

The London Gazette.

Published by Authority.

From Thursday October 5. to Sunday October 9 1682.

Moscow, Aug. 15.

WE gave you formerly an account, That we had here two young Princes, who Governed jointly: Hitherto they seem to agree very well, and things are calm and quiet, but many fear they will not long continue so, and that we shall fall into new troubles. We are expecting here an Envoy from the King of Denmark, and another from the Elector of Brandenburg, who, it's said, come to engage this Court in the Interests of those Princes; but it is not believed that the Ministers here will much concern themselves with affairs abroad, while things at home are in the state they now are in.

Venice, Sept. 25. The illness of the Duke of Savoy affords not only matter of Discourse, but of Concernment also, to these parts, because of the great consequences the Death of that Prince would in all probability have: Our last Letters from Turin told us, That his Highness's Voyage for Portugal had been put off for this Year, and that People did much rejoice at it. Some persons who are lately arrived from Turkey, inform us, That the Turks have been preparing these two Years for a War, which it's believed is now going to break out in Hungary; That the next Year the Grand Vizier will go into the Field in Person, and that he will be at the head of a very formidable Army. The Letters we receive from Constantinople speak to the same effect; however they give us some hopes of Count Caprara's succeeding in his Negotiation there, which we wish there may be ground for. The Letters we receive from Rome leave us very much in the dark, as to the present State of things between that Court and the Crown of France.

Genova, Sept. 23. This Morning Sailed from hence the Samuel and Henry, Captain Paxton Commander, for Leghorne, Messina, and Venice. Four days since two of the Great-Duke's Gallies were forced into this Port by a violent Storm; By this accident the difference that has so long depended, concerning Salutes, has been adjudged; the said Gallies Saluted the Castle with four Guns each, and were answered with as many; then they Saluted the Gallies of this State with four Guns, and were answered, by the Admiral-Galley, with two. The John and Mary Pink, bound for the Coast of Spain, and from thence for England, is arrived here from Leghorn. By a Vessel arrived from Marseilles we have advice, That the French Gallies were arrived there from the Coast of Barbary, Monsieur du Quefne finding they were of no use for that service, or at least being unwilling to hazard them any longer on so dangerous a Coast, in this season. From Turin they write, That it has been resolved that the Duke of Savoy shall not go for Portugal this Year, the state of his health not permitting it; That the Duke of Cadaval had been made acquainted therewith, and that thereupon, pursuant to the Orders he had received from the Prince-Regent of Portugal, he was preparing to return home with the Fleet.

Vienna, Sept. 27. Their Imperial Majesties are expected here the Third of the next Month, from Ebersdorf, and on the Sixth, the Duke and Dutchess of Newburg will part from hence to their Residence in the Empire. Our last Letters from Hungary give an account, That since the taking of Vilck, the Turks and Hungarians were separated; That the first, under the Command of the Vizier of Buda, were marched towards Agria, and that it was reported they intended to pass the Danube, and to fall into the Lower Hungary, while Count Teckley continues to act with his Forces in the Upper, where he has possessed himself of the Gold and Silver Mines. The number of the Turks is reckoned at Sixty Thousand, and the Hungarian Rebels; at Twenty Thousand, besides the Troops of the Prince of Transylvania, which may be about Ten Thousand; and General Caprara, not being able to make head against a Force so much exceeding that under his Command, is retired to Trenthin, on the Waag. The Militia of Hungary, which the Palatine of that Kingdom has raised, is found to be of no use, being without Experience or Discipline, and committing great disorders in their own Country. The Governor of Caschau is a Prisoner here, and will be tried by a Council of War for having disregarded the timely notice that was given him of the designs of the Enemy upon that place. Count Strasoldo will likewise be questioned for his Conduct, which some blame very much. Several Regiments, which came from Bohemia, are passed by this place in their March towards Hungary.

Strasburg, Sept. 29. The Baron de Monclar, the French King's Lieutenant General in Alsace, has been here, to give several Orders concerning the new Fortifications, and is returned again for Brisac. Many people expected, not long since, the execution of some great design, which it was believed the French had in hand, and Monsieur de Louvois's arrival in these parts confirmed them in that opinion; but at present they begin to think otherwise, and many Officers having obtained leave to be absent from their Commands here; and in other places in Alsace, it seems to be an Argument that no sudden Action is intended.

Frankfort, Octob. 1. According to the advice we receive from Hungary, a great War is coming on in those parts, which will not only employ the Emperor's whole Force, but require the assistance of the Princes of the Empire, and we are told that the Electors of Bavaria and Saxony, and the Duke of Neuburg, have already resolved to assist his Imperial Majesty with part of their Troops; and that the Brandenburg Ministers do give out, That the Elector; their Master, will likewise not be wanting ing to give the Emperor what assistance he can against the Turks, but wishes that a firm Peace may be first established between the Empire and the most Christian King.

Hamburg, Octob. 4. We have had a Report for several days, grounded upon some advices which come from Danzick, That in Moscow they are again fallen into great troubles; That Prince Peter, and many of the Boyars, and other great Men, have been killed; but our Letters from Moscow, of the 15th past, not making any mention thereof, we do not give any credit to it. The Dukes of Lunenburg are, as we are informed, endeavouring to compose the Matters in difference between the King of Denmark and the Duke of Holsstein, in which people here very heartily wish they may have the desired success, that so all occasions of disturbing the Peace, which we and our Neighbours at present enjoy, may be taken away.

Cologne, Octob. 6. Our Elector is highly offended that the City of Liege have not all this while made the Submission he expects from them, and therefore seems resolved to break off all Treaty with them, and to make use of his power to reduce them to their Obedience. It is reported, That the most Christian King has made his Electoral Highness an offer of his Troops, to be employed against that City, but that his Electoral Highness has not accepted thereof.

Brussels, Octob. 10. The Marquis de Bedmar having received his Commission from Spain, to be General of the Artillery in these Provinces, has thereupon received the Compliments of all Persons of Quality here. The Marquis de Granada has ordered the English Regiment, and that commanded by Count Grimberg, to March from Aeth to Bruges, where they are to Winter. The Dyke between Ostend and Fok Albert, which was broken through in several places by the last Inundation, is now very well repaired, and all the Works at Ostend are likewise finished, and in good order, but the new Fortifications that are making at Newport, advance but slowly, and will require time. We are much troubled at the ill news we receive by every Post from Hungary, where it's said the Turks, together with the Hungarian Rebels, and the Transilvanians, are 80000 strong, and that since the taking of Pilleck, they are separated, and intend for the future to act in distinct Bodies, and that Count Caprava, General of the Imperial Army, understanding that the Enemy advanced towards him, was retired to Trenchin on the Waag to expect the conjunction of the rest of the Imperial Troops. A Placact has been Published here, by his Excellency's Command, for the preventing the great excesses in Apparel. His Excellency intends to go very suddenly for Gelderland.

Paris, Octob. 10. We have Letters, Dated before Argiers the sixteenth of the last Month, which give an account, That the Sieur du Quezno, having caused the Gallies, under the Protection of five Men of War, and several Armed Barks, to come to an Anchor near Argiers, they had, the 20th past, and the third and fourth Instant in the night, shot a great many Bombs into that City, which had destroyed part of the great Mosque, and several Houses, and killed a great many Persons, but that this execution of the Lombes had not had any effect upon those people to dispose them to a Peace, and that therefore the Sieur du Quezno, seeing the Winter season so far advanced, had thought fit to send home the said Gallies, and that he followed himself the sixteenth, the day the Letters were writ, leaving four Men of War, under the command of the Chevalier de Leri, to Cruise on the Coast of Barbary. From Rome we have advice, That the new General of the Jesuits, who has been in a great perplexity concerning his visiting the French and Spanish Ambassadors, each pretending to the first Visit, has at last resolved to visit the French Ambassador first: He would have accommodated the matter by visiting neither, but that would not satisfy. The Dauphine returned, the seventh Instant, to Persailles, from Chambor, from whence their Majesties part the 12th Instant for Fontainebleau.

These are to give Notice, That since the 29th day of September last, there is and will be a Post continued, as usual, from London to St. Albans and so to Luton, Barton, Amphill, Bedford, and from Bedford to Carleton, Wellingbrow, Kettering, Thrapton, and Oundle; to which said Towns will be particular ways for their conveyance, as also of the Towns adjacent, and so back again to London three times a Week: and all persons concerned are desired to insert at the bottom of their Letters the Post-Town nearest to the place their Letters are directed, for their speedy Conveyance.

Advertisements.

A T Mr. Samuel Stanes His Majesties Druggist in Ordinary, at the Red Lyon in Bucklers-Bury, all Gentlemen, Jockeys, and others, may be furnished with all sorts of Drugs for Purgings, Scouring, and sweating of Running-Horses or Hunters; and Balls for Colds or Coughs: As also Boxes with Locks and Keys, Scales and Weights, whereby they may proportion their own quantities.

TO be sold by Candle, at the Marine Coffee-House, in Brick-Lane, at two of the Clock, on Wednesday the 22 of November next, about thirty Tun of Black-Lead, the sorts, Duff, Rock, Egg, and fine large Lead, divided into eight Lots; to be seen at a Ware-house in Fowkes Buildings, in Water-Lane, from Monday the 13th of November till the time of Sale, from eight of the Clock in the Morning, till 12. The particulars may be had of PHILIP BICKLEY, of Blackwell-Hall.

LOst on Saturday the 30th of September, between eight and nine a Clock at Night, from behind a Coach, between Aldermanbury and the turning into Love-Lane, a Hair-Trunk, with the following things in it, a sad coloured Venetian Petticoat, with a Campain Lace at the bottom; a Cherry coloured Sattin Petticoat. Laced to the top with Silver Lace; a purple and white Silk Petticoat; a pair of hair-coloured sattin Stays, Embroidered with Gold and Silver; a Venetian Mantua, hair-coloured and white, faced with black Shag; and some Linnen, marked with an S. Whoever gives notice of the said Trunk or parcel, to Mr. William Bridges, Linnen-Draper, at the White Bear in Cornhill, or to Mr. Watton, Merchant, in Love Lane, shall have 40 s. Reward.

STolen out of the House of Mr. John Guile, Broad-Weaver, next door to the Pewter-Platter in Spittle Fields, on Sunday, the first Instant, in the Evening, a great quantity of Silks, some Striped, others Flowered with Gold and Silver, several Pieces of Rich Silk Druggets, Serge-Wale, Thred Druggets, as likewise several pieces of Hair-Camle. If these Goods, or any part of them, be offered to be Sold or Pawned, whoever stops the Party, and sends word to Mr. John Guile aforesaid shall have 20 Guineas Reward.

STolen or strayed out of Chattris-Common in the Isle of Wight, about the 20th of September last, a black Mare, gear 13 hands high, six years old, branded on her near Shoulder with an H with a bay Mare-Fole, three Months old, having both of them Stars in their Foreheads. Whoever gives notice of them to Thomas Wright of Chattris aforesaid, or to Richard Martin, in White Hart-Court, in Grace-church-street, so that they be restored, shall have 40 Shillings Reward.