WHEREAS the time limited by the Order of His Royal Highness the Prince Regent in Council of the twenty-third day of July last, prohibiting, in the name and on the behalf of His Majesty, the transporting into any parts out of this kingdom of any pig iron, bar iron, hemp, pitch, tar, rosin, turpentine, anchors, cables, cordage, masts, yards, bowsprits, oars, oakum, or other naval stores, has expired, and whereas it is judged expedient for His Majesty's service, and the safety of this kingdom, that the said prohibition should be continued for some time longer; His Royal Highness the Prince Regent, in the name and on the behalf of His Majesty and by and with the advice of His Majesty's Privy Council, doth therefore hereby order, require, prohibit, and command, that no person or persons whatsoever do, at any time for the space of six months from the date of this Order, presume to transport into any parts out of this kingdom, any pig iron, bar iron, hemp, pitch, tar, rosin, turpentine, anchors, cables, cordage, masts, yards, bowsprits, oars, oakum, sail-cloth or canvas, or other naval stores (sheet copper excepted), or do ship or lade any pig iron, bar iron, hemp, pitch, tar, rosin, turpentine, anchors, cables, cordage, masts, yards, bowsprits, oars, oakum, sail-cloth or canvas, or other naval stores (sheet copper excepted), on board any ship or vessel, in order to transporting the same into any parts beyond the seas, without leave or permission first being had and obtained from His Majesty or His Privy Council, upon pain of incurring the forfeitures inflicted by an Act, passed in the thirty-third year of His Majesty's reign, intituled, "An Act to enable His Majesty to restrain the exportation of naval stores, and more effectually to prevent the exportation of salt petre, arms, and ammunition, when prohibited by Proclamation, or Order in Council." But it is nevertheless His Royal Highness's pleasure, that nothing herein contained shall extend, or be construed to extend, to any of His Majesty's ships of war, or any other ships or vessels of boats in the service of His Majesty, or employed or freighted by His Majesty's Board of Ordnance, or by the Commissioners of His Majesty's Navy; nor to prevent any ship or vessel from taking or having on board such quantities of naval stores as may be necessary for the use of such ship or vessel during the course of her intended voyage, or by licence from the Lord High Admiral of Great Britain, or the Commissioners of the Admiralty for the time being; nor to the exportation of the said several articles to Ireland, or to His Majesty's yards or garrisons, or to His Majesty's colonies and plantations in America or the West Indies, or to Newfoundland, or to His Majesty's forts and settlements on the coast of Africa, or to the island of Saint Helena, or to the British settlements, or factories in the East Indies; provided that, upon the exportation of any of the said articles for the

be lawful for His Majesty, His heirs, and successors, by and with the advice of His and their Privy Council, to permit, or to authorise the Governors of the said islands and territories, in such manner and under such restrictions as to His Majesty, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, should seem fit, to permit, when the necessity of the case should appear to His Majesty, with the advice of His Privy Council, to require it, from time to time during the present war, and for six months after the ratification of a definitive treaty of peace, the importation into, and the exportation from, any island in the West Indies (in which description the Bahama Islands, and the Bermuda or Somer Islands, are included), or any lands or territories on the Continent of South America to His Majesty belonging, of any such articles, goods, and commodities as should be mentioned in such Order of His Majesty in Council, in any ships or vessels belonging to the subjects of any State in amity with His Majesty, in such manner as His Majesty, His heirs, and successors, by and with the advice aforesaid, should direct; provided such ships or vessels should duly enter into, report, and deliver their respective cargoes, and reload at such ports only, where regular custom-houses should have been established:

Carlton-House, February 24, 1815.

THIS day the Right Honourable the Lord Mayor, the Aldermen, Recorder, Sheriffs, Common Council, and Officers of the City of London waited upon His Royal Highness the Prince Regent with the following Address, which was read by Sir John Silvester, Baronet, Recorder:

To His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The humble, loyal, and dutiful Address of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common Council assembled.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common Council assembled, present ourselves before your Royal Highness to offer our zealous and heartfelt congratulations on the auspicious circumstance of the signature of a Treaty of Peace with the United States of America.

We consider this event as the fortunate and desirable termination of that prolonged series of political calamities which, whatever may have been their causes, or in whatever degree they were unavoidable, have at various periods of their disastrous course filled His Majesty's loyal subjects with anxiety for the welfare of these kingdoms, and with deep affliction for the unavailing slaughters, desolations, and miseries with which they have covered the civilized and Christian world.

We had concluded an arduous struggle against a formidable rival of the power and prosperity of this empire, in a manner creditable to our resources and glorious to His Majesty's arms by sea and land; and as the rupture with the United States of America was but an effect of the mutual hostilities of the pre-existing Belligerents, it was reasonable to hope that peace with America would have been the immediate consequence of the pacification of Europe.

Alive to the honour as well as to the interests of the United Kingdom, we ought not to conceal from your Royal Highness that we should have been far more gratified had the object of the negotiations been sooner accomplished, or had suitable means been employed and promptly exerted for supporting the character, and ensuring the triumphs of the British flag.

Our regrets would, we acknowledge, have been much more poignant, under the circumstances of the great superiority of our means and resources, were it not notorious that our occasional losses in the varied scene of naval hostilities are to be attributed not to any deficiency of decision and energy in the British character, nor to any want of gallantry and perseverance on the part of our naval Commanders and seamen, but to the want of due information as to the force and construction of the American ships of war, and to the inapplicable description of the force employed against them.

We should not have done justice to our feelings had we passed over in silence the topics at which we have thus briefly and reluctantly glanced; but we contemplate with satisfaction the prospect of speedily returning to that state of society which affords free scope to the commercial energies of this great empire, and the approaching renewal of an intercourse with a great, free, and rising people, connected with us by so many ties and sympathies; an intercourse which has been mutually advantageous, and has greatly promoted the power and prosperity of this nation; nor do we view with less pleasure the opportunities which will thus be afforded for diminishing our unexampled expenditure, for the removal of the most galling and debasing of our taxes, such as we hope never again to have occasion to name; and for reforming those abuses which, in a series of protracted conflicts, creep into and deform every State, unless carefully watched and zealously guarded against.

That we may uninterruptedly devote ourselves to the pursuits and enjoy the blessings of peace, and that the Royal House of Brunswick may long reign over a free, happy and united people, is the ardent wish of His Majesty's faithful citizens of London.

Signed, by order of Court,

Henry Woodthorpe.

To which Address His Royal Highness was pleased to return the following most gracious answer:

"I feel great satisfaction in having brought the negotiations with the United States of America to such a result, as affords a fair prospect of the speedy re-establishment of peace with that country.

"Whatever may have been the calamities occasioned by the extended warfare in which we were so long engaged, they are in no respect imputable to Great Britain. It was the conviction that our cause was just, and that we were unavoidably contending for all that was valuable to us as a nation, that produced those extraordinary exertions which, under the favour of Divine Providence, completely frustrated the designs of our enemies, and which will be contemplated with admiration and gratitude by our latest posterity.

"No endeavours will be wanting on my part to promote a friendly intercourse between this kingdom and the countries with which we have been at war, and to secure and improve all the advantages of peace."

They were all received very graciously, and had the honour of kissing the hand of His Royal Highness.

THE following Address has been presented to His Royal Highness the Prince Regent; which Address His Royal Highness was pleased to receive very graciously:

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

WE, the Noblemen, Gentlemen, Clergy and others, Freeholders of the County of Suffolk, beg leave to offer our warmest congratulations to your Royal Highness, and the whole empire, on the termination (through Divine Providence) of the horrors of war, and the restoration of the blessings of peace throughout Europe.

We congratulate your Royal Highness that, during the long and arduous struggle in which we have been engaged, the glory of the British arms has shone with increased lustre, and that the great skill and enterprise of our illustrious Commanders by sea and land, leading on our gallant countrymen to repeated and splendid victories, have at length, in conjunction with His Majesty's powerful Allies, succeeded in securing the only legitimate purposes of all wars, national honour and national independence.

No. 16987.

We congratulate your Royal Highness on the sterling good sense and perseverance with which the people of this happy country have submitted, for so many years, to burthens absolutely necessary but unparalleled in history.

We regard with admiration and respect the moderation displayed by your Royal Highness and His Majesty's magnanimous Allies, who, in the hour of victory, laid aside all ambitious views, intent only on one great object, the restoration of the long lost balance of power in Europe, which alone can serve as a solid foundation for a lasting and honourable peace to this nation, and to the world in general.

We offer our humble thanks to your Royal Highness for the gracious answers you were pleased to return to the addresses of the two Houses of Parliament relative to the slave trade, and at the same time beg leave to express our entire conviction, that every exertion will be used by your Royal Highness, at the ensuing Congress, speedily to abolish that inhuman traffic, by inducing other Powers to follow the laudable example set by this country.

Edwd. Holland, High Sheriff.

Hargreaves and Dugdale, calico-printers) was going from his own house, in their manufactory, situate at Broad Oak, in the parish of Whaley, in the county of Lancaster, towards a place called Daisy-Hill, and was passing through the gate leading from the manufactory, a gun or pistol was fired at him by a man from the corner of the colour shop, on the grounds of Messrs. Hargreaves and Dugdale, the slugs from which gun or pistol penetrated his hat and inflicted two small wounds on his head, and before the man could be seized he made his escape through the manufactory, and eluded the search made for him;

His Royal Highness, for the better apprehending and bringing to justice the person or persons concerned in such atrocious act, is hereby pleased, in the name and on the behalf of His Majesty, to promise His Majesty's most gracious pardon to any one of them (except the person who actually fired such gun or pistol), who shall discover his, her, or their accomplice or accomplices therein, so that he, she, or they may be apprehended and convicted thereof. SIDMOUTH.

And, as a further encouragement, a reward of FIVE HUNDRED POUNDS is hereby offered by the said Messrs. Hargreaves and Dugdale to any person or persons (except as is before excepted) who shall discover his, her, or their accomplice Army, recently under the Command of Field-Marshal His Grace the Duke of Wellington, &c. &c.

PRIZE-MONEY.

THE personal and written applications respecting claims to prize-money for public property captured in Portugal, Spain, and France, have become so numerous as to occasion much trouble and expence, and as these enquiries are daily increasing, public notice to all concerned is given, that no grant has as yet been made for the value of the captures above alluded to; that it is quite unnecessary for the individuals interested to apply to the prize agents to have their names included, as the heads of the respective departments, and commanding officers of corps; will render lists, including the names of all persons entitled to share; and that public notice will be given in the London Gazette, and in the newspapers in England, Scotland, and Ireland, of the time at which the payments will be made, which cannot be for a considerable time to come.
