SATURDAY, APRIL 6, 1816.

THE following Address has been presented to His Royal Highness the Prince Regent; which Address His Royal Highness was pleased to receive very graciously:

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT.

WE, His Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Nobility, Clergy, Gentry, and other Inhabitants of the County of Galway, humbly beg leave to congratulate your Royal Highness upon the glorious events that have happily led to the termination of a war which had so long afflicted and desolated the greater part of the civilized world.

Your Royal Highness was called to the Government of the British Empire, at a period of great depression, not only from the sad visitation of Heaven upon our beloved Sovereign, but from the crisis in which Europe was then placed, by the apparently overwhelming torrent with which the French arms swept away the ancient land marks, and overturned or menaced the long established dynasties of Europe.

It was said by one of the greatest of our Statesmen, one of the sincerest of our Patriots, that the war should be prosecuted until its object was attained, "indemnity for the past, security for the future." We owe it to the discernment of your Royal Highness, to have continued in your Councils, men, who acting upon that firm principle, have by their wisdom and perseverance, favoured by Divine Providence, accomplished that object, so desirable to the empire.

We view with pride and satisfaction, the Parliamentary grants and public memorials, that will manifest to future ages, the fervour of national gratitude to those brave Commanders who led on our gallant armies to so many splendid victories; and we hope it is not presumptuous to suggest a wish, that some adequate marks of their country's approbation may also distinguish the men, to whose counsels must be ascribed so considerable a share in bringing about events, at this moment great in their effect, and likely in their consequences to be durable.

Richard Rathborne, Sheriff.
