TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1819.

THE following Addresses, having been transmitted to Viscount Sidmouth, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, by the several persons whose names are respectively subjoined to each Address, have been presented by His Lordship to His Royal Highness the Prince Regent, who was pleased to receive the same very graciously:

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT.

The humble and dutiful Address of the Noblemen, Freeholders, Heritors, Justices of Peace, and Commissioners of Supply of the County of Peebles.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Noblemen, Freeholders, Heritors, Justices of the Peace, and Commissioners of Supply of the County of Peebles beg leave to express to your Royal Highness our unanimous sentiments on the present important juncture of public affairs.

The state of the country has for some time past awakened a general and powerful feeling; the distresses of a numerous class of the population excited the warmest sympathy; the endeavours of the Government to alleviate misfortunes which no human power could instantly and entirely relieve were hailed with public approbation, and seconded as far as possible by individuals; the conduct of the sufferers in certain districts exhibiting their patience and their gratitude afforded the most pleasing hopes; but these have become clouded through the criminal activity of factious and seditious persons, who have exerted every art of misrepresentation, and employed all the seduction of inflammatory harrangues to persuade misguided multitudes that the only relief of their distresses was to be found in measures tending directly to the subversion of the Government. The magistracy of the country would have been deeply culpable had such unjustifiable proceedings been unrestrained, and it was natural to conclude that in their endeavours to check these they might rely on the cordial support of all the worth and intelligence of the country.

It was no question of any particular line of politics admitting of difference of opinion among good and honourable men, but a question whether our happy Constitution in Church and State (equally assailed in both branches by unprincipled demagogues), should stand or fall.

Such we conceive was the decided feeling of the country when the events occurred at Manchester, which have recently occasioned so much unhappy discussions.

Though placed at a distance from the scene, we could not help feeling a deep interest and anxiety as to the proceeding. We considered however that it was our duty calmly to await an investigation into the real facts of the case; we need not disguise that we both entertained the hope and admitted the presumption that the result of such investigation would be to justify the conduct of the Magistrates, and to establish in their favour a claim to the thanks and approbation of their country; but we have seen with regret a different conduct pursued, first by individuals and afterwards by some public bodies by whom presumptions of a nature contrary to ours have been rashly and we think dangerously declared.

We now therefore think it our duty solemnly to express (not our opinion on the conduct of the Magistracy of Manchester, a matter which we still leave for due discussion with sufficient information and with competent authority), but our abhorrence of the conduct of those persons who have endeavoured to destroy our religion and Constitution by the dissemination of blasphemous and seditious publications, and have also both at Manchester and other parts of the kingdom, convened large assemblies of the people (physically incapable by their numbers of deliberation), under pretext of petitioning for redress of grievances, but obviously with the hope of overawing and intimidating the Government; nor can we omit to state our decided disapprobation of that hasty and vehement pre-judication of the Manchester question as it is called, which has elsewhere been manifested by persons who have ventured to pronounce a sentence of condemnation against gentlemen acting under lawful authority, and have held them up to public indignation as abusing the sacred trust committed to them, upon the information of those ringleaders of sedition, whose measures have been thwarted while by traversing the indictments against them they have succeeded in hitherto avoiding that regular investigation which can alone decisively prove their guilt or innocence, and demonstrate to the public the propriety or impropriety of that conduct which has been so arraigned.

Such proceedings cannot command the free and honest assent of dispassionate men, but they may and will produce the unhappy effects of inflaming the unthinking and of encouraging the disaffected; we for our parts protest against them, inconsistent as we deem them with candour and with justice to the parties concerned, and (what is of more importance), pregnant with consequences the most dangerous to the existence of the Constitution and to the enjoyment of liberty itself, and we consider it a fit occasion for humbly expressing to your Royal Highness our steady loyalty to His Majesty, our firm confidence in the wisdom of your Royal Highness's councils, and our determination to afford all the support in our power to such measures as may be necessary for preserving the public tranquillity and rendering abortive the machinations of designing and seditious men.

To His Royal Highness the PRINCE REGENT.

The dutiful and loyal Address of the Noblemen, Freeholders, Justices of Peace, and Commissioners of Supply of the County of Ayr.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Noblemen, Freeholders, Justices of Peace, and Commissioners of Supply of the Shire of Ayr, feel it our duty at this time to approach the Throne, with a declaration of our loyal attachment to the established institutions of these kingdoms, in opposition to the principles and practices by which their security is now in danger, and the peace of society disturbed.

We beg to repeat our sentiments of loyalty and attachment to your Royal Highness's sacred person, and to the established laws of the realm, and our determination to preserve to the utmost of our power those civil and religious institutions which have conferred upon ourselves so many blessings, and which we trust shall be the inheritance of our latest posterity.

With these feelings and resolutions, we remain, may it please your Royal Highness, His Majesty's loyal and devoted subjects, the Noblemen, Freeholders, Justices of Peace, and Commissioners of Supply of the Shire of Ayr.

Signed by our Preses, in our name and by our appointment, at Ayr, the 29th day of October 1819.
J. Montgomerie, Preses.

To His Royal Highness George Augustus Frederick Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's loyal and dutiful subjects, the Inhabitants and Land Owners of the Parish of St. David's, in the County of the City of Exeter, beg leave to approach your Royal Highness at the present eventful period, when every indication is presented of a systematic plan of proceedings for subverting the existing Government.

We feel it a duty imperative upon every loyal subject publicly to avow his attachment to the Constitution, and his abhorrence of the numerous concurrent attempts which are made to overthrow it. We have particularly contemplated with the deepest concern the erroneous views, which have been so extensively entertained, respecting the causes which have occasioned the distresses of the manufacturing classes of the community; persuaded that they are principally to be traced to the transition from a state of war to that of peace, and the consequent numerical augmentation of labourers and artificers at home, together with a revival of commerce and manufactures in other countries, the competition of foreign markets, and the increase of shipping in distant parts of Europe.

We regret the mistaken ideas, which are so sedulously inculcated, respecting the alledged expediency of expunging the national debt, in the fallacious hope of improving the condition of the poor; convinced in the first place, that were so flagrant a breach of public justice and of national faith to be committed, not the smallest loan could ever be obtained on the greatest emergency; and equally convinced in the next place that the execution of the specious project would defeat its alledged object, inasmuch as the extinction of funded property would preclude the most powerful encouragement to individuals to accumulate a capital, to be subsequently embarked in a manufacturing establishment, through which employment and maintenance are provided for the poor.

We are satisfied that the labouring classes will derive the most serious injury instead of benefit from being convened by aspiring demagogues to political meetings; partly from being drawn off from their honest occupations, and by their acquiring habits of idleness, partly by being deluded by misrepresentation, excited to insubordination, and primed for insurrection; but principally by their imbibing seditious principles, which, without receiving some effectual check, can only lead to overt acts of treason, rebellion, and civil war.

We perceive with the sincerest sorrow, the adoption of the very same means in this country as were resorted to in France, Germany, and other States, for accomplishing the overthrow of their respective Governments; the dissemination of infidel and blasphemous publications, with a view to remove any check from the operation of religious principles to the successful termination of seditious and traitorous designs, subversive of the best interests of civilized society.

We strongly reprobate the fallacious system suggested for the pretended improvement of the Legislature, by giving to the democratic branch of it an overwhelming preponderance in the balance of the Constitution. We conceive that the subjection of the representative part of the Senate to the increasing influence of popular caprice, and the probability of a continual change of its members, from the natural result of annual Parliaments, would preclude the possibility of perseverance in the best concerted system of political measures; that the proposition of universal suffrage will be equally injurious to individuals and to the public at large, it being preposterous to expect that persons in a dependant situation of life, would be generally actuated by independant motives in the election of representatives; and it being frequently experienced that the exercise of the privilege of suffrage instead of being advantageous is highly detrimental to the private interests of persons of this class of the community.

We have observed with concern, not only the contempt with which the Legislature has of late been treated, but likewise the obloquy which has been cast upon the executive branch of the Government. We particularly disapprove of condemning unheard, any body of Magistrates, whose conduct has not yet been subjected to legal investigation.

Fully sensible of the advantages which have been enjoyed by ourselves and by our forefathers under the present excellent Constitution, in the security of our persons and property, the equal administration of justice, and protection from the assaults of both foreign and domestic enemies, we pledge ourselves to strengthen the hands of Government when the Constitution is endangered by faction and insurrection, and when political revolution assumes the cloak of radical reform. We avow our strongest attachment to His Majesty's Person and Government, and to your Royal Highness, and our firm determination to support the constituted authorities in the execution of the laws; and we are resolved personally to discountenance to the utmost of our power, the propagation of blasphemy, infidelity, and sedition, from the fullest persuasion, that such principles are equally destructive to the present and to the future happiness of mankind, and merit the reprobation of every honest and well-disposed mind.

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales,
REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

May it please your Royal Highness,

WE, His Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Ministers and Elders of the Province of Angus and Mearns, in Synod assembled, beg leave respectfully to approach your Royal Highness expressing our firm and zealous attachment to the Person and Family of our venerable Sovereign, whose continued indisposition we sincerely lament; to the Government of your Royal Highness; and to our unrivalled Constitution in Church and State.

In proportion as we value those religious and civil privileges, which all classes of the community so fully and so equally enjoy, under your Royal Highness's paternal Government; we regret the exertions that are making by the designing in several parts of the kingdom, to alienate the minds of His Majesty's subjects, and the progress which principles, tending to subvert the religious and civil institutions of the Country have made.

Encouraged by long experience we rely with perfect confidence on the wisdom, firmness, and energy of His Majesty's Government, and trust that, under the direction of Him, in whose hands are the hearts of all men, your Royal Highness will be able to adopt such measures as shall protect the loyal and peaceable part of the community from the dangers by which they are threatened, give a seasonable and effectual check to the career of profanity and sedition, and put a stop to the farther diffusion of opinions, which every good man regards with abhorrence, and which are equally subversive of private and public virtue and happiness.

We beg leave to assure your Royal Highness that it shall be our constant endeavour to impress upon the minds of the people committed to our charge, a regard for the principles and conformity to the precepts of our holy religion which commands us to "fear God and honour the King."

That Almighty God may support and comfort His Majesty the King, guide and direct your Royal Highness in the discharge of the arduous duties with which you are entrusted, bless the whole Royal Family, and maintain and perpetuate our invaluable privileges sacred and civil, is the fervent prayer of, May it please your Royal Highness, the Ministers and Elders of this Synod.

Signed, in name, presence, and by the appointment of the Provincial Synod of Angus and Mearns, at Forfar, this 26th day of October 1819 years, by R. Smith, Moderator.

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales,
REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

WE, His Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Noblemen, Gentlemen, Magistrates, and Heritors of the County of Bute, beg leave humbly to approach your Royal Highness, acting in the name and on behalf of your Royal Father, our venerable Sovereign, and to express those sentiments of allegiance and respectful attachment which are due to your sacred Person. We do not presume to make a boast of these sentiments, which we hope and do firmly believe are common to the immense majority of His Majesty's subjects; but we think it our duty to declare them at the present juncture. We feel the value of the liberties we enjoy, and will yield to none in our resolution to maintain them; but we consider as their worst enemies those men who watch every moment of distress, not to relieve and assist their fellow subjects, but to take the most treacherous means of exciting their worst passions against every principle which we are accustomed to revere as established and sacred. We rally round a Throne which owes its honour to the attachment of a free people, in defence of our peace, our laws, and our religion.

Signed, in name and by appointment of the meeting, at Rothsay, the 3d day of November 1819.

Bute and Dumfries, Lieutenant for Buteshire.

To His Royal Highness George Prince of Wales, REGENT of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

WE, His Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Clergy, Gentry, Merchants, Manufacturers, and other Inhabitants of the Town and Neighbourhood of Warrington, humbly beg leave to approach your Royal Highness with our earnest assurances of steadfast and unflinching attachment to His Majesty's Person and Government, of personal and unalienable respect for your Royal Highness, and of our firm determination to support and defend the Laws and Constitution of these Realms in every danger, whether arising from the machinations of foreign enemies, or the more insidious attempts of designing men at home.

We deeply deplore that the liberty of the press has so fearfully degenerated into licentiousness, and become the medium of the propagation of opinions replete with infidelity and treason.

We view with abhorrence the conduct of rebellious emissaries, who by their inflammatory and seditious harangues endeavour to seduce unthinking men from their religion and allegiance; and who, by garbled representations and wilful misconstructions of the late occurrences in this immediate neighbourhood, attempt to keep alive that spirit of insubordination, which unfortunately they have been too successful in exciting.

In this momentous crisis we esteem it our indispensable duty to repeat the assurance of our unfeigned loyalty and attachment to the House of Brunswick, and our determined resolution to defend with our lives and property the glorious Constitution under which we live.

And that such share or shares of the Admiral or Admirals as aforesaid, to which he or they shall not be entitled on the conditions hereinbefore expressed, shall go and belong to the Captain or Officer commanding the ship or vessel in which the gold, silver, treasure, or other articles shall be carried on freight as aforesaid.

to the gold, silver, jewels, or other articles so received on freight exceeding the total freight-money, Greenwich Hospital shall not be entitled to receive any sum on account of such freight; and in cases in which the loss may not amount to the whole of the freight money, Greenwich Hospital shall be entitled only to its proportion of the balance of freight-money over and above such loss or damage.

That in order to prevent any doubt or misunderstanding as to the rate or distribution of freight on gold, silver, jewels, or other articles as aforesaid, received on board flag-ships, or any other of His Majesty's ships and vessels, and to prevent any private agreements inconsistent with these regulations all Flag or other Officers are expressly forbidden to receive on board any of His Majesty's ships or vessels any gold, silver, jewels, or other articles as aforesaid, upon any agreement or condition different from these regulations, or to take, demand, or receive any sums, other than those established by these regulations.

That these rules and regulations shall be in force from the day on which they shall be received by His Majesty's Officers, and be thenceforward taken and understood to be the established rule and custom of His Majesty's naval service on the several particulars to which they refer till they shall be revoked or otherwise altered by any Proclamation or Proclamations to be issued by Us.
