SATURDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1819.

THE following Addresses, having been transmitted to Viscount Sidmouth, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, by the several persons whose names are respectively subjoined to each Address, have been presented by His Lordship to His Royal Highness the Prince Regent, who was pleased to receive the same very graciously:

To His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Inhabitants of the Town and Neighbourhood of Liverpool, beg leave, at this momentous period, humbly to approach your Royal Highness with the expression of our warmest sentiments of attachment to your Royal Highness's Person and Family, and our fixed determination to support the dignity of the Crown and of Parliament, and to defend that inestimable Constitution which is the first boast and the greatest blessing of Britons.

We have witnessed with feelings of grief and indignation the artful attempts of factious and designing men to inculcate, under the specious but delusive pretext of radical reform, doctrines subversive of all existing authorities and directly tending to undermine and destroy the sacred influence of our holy religion.

We deeply lament the temporary distresses which press alike upon this country and the world at large; a feeling in which we are assured of your Royal Highness's warmest participation; and, whilst it is our anxious wish to promote every measure which can tend to alleviate them, we cannot find terms to express our abhorrence of that mockery of suffering humanity which, availing itself of the irritation produced by distress, would aggravate what it affects to soothe, and inflame the wound which it professes to heal.

Firmly attached to those principles of civil and religious liberty which placed your Royal Highness's Family on the Throne of these realms, we cannot view the systematic attempts of the turbulent and disaffected to rob us of both, without assuring your Royal Highness of our firm resolve to resist them; and we pledge ourselves to use our most active exertions in defending all that is dear to us as Englishmen, and in opposing all attempts to overawe the constituted authorities, under a full reliance on the efficacy of the laws, on their power to maintain right and to redress wrong, on the purity of their administration, and on the wisdom of your Royal Highness's Counsels, for securing to us a continuance of those invaluable privileges and blessings which are enjoyed by all your subjects in this great and free country.

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's faithful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, Recorder, Aldermen, and Commonalty of the Borough of Ripon, in Common-Hall assembled, feel ourselves imperiously called upon, at this eventful crisis, to assure your Royal Highness of our firm and immovable attachment to His Majesty's Royal Person and Government, and to the existing institutions of the realm, civil and religious, as by law established.

We venerate these institutions, which have originated in the wisdom of our forefathers, and which the experience of ages hath approved; and, having lived long and happily under the protection of our excellent laws, we neither wish for nor seek any change either in the spirit or form of our inestimable Constitution, which ensures to us all the freedom and liberty which the regulations of civilized society will allow, and secures to us the enjoyment of our rights, our property, and every blessing dear to us as Englishmen.

At the same time we deeply deplore the distress which many of our fellow subjects have at this moment to encounter; and most sincerely do we commiserate their situation, and feel for the sufferers; but we rely firmly upon the wisdom of your Royal Highness for the adoption of such measures as may, with the aid of Divine Providence, be best calculated to relieve that distress. We also contemplate, with an anxiety equally great, the insidious attempts of those enemies to their country, who seek to take advantage of these sufferings, and to excite the people of these realms to discontent and disaffection, striving by the dissemination of the most blasphemous and seditious pamphlets and writings, first to undermine those moral and religious feelings from which our greatest consolation in adversity is derived: and then, by taking advantage of human weakness, without these aids, to make the distressed the instruments for effecting their revolutionary machinations.

Still, however, we rely confidently upon the known fidelity and loyalty of our countrymen; and most sincerely do we hope and trust that they will, with ourselves, view with the utmost detestation and abhorrence these diabolical attempts to awaken a jealousy of that Government which we are well convinced has no other end than the happiness of the subject, and the welfare and prosperity of these kingdoms.

In conclusion, we beg to assure your Royal Highness of our unalterable determination firmly to resist these mischievous attempts, and to unite heart and hand, in the protection of our Sovereign and Constitution, our laws and liberties, our rights and our possessions; and that it is the first and most anxious hope and prayer of His Majesty's dutiful subjects, who now humbly offer these assurances of their loyal attachment and fidelity, that your Royal Highness may enjoy the happiness of witnessing a speedy restoration of the most perfect and lasting tranquillity.

Richard Nicholson, Common Clerk.

Declaration of the Magistrates, Clergy, and Inhabitants of the Town and Neighbourhood of Ripon.

WE, the Magistrates, Clergy, and Inhabitants of the Town and Neighbourhood of Ripon, feeling ourselves imperiously called upon at this eventful crisis unequivocally to declare our sentiments, are anxious in the first place to testify our firm and immovable attachment to His Majesty's Royal Person and Government, and to the existing institutions of the Realm, Civil and Religious, as by law established.

We venerate these institutions, which have originated in the wisdom of our forefathers and which the experience of ages hath approved; and, having lived long and happily under the protection of our excellent laws, we neither wish for nor seek any change, either in the spirit or form of our inestimable Constitution, which ensures to us all the freedom and liberty which the regulations of civilized society will allow, and secures to us the enjoyment of our rights, our property, and every blessing dear to us as Englishmen.

At the same time we deeply deplore the distress which many of our fellow subjects have at this moment to encounter, and most sincerely do we commiserate their situation and feel for the sufferers; but we rely firmly upon the wisdom of your Royal Highness for the adoption of such measures as may, with the aid of Divine Providence, be best calculated to relieve that distress. We also contemplate, with an anxiety equally great, the insidious attempts of those enemies to their country who seek to take advantage of these sufferings, and to excite the people of these realms to discontent and disaffection, striving by the dissemination of the most blasphemous and seditious pamphlets and writings, first to undermine those moral and religious feelings, from which our greatest consolation in adversity is derived; and then, by taking advantage of human weakness without these aids, to make the distressed the instruments for effecting their revolutionary machinations.

Still, however, we rely confidently upon the known fidelity and loyalty of our countrymen; and most sincerely do we hope and trust that they will, with ourselves, view with the utmost detestation and abhorrence these diabolical attempts to awaken a jealousy of that Government, which we are well convinced has no other end than the happiness of the subject and the welfare and prosperity of these kingdoms.

Under these circumstances we feel that we cannot too strongly testify our unalterable determination firmly to resist these mischievous attempts, and to unite heart and hand in the support and protection of our Sovereign and Constitution, our laws and liberties, our rights and our possessions. We therefore mutually pledge ourselves to such unity, and anxiously hope for a speedy restoration of the most perfect and lasting tranquillity.

John Britain, Mayor of Ripon.

[Transmitted by Charles Harrison, Esq. Recorder, and presented by Viscount Sidmouth.]

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

WE, His Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, Bailiffs, and Burgesses of the Borough of Preston, in the county-palatine of Lancaster, in Common Council assembled, humbly beg leave to approach your Royal Highness with the assurances of our devotion and loyalty to your Royal Highness's illustrious Family, and of unfeigned attachment to the Constitution of these realms.

Justly proud of the excellence of that form of Government under which we have the happiness to live; and truly grateful for the protection which under Providence it has afforded to our civil and religious rights.

We assure your Royal Highness that we will at all times use our best endeavours to guard it against every innovation that may endanger its stability, or deprive us of those blessings which we have long enjoyed under the mild and equitable Government of our beloved Sovereign.

With these impressions on our minds it is not without serious apprehension that we have seen the unceasing efforts of wicked and designing men, to alienate His Majesty's subjects from their loyalty to their King; to inculcate disrespect for established authorities; to circulate immoral and blasphemous publications, with the view of corrupting their principles, and releasing them from the wholesome restraints of religion, and by artful and seditious addresses to assembled multitudes, to inflame their passions, and prepare them for every act of violence and desperation.

Far from undervaluing the chartered rights of the subject, we think them essential to the security of our liberties, and would transmit them unimpaired to posterity, but we do not wish to see them perverted to purposes of tumult and sedition; nay, we cannot withhold the expression of our strongest disapprobation, when, under the pretext of exercising these sacred rights, we behold the most daring attempts to mislead and inflame the minds of the uninformed; to attribute the distress under which they at present labour, to the defective state of our representation; to propagate the most delusive and dangerous notions on the subject of Parliamentary reform, and to disseminate doctrines which threaten to subvert the Constitution of the country, and involve us in all the evils of anarchy and confusion.

We have witnessed with deep concern the severe privations and sufferings of certain classes of our fellow subjects, and we would willingly join in any plan that reason and prudence might suggest for affording them relief; but we are decidedly of opinion that to leave their employments, neglect their families, and attend tumultuous meetings in distant places, is not the way to reform abuses or alleviate their distress; on the contrary such conduct must greatly aggravate their sufferings and justly render them suspected of seeking not reform but revolution.

With these sentiments, we again beg leave to offer to your Royal Highness the assurances of our affection and loyalty, and of our fixed determination to support the just administration of the laws, and to promote to the utmost of our power the peace and tranquillity of the state.

Given under the common seal of the said Borough, the 26th day of October in the Sixtieth year of the reign of His Majesty King George the Third.

H. Dewhurst, Mayor, in open Council.

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT.

The loyal and dutiful Address of the Noblemen, Freeholders, Justices of the Peace, and Commissioners of Supply of the County of Haddington, in a General Meeting assembled this 26th October 1819.

WE, His Majesty's loyal and dutiful subjects, the Noblemen, Freeholders, Justices of the Peace, and Commissioners of Supply of the County of Haddington, deeply impressed with a sense of the blessings we enjoy under our admirable Constitution in Church and State, established by the wisdom of our ancestors, and unparalleled in the annals of the world, have contemplated with abhorrence the attempts of evil-minded and designing men to undermine its foundations, by assembling under the delusive pretences of theoretical reforms, seditious meetings of the people, and poisoning their minds by disseminating vicious and blasphemous publications, denying the truth of the Sacred Scriptures, and calculated to subvert the grounds on which, as Christians, we rest our hopes of futurity. Whilst, however, we are seriously alarmed at such dangerous proceedings, tending to disturb the internal peace and tranquillity of the country, we have a satisfaction in thinking, that although similar attempts have been made by spreading impious publications in many places in this part of the United Empire, they have had no effect in shaking the sound principles which we have reason to believe are possessed by all classes of people in this country.

We cannot conclude this address without assuring your Royal Highness that our minds are filled with ardent loyalty towards our venerable and beloved Sovereign, and a strong attachment to the Person and Government of your Royal Highness; and that we are firmly resolved to use every effort in our power to oppose sedition in all its shapes, and to preserve our inestimable Constitution inviolate and unimpaired.

Signed, in name, in the presence of, and at the unanimous desire of the General Meeting, by the Right Honourable the Earl of Haddington, His Majesty's Lieutenant of the County, as their Preses.

Haddington, Lieutenant and Preses.

[Transmitted by the Earl of Haddington, and presented by Viscount Sidmouth.]

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

The humble Address of the Mayor, Deputy Recorder, Town Clerk, Common Council, Sheriffs, Burgesses, and Commonalty of the County of the Borough of Carmarthen, in Common Hall assembled.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, Deputy Recorder, Town Clerk, Common Council, Sheriffs, Burgesses, and Commonalty of the County of the Borough of Carmarthen, in Common Hall assembled, humbly beg leave to approach your Royal Highness, and as a duty we owe to ourselves and the country, at this momentous crisis, to express our detestation of the wicked and atrocious attempts of seditious and disaffected subjects in various (though from us remote) parts of His Majesty's dominions, now openly and avowedly meditating the subversion of our laws and Government, and the annihilation of all distinction of rank and the sacred rights of property.

Much as we value our acknowledged right freely to discuss all public measures, we strongly deprecate the means which have been lately used in various parts of the kingdom, to assemble the populace in such numbers as tend to overawe under the colour of remonstrance, and to command under pretext of petition.

Without the information necessary to form a correct opinion we consider it a violation of the best principles of our laws to prejudge the conduct of Magistrates, and before we know what they may have to alledge to censure experienced and honourable men, acting in situations of great responsibility during these times of difficulty and disorder.

Happy under that revered Constitution which has for so many ages protected our properties, our liberties, and our lives, we seek no change, nor as friends to our country and to good order can we see with indifference the lowest of the people arrogating to themselves the power of reforming the laws, and the right of determining the measure of their submission to them.

Convinced therefore as we are of the mischievous and criminal designs and machinations of those, who, under the specious pretext of reform and liberty, are industriously circulating blasphemous and seditious publications with a view of poisoning the minds of the unwary, and of detaching them from their duty to God, and their allegiance to their Sovereign. We feel it incumbent upon us to repeat our attachment to your Royal Highness, the solemn assurance of our fidelity and loyalty to the King, our firm adherence to the Constitution, and our determination to enforce to the utmost of our power the due execution of the laws against all who, by their writings or otherwise, shall endanger the public tranquillity by their endeavours to incite the ignorant and the poor to acts of sedition and violence.

Signed, in our Guildhall, this 20th day of October 1819.

Chas. Morgan, Mayor.

[Transmitted by the Worshipful the Mayor, and presented by Viscount Sidmouth.]

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

WE, His Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, Burgesses, and Inhabitants of the Borough and Town of Marlborough, in the County of Wilts, humbly beg to offer to your Royal Highness our sentiments of respect and loyalty, and to express our unshaken attachment to the principles of our Constitution, as well as to the Family of which your Royal Highness is the august Representative.

While we approach your Royal Highness with feelings of sympathy for the privations of those who, from unforeseen causes, are labouring under difficulties, which we anxiously hope will be only of temporary duration, we cannot but at the same time avow our abhorrence and detestation of the unconstitutional means of redress resorted to by factious and unprincipled men, means which, if successful, must necessarily add to the distresses we lament, inasmuch as they must eventually terminate in the destruction of the Constitution, the subversion of all law, and the annihilation of every social blessing. We view, with still more lively abhorrence, the impious attempts which have been made, by blasphemous publications, to sap the foundations of religion, and to desecrate, in the eyes of the people, the Holy Scriptures, thereby depriving us of our best hopes, dissolving the bonds of civil society, and conducting us to universal anarchy.

At a crisis thus alarming, and pregnant with events destructive alike to the interests of individuals, and the well-being of society, we feel it an imperative duty upon us, as men duly appreciating the blessings under which we live, to assure your Royal Highness of our determination to resist every unconstitutional attempt of the factious and designing; fully confiding in the vigilant and paternal solicitude of your Royal Highness, for the welfare of these realms, in the efficacy of our laws, and in the purity of their administration.

John Brinsden, Mayor.

[Transmitted by the Earl of Ailesbury, and presented by Viscount Sidmouth.]

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT.

WE, the Bailiffs, Recorder, Aldermen, Town Clerk, Burgesses, and other Inhabitants of the Town and Neighbourhood of Bridgnorth, approach your Royal Highness with sentiments of lament and indignation at the present irritated and tumultuous state of various parts of the country, and the despicable and odious characters of the promoters of so much dread confusion.

Sensible of the high privileges which we enjoy in being blessed with the light of that Gospel whose dictates are not only peace and good will but subjection to constituted law and authority, we cannot contemplate without horror and dismay the spread of those impious, blasphemous, and seditious publications so daringly defended, and with a depravity unexampled urged by men of wicked principles and desperate fortunes, as instruments whereby they may insidiously undermine and dissolve every religious tie and every moral virtue; men who, under the specious pretext of a chimerical reform, take advantage of partial commercial pressure to instigate their misled followers to insurrection and rebellion, aiming to derive from anarchy, both worldly advantage and notoriety. These, Sir, we will oppose and circumvent to the utmost of our power; we will mark disaffection, and correct infidelity. We are convinced that the majority of the people, notwithstanding prevalent delusion, are well affected to your Royal Highness's august House, and to our excellent Constitution in Church and State. We will endeavour to impress them with a just sense of all the benefits which they thence derive, and to make them alive to the evils of sedition, and the dangers of corrupt and irreligious advisers; thus fixing in them a determined resolution to stand firm in defence of the Throne and the Altar, and carefully to avoid all appearance of insubordination. We are perfectly confident that your Royal Highness will never be led to authorise or approve any measures which are not strictly constitutional, but while we are sensible how much active and vigorous exertions appertain to the duties of those who are intrusted to guard the peace of the country, and since our information must at best be very imperfect, we will not insult your Royal Highness by illtimed and unnecessary remarks upon such acts as are yet to be judged by that great and real bulwark of our freedom, trial by jury. We are fully assured that your Royal Highness's wise and judicious Counsels will procure speedy restitution of order, and we hope that the ignorant and deluded will redeem their error, and meet their temporary pressure as Englishmen are wont to do, with manly exertion and perseverance, and thus prove to the designing and malignant deceivers, that they cannot long be estranged from being faithful to their Prince and true to their God. In order to aid this desirable end, we assure your Royal Highness, that our endeavours shall only cease with the effect; and we humbly subscribe ourselves His Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects.

[Presented by Viscount Sidmouth.]

On the 8th, 9th, and 10th of November, to Admirals, Captains, and their Attornies.

On the 11th, 12th, 15th, 16th, and 17th of November, to Lieutenants and Chaplains, and their Attornies.

“and their representatives, to draw for and receive their half-pay,” it is enacted by the first and third clauses of the said Act, “that if any Officer in His Majesty’s Navy, who shall be entitled to receive any sum of money for or on account of his half-pay, shall be desirous of drawing a bill of exchange for the same upon the Commissioners of His Majesty’s Navy, instead of receiving the same by remittance bill, he shall signify such desire, by letter, to the Treasurer of His Majesty’s Navy; and that if any Officer in His Majesty’s Navy, who shall be entitled to receive any sum of money for or on account of half-pay, shall be desirous of having his half-pay paid to him by extract at any of His Majesty’s Dock-Yards where Clerks for the payment of wages for the Navy shall reside, instead of receiving the same by remittance bill or bill of exchange, he is to apply either to the proper Clerk, at the Navy Pay-Office, in London, or at the Pay-Office at such Dock-Yard, signifying such his desire;” notice is hereby further given, that the half-pay ending the 30th September 1819, will commence paying on the 8th November; and all persons desirous of drawing for or of having their half-pay remitted to them, may apply as above directed.
