MR. HENRY KELWAY'S RELATIONS.

Plymouth, April 3, 1818.

Whereas, Henry Kelway, a native of Saltash, in Cornwall, but late of Plymouth, Apothecary, deceased, by his will, gave a considerable real and personal estate to Trustees, who were to employ the produce thereof in educating, in Plymouth, two or more children, boys or girls, of Testator's relations, and in providing for them schooling, diet, clothing, and books, till fit to be placed out, who are then to be sent abroad to trades or professions, and maintained till 24, if boys, or if girls, till they attain that age, or sooner marry; and whereas, the next of kin, and those of Mr. Kelway's surname, are to be preferred, if equal in merit, of which the Trustees are to be the judges, and if no relations, or a competent number of them, apply, the Trustees are in like manner to educate some proper objects of the Towns of Plymouth or Saltash.

This Trust having been established by decree in Chancery, the Trustees do hereby give notice, that such relations of Mr. Kelway as are willing to have the benefit of this Trust,
