To His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's loyal and dutiful subjects, the Inhabitants of the Island of Portland, crave the liberty of approaching your Royal Highness with the assurance of our deep sorrow for the loss of your august Mother, our venerable and venerated Queen. She is now indeed removed from this world, after having accomplished her destined course; in the fulness of age; but her virtues live in the heart of the present generation, and will excite the admiration and the praise of future times.

Though what of her was mortal has yielded to the common doom, the splendour of her inestimable character shall illuminate the page of history, and this country shall boast of it as one of her chief glories. She was the consort of our beloved King, for a period seldom equalled in duration, and pregnant with some of the most awful events which the world has ever witnessed; a period strongly marked, above all that have gone before, for revolution and change, for the laxity of moral principle, for disaffection to legitimate government, and for daring combinations to dissolve social order, and to extinguish the religious principle. The conduct of Sovereigns was watched with a jealous and scrutinizing eye, to shake or overturn their Thrones, by exposing their persons to contempt and hatred. Among other nations the detestable experiment was but too successful. In that day of severe trial it was that her religion, and her moral excellence, proved an unassailable rampart against the malignant efforts of infidelity and treason. The purity of her Court she preserved unstained, and her example of the sweet charities, the soft duties, and the gentle affections of domestic life, shed its benignant influence throughout all the families of the British empire.

The contemplation of her transcendent worth will, we earnestly trust, tend in some degree to alleviate the affliction of your Royal Highness, whose filial love has been so conspicuously displayed during the course of this melancholy dispensation.

We further beg to assure your Royal Highness that, although we live in a remote angle of His Majesty's dominions, our loyalty to our King, and our affection to his family, are rooted, steady, and strong. Bred up amid the tempests that blow upon our cliffs, and the seas that break on our shores, we are a hardy race, who have nerves, and sinews, and hearts, to stand in defence of the Throne, and of our country, against every foreign and domestic enemy.

We pray the Almighty to shower down his choicest blessings on your Royal Highness, and to grant that you may reign over this great nation through a long and happy life.

Signed, at the request and in the name and behalf of the Inhabitants of Portland.

Benjamin Pearce, sen.; Samuel Margrie, Secretary.

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

WE, His Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, Corporation, and Inhabitants of the Borough of Plymouth and its vicinity, approach the Throne with sentiments of affliction and condolence on the death of Her Most Gracious Majesty the Queen.

But whilst we deplore this deep loss, we cannot but recollect and admire the distinguished virtues which dignified the conduct of Her late Majesty in the various relations of a long life, during which period Her Majesty not only discharged the high and important duties of a Queen and Mother with exemplary propriety and affection, but also by her own eminent conduct, in the execution of the most solemn, religious, and moral duties, exhibited a bright example most worthy of imitation to the Court and the inhabitants at large of this kingdom.

We deeply feel the loss which your Royal Highness and the other members of your august family have sustained by this visitation, and earnestly implore the assistance of the divine spirit, to comfort and support you under this affliction.

R. Arthur, Mayor, on behalf of the Meeting.

[Presented by Major-General Sir William Congreve and Rear-Admiral Sir Byam Martin.]

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales,
REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

WE, His Majesty's most dutiful, faithful, and loyal subjects, the Portreeve, Clergy, and other Inhabitants of Honiton, beg leave to approach your Royal Highness to offer our sincere condolence on the late melancholy event which has deprived these realms of an illustrious Queen, and your Royal Highness of an august and beloved Parent. Whilst we bow with submission to the All-Wise yet inscrutable decrees of Divine Providence. We cannot but exultingly reflect that Her late Most Excellent Majesty has left to the nation at large an example of morality, charity, piety, and religion, worthy of their closest imitation; an example endeared to her family by her affectionate tenderness and solicitude, and to all His Majesty's subjects, by her condescending yet dignified conduct.

Duly impressed with the blessings we enjoy, under our present excellent Constitution in Church and State, we embrace this opportunity of expressing our faithful and loyal attachment to your Royal Highness's illustrious House and Person; and fervently pray that these blessings may long be continued under your Royal Highness's protection to us and our posterity.

William Mosgrove, Portreeve.

[Presented by the Hon. Captain Peregrine Cust.]

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain, &c. &c.

WE, the British Inhabitants, residing at Fort Marlborough, in the Island of Sumatra, overwhelmed with grief at the awful tidings which have just reached our shores, and deeply deploring the irreparable calamity which has befallen the nation and your Royal Highness, in the ever to be lamented loss of your Royal Daughter, the most virtuous and beloved of Princesses, most humbly and with all due respect and veneration, beg leave to approach your Royal Highness with a respectful declaration of the deep and unfeigned sorrow which we feel on this afflicting event.

On such a melancholy occasion, it would be difficult to find words adequate to our grief were we to consider the event as a national calamity alone, but when we reflect upon the parental sufferings of your Royal Highness, we find it impossible to give utterance to the extent of our feelings. All that remains for us, deeply participating as we do, in the general affliction and dismay, and resigning ourselves to the dispensations of Providence, in the firm conviction that the virtuous and exemplary life of the royal personage whom we deplore, will secure for her a blessed immortality, is, most submissively to offer to your Royal Highness our expressions of condolence; and to assure your Royal Highness that however acutely we have felt this unexpected calamity, it was not necessary to awaken the sentiments of duty and respectful attachment which we have the honour and pride to profess for your Royal Highness's Person and Family.

With the most devoted attachment and profound respect, we have the honour to subscribe ourselves your Royal Highness's most dutiful, devoted, and faithful servants, the British Inhabitants residing at Fort Marlborough.
