Carlton-House, July 19, 1820.

THIS day, a Deputation from the United States of the Ionian Islands, consisting of the Most Excellent Senator Zavo, and the Most Noble Chevalier Petrizzopulo, attended by the Earl of Guildford, Knight Grand Cross of the most distinguished Order of St. Michael and St. George; Colonel Sir Frederick Hankey, Knight Commander of the said Order, Secretary; and Captain Edwards, Aid-de-Camp to Sir T. Maitland, G. C. B., Grand Master of the Order; and His Majesty's Lord High Commissioner in the Ionian Islands, was introduced to His Majesty upon the Throne, by the Lord Chamberlain of His Majesty's Household and His Majesty's Master of the Ceremonies, to deliver an Address from the United States of the Ionian Islands, on His Majesty's accession to the Throne; after which, His Majesty was most graciously pleased to invest the Senator Zavo with the ensigns of a Knight Commander of the Order of St. Michael and St. George, which were presented by Sir George Naylor, King of Arms of the Order, on a crimson velvet cushion.

Carlton-House, July 19, 1820.

THIS day the Most Excellent Senator Zavo, and the Most Noble the Chevalier Petrizzopulo, Commissioners Extraordinary from the independent Government of the United States of the Ionian Islands, accompanied by the Right Honourable the Earl of Guildford, Chancellor of the Ionian University; Lieutenant-Colonel Sir Frederick Hankey, Secretary; and Captain Edwards, Aide-de-Camp to His Excellency the Right Honourable Lieutenant-General Sir Thomas Maitland, His Majesty's Lord High Commissioner in the Ionian Islands, waited upon the King to present an Address in the Greek language, of which the following is a translation:

May it please your Majesty,

YOUR Majesty sees before you a Member of the Senate, in which is lodged the executive Government of the Ionian Islands, and a Member of the Legislature of that country, who are sent as an extraordinary Deputation to express to your Majesty how sincerely the Ionian people condole with your Majesty on the occasion of the death of your Majesty's much lamented and august Father, and to congratulate your Majesty on your accession to the Throne of your Royal Ancestors; the high renown of which was at no time more splendid than whilst as Regent, your Majesty wielded the sceptre of this great empire.

It was during that period that your Majesty extended to our Islands the powerful protection of this flourishing kingdom, and ratified that free and independent Constitution which has given universal satisfaction to the people; in whose name we are directed humbly to offer to your Majesty (their sole and exclusive protector), assurances of the most grateful and devoted attachment.

It is by their desire we seize this opportunity of informing your Majesty, that the Ionians in their present condition enjoy a degree of happiness and security, for centuries unknown to them; and that they look forward with the brightest hope, through the unceasing paternal sollicitude of your Majesty, to a state of prosperity, unparalleled even in those remote periods, when our Island figured so extensively in the history of the world.

To which Address His Majesty was pleased to return the following most gracious answer:

"I thank you for the expressions of attachment to my Person and Government, which you have been authorised to make to me on behalf of the Ionian people.

"You may rely upon my making their happiness the object of my anxious care; I feel that this can only be secured by an effective adherence to the Constitution, established under the exclusive protection of my late Royal Father; it will therefore be my endeavour so to exercise the powers which have devolved upon me, as Protecting Power of the States, as to give to their existing institutions that stability and permanence calculated to ensure to them the respect of foreign Powers, to promote their domestic and commercial prosperity, and to open a prospect of future welfare, not inferior to that enjoyed by them at the most brilliant period of their history.
