THE following Addresses, having been transmitted to Viscount Sidmouth, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, by the several persons whose names are respectively subjoined to each Address, have been presented by His Lordship to His Royal Highness the Prince Regent, who was pleased to receive the same very graciously:

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales,
 REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Nobility, Clergy, Gentlemen, and Freeholders of the County of Tipperary, are here assembled in the discharge of a painful duty, and for the purpose of offering to your Royal Highness our humble assurances that we deeply feel the full pressure of that afflicting dispensation of the Heavenly Disposer of all human events, which has taken from amongst us your Royal Highness's august Mother, the Partner of the Throne of our afflicted Monarch, our late excellent and lamented Queen.

Upon the merits of the distinguished dead, surviving affection and respect delight to rest with melancholy satisfaction; and what shall ever efface from the recollections of a grateful people the public and the private virtues of the illustrious person who has but just now ceased to run her bright course of more than half a century in the exemplary discharge of all the duties of domestic life, and before the purity of whose uncontaminated Court the dignity of the female character had, at all times, stood erect, and pollution never dared to raise its unhallowed head.

Such are the genuine impressions which this calamity has awakened in the minds of us, your Royal Father's faithful subjects, to your own own deeply wounded feelings, it will not fail to administer the best and purest consolation, that your Royal Highness is enabled to call to your recollection with what persevering and affectionate solicitude your Royal Highness had attended the sick bed of your suffering Parent, and that you did not desert the sad and interesting duty which you had imposed upon yourself, till you had seen the mortal remains of the venerable object of the public sorrows, and of your Royal Highness's tenderest and most respectful remembrances, deposited in the silent tomb.

Nath. Taylor, Chairman, High Sheriff of the County of Tipperary.

Cashell, December 31, 1818.

[Transmitted by His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, and presented by Viscount Sidmouth.]

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, the President and Council, and the rest of the Academicians and Associates of the Royal Academy, humbly beg leave to approach your Royal Highness, with the deepest sentiments of condolence, on the occasion of your Royal Highness's recent affliction.

The demise of Her late Majesty, our Gracious Queen, has spread a just and general sorrow throughout all ranks of the United Kingdom; but the remembrance of those virtues by which she dignified her exalted station will ever live in the hearts of a loyal people.

Bound to your Royal House by every tie of gratitude and affection, permit us respectfully to assure your Royal Highness that the Royal Academy is impressed with a profound sense of the irreparable loss which your Royal Highness has sustained in this mournful event.

That the Almighty may support your Royal Highness under this afflicting Dispensation, and compensate, as far as may be, so severe a calamity by every blessing which this life can afford, is the fervent prayer of your Royal Highness's most dutiful and most devoted servants, the President and Council, and the rest of the Academicians and Associates of the Royal Academy.

Benjamin West, President.

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

WE, His Majesty's loyal subjects, the Bishop, Dean and Chapter, Archdeacons, and Parochial Clergy of the Diocese of Chichester, beg leave to approach your Royal Person, and to offer our respectful condolences on the death of your venerable and excellent Mother Her late Majesty Queen Charlotte.

During a long life your Royal Mother was eminently distinguished for those virtues which add lustre and dignity even to the highest condition: her deportment as a Queen, a Wife, a Mother, and a Christian, commanded the admiration of every order of the community; it was her constant endeavour to promote the interests of morality by her influence and example; and her respect for the duties and attachment to the truths of our holy religion, were sincere and invariable. These are circumstances which, while they impress us with unfeigned veneration for the memory of Her late Majesty, will be the best sources of consolation to your Royal Highness, and your august Family under the loss which you have sustained.

That your life may be long preserved a blessing to your Family, and to the Church and Kingdom, is the prayer of your Royal Highness's dutiful and faithful servants, the Bishop, Dean and Chapter, Archdeacons, and Parochial Clergy of the Diocese of Chichester.

J. Cicest.

[Transmitted by the Bishop, and presented by Viscount Sidmouth.]

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's loyal and affectionate subjects, the Bishop, Archdeacons, and Clergy of the Diocese of Durham, humbly entreat permission to offer to your Royal Highness the tribute of our sincere participation in the general affliction, occasioned by the decease of Her Majesty, our late venerable and gracious Queen, and your Royal Highness's illustrious Parent.

Her Majesty's diligent observance of those religious precepts, which secure the happiness of families and nations, and her constant cultivation of every virtue that exalts the human character—combined with the deep-rooted, active, and steady principles of our beloved Monarch, became signally instrumental, under the direction of Divine Providence, in preserving our happy Constitution from the lawless attempts which debilitated all the Governments of Europe, and utterly destroyed many of them.

A perseverance, thus encouraged, prepared the means by which, in God's own good time, it became the glory of your Royal Highness's auspicious Regency, to reanimate the ardour of the nations of Europe, and lead them on to the complete overthrow of despotic tyranny, and to achieve a blessed restoration of Religion, social order, peace and prosperity throughout the Christian world.

But though the consideration of the eminent virtues of our late gracious Queen, and of the inestimable benefits which the world has derived from her bright example, must be allowed to aggravate our sorrow for her departure, yet, is it, on the other hand, our bounden duty not to neglect the sources of comfort, and motives of resignation, which spring from the same consideration, in the confident assurance which it gives us of her supreme felicity in that better world, to which, we humbly trust, she is elevated.

Accept then, gracious Prince, the testimony of these our sentiments, as pledges of our loyal attachment to your Royal Highness, and to His Majesty's Person and Government: and may the Omnipotent Legislator, who has promised length of days and stability of possession, as the peculiar rewards of filial piety, make your Royal Highness's days long and prosperous, in that highly favoured land which his Providence has given you; that you may secure it's many blessings by the wisdom of your counsels, by the steady vigour of your Government, and by your Royal Highness's patriotic and unremitting zeal for the happiness of His Majesty's loving subjects, founded on the preservation of their rights and liberties, as the most precious jewel of the British Diadem.

Shute, Dunelm.

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's loyal and dutiful subjects, the Gentry, Clergy, and Freeholders of the County of Radnor, beg to approach your Royal Highness with an expression of our deep and sincere sorrow, at the event which has involved your Royal Highness and the nation at large in one common affliction.

We cannot however but feel grateful to Providence that the life of Her late Most Excellent Majesty was so long spared, to afford to the world a bright example of the practice of every virtue which adorns the female character, and of the performance of every duty connected with her exalted station.

Though the loss your Royal Highness has sustained is irreparable, we presume to think, Royal Sir, it will hereafter afford you some consolation to reflect on the exemplary and dutiful attention with which your Royal Highness, during a long and painful illness, watched the late Queen, and we assure ourselves that when history shall record the virtues of the mother, she will not omit to dwell on the filial piety of the son.

We beg to repeat, we profoundly lament the loss of her late Majesty; for we are sincerely convinced that the habitual exercise of great virtues, in the most exalted ranks of society, tends essentially to promote public morals and consolidate public happiness; and we fervently pray the Supreme Disposer of human events continually to bestow on your Royal Highness the choicest blessings this world affords.

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT.

WE, His Majesty's faithful subjects, the Nobility, Gentry, Clergy, and Freeholders of the County of Bedford, beg leave to offer to your Royal Highness our sincere condolence, and to express our cordial sympathy with the grief which your Royal Highness must experience at the loss of Her late Majesty.

We feel deeply sensible of the benefits which have resulted from the virtue and piety, so eminently displayed in the character of Her Majesty; and are convinced that the example held forth in her exalted station has conduced essentially to the best interests both of public and domestic life.

Your Royal Highness's sorrow will, we trust, be alleviated by the consciousness that every aid which human skill could offer, and every attention which filial tenderness could dictate, were afforded to the last moments of your illustrious Parent.

We beg your Royal Highness to be assured, that a feeling of earnest attachment to our afflicted Sovereign and his family, and a hope that your Royal Highness may long be spared to a loyal and affectionate people are strongly impressed upon the minds of His Majesty's dutiful subjects of the county of Bedford.

Signed, at the request and on the behalf of the Meeting,
John Pedley, Sheriff.

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

WE, His Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Nobility, Clergy, and Freeholders of the County of Devon, entreat your Royal Highness's permission most respectfully to express our deep and heartfelt sorrow at the event which has recently involved your illustrious House and the nation at large in common affliction.

We do not presume to offer to your Royal Highness any topics of consolation beyond those which the contemplation of departed virtue, and the consciousness of filial piety, will abundantly afford. In Her late Most Excellent Majesty we have seen an high example of the uniform practice of every virtue which adorns the female character, and the discharge of every duty which was inseparably connected with her exalted station.

We acknowledge with gratitude that her life was long spared to this kingdom; and we view with admiration how its close was soothed by the tender and assiduous attendance of an affectionate Family.

Thus we leave your Royal Highness's presence with the most profound conviction, that, under the blessing of Providence, no cause can more essentially consolidate the public happiness of these realms, than the example of great virtues in the most exalted rank of society.

To His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

WE, His Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Nobility, Gentry, Clergy, and Freeholders of the County of Warwick, beg leave to approach your Royal Highness with expressions of our sincere sorrow for the death of Her Most Gracious Majesty the late Queen.

Whether we contemplate Her Majesty's conduct as a Wife, a Mother, or a Queen, we are fully sensible of the numerous virtues which adorned her character, and acknowledge with gratitude, that the influence of her bright example has been productive of the most beneficial effects to the whole nation, by discountenancing vice and encouraging virtue.

Your Royal Highness's exemplary attentions towards your Royal Mother during her long illness have afforded us the highest satisfaction, and we should be wanting to ourselves, if we did not express to your Royal Highness the sentiments of respect and veneration with which your whole conduct on that melancholy occasion has filled us.

We beg that your Royal Highness will accept this testimony of our sincere condolence, and be assured of our earnest prayer, that you may be long preserved in health and happiness to a free and affectionate people.

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Gentlemen, Clergy, and Freeholders of the County of Glamorgan, in County Meeting assembled, beg leave to approach your Royal Person with every sentiment of respect, attachment, and affection, humbly to express our unbounded and heartfelt sorrow on the lamentable occasion of the demise of your Royal Highness's most beloved, revered, and august Mother, Her late most illustrious Majesty Queen Charlotte of blessed memory, Consort of His most sacred, adored, and venerable Majesty King George the Third, by which sad event the United Kingdom has to regret the loss of the most transcendent example as a Queen, Wife, and Parent, of every female virtue and excellence that could adorn and add lustre to so exalted a situation, whilst seated for a period of nearly fifty-eight years on the Throne of this vast empire.

We entreat permission, Sir, to assure your Royal Highness, that we fully sympathize and condole with our beloved Prince, with your Royal Relatives, and the several branches of the most illustrious House of Brunswick, on this mournful visitation of Divine Providence. We humbly request your Royal Highness, under whose wise and salutary Government this great nation has gained a pre-eminence, alike the envy, wonder, and admiration of the whole civilized world, to accept the homage of our most profound respect, regard, and veneration. We also offer, Sir, our fervent prayers to the Almighty for your Royal Highness's health and prosperity, and that your invaluable life may very long be spared to rule over a people the most loyal, free, and attached.

The humble and dutiful Address of the Freeholders, Justices of the Peace, and Commissioners of Supply of the County of Ross.

WE, His Majesty's most attached and loyal subjects, the Freeholders, Justices of the Peace, and Commissioners of Supply of the County of Ross, beg to approach your Royal Highness with the expression of our sincere and heartfelt condolence on the loss which your Royal Highness and the empire at large have sustained by the death of Her Majesty the Queen.

Her exemplary and inflexibly virtuous public conduct will cause her name to be recorded among the first and best of Queens. Her private and more unobtrusive domestic virtues, uniformly practised through the course of a long life, cannot fail to endear her memory to every British heart, and to render us more sensible of the loss we now deplore.

But while we express our grief on this mournful event, we should do injustice to our own feelings, were we to refrain from mentioning the extreme gratification which we have derived in marking the truly filial attention and unwearied anxiety towards your lamented Parent, eminently evinced by your Royal Highness and the other branches of your august House during the course of a severe and protracted illness; and we eagerly avail ourselves of this opportunity of renewing our warmest assurance of loyalty to your Royal Highness and the illustrious House of Brunswick, our firm attachment to the Constitution of these realms, and of testifying the affliction with which we behold the continued indisposition of your Royal Father, our Sovereign.

The humble and dutiful Address of the Noblemen, Freeholders, Justices of the Peace, and Commissioners of Supply of the County of Argyll.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, the Noblemen, Freeholders, Justices of the Peace, and Commissioners of Supply of the County of Argyll, assembled in General Meeting, desire to offer to your Royal Highness our expressions of sincere grief and condolence on the death of Her Majesty, our Most Gracious Queen.

Whilst we lament the loss which your Royal Highness and the nation has sustained by the death of the Queen, whose virtuous life endeared Her Majesty to the whole nation, we derive great consolation from our confident persuasion, that the influence produced by the practice of those virtues which so eminently adorned Her Majesty's character, will be long and usefully felt, and that posterity will cherish the memory of so truly good a Queen.

We beg leave to offer the assurance of our undiminished loyalty to our venerable Sovereign, our unfeigned respect for your Royal Highness, and our most sincere wishes for the prosperity of the Government committed to your Royal Highness's charge.

We trust that under this heavy domestic affliction, your Royal Highness will receive that alleviation to your grief, which cannot fail to proceed from the affectionate, pious, and exemplary manner in which the duties of a Son have been so eminently fulfilled by your Royal Highness.

The humble and dutiful Address of the Provost, Magistrates, and Town Council of the Royal Burgh of Tain.

WE, the Provost, Magistrates, and Council of the Royal Burgh of Tain, beg leave to lay before your Royal Highness the expressions of our sincere condolence on the domestic calamity which has recently involved your Royal Highness and your illustrious House in the deepest affliction.

In common with all the loyal subjects in the realm, we feel the irreparable loss which has been sustained, but the greatest consolation is to be derived from reflecting on the bright example which Her late Majesty exhibited of a long life devoted to the uniform practice of virtue and religion, the powerful influence of which has exalted the character of the age in which we live, and will we confidently hope, long continue to survive the melancholy event over which we mourn; the filial affection of your Royal Highness, and of the other Branches of the Royal Family cannot fail to prove another source of consolation. It has made a deep impression on our minds, and will we trust eminently contribute to strengthen the attachment and confirm the loyalty of all His Majesty's subjects.

We embrace this opportunity of renewing our sincere wishes for the prosperity of the Royal Family, and of the Government entrusted to your Royal Highness's charge.

William Murray, Provost.

WE, His Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Magistrates and Town Council of the Burgh of Inveraray, in Council assembled, beg leave most respectfully to approach your Royal Highness with sentiments of sincere condolence on the lamented demise of Her late Most Gracious Majesty the Queen.

In offering this tribute of respect to the memory of Her late Majesty, we cannot but advert to the bright example of every public and of every domestic virtue exhibited by her during a long life,—an example which must have endeared her to the hearts of all her people, and under the blessing of Providence, will we trust have its due influence over the nation, and be long felt and most gratefully acknowledged.

The filial affection and unremitting attention with which your Royal Highness, and the other Branches of your illustrious Family soothed the long protracted suffering of Her Majesty, cannot fail to make a lasting impression on all His Majesty's subjects, and has given additional claims of attachment that must afford to your Royal Highness the greatest consolation under your present affliction.

At a meeting of the Mayor, Deputy Recorder, Town Clerk, Common Council, Burgesses, and Inhabitants, held at the Guildhall of the said Borough, pursuant to notice, this 11th day of January 1819, John Williams Hughes, Esq. Mayor, in the Chair.

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, Deputy Recorder, Town Clerk, Common Council, Burgesses, and Inhabitants, in Common Hall assembled, respectfully beg leave to approach your Royal Highness, and to offer our sincere expression of condolence on the affliction with which your Royal Highness, under Divine Dispensation, has been visited, by the death of a revered and affectionate Parent, and one of England's brightest example of virtue.

We cannot but retain a reverential and grateful recollection of that dignified discharge of the duties of our holy Religion, and the purity of character displayed in the conduct of our late Most Gracious Queen, which will endure to the end of time in the recollection of the people of this vast empire as a model for their imitation.

We have contemplated with sincere respect your Royal Highness's unremitting attention to alleviate the sufferings of your august Parent, and we are convinced that the recollection of your truly filial demeanor will ever procure to you an unfailing source of consolation.

We beg to convey to your Royal Highness those our assurances of unabated loyalty to our revered and venerable Sovereign, and our sincere attachment to your Royal Highness's Person and Government, and may your Royal Highness and your august Family long enjoy the comforts and blessings of this life.

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE the Gentlemen, Clergy, and Freeholders of the County of Merioneth, beg leave to approach your Royal Highness with the expression of our most sincere condolence, on the deep distress with which it has pleased the Almighty to visit your Royal Family and the country at large.

Her late Majesty was indeed peculiarly entitled to the regard and veneration of her subjects, for the excellent example she afforded them in the faithful discharge of every domestic and social duty. It was surely an especial blessing to the kingdom that she who was most distinguished for the elevation of her rank was equally distinguished for piety and virtue; that she who had it in her power to exercise so wide an influence over her sex uniformly exercised it for the encouragement of pure morals and the preservation of female honour; that she who had every gratification at her command, sought it only and taught others to seek it in conjugal fidelity as a wife, and the tenderest care and attention as a mother.

Most unfeignedly therefore do we participate in the grief so feelingly expressed by your Royal Highness on this melancholy occasion; and long shall we cherish with respect and affection the memory of one who for so many years taught the wives and mothers of Britain the true way to happiness and respectability; and earnestly do we beseech the Almighty to grant that the virtues which shone so conspicuously in her, and which are so essentially necessary to the well being of society, may be equally visible in her descendants, and secure to them the same regard and veneration which she so eminently deserved and obtained.

The humble Address of the Grand Office Bearers and Members of the Supreme Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Freemasons of Scotland.

WE, His Majesty's loyal and dutiful subjects, the Supreme Grand Royal Arch Chapter of Scotland, beg leave to approach your Royal Highness, with the expressions of our condolence, upon the melancholy event with which your illustrious House and the nation at large have been visited, in the removal of your Royal Mother our much lamented Queen.

We with all humility thank the Great Architect of the Universe for having vouchsafed to allow Her Majesty to remain so long amongst us, and although it hath pleased Him to call Her hence, she will continue to live in the grateful memories of a loyal people, who are well aware of the virtue and morality that by her bright example peculiarly characterized the Court, and like the rays of the congenial Sun influenced the conduct of all classes in these realms.

We have observed with admiration the filial conduct of your Royal Highness at the couch of a dying Parent, the recollection of which cannot fail to sooth the sorrows of your Royal Highness under your present affliction.

Deign to accept this testimony of our feelings on the present occasion, and of our loyalty and attachment to your Royal Person and His Majesty's Government, and, that the Sceptre of these realms may continue to be swayed by yourself and the descendants of your illustrious House, till the latest ages, is the unceasing prayer of the Royal Arch Masons of Scotland.

WE, His Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, High Steward, Recorder, Aldermen, Assistants, Common Council, Clergy, Gentry, and Inhabitants of the Borough of Colchester, entreat permission to approach your Royal Highness with the respectful expression of our sincere condolence on the lamented demise of Her late Majesty, the Queen Consort of our revered Sovereign. Affectionately attached to your Royal Highness's Person, Family, and Government, we cordially sympathize in the affliction in which this mournful event has involved the members of your august House.

Deeply sensible as we are of the benefits which the great cause of public morals has derived from virtuous example in the highest situation, we especially lament the loss of a Queen whose character we viewed with unfeigned respect, and in whose conduct, during a reign of more than half a century, was displayed a dignified observance of the duties attached to her exalted station.

We presume not to offer to your Royal Highness other and higher topics of consolation than are afforded by the recollection of the virtues of your lamented Parent, and the consciousness of your own assiduous filial attentions.

In testimony whereof we the Mayor, High Steward, Recorder, Aldermen, Assistants, and Common Council of the said Borough, have affixed our common seal the 14th day of January in the year of our Lord 1819.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

IN virtue of an Act of Parliament, passed in the fifty-fifth year of His present Majesty's reign, for enabling the Commissioners of the Northern Light-Houses to erect and maintain Light-Houses on the Isle of Man, one Light-House has been erected at the Point of Ayre, at the Northern extremity of that Island, and two Light-Houses have also been erected on the Calf Island, at the Southern extremity of Man; notice is accordingly hereby given, that these Lights will be exhibited on the evening of Monday the 1st day of February 1819, and will thereafter continue to be lighted from the going away of day light in the evening till the return of day-light in the morning.

The following is the Specification of the Position of the Light-Houses, and the Appearance of the Lights, by Mr. Stevenson, Engineer to the Commissioners.

POINT OF AYRE LIGHT-HOUSE.

This Light-House is situate about 650 feet from the Sea, upon an extensive plain in the Main Island of Man, called the Point of Ayre, in North latitude 54 deg. 27 min. and West longitude 4 deg. 20 min. The Light-House bears by compass from the Mull of Galloway, S.S.E., and is distant 22 miles; from Burrow-Head, S.S.W. 1-3d W., distant 16½ miles; from St. Bees, in Cumberland, W. by N. ¾ N., distant 29½ miles; from Maughold-Head, in the Isle of Man, N. by E., distant 8½ miles; from Rue or Blue Point, E. by S., distant 4 miles.

The light will be from oil, with a reflecting and revolving apparatus, and will be known to Mariners as a single revolving light with colour, exhibiting from the same light-room a light of the natural appearance, alternating with a light tinged with a red colour. These lights will respectively attain their greatest strength or most luminous effect at the end of every two minutes; but in the course of each periodic revolution of the reflector-frame, both lights will become alternately fainter and more obscure, and, to a distant observer, be totally eclipsed for a short period of time.

The Light-Room at the Point of Ayre is glazed all round, but the light will be hid from the Mariner by the high land of Maughold-Head towards the South, and by Rue Point towards the West. Being elevated 106 feet above the medium level of the Sea, its most luminous side may be seen, like a star of the first magnitude, at the distance of four or five leagues; but the side tinged red being somewhat obscured by the coloured shades, will not be seen at so great a distance.

CALF OF MAN LIGHT-HOUSES.

There are two leading Lights on the Calf of Man, which are situated on the Western side of the small Island called the Calf, in North latitude 54 deg. 5 min. and West longitude 4 deg. 46 min. These two Light-Houses are distant from each other 560 feet. The higher Light bears by compass from the Mull of Galloway, S.S.W., distant 37 miles; Peel-Head, in the Isle of Man, S.W., distant 11 miles; Langness Point, W. by N. $\frac{1}{2}$ N., distant $6\frac{1}{2}$ miles; from the sunken rocks, called the Chickens, N.E. 1-3d E., distant about $1\frac{1}{4}$ miles.

These two leading Lights will be from oil, each Light-Room being furnished with a distinct reflecting and revolving apparatus, by which they will be distinguished from the other Lights on the coast, and also be rendered useful as leading Lights for passing the dangerous rocks called the Chickens. The Light-House Towers, as before noticed, are built at the distance of 560 feet apart, bearing from each other N.E. 1-3d E. and S.W. 1-3d W., consequently to an observer, in the direction of the Chickens, both Lights will appear in one, or be seen in the same line of direction, and be known to Mariners as double revolving or leading Lights without colour. The Lights will respectively attain their greatest strength or most luminous effect at the end of every two minutes; but in the course of the periodic revolution of the reflector-frames, the respective Lights will alternately become fainter and more obscure, and, to a distant observer, will be totally eclipsed for a short period of time.

The two Light-Rooms at the Calf of Man are glazed all round, but both Lights will be hid from the Mariner by the high land of Peel-Head towards the N.E. and by Spanish-Head in an Eastern direction. Both Lights, however, will be visible at about three quarters of a mile off the Point of Langness.

The lower Light is elevated 305 feet above the medium level of the Sea, and the high Light 396 feet, and when the Lights have attained their most luminous effect, they will be seen like stars of the first magnitude, at the distance of six or seven leagues.

By order of the Commissioners of the Northern Light-Houses, C. Cunningham, Sec.
