TUESDAY, MARCH 8, 1814.

Foreign-Office, March 7, 1814.

DISPATCHES, of which the following are copies and extracts, have been this day received from Lieutenant-General the Honourable Sir Charles William Stewart, K. B. and the Right Honourable Lord Burghersh.

Dispatch from the Honourable Sir C. W. Stewart, K. B. dated Chatillon-sur-Seine, March 2, 1814.

MY LORD,

I HAVE the honour to transmit to your Lordship five reports which I have received from Colonel Lowe, detailing the operations of Marshal Blücher's army up to the 28th February.

I am, with great truth and regard,

My Lord, &c.

CHARLES STEWART, Lieut. Gen.

To Viscount Castlereagh, &c. &c. &c.

Military Report from Colonel Lowe, dated Headquarters, Army of Silesia, Arcis sur Aube, February 20, 1814.

SIR,

THIS army, in consequence of information from the grand army, changed its direction of march from that mentioned in my report of the 18th instant. The whole of it united and bivouacked last night at the village of Sommesous. It rests this day at Arcis sur Aube, and will probably move to-morrow to Mery, where it may form the right wing of the grand army, supposed to be now assembled at or near Troyes.

General Gneisenau proceeds this day to Troyes to concert operations with the grand army.

I have the honour to be, &c.

H. LOWE, Colonel.

Lieutenant-General the Honourable Sir Charles Stewart, K. B.

Military Report from Colonel Lowe, dated Headquarters Army of Silesia, 22d February, 1814, Drauss, St. Basle, 8, P.M.

SIR,

THIS army effected its march upon Mery yesterday. The town was already occupied by Gen. Count Witgenstein, who had reconnoitred the enemy to be in some force opposite to him between Charres and Merigny. On Field-Marshal's Blücher's arrival, his corps was withdrawn, and early this morning took the direction of Chandrigny. The posts he left in front of the town, had scarcely been relieved by this army at about eight o'clock in the morning, before the enemy commenced an attack. It not being the immediate object to carry on any operation on the left bank of the river, arrangements were instantly made for burning the bridge over the Seine, that divides the town in two parts, and for defending that on this side of the river. Field-Marshal Blücher was himself superintending the dispositions for this effect, when it was observed that the town, whether from accident or design, was in fire in three places. The wind blew violently, and it became impossible to get the flames under. The project therefore of defending the town by any considerable body of infantry could not be executed. A few tirailleurs were all that could be employed. The enemy, who had no obstacle on his side, the river, advanced rapidly. The bridge was set fire to, but only one side of it was consumed. From about nine o'clock till two, a constant tirillade ensued, but the flames became so general that no more support could be sent to the small party that had defended the town, and the enemy was enabled to effect his passage across the remaining part of the bridge. Whilst this was passing in the town, Field-Marshal Blücher drew up his army in two lines, in a vast plain on this side the river, having his cavalry in reserve, and was thus prepared to have taken every advantage of the enemy, had he attempted to push any force across the river. The view of this preparation however intimidated him. The enemy had pushed over three battalions, and extending them along the left bank of the river, began a very sharp fire, with the apparent design to cover the further advance of troops from the river, when he was himself attacked, driven back into the town, and compelled to recross the broken bridge, leaving several prisoners and wounded in our possession; and at sun-set each army remained at their respective sides of the town.

The reports of the prisoners state the corps opposed, to have been the 7th and 9th, under the command of Marshal Oudinot, besides a very large body of cavalry.

Between two and three o'clock in the afternoon, whilst Field Marshal Blücher was reconnoitring the enemy's position in the town, he was struck with a musket ball in the leg. It passed through his boot, but most fortunately did him no material injury. Colonel Valentine, of the staff, was wounded at the same moment. Prince Schubatoff, junior, General of Cossacks, was also wounded during the day. The loss, however, was in general unimportant—about 220 killed and wounded.

Field-Marshal Blücher has bivouacked this night with his army in the position taken up during the morning. I have the honour to be, &c.

H. LOWE, Colonel.

Lieutenant-General the Honourable

Sir Charles Stewart, K. B.

P. S. 23d Feb. 9, A. M.—The enemy still remains on the opposite side of the river, but apparently in no great force. The bridge over the Seine has been completely destroyed by the troops on our side.

H. LOWE, Colonel.

Military Report from Colonel Lowe, dated Headquarters, Army of Silesia. Drauss St. Basle, 23d Feb. 1814, 3 o'clock, P. M.

SIR,

The enemy has been observed during the greater part of this day marching cavalry, infantry, artillery, and baggage towards Troyes;—his force supposed about ten thousand men, of which four or five thousand are cavalry, and a considerable quantity of artillery.

By a letter received from a partizan officer at Morains, dated yesterday, it appears that General Nariskchin, of General Winzingerode's corps, occupies Epernay, and has had parties at Dormans. The same letter says that General Woronzoff's corps was expected to arrive at Rheims on that day or the next, and that General Bulow's was expected to be near Soissons was re-occupied by the enemy, on General Winzingerode's leaving it. The enemy has likewise, as the officer writes, a corps at Chateau Thierry, to watch General Winzingerode. Sezanne is also occupied by the enemy.

The Prussian corps of Lutzow is at Conautray, and was to advance to Ferre Champenoise.

I have the honour to be, &c.

Sir Charles Stewart, K. B.

Military Report from Colonel Lowe, dated Headquarters, Army of Silesia, Anglure February 24, 1814, 8 P. M.

SIR,

FIELD-MARSHAL Blücher threw three pontoon bridges across the Aube this morning near Baudement, and crossed the whole of his army, having marched it during the night, without being perceived by the enemy, from opposite Mery. It bivouacks this night at and in the vicinity of this town, and will probably move to-morrow morning towards Sezanne. Reports have been received that the enemy has shewn himself in force, conjectured about ten thousand men, under Marshal Marmont, marching from Sezanne towards Chalons, and the above movement is calculated thereupon.

I have the honour to be, &c.

H. LOWE, Colonel.

Lieutenant-General the Honourable

Sir Charles Stewart, K. B.

Military Report from Colonel Lowe, dated Headquarters, Army of Silesia, Ferte Sous Jouarre, Left Bank of the Marne, 27th February, 1814.

SIR,

A LINE I addressed to you on the afternoon of the 25th will have informed you of the retreat of Marshal Marmont from Sezanne, and of this army being in pursuit of him, with the intention of following him on the next day to Ferté Gaucher. On arrival at Ferté Gaucher, Field Marshal Blücher learnt that the enemy had taken the direction of Rebais, to which place he followed him, and halted for the night. Marshal Marmont had continued his route to Ferté Sous Jouarre: the peasantry represented him to be flying in disorder; and his troops seeking shelter in the woods. At Rebais, however, it was learnt that Marshal Mortier, with the Young Guard, had marched from Chateau Thierry, where he had been some time in observation of General Winzingerode, to effect a junction with Marshal Marmont, their joint force amounting to somewhat between sixteen and twenty thousand men. To pass the Marne, therefore, in presence of such a force, with the probability that Buonaparte, hearing of the march of the army of Silesia in this direction, would detach a force to the rear of it, became an operation of great delicacy. The following disposition was made: the corps of General Baron Sacken and General Count Langeron were directed to march on Coulomiers and Chailly, and to pursue their route this morning towards Meaux. The corps of General D'Yorck and General Kleist, after halting for the night at, and in the vicinity of Rebais, were ordered to march this morning to Ferté Sous Jouarre. General Korf, with a reserve of three thousand cavalry, formed the rear guard at Ferté Gaucher. The demonstration towards Meaux had all the effect desired. The two French Marshals, who had united their force at Ferté Sous Jouarre, precipitately abandoned the town, leaving the river in front of it open to the establishment of pontoon bridges in every direction. Some yagers got over in small boats, and took possession of the town. Had the enemy made his stand in this point, Meaux, or Triport in the vicinity of it, would have been that where the passage would have been effected, this army, by its dispositions, having been equally prepared for either.

Two pontoon bridges have been thrown over the river, and the army is already a cheval on it. The dispositions for to-morrow will result from the reports received during the night. In the mean time information has been received of General Winzingerode and General Bulow having been about to form a junction, and it is supposed they are both now near Soissons. General Winzingerode had detached two thousand cavalry to Arcis-sur-Aube.

The advanced guard of General Baron Sacken's corps has occupied the suburbs of Meaux, on the left bank of the river. The enemy, it is reported, has abandoned the opposite side of the river to Triport, where General Baron Sacken has at present his head-quarters. Strong cavalry reconnoissances are made on every point to the rear.

I have the honor to be, &c.

H. LOWE, Colonel.

Military Report from Colonel Lowe, dated Headquarters of the Army of Silesia, Ferté-sous-Jouarre, Right Bank of the Marne, Feb. 28, 1814.

SIR,

THE passage of the Marne has been accomplished without any obstacle or difficulty; at least the greater part of the troops are already on this side of the river, with the facility of communicating with the other, if thought fit.

General Winzingerode was, by the last accounts, at Rheims; he had sent forward a corps to Chateau Thierry, which place is now occupied by the Allies. General Kleist is at Legg sur Ourq.

I have the honour to be, &c.

H. LOWE, Colonel.

Lieutenant-General Honourable Sir Charles Stewart, K. B.

Extract of a Dispatch from Lord Burghersh, to Viscount Castlereagh, dated Troyes, February 21, 1814.

SINCE I had the honour of addressing your Lordship, General Wittgenstein has quitted the position of Nogent and Pont-sur-Seine. The enemy profiting by the abandonment of these places, has advanced his corps to St. Hilaire, where he was in position during this day. Trainel has also been occupied by him.

In consequence of these movements, Prince Schwartzenberg has ordered a reconnoissance to be made to-morrow by the whole of the cavalry of his army, assisted by the cavalry of Marshal Blücher. These corps will be directed towards the points of Trainel, St. Hilaire, and Nogent.

Marshal Blücher having arrived at Mery, the movement of the cavalry belonging to his army will be along the great road from that place towards Nogent.

Information has this day been received, that the French army assembled near Lyons, has commenced offensive operations. The troops of which it is composed are under the orders of Marshal Augereau, and amount to about twenty-five thousand men; they have already advanced to Maçon and Bourg.

Prince Schwartzenberg has determined to send the corps of General Bianchi, to oppose this army. The different corps of Austrians already in the neighbourhood of Dijon, will be placed under the orders of General Bianchi.

The first corps of reserve under the Prince of Hesse, already in advance of Basle, will be added to this army.

MY LORD, Colombé, February 26, 1814.

PRINCE Schwartzenberg has this day determined to move the corps of Generals Wrede and Wittgenstein to-morrow upon the road of Vandoeuvres, and the corps of the Prince Royal of Wurtemberg and General Giulay, upon the road between Bar-sur-Seine and Chatillon.

The enemy advanced this evening upon Bar-sur-Aube, and occupied that town, General Wrede retiring from it upon the enemy's approach.

General Wrede received afterwards Prince Schwartzenberg's order to retake the place. I am happy to state that this was effected without loss on the part of the Bavarians. The enemy was driven from the town at the point of the bayonet, and with considerable loss.

The Russian guards and reserves have already arrived near Langres.

The corps of Prince Maurice Lichtenstein has moved to Dijon, where it will be joined to the corps of General Bianchi.

I have the honour to be, &c.

BURGHERSH, Lieut. Col. 63d Regt.
The Right Honourable the Viscount Castlereagh, &c. &c. &c.

P. S. The corps of General Wrede is this day at Bar-sur-Aube. The corps of General Wittgenstein in front of Colombé. General Giulay is at Arcenbarois. The corps of the Prince Royal of Wurtemberg at Moutsaons.

BURGHERSH.

Dispatch from Lord Burghersh, dated Heights in front of Bossancour, 27th February, 1814, Seven o'Clock, P. M.

MY LORD,

I yesterday had the honour of informing you that after Bar-sur-Aube had been taken possession of by the enemy, it was retaken by the corps of General Wrede. The town was afterwards again taken by the French, the suburbs remaining in possession of the Bavarians.

I stated to your Lordship, that it was Prince Schwartzenberg's intention to attack the enemy this day, on the road to Vandoeuvre. I have now the satisfaction of reporting to you a victory which he has obtained.

In the early part of the morning, Prince Schwartzenberg found the enemy in possession of Bar-sur-Aube, having passed a considerable column on the heights in the direction of Levigni. The object of this movement was to envelope the corps of General Wrede, in position in rear of the town of Bar-sur-Aube.

The corps of General Wittgenstein was assembled, as I have already informed your Lordship, in front of Colombé. Prince Schwartzenberg directed it to pass in rear of the position occupied by the corps of General Wrede, and to attack the corps of the enemy moving towards Levigni, on the right of General Wrede.

General Wittgenstein arrived on the heights on which he was directed, about twelve o'clock; the contest he had to maintain for the possession of them was most severe.

Prince Schwartzberg, in many instances, himself directed the attacks of the Russian troops; in one of them, I am sorry to inform you he was wounded, I hope slightly; but in any case the glory of the day has remained with him.

The French troops have been driven with considerable loss from all their positions on this side of the Aube. Count Pahlen succeeded in doing them most material injury while passing at the bridge of Doulanctour.

General Wrede has established his advanced guard at Spoy, upon the old road to Vandoeuvre.

The enemy appear to have had Marshal Victor's, Marshal Oudinot's, and part of Marshal Macdonald's corps, engaged in the action of this day; their loss has been from two to three thousand men. Their discomfiture, after the victories of which of late they have boasted, has been most complete.

The enemy will be pushed to-morrow in the direction of Vandoeuvre.

The Prince Royal of Wurtemberg and General Giulay have arrived near Bar-sur-Seine, and will attack that place to-morrow.

I have the honour to be, &c.

BURGHersh.

The Right Hon. Lord Viscount Castlereagh, &c.

Extract of a Dispatch from Lord Burghersh, to Viscount Castlereagh, dated Colombé, March 1, 1814.

AFTER the capture of Bar on the 27th, and of the whole position of the enemy on this side the Aube, Prince Schwartzberg yesterday pursued the French across that river, and established his advanced posts of cavalry near Magny on the left, and Val Suzenay on the right.

On the evening of the 27th, a report was received from the Prince Royal of Wirtemberg, that the corps of Marshal Macdonald, was in position at Clairvaux and La Ferté sur Aube.

Prince Schwartzberg directed the Prince Royal notwithstanding, to continue the movement which had already been prescribed to him upon Bar-sur-Seine; and to attack the enemy either at La Ferté, or in any other situation in which he should find him.

Until the success of this operation was known, Prince Schwartzberg determined not to risk the infantry of the corps, which had fought in the battle of 27th, across the Aube.

This obstacle has however now been removed. The Prince Royal succeeded yesterday in driving the French from their positions.

The corps of General Giulay, which was placed under his orders, attacked and carried the Town of La Ferté. The Prince Royal took possession of Clairvaux.

These successes having been obtained, the two corps advanced upon Pontette and St. Usage, where the enemy occupied a position of considerable strength, but which he abandoned on the appearance of the Allies.

The head-quarters of the Prince Royal were yesterday at Champignole; he has advanced this day towards Bar-sur-Seine. The result of his operations upon that place is not as yet received.

In a letter from General Tettenborn, dated the 27th, from Vertus, it appears that officer was attacked on that day by four thousand of Buonaparte's guards at Fere Champenoise: he had retired from that place to Vertus. Buonaparte himself was at Arcis, and a considerable corps of his army was marching upon Sezanne.

Upon the receipt of this intelligence, Prince Schwartzberg determined to push the corps of Generals Wittgenstein and Wrede upon Vandoeuvre. They will arrive at that place to-morrow, and will afterwards advance upon Troyes.

If the corps of the Prince Royal of Wirtemberg and General Giulay have succeeded in establishing themselves this day at Bar-sur-Seine, they will be directed, by the left of the Seine, to act also upon Troyes.

I forgot to report to your Lordship, in my last dispatch, that the fort of Saines had surrendered to the Allies.

The corps of General St. Priest is arrived at Vitry-sur-Marne. General Jago was at Joinville, with orders to join General St. Priest.

A report has just arrived from General Frimont, detailing the success of an attack he this day made with the cavalry under his orders, upon the rear-guard of the enemy near Vandoeuvres. General Frimont pushed the enemy beyond that town, and afterwards established his head-quarters there.
