It is, however, hereby further ordered and declared, that no foreign vessel, allowed by the terms of this Order to export a cargo from the Island of Mauritius, or its dependencies, shall be permitted to export such cargo to any of His Majesty's possessions, or to any other place than a port or place belonging to the state or power to which the vessel itself shall belong:

THE following Addresses, having been transmitted to Viscount Sidmouth, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, by the several persons whose names are respectively subjoined to each Address, have been presented by His Lordship to His Royal Highness the Prince Regent, who was pleased to receive the same very graciously:

To His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

May it please your Royal Highness,

IT is with sentiments of the deepest concern, that we, His Majesty's loyal and dutiful subjects, the Master, Wardens, and Commonalty of Merchant Venturers of the City of Bristol, feel ourselves again called on by the present alarming state of the country, to renew to your Royal Highness the assurances of our inviolable attachment to the Constitution of these realms, as established in Church and State, and our fixed determination to defend it, by every means in our power, against the perils with which it is assailed.

We have observed with the utmost indignation, the continuance of that formidable system of operations, by which a set of evil-disposed persons, few we hope in number, but most dangerous in their principles, are endeavouring to seduce the lower orders of the people from their obedience to the laws, and to drive them, under the pretence of petitioning for reform, into a state of actual rebellion.

Aware that to the accomplishment of their traitorous designs, the influence of religion opposed the strongest obstacle, these shameless impostors have not hesitated to attack Christianity itself. In aid of the seditious effusions of the weekly and daily press, publications, fraught with impiety and blasphemy, have, with the most industrious activity, and in every variety of form best adapted to the understandings of the lower class of society, been circulated throughout the land.

The effects produced by this fearful combination of atheism and treason, as exhibited in the seditious assemblings of the people, in their previous military trainings, in the appointment of delegates to represent them in Parliament, and in the studied and systematic insults offered to all civil authorities, are of too formidable a nature to be viewed without alarm.

Relying, however, on the paternal care of your Royal Highness, under whose auspicious Government we have enjoyed so much prosperity, and on the vigilance and vigour of His Majesty's counsels, we feel assured that every measure will be adopted in the present crisis for the salvation of the country, whether by the enforcement of the existing laws, or if insufficient, by the enactment of new, that wisdom can devise or patriotism suggest.

13th October 1819.

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The dutiful Address of the Provincial Synod of Fife.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Ministers and Elders of the Provincial Synod of Fife, assembled at our ordinary autumnal meeting, feeling it to be the duty of all well-disposed subjects of His Majesty to stand forward at this important juncture, to resist the attempts which wicked and designing individuals are making in different parts of the kingdom to corrupt the minds of the lower orders of the people by disseminating amongst them seditious and blasphemous publications, with a view of alienating them from their duty to their Sovereign, their respect for the laws, and their veneration for our holy religion, beg leave to express our abhorrence of such proceedings, and to offer to your Royal Highness the assurances of our determination to exert our utmost endeavours to defeat such views, and to counteract such principles by inculcating within our respective parishes a due regard for His Majesty's Person and Family and for the Government of your Royal Highness, and a pious submission to the wise dispensations of Providence.

We lament that so much distress should exist among the labouring classes in the populous manufacturing districts of the country, and are ready to contribute in any way that may be found most expedient for their relief. At the same time we are convinced that these distresses, which we hope will prove but temporary, do not arise from the causes to which the unfortunate sufferers are taught to ascribe them, but from circumstances not under the immediate controul of any human agency, and that they can never be remedied, but on the contrary, must be increased by tumult and insurrection.

That Divine Providence may alleviate the affliction of our venerable Sovereign, and bless your Royal Highness's Person and Government, and protect your illustrious House to latest ages, is our sincere prayer.

Signed in our name, in our presence, and at our appointment, at Copar, this 12th day of October 1819, by Andrew Bell, Moderator.

[Transmitted by the Reverend Lawrence Adamson, and presented by Viscount Sidmouth.]

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT.

WE, the Magistrates, Clergy, Citizens, and Inhabitants of the City and County of Norwich, taking into consideration the critical state in which the security and welfare of the kingdom continue to be placed by the designs and riotous practices of the seditious and the disaffected, regard it as a duty incumbent on us to make a public declaration of our sentiments of devoted and unshaken loyalty to His Majesty's Person and Government, and our principles of firm and ardent attachment to the Constitution of these Realms.

A duty we feel the more imperiously called upon to discharge, in consequence of an Address voted by a meeting held in Saint Andrew's Hall on the 16th instant. This meeting justified on the ground, neither of collective strength nor of individual consequence, in its attempt to identify with the tenor of its own resolutions the general opinion of the inhabitants of Norwich, has proceeded to the unwarrantable length of prejudging and condemning the Prince Regent's Ministers and the Magistrates of Manchester.

With the temper of a proceeding so harsh and ill-timed, we disavow the remotest feeling of congeniality: in the spirit of a decision so premature and injurious we disclaim all participation; yielding to none in the disposition to value, or in the determination to guard the chartered right of the people to meet and to petition; opposed to no rational plan of public benefit and advantage; we are at the same time decidedly of opinion that neither reformation of abuses nor remedy of grievances can be obtained, nor the temporary distresses which press alike upon this empire and the world at large can be removed, by means of tumultuous assemblages, brought together by artful and factious appeals, to prejudice and passion, and excited to the extreme of discontent and irritation by the inflammatory harangues of delegates and missionaries, who under the delusive pretext of radical reform, inculcate disrespect to the constituted powers of the State, and disseminate doctrines that tend to overthrow the salutary distinctions of civilized life, to undermine and destroy the sacred influences of Religion, and to subvert the established Government of the Nation.

As friends of humanity, as lovers of peace, we sincerely deplore the unfortunate occurrences of the 16th of August; yet it is to our minds a source of most consolatory reflection to know that the tribunals of the land have already taken cognizance of the circumstances of that occasion. Impressed therefore with a well founded confidence in the upright administration of the laws, we feel equally assured of their adequacy to maintain right and to redress wrong for a people persevering in a due obedience to them, and honestly appreciating those social and moral blessings of which they are the safeguard. Nor can we view the efforts which in this city and elsewhere have been made, in the absence of every thing like complete and authentic information, to affix guilt of the blackest dye on the local authorities of a large and populous district, and on those who have acted under their direction, at a moment when the case involving their character and conduct may be considered to be in a course of trial, in any other light than as an improper and dangerous experiment on popular feelings as an indecorous infringement on the rights and functions of juries, and as directly hostile to the principles of real English liberty and to the cause of impartial justice.
