

The London Gazette.

Published by Authority.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 23, 1820.

THE following Addresses, having been transmitted to Viscount Sidmouth, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, by the several persons whose names are respectively subjoined to each Address, were presented by His Lordship to His Majesty, who was pleased to receive the same very graciously:

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address of the Master Pilots and Seamen of the Trinity House of Newcastle-upon-Tyne, in the County of Newcastle-upon-Tyne.

May it please your Majesty.

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Master Pilots and Seamen of the Trinity House of Newcastle-upon-Tyne, in the County of Newcastle-upon-Tyne, beg leave to approach your Majesty with the renewed sentiments of our loyalty to the Throne, and steady and heartfelt attachment to your Majesty's illustrious Person and Family, and to express our deep and grateful estimation of the blessings we enjoy under our invaluable Constitution.

Viewing as we do with sorrow the attempts of a base and desperate faction (by arts which Englishmen should blush to own) to alienate the affections of your Majesty's loyal subjects from their attachment to your Majesty's Person; we feel imperiously called upon at this juncture to make an open and fearless avowal of our determination to rally round the Throne and to maintain and uphold, by every means in our power, the Constitution in Church and State as by law established.

We repose with confidence upon the wisdom and integrity of your Majesty's Ministers, and trust that their wise and prudent counsels, aided by the co-operation of all your Majesty's loyal and good subjects, will speedily dispel the delusions which disaffection and sedition have excited, and restore to us the invaluable blessings of national tranquility.

We earnestly pray that your Majesty may continue long to reign peaceably and prosperously over a loyal people, and that the happiness we have derived from our unrivalled Constitution, under the mild and beneficent sway of the House of Brunswick, may descend unimpaired to our latest posterity.

Given under the seal of this Corporation, the 13th day of December 1820.

George Fothergill Master.

[Transmitted by the Lord Chancellor.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's loyal and dutiful subjects, the Noblemen, Freeholders, Justices of Peace, and Commissioners of Supply of the County of Perth, in general meeting assembled, again humbly beg leave to approach your Majesty with feelings of the most cordial allegiance and fidelity.

We so lately expressed to your Majesty our firm attachment to your Royal Person and Government, that we should not have deemed a repetition of these professions now to be necessary, did we not conceive that at the present moment it would be a dereliction of the duties we owe to your Majesty, our country, and ourselves, were we to hesitate respectfully to assure your Majesty, that the loyalty and attachment which we then expressed remain unaltered and unimpaired—openly to avow our continued approbation of the principles upon which your Majesty has hitherto conducted your Government—and explicitly to declare our fixed determination, by every means in our power, to preserve and maintain our happy Constitution.

When revolution is the obvious and almost acknowledged object of a profligate faction, when a seditious and blasphemous press is unceasingly employed to eradicate from the minds of the people those principles of loyalty to their King, attachment to the Constitution, and veneration for the Religious institutions of their country for which the British nation has hitherto been so eminently distinguished; we feel ourselves imperatively called upon to proclaim our detestation and abhorrence of these atrocious designs, our sense of the ruinous consequences to which they lead, and our assurance that no efforts will be deemed by us too great, no sacrifices too extensive to counteract and repress them.

Such we firmly believe to be the sentiments which animate the great and estimable portion of the nation, and strong in such support we with confidence look to your Majesty's paternal care and the wisdom of the Legislature for security against the evils with which we are menaced.

Signed by our Preses, in our name, by our appointment, and in our presence, at Perth, this 15th day of December, in the year 1820.

Atholl, Preses.

[Transmitted by His Grace the Duke of Atholl, K. T.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

WE, Inhabitants of the Parish of Saint Michael, in the City of Bristol, beg leave to approach your Majesty with sincere assurances of attachment to your Majesty's illustrious House, and with an honest expression of our thankfulness for the many blessings which we and our ancestors have enjoyed under its protection. We beg to assure your Majesty that we have witnessed, with the deepest sorrow and indignation, the existence and progress of disaffection among some of our fellow subjects, which, we trust, a general manifestation of national loyalty will speedily crush. We assure your Majesty of our firm resolution to discourage and resist, in our several spheres of action, and by all the means in our power, that spirit of sedition to which we have alluded, together with its usual attendants of irreligion and blasphemy, remembering, that our duties as christians and subjects, to "fear God and honour the King" cannot be dis severed the one from the other. We therefore pledge ourselves to promote, by our example and influence, a dutiful allegiance to your Majesty's Royal Person, and a submission to the Laws and constituted Authorities of our country, knowing, that thereby only can we secure to ourselves a continuance of our civil and religious privileges, and of that high character which Divine Providence has given us among the nations of the earth.

[Transmitted by R. H. Davis and H. Bright, Esqrs. M. P. for the City of Bristol.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Minister, Churchwardens, Overseers and principal Inhabitants of the Parish of Hawkhurst, in the County of Kent, with all due submission beseech your Majesty to accept this our true and faithful declaration of our sincere attachment to your Majesty's Royal Person, to the Throne of these realms and to the Constitution, as by law established.

We feel it a duty which we owe to your Majesty, to ourselves, and to our country, to express our great and just abhorrence of those evil principles of infidelity and heresie, which are industriously circulated by wicked and designing persons, with views which cannot be mistaken. We have lived to see the pure precepts of our holy religion denied, its benign Author, its duties and its doctrines ridiculed and vilified; we have seen the vicious principles of atheism and treason professed and justified as virtues to be imitated; we have seen all the most valuable institutions of our ancestors derided and degraded, and every species of pernicious doctrine disseminated among the ignorant and the distressed, with an activity and perseverance scarcely to be equalled, and with a malignity which nothing but a mind the most wicked and perverted could have produced. These appear to us to be the frightful signs of the times, and to call upon all your Majesty's true and loyal subjects to endeavour to stem this impetuous torrent of blasphemy and sedition, by rallying round the Throne for its defence against all its open and insidious enemies, a duty with which we feel strongly impressed, by a thorough conviction, that on the stability of the Throne and the maintenance of the Constitution in all its purity, as bequeathed to us by our ancestors, entirely depend all the civil and political liberties and valuable privileges which are our birthright as Britons.

[Transmitted by Sir Edwd. Knatchbull, Bart. M. P.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Vice-Chancellor, Dean of Faculties, Principal and Professors in the University of Glasgow, in Senate assembled, having observed with deep concern the incessant endeavours of a factious and turbulent portion of our fellow subjects to propagate disaffection, to exasperate discontent, and to overawe the Legislature, think it our duty to convey to your Majesty renewed assurances of our unaltered attachment to your Person and Government, and of our strong disapprobation of those men who are seizing every occasion to weaken the loyalty of your people and their reverence for those laws and that religion to which they owe their most inestimable blessings.

Regarding with grateful admiration that system of policy which was established by the wisdom of our ancestors, which has been improved by the practical experience of successive generations, and which contains within itself the principle of progressive melioration, we shall cherish in our minds, and in the youth committed to our charge, a zeal for its institutions proportioned to the hostility of its enemies.

Although remote from the seat of Government, and removed in a great degree, by our pursuits, from the contests of party, yet we trust that without going beyond the bounds of propriety we may be permitted to say that, at least, a great majority of us are fully satisfied with the wisdom of your Majesty's Councils. While your Majesty held the executive power under your revered Father, we have seen your present servants terminate with glory the most threatening war in which this country was ever engaged; and to us it appears that they, have since, in times of unexampled difficulty, conducted the affairs of the State, firmly, constitutionally and successfully.

That your Majesty may long continue to reign in peace, prosperity and honour, over subjects who duly appreciate their high and peculiar advantages, shall always be our earnest prayer.

Signed, in our name and by our appointment, having the seal of the University affixed, at Glasgow College, the 13th day of December 1820 years, by William Taylor, Vice-Chancellor.

[Transmitted by His Grace the Duke of Montrose, K. G.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

The dutiful and loyal Address of the Ministers, Churchwarden, and certain Inhabitants of the Town of Worthing and Parish of Broadwater, in the County of Sussex.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, the Ministers, Churchwarden, and Inhabitants of the Town of Worthing and Parish of Broadwater, beg permission to approach your Majesty with an assurance of our most dutiful allegiance. Deeply impressed, as every reflecting mind cannot but be, with a conviction of the excellence of the Constitution of our country, we have heard and seen with mingled indignation and sorrow the attempts which have lately been made (partly by the vile and libellous misrepresentations of a profligate and licentious and self-interested press, and partly by unprincipled demagogues exciting the worst passions of congregated multitudes), to undermine this glorious fabric. Taking advantage of a period of national agitation which these workers of mischief both create and cherish, they have laboured to alienate the minds of the people from their duty, and in some instances with too fatal success. Professing an hypocritical attachment to your Majesty's Person, they are devising the destruction of the Throne; and whilst they advocate what they are pleased to designate the morals of the country, they are making a mock at its religion, on which alone true morality can be founded; but we look with confidence, under Providence, to the wisdom and prudence of your Majesty's Councils, and to the sound constitutional, moral and religious feelings of the nation at large, for the frustration of all their desperate machinations. We trust that sober reason will speedily dissipate the mists of delusion which now partially overspread the land, and display to the infatuated plotters of evil the folly and odiousness of their conduct, disappointment and shame being the only fruit of their labours. Meantime, whilst the disaffected are superadding to real distress, notions of imaginary grievances, and holding out visionary and unconstitutional plans of redress, we will endeavour to lead them and their followers to a better mind.

We are neither unacquainted with nor insensible to our national burdens; they press heavily; but we look back on the Wellington, on the field of Waterloo, and every rising murmur of discontent is suppressed. The long and arduous struggle for our very homes could not have been sustained without a proportionate expence; but, of a contest crowned with such a victory, the secured liberties of ourselves and of Europe forbid us to count or complain of the cost. We look to your Majesty's paternal sollicitude for your people for every expedient retrenchment of expentiture; and the inseparable connection between the honour and dignity of the Crown and the safety and welfare of the State, encourage us to look with confidence.

We are convinced, by observation and experience, that the Constitution we have inherited from our forefathers is admirably calculated for promoting national and individual happiness and prosperity; it imparts more personal freedom and security than the subjects of any other State enjoy, and it has raised us to an eminence of glory unattained by any other nation. These blessings we duly prize; it were ungrateful not to acknowledge them; and, by endeavouring to merit their continuance, we hope to transmit them unimpaired to posterity.

This, Sire, is the first address ever presented to the Throne by the Town of Worthing and Parish of Broadwater; and we had not now obtruded ourselves upon your Majesty's notice, did we not apprehend that our silence, under the present circumstances of the country, might be misconstrued, that the timid and the wavering might thereby be more easily seduced from their duty and allegiance, and even the disaffected interpret it into an acquiescence in their plans and projects, which we utterly abhor.

Permit us to assure your Majesty that the sentiments which we now thus publicly express, are deeply rooted in our hearts. We are duly impressed with a sense of the blessings we have enjoyed under the sway of your illustrious House, and the virtues of your late venerated Father will ever be held in grateful remembrance; but our attachment to your Majesty rests upon a stronger foundation; it is interwoven with our individual and national interests.

We pray that your Majesty may be blessed with a long and prosperous reign, ruling in the hearts of a dutiful and loyal people.

Worthing, December 11th 1820.

[Transmitted by the Rev. Peter Wood.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, the Clergy, Churchwardens, Vestrymen and Inhabitants of the loyal and extensive Parish of Kirkham, in the County Palatine of Lancaster, have observed, with the deepest sorrow, the attempts which have been made, and which are still pursued with unabated perseverance, to subvert the religious and civil institutions of our country; we feel it therefore to be the duty of every part of your Majesty's faithful subjects, at this momentous crisis, to offer to your Majesty the most public and solemn assurances of attachment to your Person and to our Constitution in Church and State.

Impressed as we are with a due sense of the national blessings which we and our forefathers have enjoyed under the Government of your Royal House, we anxiously hope to transmit them unimpaired to our children, as the best security to their principles, their virtue and their happiness; and we cordially unite in the firm determination of supporting, to the utmost of our power, the establishments and laws of the Realm.

We feel confident that these will safely be maintained under the reign of your Majesty, and humbly pray that you may long continue to be the Guardian and Father of your people.

Kirkham, December 10, 1820.

[Transmitted by the Rev. James Webber, Vicar.]

Unto the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

WE, your Majesty's loyal subjects, Guildry Members of the Royal Burgh of Stirling, beg leave to approach your Majesty's Throne, amidst the present unhappy crisis, when the enemies of our internal peace and welfare are making open attacks upon our happy Constitution, and rallying under a banner displayed in opposition to your Majesty's Person and Government. We humbly conceive it our duty to express our unfeigned veneration for that inestimable Constitution, handed down to us by our worthy ancestors at the expence of their blood and treasure, and which happy Constitution (the admiration of the world), is still continued to us, through the kindness of Divine Providence, in the happy accession of your Majesty to the Throne of these Realms. And when many of your Majesty's subjects are seduced from their lawful allegiance through the wicked and seditious attempts of the disaffected, we beg leave humbly to express our unshaken loyalty and attachment to your Majesty's Person and Government, earnestly wishing that He "by whom kings reign" may in His infinite goodness turn the counsels of your adversaries into foolishness, and grant unto your Majesty a long, prosperous, and happy reign, is the prayer of your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects.

Stirling, December 13, 1820.

John Buchan, Provost.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, the Vicar, Churchwardens, and Inhabitants of the Parish of East Brent, in the County of Somerset, humbly approach your Majesty with respectful assurances of our unalterable attachment to your Majesty's Royal Person and Government.

We view with indignation, but without dismay, the wicked attempts of a desperate and unprincipled faction, who endeavour to provoke resistance to the laws by aspersing the integrity of our highest Tribunals of Justice; and who, availing themselves of every season of public calamity, seek, under the mask of reform, to overthrow all the venerable institutions of our beloved country: institutions under which it has, for a long series of years, enjoyed the blessings of pure religion and genuine liberty, and attained unrivalled eminence both in arts and arms.

In this unhallowed work of destruction, blasphemy and sedition, as might be expected, go hand in hand together; but we hope and believe that the public mind is not yet extensively corrupted; and we are persuaded that the loyal and the good will be speedily roused to a sense of the dangers by which they are surrounded, and that their united efforts, co-operating with the wisdom and energy of your Majesty's Councils, will, under the blessing of Divine Providence, be successful in counteracting the designs of the disaffected, and in maintaining unimpaired our happy Constitution in Church and State.

[Transmitted by John W. Trevor, Esq.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty,
Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Bailiffs, High Steward, Recorder and Freemen of the Ancient and loyal Corporation of Kingston-upon-Thames, in the County of Surrey, feel it our duty to approach your Majesty at the present time, with the solemn assurance of our unabated attachment to your Majesty's Person and Government.

Highly valuing the blessings we enjoy from the Constitution under which we live, we estimate none of those blessings more highly than the right of freely entertaining and expressing individual opinion;—but we have seen with the deepest concern the abuse which has of late prevailed of that great privilege.

Every occasion of public difficulty or distress,—every difference in sentiment upon public affairs so natural and so useful in a free country, some of the best feelings of a generous people have been employed by evil disposed and wicked persons for the purposes of discontent and disaffection; whilst impiety and blasphemy have been active to remove from loyalty the support which it must ever derive from religion and morals.

It cannot be necessary for us to enumerate the fatal consequence of these evils upon the happiness, the property and even the liberty of our country.

We confidently rely upon your Majesty's vigilance and firmness to avert them.

We cordially unite in those expressions of loyalty and attachment so general and so necessary at the present moment for the vindication of our national character, and, in common with the great majority of our fellow subjects, we assure your Majesty that no efforts shall be wanting on our part to uphold, to the utmost of our influence and example, the Religion, the Throne and the Constitution of our country.

Given under our common seal, in the Guildhall of the said Town, the 16th day of December, in the first year of your Majesty's reign, and in the year of our Lord 1820.

[Delivered by C. Pallmer, Esq. one of the Justices.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

WE, the Gentlemen, Clergy, Freeholders, Pilots, Yeomanry and other Inhabitants of the Town of West Cowes, and the Parish of Northwood, in the Isle of Wight, beg leave to offer to your Majesty the renewed expression of our loyal and dutiful attachment to your Majesty's Person and Government.

We cannot conceal from ourselves the successful efforts of wicked and factious men to disturb the peace of the country, to mislead the people of this free and happy land, respecting the nature and character of our public establishments; and thereby to bring into discredit our Laws, our Religion and the fundamental principles of the Constitution.

We feel that we cannot too strongly reprobate the abuse of a free press to purposes of blasphemy and sedition; and the perversion of those means which are the most effectual bulwarks of rational liberty, to the base schemes of faction and the dissemination of false, scandalous and treasonable libels against your Majesty's Throne and Person.

It is impossible any longer to doubt the object contemplated by men, who are the advocates and promoters of such measures, and it is equally impossible for those who have enjoyed the blessings of our free and happy Constitution, not to dread and therefore to deprecate principles which have universally tended, in all periods of history, to induce anarchy and to trample under foot the peace, the laws and liberties of mankind.

Your Majesty may therefore rely upon the firm and steady support of the great mass of your loyal and well affected subjects; and we, who yield to none in dutiful and affectionate attachment to your Majesty, shall hold ourselves bound to use our best efforts and exertions to maintain the Laws and Government of the realm, as handed down to us by our wise and brave forefathers; and to uphold your Majesty's Throne, which has ever been the surest pledge of our legitimate rights and liberties.

[Transmitted by George Ward, Esq.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

The dutiful and loyal Address of the Sovereign, Burgesses and principal Inhabitants of the Borough and Town of Carlow, and its Vicinity.

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Sovereign, Burgesses and principal Inhabitants of the Borough and Town of Carlow, and its Vicinity, beg leave to approach your Majesty, with a declaration of our most sincere attachment and unshaken loyalty to your most sacred Person and Family, and to the genuine principles of the British Constitution, which, from a conviction of its superior excellence, as well as a sense of moral obligation, we prefer before any other civil Constitution in the world.

At a time when, not only the inhabitants of this County, but the population of the entire kingdom have proved, by their uniformly peaceable and tranquil demeanour, their attachment to the Laws and Constitution of Great Britain, we feel it our indispensable duty, as it is our peculiar glory, to address a Monarch who has declared, that "the British Crown is held in trust for the benefit of the people," a declaration which history will record and reverence when despots are forgotten.

So may the history of your Majesty's reign be handed down as an illustrious era in the annals of Britain, may it be long and glorious, and may you continue to live in the hearts of a loyal, faithful and affectionate people.

County Carlow Court House, 7th December 1820.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and faithful subjects, the Mayor, the Inhabitants of the Town and Borough of Great Yarmouth, in the County of Norfolk, and others in its Vicinity connected with the Town, beg leave to express our warm and zealous attachment to your Majesty's Royal Person and Government.

We lament most sincerely that any of your Majesty's subjects have been seduced by the artifices of evil disposed men, in violation of our mild and equal laws, to commit acts by which the peace of society and the good order of Government have been disturbed; and that the persons of those who directed the councils and commanded the armies of the State, to whom (under Providence) we are indebted for the triumph over a flagitious enemy and the happy establishment of peace and safety, should in the exercise of their public duties be insulted and endangered.

We trust that the delusion will be but of short duration, and when we call to mind the blessings which our country has derived from the accession of your Majesty's illustrious House to the Throne of these realms, the increase of our liberties and the security of our invaluable Constitution, when we reflect upon the lengthened, the just, and the Constitutional Government of our late beloved and revered Sovereign, held in the same devoted regard by your Majesty as by every friend of rational freedom, we feel the firmest confidence that the machinations of the ill disposed will speedily be frustrated by the tempered exertions of Government, and by the zeal and ardour of every faithful subject for the preservation of our Laws and Constitution.

We promise to your Majesty our most strenuous endeavours to uphold every branch of a Constitution productive of so many blessings, to maintain unimpaired our establishments, in Church and State, to support with equal solicitude the rights and privileges of the people and of the nobility, and (what we consider essential to the preservation of both,) the dignity and the prerogatives of the Crown and the inviolability of the Throne and the Altar.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, Aldermen and Burgesses of the Town of Falmouth, and the Inhabitants of the said Town and its Vicinity, impressed with a deep sense of the blessings we enjoy, in common with our fellow subjects, under the inestimable Constitution of our country and the mild exercise of your Majesty's paternal Government, and alive to the dangerous tendency of that factious spirit which with mischievous activity avails itself of every national difficulty to menace the stability of the one and to embarrass the operations of the other; presume again to approach your Majesty's Throne with renewed assurances of our firm and loyal attachment, and of our inflexible determination to maintain, to the utmost of our power, that Constitution which excites the admiration of other nations, and which is every way adapted, in its undisturbed exercise, to be the fruitful source of domestic happiness and prosperity. And though a lowering cloud may for the present overhang the country, yet the experience our history affords of the superintending care of a wise and Gracious Providence, inspires us with hope, that the sun of our country's welfare will soon again display itself in unclouded splendour. And we pray the Almighty Disposer of events, that your Majesty may be blessed with a long and happy reign over a people pre-eminently distinguished by their religious and civil privileges. William Carne, Mayor.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

The dutiful and loyal Address of the Magistrates and Town Council of the United Towns of Port Glasgow and Newark.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Magistrates and Council of the United Towns of Port Glasgow and Newark, beg leave, impressed as we are with veneration for your Majesty's Crown and dignity, to offer our renewed assurances of our unfeigned regard to your sacred Person and Government.

We view with deep regret the many plans which the friends of sedition and disorder have devised and are still devising to withdraw your Majesty's subjects from their allegiance to a State, the result of which would bring the Realm into anarchy and confusion; and at this juncture, when every energy they possess is put into action, we feel it our duty to assure your Majesty that nothing shall be wanting, on our part, to check these, and to preserve inviolate our unrivalled Constitution, that the blessings we enjoy under the paternal Government of your Majesty may be transmitted unimpaired to posterity.

Signed, in name and by appointment of the Magistrates and Town Council in Council assembled, within the Council Chamber of Port Glasgow, by me the Chief Magistrate, and the common seal of the said Towns appended, this 14th day of December 1820

Robert M'Lachlan, Chief Magistrate.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's loyal and dutiful subjects, the Inhabitants of Leek and its Vicinity, beg leave to approach your Majesty with sentiments of fidelity and unshaken attachment to your Royal Person and Government.

The factious spirit which unhappily pervades the Country, is too manifest: a spirit, which with the utmost audacity and perseverance, strikes at the root of our Religion and our Laws, and which would at once destroy every noble bulwark of our invaluable Constitution; and we are concerned to observe that such spirit is greatly encouraged by mischievous publications, industriously circulated amongst your Majesty's subjects.

We are therefore anxious, manfully and boldly, to express our opinion, and to convey to your Masesty our firm determination, heartily to unite, and never to relax in the just support of our Government and our Laws.

We firmly rely on the wisdom of your Majesty's Councils, for the redress of all real grievances whenever they occur, and for the proper maintenance of our Constitution, both in Church and State: and we trust and hope, that your Majesty's reign may be long and glorious; and that the true allegiance and devotion of all your subjects may ever surround you.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, High Steward, Recorder, Bailiffs, Aldermen, Burgesses and other Inhabitants of the Borough of Dorchester in the County of Dorset, beg to approach your Majesty, at this momentous crisis, with our renewed assurances of loyalty and attachment to your Majesty, and the glorious Constitution under which we live, and from which we have derived so many invaluable blessings; and we beg to assure your Majesty of our firm determination to rally round the Throne, and to support and defend your Majesty's sacred Person, Authority and Government, with the security and maintenance of which, the liberties, glory and happiness of your people are inseparably connected; and we fervently pray, that your Majesty may long reign in the hearts of a free and loyal people. N Strickland, Mayor.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, the Archdeacon and Clergy of the Archdeaconry of Sarum; with all due reverence and humility approach your Royal Presence, for the purpose of expressing our unfeigned attachment to your Majesty's Person and Government: under the alarming circumstances of the present times, in which, through the industrious circulation of blasphemous and treasonable publications among the lower orders, both Religion and Law have unhappily lost much of their accustomed influence on the public mind; we, to whom the instruction of the people in our respective districts has been authoritatively committed, consider it to be particularly incumbent upon us to express on this occasion, our firm determination to employ all means which judgment and discretion may suggest, to stem that torrent of infidelity, profaneness and disloyalty, which at this time threatens to bear down our most excellent Constitution: trusting in that all Gracious Being, to whom this nation looks up for protection, and to whom it has long stood indebted for the enjoyment of its many enviable blessings, that the sober good sense and steady adherence of your Majesty's well principled subjects, will speedily prevail over the disgraceful, but we flatter ourselves, transitory ebullitions of popular delusion. With these sentiments deeply fixed in our minds, we trust that our prayers at the Throne of Grace for your Majesty's long and happy reign over a free, loyal, and undivided people, will be accepted; and that this humble Address from a small branch of your Majesty's most dutiful and affectionate Clergy, will not be deemed either an improper or an unbecoming intrusion.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty,

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Merchant Company of Leith, feel it to be our duty in the present situation of publick affairs humbly and respectfully to approach your Throne, and to renew our warmest expressions of steady and zealous attachment to your Majesty's Person and Government.

Impressed as we deeply are, with a just sense of the invaluable blessings which we enjoy under your Majesty's Government, we reflect with the deepest abhorrence, on the malicious and detestable attempts of those, who, by exciting a spirit of discontent and disaffection, would at once overthrow our most venerable Constitution, and deprive us of those rights and privileges which our forefathers bled and died to purchase and secure.

We would assure your Majesty, that there are none of your Majesty's subjects, who have a more lively sense of the peculiar advantages we enjoy, and who are more determined invariably to exert all our interest and influence in promoting sentiments of loyalty and affection to your Majesty's Person and Government.

Under whatever difficulties we may labour from the pressure of the times, we beg leave to assure your Majesty, that we feel the utmost confidence in the wisdom of your Majesty's Councils, as the best security under God for maintaining and extending those invaluable blessings which we inherit and enjoy.

Signed by our Master in our name, and by our appointment, at a meeting of the Incorporation specially called for the purpose at Leith, the 14th day of December, 1820 years, and the seal of the Corporation is hereto put and affixed.

Patrick Borthwick, Master.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's loyal subjects, the Alderman, Recorder, Common Burgesses and Burgesses of the Town or Borough of Grantham, and Freeholders and Inhabitants of the said Town or Borough and the Liberties of the Soke, humbly beg leave to tender to your Majesty the renewed homage of our duty and allegiance, and the assurances of our firm determination to support to the utmost of our power your Majesty's Government, in maintaining the internal peace and tranquility of the country at the present extraordinary and alarming crisis.

We view with indignation and horror the appeals that are continually made to the deluded passions of the lower orders of the community, and the advantage taken of their credulity, by means of a licentious and blasphemous press, which, by confounding the very names of virtues and vices, tends to erase the ideas from their minds, and thereby extinguish that high feeling and that honourable sentiment which have hitherto formed the pride and glory of Britons, and have proved, next to the sacred safeguards of religion, the best preservatives of their innocence and morals,

We confidently hope that the vigilance of your Majesty's Councils will be directed to avert from this country those tremendous evils with which society itself is threatened, by excesses so disgraceful and unexampled, and we are anxious to offer to your Majesty the pledge of our individual and united co-operation in such measures as may appear to your Majesty best calculated to stimulate the loyal and confirm the wavering, to reclaim the deluded and intimidate the factious.

That your Majesty may enjoy a prosperous reign, dispensing the blessings of our unrivalled Constitution, to a grateful and loyal people shall be our constant and most fervent prayer.

The loyal and dutiful Address of the Provost, Magistrates, and Council of the Royal Burgh of Cupar, Head Town of the County of Fife, in General Meeting assembled this 11th December 1820.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's most loyal and dutiful subjects, the Provost, Magistrates, and Town Council of the Royal Burgh of Cupar, deeply sensible of the inestimable blessings we enjoy under your Majesty's mild and paternal Government, beg leave to approach the Throne with the renewed assurances of our fidelity to your Majesty's sacred Person, and of our unalterable attachment to that Constitution, which has ever been the safeguard of our liberties, both sacred and civil.

It is with deep regret we observe the daring attempts that are now making, by artful and designing men, to alienate the affections of your Majesty's subjects from their allegiance, to bring into contempt your Majesty's Advisers, and to undermine those excellent institutions which have been handed down to us by our Ancestors. We trust that the loyalty and good sense of your Majesty's subjects will frustrate all such base and insidious attempts, and that the authors of them will be treated with that detestation and abhorrence which their conduct so justly merits.

Convinced that our best security against such atrocious designs is to be found in a firm support of the dignity and Constitutional privileges of the Crown, we pledge ourselves to oppose, by all the means in our power, every attempt to inflame or delude the public mind, and to unite our utmost efforts in maintaining that respect which is so deservedly due to the Laws and Government of the Country.

That your Majesty may long live to reign over a great and free people, and that your illustrious House may sway the sceptre of these realms to the latest posterity, is our most ardent wish and prayer.

Signed, in our name, presence, and by our appointment.

Andrew Christie, Provost.

[Transmitted by the Hon. Hugh Lindsay, M. P.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE the Boroughreeves and Constables of Manchester and Salford, together with the Magistrates, Clergy, Merchants, Traders and Householdors of those Towns and their Vicinity, are anxious to approach your Majesty with the assurance of our devoted fidelity and attachment to your Majesty's Person and Government, and of our determination to support, under every emergency, the dignity of the Throne and the integrity of the Constitution.

We have beheld with indignation and grief the shameless and unprincipled efforts of a base and seditious faction to corrupt and mislead the public mind on every essential point of morals and religion, to withdraw your people from their allegiance, to bring into contempt the established institutions of the country, and to hold up to insult and derision the Sovereign and the Government, the Senators, the Judges, the Magistrates and the Clergy of the land. Emboldened by their mischievous success amongst a misguided populace, they have adopted a system of intimidation by which they would attempt to overawe the conscientious verdicts of our Courts of Justice, by which they boast that they have recently paralysed the deliberations of the highest Tribunal in the State, and by which they would impose their phrenzied clamours upon the world as the firm and consentient voice of the nation at large.

But your Majesty is too intimately acquainted with the genuine character of the British people, to believe that the great body of your Majesty's subjects, those who constitute the moral strength of the Empire, can ever be so unmiudful of the blessings which are secured to them by their present happy Constitution, and which they so largely enjoy under your Majesty's benignant sway, as to be influenced in their sentiments or their conduct by any political faction of that dangerous and desperate description which every wise man will shun, and which every good man will abhor.

Most reluctantly do we advert to any topic which must be painful to your Majesty's private feelings, but we cannot listen to the opprobrious calumnies with which your Majesty's Government has been assailed on occasion of the late solemn investigation before the House of Peers, without declaring our conviction, that such a measure, however deeply its necessity must be deplored, was the inevitable consequence of Her Majesty's return to this country, under circumstances so unfavourable to Her reputation, and especially after Her Majesty had so unavisedly rejected every suggestion which could have relieved her from the painful alternative of a public trial.

Nor can we refrain from expressing our regret that Her Majesty should have admitted into her confidence those whose sentiments are so unequivocally hostile to the Constitution, and given the sanction of her name to declarations of the most libellous tendency, calculated to inflame the minds of your Majesty's subjects with hatred against the Government, and to promote the wicked and audacious purposes of the avowed and inveterate enemies of the State.

But whilst we trust that the popular delirium is at its height, and that the present delusions may soon pass away, we are, nevertheless, entirely persuaded that the permanent tranquility and safety of the empire can alone be secured by the most intrepid firmness on the part of your Majesty's Government, by an undaunted execution of the laws, particularly those calculated to correct the domineering insolence and licentiousness of the public press, and by the prompt and fearless support with which your Majesty has a right to require from every British subject who values the Constitution, or loves the land which gave him birth.

Relieved from these political broils which have so long interrupted our repose, how confidently might we hope to enjoy under your Majesty's reign the full measure of that happiness and prosperity, of which the foundation was so auspiciously laid amidst the triumphant glories of your illustrious Regency. In the experience which we have hitherto had of your Majesty's Government of these realms, we recognise with the most heartfelt satisfaction the same benignant features which characterised the reign of your venerated Sire; in your Majesty we find the Protector of our laws, the Guardian of our liberties, the generous Patron of the arts and the Friend of every institution calculated to promote the happiness and improvement of your people.

Under these grateful impressions we fervently pray that your Majesty's reign may be long and prosperous, and that every succeeding year may render your subjects more sensible of the blessings they enjoy, and less disposed to abuse them.

Holwell, and Thomas Horne; and nearly 400 other Noblemen and Gentlemen who were educated and had taken degrees at the University, waited upon the King, and presented to His Majesty the following Address:

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Chancellor, Masters and Scholars of the University of Oxford, beg leave to approach your Majesty with renewed assurances of unviolable attachment to your Majesty's Person, Family and Government.

Having so recently been permitted to lay those assurances at the foot of your Majesty's Throne, we should have been content to cherish in ourselves, and to inculcate upon others, the principles of allegiance to our Sovereign, and of reverence for the laws, if it were not that disaffection has assumed a new form, and is endeavouring by the excitement of popular feeling, to accomplish those objects for which it has hitherto laboured in vain.

It is with the deepest sense of gratitude, we acknowledge, that your Majesty's rule has been uniformly exercised in the true spirit of our Laws and Constitution, tempering justice with mercy; and that the happy result of such rule has hitherto been that tranquility, which is not more essential to the objects of our local institutions than to the general interests of the community: not more necessary to the peaceful prosecution of our studies, than to the security of property and the enjoyment of life. With the greater abhorrence therefore we view the insidious designs and evil practices of those, who omit no opportunity of spreading discontent and disloyalty throughout your Majesty's dominions.

We further beg leave to assure your Majesty, that it shall be our constant aim, as it is our indispensable duty, to impress the minds of the rising generation with the same sentiments of dutiful submission to the Sovereign which we ourselves profess; and that we shall endeavour to keep alive, in this your Majesty's highly favoured University, that unfeigned loyalty for which it has been so long distinguished; that attachment to your Majesty's Person which is inseparable from a recollection of the benefits which your Majesty has conferred upon us; and a zealous and unalterable resolution to defend that Constitution, which the voice of civilized Europe as well as the history of our own country proclaims to be the best that has been yet formed for public and private happiness.

Given at our House of Convocation, under our common seal, this 9th day of December, in the year of our Lord 1820.

To which Address His Majesty was pleased to return the following most gracious answer:

"I thank you for your loyal and dutiful Address, this declaration of your principles, and of the feelings with which you are impressed, at the present important conjuncture, is not less honourable to you, than satisfactory to myself.

"It is by such manifestations of loyalty and public spirit, combined with a strict execution of the laws, that an effectual check will be given to the efforts of those who labour with unceasing industry, to corrupt, inflame and pervert the minds of my faithful subjects, to deprive them of the salutary restraints and the consolations of religion, and to subvert all those establishments and institutions which have so long been regarded with affectionate veneration in this country, and with admiration throughout the world.

"In the exercise of the great trust committed to my charge, I shall be invariably actuated by the deepest conviction that the true interests of my Crown are inseparably united with those of my people; and I am fully persuaded that in your several stations, it will be your chief object and constant endeavour, to afford to your country the best and surest means of permanent tranquility and prosperity, by encouraging and inculcating a profound reverence for our holy religion, a zealous attachment to our invaluable Constitution, and a firm determination to transmit it unimpaired to our latest descendants."

They were all most graciously received, and the Delegates had the honour of kissing His Majesty's hand.
