The Gentlemen to wear black coats, and black or plain white, or white and gold, or white and silver stuff waistcoats, full trimmed, coloured swords and buckles.

And on Thursday the 18th instant, the Court to go out of mourning.

THE following Addresses, having been transmitted to Viscount Sidmouth, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, by the several persons whose names are respectively subjoined to each Address, have been presented by His Lordship to His Royal Highness the Prince Regent, who was pleased to receive the same very graciously :

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The humble and dutiful Address of His Majesty's loyal subjects, the Moderator and remanent Members of the Presbytery of Dunkeld, this day met and duly constituted.

WE, His Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Moderator, and remanent Members of the Presbytery of Dunkeld, beg leave to offer to your Royal Highness our sincere and most respectful condolence on the loss which your Royal Highness, your august Family, and the British nation have sustained by the death of Her late Majesty, our most exemplary and lamented Queen. It is gratifying to us to join with our fellow subjects in recording our deep and lasting sense of the eminent virtues which adorned Her Majesty's character, and by which though dead, she yet speaketh—inasmuch as she was the pattern of female excellence and domestic virtue, and uniformly united the most amiable condescension and encouragement to the worthy, with the dignity and firmness of Christian principles which repelled the approach of the licentious.

It is our fervent prayer to Almighty God, that your Royal Highness may derive consolation from submission to the Divine Will, and that your sorrow on this mournful event may be calmed by reflection on the exemplary filial tenderness with which your Royal Highness soothed and comforted the last moments of a beloved Mother.

We deeply lament the continued affliction of our venerable Sovereign, and while we present our constant supplications to the Most High on his behalf, we pray that your Royal Highness may long enjoy the loyal attachment of his people committed to your sway.

Signed, in our name, in our presence, and by our appointment, at Dunkeld, this 26th day of January 1819, by

Wm. Innerarity, Moderator.

[Transmitted by the Duke of Atholl, and presented by Viscount Sidmouth.]

To His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

WE, His Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects,
