, and two in the French language, to be delivered in duplicate to the two Generals in Chief.

Art. XIX. After the signing of these official documents, it shall be permitted to the Governor-General, Colonel Rapp, to send a courier to his government, who will be accompanied by a Russian officer as far as the French advanced posts.

Admiralty-Office; December 25, 1813.

DISPATCHES, of which the following are extracts, have been received at this Office from Admiral Young, addressed to John Wilson Croker, Esq.

Impregnable, in the Roompot,
December 19, 1813.

CAPTAIN Owen having landed on South Beveland with the marines, I enclose for their Lordships information his account of the manner in which he was received by the inhabitants.

Ter Goes, in South Beveland,
December 17, 1813.

SIR,

I PROCEEDED with the earliest light this morning with the parties of the royal marines, you did me the honour to place under me, and landed at the entrance of the haven, about three miles from Ter Goes.

The peasants flocked to me from every quarter: the flag of the Dutch nation appeared borne by crowds on every side, and our march to Goes was covered by the multitude of these flags which gathered round us, whilst the cry of Orange Boven resounded on every side.

The scene was the most animating and the most interesting that I ever witnessed; the proclamation of His Royal Highness the Prince of Orange was read, as well as one from the Magistrates, from the windows of the Stadt-House, and was followed by the most enthusiastic cheers and acclamations.

The intention of the enemy, in the requisition he had ordered for the garrison of Flushing, has been defeated, and the Dutch flag is flying upon every steeple near the western shore.

The conduct of the parties of the royal marines, in the midst of this intoxicating scene, and the kindness showered upon them by the inhabitants, has been marked with regularity.

I have the honour to be, &c.

(Signed)

G. W. C. R. OWEN,
Captain of H. M. S. Cornwall.

Admiral Young.

*Impregnable, in the Roompot,
December 20, 1813.*

I REQUEST you to inform the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, that Captain Owen reports, that he was (on the 18th at Borselen, in South Beveland). Information having reached him, that the enemy were actually levying at Krabbedyke the supplies for Batz, for which requisition had been made, he sent Major Bartleman to interrupt them, and his men cut off their knapsacks, and pursued the enemy, but did not arrive in time.

Captain Owen found at Borselen two capital batteries, one of ten iron guns, and two brass mortars; the other of six or eight guns, and two mortars. All the guns were spiked; he ordered two of them to be cleared, proposing to occupy with a small detachment the tower of Borselen, where there is a tolerable barrack, and to land a small quantity of powder to interrupt a little the enemy's communication by the river.

Captain Owen found, on his arrival at Goes, that the Dutch had already formed there three companies of national guards, the officers of which have strictly adhered to Captain Owen's wishes in every thing, and attended him for the purpose of organizing six troops of cavalry, of sixty men each, and six companies of infantry, of one hundred each. Of the former force, much is already arranged, the inhabitants eagerly offering themselves, and their horses. Large parties are on duty, and patrols and guards are established on the roads and principal points of the shore.

Information having been brought to me yesterday evening, of the enemy having landed a force of five hundred men at Borselen; I sent immediately to reinforce Captain Owen; but I have not to-day had any report from South Beveland. I have no doubt of some French having landed, though I think it probable the number of them was increased by the apprehensions of the people who sent the report.

I have the honour to be, &c.

(Signed)

W. YOUNG.

Impregnable, in the Roompot, 21st December, 1813.

I request you to inform the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, that Captain Owen reports that the French corps, which landed at Borselen, was immediately repulsed; all the inhabitants flew to arms, and every person who could find a weapon of any description, joined the small party of royal marines who were near Borselen, and marched against the enemy, who embarked as soon as he discovered their approach. Captain Owen speaks in the highest terms of the enthusiasm of the inhabitants, and of the alacrity and good conduct of the marines.

THE following Address has been presented to His Royal Highness the Prince Regent; which Address His Royal Highness was pleased to receive very graciously.

To His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The humble and dutiful Address of the Mayor, Sheriffs, and Common Council of the City of Cork.

WE, the Mayor, Sheriffs, and Common Council of the City of Cork, in council assembled, with every degree of duty and respect, approach your Royal Highness, and offer our sincere and heartfelt congratulations on the splendid successes with which the exertions of his Majesty's allies on the Continent of Europe, have been crowned, nor can we, when thus expressing our feelings to your Royal Highness, omit the opportunity of proudly and exultingly observing upon that internal peace and prosperity which still continue to bless every part of this happy empire, whilst the other nations of Europe have been in their turn the theatre of dreadful and devastating warfare. Guided by the wisdom and vigilance of your Councils, this country, under divine Providence, has attained a degree of power and pre-eminence, unknown at any former period of her history; taught by her example, the other nations of Europe have learned to combat, and successfully resist the insatiable ambition of the present Ruler of the French nation, Great Britain at this moment presents to the world the illustrious example of a great and mighty kingdom stretching forth her powerful arm, not for the purpose of conquest and aggrandisement, but for the invaluable one of restoring to harassed and distracted Europe the blessings of peace and social order. In the attainment of these great objects, various and unceasing exertions may still be called for, and we beg leave to assure your Royal Highness, that, fully appreciating the many blessings we ourselves enjoy, and the justice of the cause in which we are engaged, we will yield to no portion of his Majesty's subjects in zeal for the public service, nor shall we consider any sacrifice too great that may be thought necessary to enable your Royal Highness finally to accomplish those measures, which, under your Royal Highness's provident administration, have been hitherto so eminently successful.

Done at the Council Chamber this 14th day of December 1813, and signed for and on behalf of the Common Council, by David Perrier, Mayor of Cork; Joseph Garde and Henry Bagnell, jun. Sheriffs; W. Jones, Clerk of the Council.

His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales
Whitehall, December 18, 1813.

WHEREAS it hath been humbly represented to His Royal Highness the Prince Regent, that on the morning of Wednesday the 18th instant, about four o'clock, some persons having come to the premises adjoining the house of Miss Compertz, at Vauxhall, in the parish of Lambeth, effected the taking down of the outside shutter of the kitchen window; and, after taking out a pane of glass, attempted an entrance into the house: the footman, named Moses Merry, who slept in an adjoining room, hearing the noise, repaired to the window, when one of the persons immediately fired at, and killed the said Moses Merry;

His Royal Highness, for the better apprehending and bringing to justice the persons concerned therein, is hereby pleased, in the name and on the behalf of His Majesty, to promise His Majesty's most gracious pardon to any one of the offenders (except the person who actually committed the said murder), who shall discover his or their accomplice or accomplices therein, so that he or they may be apprehended and convicted thereof.

SHIMMOUTH.

And, as a further encouragement, a reward of ONE HUNDRED POUNDS is hereby offered by the parish of St. Mary, Lambeth, and ONE HUNDRED POUNDS by the inhabitants of the neighbourhood where the murder was committed, to any person making such discovery as aforesaid (except as is before excepted), to be paid on the conviction of any one or more of the offenders. The latter reward to be paid by Mr. Samuel Hale, of the Retreat, Vauxhall.

Admiralty-Office, December 20, 1813.

Notice is hereby given, that a Session of Oyer and Terminer and Gaol Delivery, for the trial of offences committed on the High Seas within the jurisdiction of the Admiralty of England, will be held at Justice-Hall, in the Old Bailey, London, on Friday the 21st of January next, at eight o'clock in the morning.

THE Court of Assistants of the Charity for the Relief of Poor Widows of Commission and Warrant Officers of the Royal Navy having resolved, with the approbation of His Royal Highness the Prince Regent, that from and after the 1st of January 1814, the pensions of Sea Officers' Widows shall be increased to, and established at, the following rates, viz:

The Widow of a Post Captain of three years standing	-	-	90
The Widow of a Post Captain under three years standing	-	-	80
The Widow of a Commander	-	-	70
The Widow of a Lieutenant, superannuated, with the rank of Commander	-	-	60 with the proviso, however, that those widows only shall be reputed proper objects of the Charity who have not pensions on the Ordinary Estimates of the Navy, or by any other grant from Government, and whose annual incomes, arising from their real or personal estates, or otherwise, do not amount to double the sum allowed for their respective pensions.

And it being intended that all pensions from the said Charity shall in future be paid quarterly, up to the following days, viz.

To the 31st March, instead of to the 28th February,
30th June	- 31st May,
30th September	- 31st August,
31st December	- 30th November.

This is to give notice thereof; and that the affidavits, required by the Rules of the Charity, are, in future, to be sent or brought to this Office,

Between the 17th and 31st of March,
17th and 30th of June,
17th and 30th of September,
17th and 31st of December,

instead of at the times heretofore directed: it is, therefore, particularly desired that all Widows, now receiving pensions from the said Charity, do, without fail, make and transmit to me, at this Office, their usual affidavits, between the 17th and 31st December next (instead of in November), in order to their being paid their pensions up to the day on which the present rates of pensions cease; and those Widows who may fail to transmit their affidavits at the said time, will be excluded the benefit of the first quarter's increase.

J. W. CROKER.
