Madrid, August 20.

THe 16th arrived here an Exprest, who brought the Count de la Vauguison, the French Ambassador, the News of the Birth of the Duke of Burgundy, which his Excellency went immediately to Court, to give the King and Queen an account of. The King has given the Government of Naples to the Marquis de Lisbo, at present his Ambassador at Rome, whose Successor in that employment is not yet named. We are expecting with great impatience, the news of the arrival of the Galeons; after they are come, a very great Supply will be sent to the Marquis de Grana, Governor of the Spanish Netherlands, to enable him to put the Forces of those Countries into the posture his Excellency designs.

Venice, Aug. 20. We have Letters from Constantinople, which speak very differently of the accommodation the French Ambassador has made with the Grand Vizer, for the Action at Scio; for those we receive from the French Merchants, say, That this business has not cost above 10000 Crowns, the Ambassador having only made a Present to the Grand Signior of a Diamond Ring, and some other inconsiderable things; but from other hands, we have a quite contrary account of this Matter, they telling us, that what with the Moneys they have been forced to give, and the Interest they pay for the same, having taken it up of the Jews, and others at Constantinople, they will not come off with paying less than 100 thousand Crowns, and that the other Nations at Constantinople are very much concerned at this Accommodation, for that the Turks do value themselves upon their having obliged the French, after all, to this Compliance. The Procurator Gio Sagredo, Died some days since of an Apoplexy.

Genova, Aug. 19. The only Ships that have arrived here this Week, are nine Genoueses, with Salt from Trapani, and more are expected. The Italian Merchant, bound for Smirna, and the Charles bound for the Morea, are now in Port.

Turin, Aug. 21. Our Duke is still at Montcagliar and his distemper continues; the Physicians seem to make slight of it, and assure us there is no danger, but others report the contrary, and these, people are the readiest to believe. In the mean time the Duke of Cadaval continues at Court, and four days since he sent another Exprest to Libonne, to give the Prince an account of the condition his Highness the Duke of Savoy is in, and to desire farther Orders concerning the Fleet, which remains at Villa-Franca. They that are against his Highness's Voyage for Portugal seem to entertain hopes that his present illness may break it, or at least put it off for some time. Yesterday parted from hence four very rich Coaches for Genova, where they are to be put on Shipboard, being for the use of the Duke of Savoy, when he is in Portugal. The News of the Dauphiness being brought to bed has been received at this Court with great appearances of joy, and the Dutchess of Savoy gave the Courier that brought it a very fine Diamond Ring.

Berlin, Aug. 23. The Envoy from the Kam of Tartary, who lately arrived here, has had his publick Audience of our Elector; we do not hear what his business is, and probably it is so inconsiderable that it is not worth taking notice of. The Duchess Dowager of Simmereu, who came hither not long since to visit our Electores, parted from hence the last week for Creucenat, their Electoral Highnesses having made her several Presents, for the value of 6000 Crowns. There is now no more talk of this Courts removal to Coningsberg in Prussia.

Cologne, Aug. 25. Our Magistrates have Disbanded great part of the Troops that were in Garrison here, and in their stead they are to have 1000 Men from the Circle of Westphalia, which will not be so chargeable to them as the others were. Our last Letters from Vienna say, That upon the death of the Count de Sonches, the Emperor had given the Command which he had, of Marechal de Camp, to Count Gappara, and the Government of Wirradin to the Marquis de Grana, Governor of the Spanish Netherlands. And there are some advices which assure us that the Peace with the Turks will be prolonged for 20 years. Monsieur de Louvois is expected at Strasburg the 11th of the next Month, as they write from thence, and it is said that from thence he will go for Italy. Our Elector has not yet declared his approbation of the Deputation which the City of Liege would send hither.

Francfort, Aug. 27. The French Ambassadors here are making great preparations to express a publick Joy for the Birth of the Duke of Burgundy; They have desired of our Magistrates several Pieces of Cannon, to be made use of on this occasion, but have not yet obtained them. From Vienna they write, That on the 21 of this Month the Emperor intended to go to Newstadt, and to pass some days there; That in Hungary the Turks had taken a small place called Onorb, and had demolished it, having conveyed the Cannon and the Garrison that was there, to Villecke; That there was a report that Caschau was surrendered to the Rebels; but that it was not believed; That General Strahlis had Orders to relieve it; That he was drawing the Forces together for that purpose, and that General Dunewaldt was on his March, with several Regiments from Silesia, to joyn the said Count: That Colonel Henster lies with 1200 Men upon the Waag, to guard a Bridge the Imperialists have made over that River, where he was often alarmed by the Turks.

Hamburg, Aug. 28. We are assured that the Prince of Frizeland is to Marry with the Princess of Zell; and that the States of Frizeland and Groningen, (of which Provinces he is Stadtholder, or Governour) are sending a formal Deputation to the Duke of Zell, to demand his Daughter in Marriage for the said Prince. Things are at present very quiet in these parts, and the apprehensions we had
