Earcaflured that the Duke of Savaye will be here in the Spring to confummate his Marriage with the Infanta, and that a Squadron of French Men of War will bring him hither; and in the mean time great preparations are making here for his Highnels's Reception.

Whitehal, Feb. 13. This day Mr. Baron Gregory, Sir John Hoskins, Bar, and Thomas Price, Eiq; waited upon the King in His Bed-Chamber, with an humble Address from the City of Hereford; being introduced by the Right Honourable the Lord Marquis of Worcefter, Lord Lieutenant of the County. His Majetly received them very Graciously, and was pleased to tell them, that He took this Address very kindly, and thanked them for it.

To the Kings most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address of Your Majesties Loyal Subjects, the Mayor, Aldermen, and Citizens, of Your City of Hereford, in Common Council Assembled:

Pardon (Dread Sovereign) this bumble Return of Your molt dutiful Subjects, that so soon with all Devotion, de approach Your Throne, not doubting a gra-cious acceptance from that Prince, who we know is not Severe to the Guilty. We find that repeated Prayers to our God, and reiterated Vows of Allegiance to our good King, are the best Offerings we have to attone Heaven for our Delinquence, or fix our Obedience to the lawful Power fet over is on Earth, and now (Great Sir) the Cause it self deserves, tha we hasten to protest our Innocence, and to disavow that Guilt which bath too deeply affected and blackned the Lives of some of the worst of our Felow Subjects: We have of late seen with just indignation, Regret, and Abburrance, the President, or Model of an Affociation, which begins in presended Piety, and ends in execrable Killany, seems to intend the Prese vation of the Protestant Religion, King, and Go-vernment, an at the same time throughly design to Ruine all, outlivips the Holy Leadue in Prance, outdoes the Solumn League and Covenant in Scotland, nay, even the late Traytors, when warm in Rebellion, glutted with Blood of their Eellow Subjects, and t irsing after that of bis into Sucred Majejly, in their Secred Vow and Covenant (as they call it) never arriv'd at the implety of so borril an Association, all Men are encouraged to come into it, of never so debauch'd Frinciples, except those of the Romith Church: Your Majestics Guards, which were Rais'd and Establish'd to d fend Your Royal Perfon (whom God long Preferve) are still a the Supporters of ABitary Power, when no Prince ever Exercifed less, and Liv'd more by the Rule of the Law, but it is enough that they are a Guth'to Rebellion? hu Koyal Ulightels the Duke of York is to be Excluded the Inberitance of the Crown, and Tour Mujety must consent to it; if You oppose the Exclusion, Tou are to expest the same Measure as his Adherents, to be Subdu'd, Expel'd, and Destroy'd, and who soever shall to ontravene, or oppose the Righteous ends (as they are call'd) of this Affociation, upon any Title whatforver, is to be pursued to Destruction, and for the carrying on of this Pious and Just work (so siled) without any regard to, or notice taken of Your Majesties Sovereign Power, Allegiance is to be Sworn to a pack of our Fellow Subjects, Jubstituted and impower'd to Direst and Govern the People, not only in time of Parliamerts, but invested with an unlimitted Arbitrary Force, even when there are none to Enslave Your Subjects, without Your Leave, and against Tour Assent, and that under the penalty of being Brandod with Perjury, and to leave the Associators no time, or room for Repensance; they are never for Fear or Reward, or respect of Persons or Causes, to recede during Life, that what was Impious in the begin-ning, may prove (if perseuered in) Damnable in the end. The Horrid Popish Plot struck at Tour Life, and our Religion, but the Villanous Association strikes at both these, and the Government too, and under pretence of Excluding a Popish Successor, enters the Subjects into a vow'd Conspiracy against the best of Protessant Princes, and if this succeed, we shall shortly bave no King at all, but in stead thereof, either a fatal Anarchy, or an intollerable Tyranny, and Arbitrary Power exercis'd upon us by our Fellow Subjests, who are all Traytors by the Law, and professed Enemies to the King and Kingdom, as soon as they enter into this Rebellions Affociation: From the due sense we have of such dangerous and horrid Societies, the Actors, Aiders, and Abbettors of the same, we come to repeat our Vows of Allegiance which we have often made, imploring Tour Majesty to believe, that we look upon such pernicious State Projects, and Confederacies, carried on under the pretence of Piety and Religion, to be but Prologues to Rebection, and mannaged to that use by your false Factious and Schismatical Subjects, whom we bope though your Clemency has Pardoned more than once, and beyond their hopes and merit, and advanced some of them (such is the Excellence of your Nature) to the highest employs of Honour, Advantage, and Trust, Tou will never Conside in them more; in this, following the Advice of your Wise Grand-Father, and Murdred Father, and Murdred Fath ther, the taste of whose Blood is yet on their Tongues, and the same base Principles lodg'd in their Hearts: And now having shewed your Majesty what kind of Associstion we Abbor, Detest, and Renounce, we beg leave notwithstanding, to enter into a far different Nature. We do Promise and Vom inviolably to serve your Maje-sty, with our Lives and Fortunes, against all Enemies, whether Popish or Fanatick, and carefully and con-stantly to endeavour the Preservation of your Sacred Person, your Elerrs and Lawful Successors, and the Go-vernment in Church and State; in now by Law Esta-blished; and doubt not but your Mujesty (whom the remotest Princes of the World addresses) living according to Thur own Rule, Your Laws, and confiding in Your most Loyal Jubjects, will in time become the Enury of all Lands, no You are now the Strength, the Joy, and the Glory of Your own, and shall continue what your Royal Progenitors were the Great Umpire, and Arliter of all the known World Tou were Born with a Miracle, You have Lived by mrny, may You to all these and one more, Out-live all the present Generations, and leave that to come in Peace, Plenty, Grandieur, and Happiness. So Pray

Dread Sir, Your Majesties most Obedient, most Loyal and humble Subjects and Servants.
