TUESDAY, MARCH 18, 1817.

THE following Addresses have been presented to His Royal Highness the Prince Regent; which Addresses His Royal Highness was pleased to receive very graciously:

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT.

WE, His Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Archbishop, the Dean and Chapter of the Cathedral and Metropolitan Church, and the Archdeacon and Clergy of the Diocese of Canterbury, approach your Royal Highness with deep impressions of gratitude to God, for the protection recently vouchsafed to your Royal Person, from the base and daring assaults of a lawless multitude.

We cannot but contemplate this outrage with additional abhorrence, when we recollect that the moment chosen for it, was that, in which your Royal Highness was pleased to exercise in Person, the highest function of your Royal station.

To the wisdom of Parliament we look with confidence, for the adoption of such measures as, under the blessing of God, may tend to alleviate, and ultimately to remove the various difficulties with which every class of His Majesty's subjects has to contend. The daring outrage therefore, to which your Royal Highness was exposed on your return from the Parliament House, had it not put to hazard the safety of your Royal Highness's Person, in which the united kingdom has a deep and common interest, would doubtless have merited and received the indignant reprobation of every sincere friend to the British Constitution.

We pray God to continue his protection to your Royal Highness's Person, and, as at all times, so more especially under the awful circumstances of the present time, to aid and direct your Royal Highness's counsels, by the influence of his Holy Spirit.

[Transmitted by His Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury, and presented by Viscount Sidmouth.]

To His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom.

WE, His Majesty's loyal subjects, the Bailiff, Aldermen, Common Council, and Burgesses of the Borough of New Radnor, within the principality of Wales, beg leave most dutifully to express our utter abhorrence of the late atrocious attack upon the Person of your Royal Highness, on the day of the opening of the present Sessions of Parliament, when exercising the sacred duties of the Crown, and fulfilling a most important branch of the royal functions.

As faithful subjects, we tender our respectful assurances of unabated attachment to our beloved Sovereign, and his illustrious Family, and in doing so, are actuated by our feelings, as well as our duty; and upon all occasions shall be ready to rally round his Throne, being fully impressed with the blessings we enjoy, under our excellent Constitution; and desirous, to the utmost of our power, to check and subdue any turbulent spirit of discontent, which may tend to endanger the same.

Feeling, however, as we most sensibly do, in common with our fellow subjects, the unexampled and severe pressure which the country at present labours under, we entertain a confident hope, that such a system of strict economy and retrenchment, as is imperiously called for, in the different branches of the expenditure, will be adopted; and such a one as is most likely not only to revive the national credit, but to ensure public confidence, and restore the country to its former prosperity.

Given under the common Seal of this Corporation, and Signed at the request, and on behalf of the Meeting, this 28th day of February 1817.

Thomas Duggan, Junr. Bailiff.

[Transmitted by R. Price, Esq. and presented by Viscount Sidmouth.]

To His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The dutiful and loyal Address of the Mayor, Commonalty, and others of the Borough of Petersfield.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, Commonalty, and others of the Borough of Petersfield, humbly beg leave to offer to your Royal Highness the assurances of our strongest attachment to your Royal Highness and His Majesty's Royal House.

Also, we feel it a duty to ourselves and our country, to express our abhorrence of the desperate and traitorous outrage committed against your Royal Highness, and, in your Person, against the Royal power and authority, on your Highness's return from opening the present Session of Parliament.

And further, we are bound by the most sacred obligations, to declare our determination to support, as far as we can, the just exercise of the authority of Government, and to maintain the Constitution as by law established.

[Transmitted by Col. Hilton Jolliffe, M. P. and presented by Viscount Sidmouth.]

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, Deputy Recorder, Aldermen, and Burgesses of the Burgh of Kirkby in Kendal, in the County of Westmorland, beg leave to approach your Royal Highness, with our sincere congratulations on your providential escape from the atrocious and traitorous outrage lately offered to your Royal Person, whilst returning from exercising one of the highest functions of Sovereignty.

We humbly offer to your Royal Highness the assurance of our firm attachment to your Person and Government, and of our utter abhorrence and detestation of the malignant disposition manifested in the late daring violation of the laws, alike injurious to the Majesty of the Throne and to the dignity of Parliament.

And we publicly and solemnly declare our determined resolution of uniting with the rest of His Majesty's faithful subjects, in defending to the utmost of our power the sacred Person and Government of your Royal Highness, and in protecting our glorious Constitution—a Constitution the most perfect that has ever fallen to the lot of any people.

Given under the common Seal of the Burgh of Kirkby in Kendal, this 10th day of March 1817.
Smith Wilson, Mayor.

[Transmitted by R. Howard, Esq. the Recorder of Kendal, and presented by Viscount Sidmouth.]

To His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The humble and dutiful Address of the Inhabitants of Runcorn, in the County of Chester.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, Inhabitants of Runcorn, in the County of Cheshire, humbly beg leave to approach your Royal Highness, and to express our abhorrence and detestation of the daring and treasonable attack which has been made on your Royal Highness, upon your return from opening the Session of Parliament. We lament, in common with all His Majesty's faithful subjects, that any person should be found capable of so flagitious an outrage, deeply affecting the personal safety of your Royal Highness, the dignity of Parliament, and the honour of the whole nation.

We further beg leave humbly to assure your Royal Highness, that we view with disgust the systematic endeavours which are daily practised by the evil-disposed, to poison the minds of the lower classes of the community for the vilest purposes.

For ourselves, collectively and individually, we are determined to use our utmost endeavours, to preserve inviolate our glorious Constitution, to maintain the respect due to the laws, and to your Royal Highness's Person and authority.

[Transmitted by W. Egerton and D. Davenport, Esqrs, M. P. and presented by Viscount Sidmouth.]

To the PRINCE REGENT.

The loyal and dutiful Address of the Associate Presbytery of Edinburgh.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Ministers and Elders of the Associate Presbytery of Edinburgh, (being a party of that body of Protestants in Scotland, commonly called Burgher Seceders,) assembled in our monthly meeting, beg to be permitted humbly to approach your Royal Highness, with the expression of our unfeigned surprise and grief, at the outrageous insults lately offered to your Royal Highness, by an ignorant and furious rabble; and of our indignation, at the daring assault made on your sacred Person, and, through your Royal Highness, on the Constitution, laws and government of our great and happy country; and at the same time of our warmest congratulations on the providential escape of your Royal Highness, from the perils by which you were surrounded and threatened.

Esteeming highly our distinguished civil and religious liberties and privileges as Britons, we give thanks to God the Father of Mercies, for that excellent Constitution of Government, by which these are guaranteed to us and to our fellow subjects—we shall not cease to pray that the Great Ruler of All, may defeat every attempt of ignorance or wickedness, to subvert the British Constitution, and to involve our dear country in confusion and misery; that He may cause our civil and religious privileges to remain unimpaired, shedding the richest blessings on our remotest posterity, and that he may in his great goodness long preserve your Royal Highness, to reign over a free, a loyal and a happy people, and make you an eminent blessing to all nations.

Signed in our presence and by our appointment, at Edinburgh, this 4th day of March 1817.

James Peddie, Moderator,

[Transmitted by the Rev. Dr. Hale, and presented by Viscount Sidmouth.]

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

SIR,

WE, His Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Master, Officers, and Brethren of the Loyal Lodge of Free and accepted Masons, at Barnstaple, in the County of Devon, in Lodge assembled, most respectfully approach your Royal Highness, to express our abhorrence of the late outrageous attack on your Royal Highness's Person, whilst returning from the performance of one of the most important acts of the Kingly office, and we do most sincerely, (not only as the particular objects of your Royal Highness's patronage, but as subjects of these realms,) congratulate your Royal Highness, that it was not productive of injurious consequences.

Whilst we lament the insult offered to your Royal Highness, we beg most earnestly to assure you of our esteem and veneration for the British Constitution, and of our firm determination to support it against all traitorous conspiracies whatsoever; and in offering your Royal Highness these assurances, we are convinced that we speak the sense of every class of His Majesty's subjects residing in this town and neighbourhood, who, like ourselves, are impressed with a zealous attachment to that Constitution, and a steady resolution to exert the most strenuous endeavours in its support.

The humble and dutiful Address of the Provost, Magistrates, Town Council, and other Inhabitants of the Burgh of Montrose.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's most faithful and loyal subjects, the Provost, Magistrates, Town Council, and other Inhabitants of the Burgh of Montrose, beg leave humbly to offer the unfeigned expression of our abhorrence and detestation, of the late disgraceful and treasonable attack on your Royal Highness's Person—deeply sensible of the Blessings we enjoy under our glorious Constitution, we view with hatred and disgust every attempt of wicked and factious men, to overthrow or to alter it, and we reflect with heartfelt gratitude, on the mild and paternal sway of the Monarchs of your Royal Highness's august House, and on the purity with which, under them, the laws have been administered. That your Royal Highness may be long preserved to continue these blessings, to a free, a grateful, and a loyal people, is the earnest prayer of His Majesty's most faithful subjects, and your Royal Highness's most devoted servants.

[Transmitted by Charles Barclay, Esq. and presented by Viscount Sidmouth.]

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The humble Address of the Presbytery of Stranraer.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, the Ministers and Members of the Presbytery of Stranraer, now met in Presbytery, beg leave to approach your Royal Highness with sentiments of sincere loyalty and attachment to your Person and Government, and to express our ardent wishes that the blessings we have derived from your administration, may be long continued to us.

Feeling as we do, the security and comfort which we enjoy under our present liberal Constitution, we cannot refrain from expressing our surprise and indignation against those misguided and unworthy citizens who are attempting to disturb it, but especially we wish to express our decided abhorrence and detestation, of the late atrocious attempt which has been made against the person of your Royal Highness, when returning from discharging your high official duty in Parliament, as representing the Sovereign of these United Kingdoms.

Friends as we are, to order and good Government, these sentiments we not only profess for ourselves, but will always endeavour to inculcate and maintain, upon the minds of the people who are intrusted to our charge in this extensive district.

That your Royal Highness may long live to discharge your great public duties, and to countenance those patriotic sacrifices which at the present crisis seem so necessary, and of which you have set so noble an example in your own Person, is the sincere wish of, may it please your Royal Highness, your affectionate and loyal subjects.

John Mackenzie, D. D. Moderator, P. T. Stranraer, March 10, 1817.

Arthur Thistlewood is about forty-five years of age, five feet eleven inches high, has a sallow complexion, long visage, dark hair (a little grey), small whiskers, dark hasle eyes, and arched eyebrows, a wide mouth, and a good set of teeth, has a scar under his right jaw, is slender made, walks very upright, and has much the appearance of a military man; was born in Lincolnshire, and apprenticed to an apothecary at Newark, and has been a lieutenant in the army; he usually wore a French grey coloured coat, buff waistcoat, grey coloured Wellington pantaloons, with Hessian boots under them, and at times a dark brown great coat.

AT the Court at Carlton-House, the 1st of March 1817,

PRESENT,

His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT in Council.

WHEREAS by an Act, passed in the present session of Parliament, intituled "An Act to continue and extend the provisions of an Act, of the forty-ninth year of His present Majesty, for regulating the trade and commerce to and from the Cape of Good Hope, until the fifth day of July one thousand eight hundred and twenty; and also for regulating the trade of the "Island of Mauritius;" His Majesty is authorised, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, by any Order or Orders to be issued from time to time, to give such directions, and make such regulations touching the trade and commerce to and from all islands, colonies, or places, and the territories and dependencies thereof, to His Majesty belonging or in His possession, in Africa, or Asia to the eastward of the Cape of Good Hope (excepting only the possessions of the East India Company), as to His Majesty, in Council, shall appear most expedient and salutary, any thing contained in an Act, passed in the twelfth year of the reign of His Majesty King Charles the Second, intituled "An Act for the encouraging and increasing of shipping and navigation," or in an Act, passed in the seventh and eighth years of the reign of His Majesty King William the Third, intituled "An Act for preventing frauds, and regulating abuses in the plantation trade," or any other Act or Acts of Parliament now in force, relating to His Majesty's colonies and plantations, or any other Act or Acts of Parliament, law, usage or custom to the contrary in any wise notwithstanding: and whereas on the night of the twenty-fifth of September last, a dreadful fire broke out in the town of Port Lewis, in the Island of Mauritius, which totally destroyed the chief part of that town, together with a great mass of provisions and merchandise intended for the consumption and trade of its inhabitants, whereby a great number of families were reduced to extreme indigence, and left without a home; in consequence of which dreadful calamity the Governor of the said Island found himself compelled to open the ports of the Island to foreign vessels, in order to afford the speediest relief of which the case would admit, and thereby to save His Majesty's subjects residing in that colony from the greatest extremity of distress; and whereas it is expedient that facilities should in consequence be granted to the trade of the Island of Mauritius, for a limited time, with the view of giving still further relief to its suffering inhabitants; His Royal Highness the Prince Regent, in the name and on the behalf of His Majesty, and by and with the advice of His Majesty's Privy Council, is pleased to order, and it is hereby ordered, that all vessels, whether British or foreign vessels belonging to countries in amity with His Majesty, arriving at any port of the Island of Mauritius, or its dependencies, within twelve months from the date of this present Order, from any country in amity with His Majesty, laden with any articles, the growth, production, or manufacture of any such country, excepting all articles composed of cotton, iron, steel, or wool of foreign manufacture, shall be permitted to enter and land their cargoes, and dispose of the same, in the said ports; provided always, that such articles, when imported in a foreign ship, shall pay a duty of two per cent. ad valorem, over and above what may be payable upon similar goods when imported in a British ship.

And it is further ordered, that every such vessel, arriving as aforesaid, shall be permitted to export a cargo, consisting of any articles of the growth, produce, or manufacture of the Island of Mauritius, or its dependencies, or of any other articles which shall have been legally imported there; and that all such articles so exported in foreign vessels, shall in like manner be subject to a duty of two per cent. ad valorem, over and above the duties (if any) which shall be payable on similar articles when exported from the Mauritius, or its dependencies, in British vessels.

It is, however, hereby further ordered and declared, that no foreign vessel, allowed by the terms of this Order to export a cargo from the Island of Mauritius, or its dependencies, shall be permitted to export such cargo to any of His Majesty's possessions. But that every British vessel which shall during the continuance of this present Order, have imported a cargo into any port of the said Island of Mauritius, or its dependencies, either from the United Kingdom, or from any other place, shall be permitted to carry back a return cargo, consisting of the articles aforesaid, to any place whatever, either belonging to His Majesty, or to any state in amity with His Majesty. And the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury, and the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, are to give the necessary directions herein as to them may respectively appertain.

the centre of the red jack, instead of the pendant and ensign appointed by the Royal Proclamations, bearing date the eighteenth December one thousand seven hundred and two, and first January one thousand eight hundred and one, to be worn by ships and vessels employed for His Majesty's service by the Commissioners for Customs and Excise.

His Royal Highness the Prince Regent having taken the said Memorial into consideration, was pleased, in the name and on the behalf of His Majesty, and by and with the advice of His Majesty's Privy Council, to approve of what is therein proposed; and doth hereby direct and appoint, that all such ships and vessels as are or may be employed in the prevention of smuggling, under the authority of the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, or that of the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury, or the Commissioners of the Customs or Excise, shall be allowed to wear a pendant with a red field, having a regal crown described thereon, at the upper part next the mast; and for an ensign, a red jack, with a union jack in a canton at the upper corner thereof next the staff, and with a regal crown described in the centre of the red jack, instead of the pendant and ensign appointed by the Royal Proclamations, bearing date the eighteenth December one thousand seven hundred and two, and first January one thousand eight hundred and one, to be worn by ships and vessels employed for His Majesty's service by the Commissioners for Customs and Excise.
