

More security, more order never reigned in this capital. Peace and tranquillity, the happy omens, may we hope, of the future regenerated state of Europe, exist here amidst the troops of every nation, in spite of feelings lately of so great hostility.

From his great and exalted situation, from the virtues which adorn his character, the Emperor of Russia has been best able to appreciate the merits of Prince Schwartzenberg. In token of the esteem he bears him, and in estimation of his great services, he has decorated him with the grand Order of St. Andrew, and has presented it in diamonds.

I have the honour to be, &c.

My LORD, Paris, April 7, 1814.

BUONAPARTE having accepted the conditions proposed to him, Marshals Ney and Macdonald, and General Caulincourt, have this day arranged with Prince Schwartzenberg the following line of demarcation, to be observed between the Allied and French armies:

From the Mouth of the Seine, the Allies will occupy the right bank of that river, and in addition, the Southern limits of the Departments—

- 1st. Of the Lower Seine.
- 2d. Of the Oise.
- 3d. Of the Seine and Oise.
- 4th. Of the Seine and Marne.
- 5th. Of the Yonne.
- 6th. Of Côte d'Or.
- 7th. Of the Saone and Loire.
- 8th. Of the Rhone.
- 9th. Of the Isere as far as Mount Cenis.

On the side of Lord Wellington, it has been decided, that the line of demarcation shall be fixed according to the ground occupied by his army, and the one opposed to him, at the moment the couriers now dispatched shall reach him.

I have the honour to be, &c.

BURGHersh, Lieut. Col. 63d Reg.

The Right Honourable the Viscount Castlereagh.
