India-Board, Whitehall, November 8, 1816.

A DISPATCH, dated Fort William, 30th of March 1816, has been received at the East India-House from the Governor-General in Council, with inclosures, of which the following are extracts and copies :

THE early receipt by your Honourable Committee, of the important intelligence of the conclusion of peace with the State of Nepaul, has appeared to us to be of such importance as to induce us to dispatch the Honourable Company's cruizer Malabar to England without delay, for the express purpose of conveying that intelligence.

We have already, in our dispatch of the 11th instant, expressed our high sense of the merits and services of Sir David Ochterlony, and the gallantry, spirit and zeal of the troops under his command; we now solicit the attention of your Honourable Committee to a General Order, published by the Governor-General in Council, on the 20th instant, in which we have promulgated to the army those sentiments of applause and admiration, which the conduct of that distinguished officer, and the forces acting under his orders, has so justly excited; we have deemed it proper to mark our peculiar sense of the zeal, bravery and endurance, under considerable privations, manifested by the native troops, in a service so singularly foreign to
