TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1818.

THE following Addresses have been presented to His Royal Highness the Prince Regent; which Addresses His Royal Highness was pleased to receive very graciously:

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

WE, the Gentlemen, Clergy, and Freeholders of the County of Cardigan, assembled at a meeting held at the Town-Hall, in the Town of Aberystwith, in the said county, this 14th day of January 1818, beg leave to present to your Royal Highness our respectful and sincere condolence on the death of your royal daughter, Charlotte Augusta, our beloved Princess; the magnitude of our loss and poignancy of our regret may be estimated by the voice of lamentation which has echoed throughout the whole empire; the nation mourns her not only as a future Queen, whose high and shining talents promised prosperity to her subjects, but also as a bright example of piety, charity, and all the virtues and accomplishments which adorn a private life, which it must afford the greatest comfort to your Royal Highness to reflect has been the result of the religious and princely education you bestowed upon her.

May Divine Providence, whose ways are inscrutable as just, mercifully support your Royal Highness under your trials, and ever prosper your Government, is our ardent wish and prayer.

Signed, at the request and on the behalf of the meeting, W. E. Powell, Chirman.

[Transmitted by W. E. Powell, Esq. M. P. and presented by Viscount Sidmouth.]

To His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The humble Address of the Mayor, Recorder, Aldermen, Sheriff, and Common Council of Newcastle-upon-Tyne.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, Recorder, Aldermen, Sheriff, and Common Council of Newcastle-upon-Tyne, humbly beg leave to offer to your Royal Highness our heartfelt tribute of condolence on the premature and ever-to-be-lamented death of Her late Royal Highness the Princess Charlotte Augusta.

In deepest sorrow, we deplore that fatal event which has deprived your Royal Highness of an only child, and snatched from the view of an admiring people, a perfect and impressive example of domestic affection, combined with universal benevolence and the purest virtue.

We fervently pray, that it may please Divine Providence to assuage the grief of this afflicted nation, by long preserving to us the blessing of your Royal Highness's life, and by continuing to the British empire that high pre-eminence and prosperity which it has attained under the reign of our revered Sovereign, and which we trust will be enjoyed by our latest posterity, under the auspicious government of successive generations of His Majesty's illustrious Family.

Given under the seal of our Corporation, this 27th day of November 1817, Robert Clayton, Mayor.

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The loyal and affectionate Address of the Master, Wardens, and Brethren of the St. John's Lodge of Freemasons at Inveraray, in the Shire of Argyll.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's most loyal and faithful subjects, the Master, Wardens, and Brethren of the St. John's Lodge of Freemasons at Inveraray, in the Shire of Argyll, cannot, in justice to our feelings, refrain from approaching your Royal Highness, the Patron of our most ancient Order, to express our sentiments of sincere sympathy and profound grief, for the loss which you and the universal British people have sustained in the unexpected and untimely death of your daughter, the Princess Charlotte Augusta.

While we bow in humble acquiescence to the unsearchable decrees of Him who ruleth over all, we must long continue to feel and to deplore that calamitous event which has converted every dwelling in the land into an house of mourning, which has crushed to the dust all a father's hope, and all a nation's pride.

But a ray of divine comfort breaks in upon the depth of our distress; we call to mind the wisdom and the mercy of our God, and we trust that He, who in times past did so many wonderful things for our fathers and for our country, will still raise out of your illustrious House a line of distinguished Princes to sway the sceptre of our land to the latest posterity over a free and a loyal people.

That Almighty God would encompass your Royal Highness and every member of your Family with His choicest blessings, that he would soothe your sorrows with those consolations of religion which this world, with all its wisdom and with all its grandeur, cannot supply, and that He would guide you in those paths which lead to true glory on earth and to endless felicity in Heaven, is the prayer of, may it please your Royal Highness, His Majesty's most loyal and most faithful subjects, the Master, Wardens, and Brethren of the Lodge of Free Masons at Inveraray, in the Shire of Argyll.

Done in our Lodge this 29th day of December 1817, and signed in our name and at our appointment, by Argyll, R. W. M. St. John's Lodge of Freemasons, Inveraray.

[Transmitted by the Duke of Argyll, and presented by Viscount Sidmouth.]

THE following Addresses have been presented to His Serene Highness the Prince Leopold of Saxe Cobourg; which Addresses His Serene Highness was pleased to receive very graciously:

To His Serene Highness Leopold Prince of Saxe Cobourg.

May it please your Serene Highness,

WE, the Gentlemen, Clergy, and Freeholders of the County of Cardigan, assembled at a Meeting held at the Town-Hall in the Town of Aberystwith, in the said County, this 14th day of January 1818, impressed with sentiments of heartfelt grief which has filled the breasts of every individual on the recent national calamity, humbly beg to assure your Serene Highness we participate in your sorrow for the loss of her, who was at once the nation's pride and hope, and all the consolation our sincere sympathy can convey we humbly offer.

Allow us also to express the sentiments of admiration and regard your many virtues in public as well as private life call forth, particularly for the unremitting attention and kindness to our lamented and beloved Princess, which will ever endear you to this nation.

That the same Omnipotent Power which inflicted the severe blow, may soften and alleviate the affliction it has occasioned, and restore your Serene Highness to health and a comparative state of happiness, is our ardent prayer.

Signed at the request and on the behalf of the Meeting,
W. E. Powell, Chairman.

[Transmitted by W. E. Powell, Esq. M. P. and presented by Sir Robert Gardiner.]

To His Serene Highness Prince Leopold of Saxe-Cobourg.

WE, the Nobility, Gentlemen, Clergy, and Freeholders of the County of Rutland, beg leave to express to your Serene Highness our sentiments of sincere condolence and unfeigned sorrow, on the irreparable loss your Serene Highness has experienced by the death of your amiable and ever-to-be-lamented consort.

We had cherished the hope of your enjoyment of a long series of domestic happiness, and we had fondly looked to a succession of virtuous and patriotic Sovereigns; the inscrutable wisdom of Providence has disappointed these hopes, and it is our duty to submit, humbly praying the Almighty to support you under this severe affliction.

We beg to assure your Serene Highness, that we shall ever feel the most sincere interest in your future happiness.

Signed at the request of a County Meeting, this 17th day of January 1818, Thomas Falkner Baines, High Sheriff.

[Transmitted by the Earl of Winchelsea, G. K. and presented by Sir Robert Gardiner.]

To His Serene Highness Prince Leopold of Saxe-Cobourg.

May it please your Serene Highness,

THE Highland Society of Scotland, incorporated by Royal Charter, assembled in a General Meeting, beg leave to lay before your Serene Highness their sincere sympathy and condolence on the late most severe and heart-rending affliction with which your Serene Highness has been visited. They would not intrude on the sacredness of your sorrow with common place topics of consolation, but they cannot fail to contemplate with satisfaction that best source of comfort which your Serene Highness possesses, in the piety and virtue which eminently distinguish your character, and in the assurance of that esteem, respect, and attachment, which those excellent qualities have impressed on the nation ever since your Serene Highness has resided among us.

Sealed with the seal of the Society, and signed in its name by Buccleuch, &c. President H. S. S.

Edinburgh, January 13, 1818.

[Transmitted by the Duke of Buccleuch, and presented by Sir Robert Gardiner.]

To His Serene Highness Leopold Prince of Saxe-Cobourg Saalfeld, &c. &c. &c.

WE, the London Society of the Sons of Morven, instituted for the preservation of the Celtic or Gaelic Language, as spoken in the Highlands of Scotland, humbly beg leave to express our condolence on the heart-rending domestic and public calamity which has bereaved your Serene Highness of the dearest treasure, linked with the fondest hope, that can bless the soul of man, and deprived His Royal Highness the Prince Regent and the nation, of the fairest expectations that were ever cherished by a sympathizing, loyal, and patriotic people.

While we fondly muse on the amiable life of our beloved Princess, our admiration is as unbounded as our regret is poignant; and while we contemplate her angelic disposition, dignified affability, and praiseworthy benevolence, calling for the tear of joy from the gratitude of the poor, and shedding a ray of glory round their hallowed habitations, there is no feature in her memorable life more pleasing, than the discernment that bestowed on you the fairest hand of beauty, and the purest heart of royalty.

To dwell on the virtues of departed worth, may be soothing to the anguished heart of affection; but conscious that any praise of ours can add nothing to her excellence, and fearing we might wound where we would apply balm, we shall pray the Almighty Disposer of events to afford that consolation which is most grateful to the melancholy mind of affliction; and that He may long spare your Serene Highness in the bosom of a devoted people, to reflect the many virtues of your beloved, incomparable, and universally-lamented consort.

[Transmitted by the Secretary, Malcolm Currie, Esq. and presented by Sir Robert Gardiner.]

To His Serene Highness Prince Leopold of Saxe Cobourg.

The affectionate Address of the Master, Wardens, and Brethren of the Lodge of Freemasons at Inveraray, in the Shire of Argyll.

May it please your Serene Highness,

WE, the Master, Wardens, and Brethren of the St. John's Lodge of Freemasons at Inveraray, in the Shire of Argyll, No. 45 on the Registry of the Grand Lodge of Scotland, humbly beg leave to approach your Serene Highness with assurances of our deepest sympathy and sincerest condolence on the recent loss of the amiable and ever-to-be-lamented object of your dearest affections, the Princess Charlotte of Wales.

And we offer this humble tribute, not in the spirit of mere form or of common courtesy, but because we deeply feel and lament that melancholy event, which, while it has blasted your fondest hopes, has blighted the fairest prospect of the British nation. Yet, yielding with devout resignation to the inscrutable decrees of Heaven, we feel ourselves called upon by the voice of duty, as well as by the dictates of inclination, fervently to pray, that your Serene Highness may be effectually solaced and supported under your present most trying affliction; and that you may long live among the British people, enjoying that respect and felicity which your distinguished qualities and acknowledged virtues so eminently deserve.

WE, His Majesty's loyal and dutiful subjects, the Provost, Magistrates, and Town Councillors of the Royal Burgh of Inverkeithing, beg leave to offer to your Serene Highness our unfeigned sympathy and condolence on that late severe dispensation of Providence, which has deprived the nation of the illustrious object of their future hopes, and your Serene Highness of a most amiable wife.

We are anxious to assure your Serene Highness, that we deeply participate in the general sorrow which the melancholy event has excited; and it is our most fervent prayer, that time may alleviate the grief of your Serene Highness.
