Published by Authority.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 16, 1821.

THE following Addresses, having been transmitted to Viscount Sidmouth, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, by the several persons whose names are respectively subjoined to each Address, were presented by His Lordship to His Majesty, who was pleased to receive the same very graciously:

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's subjects, residing in the Hundreds of Blackheath and Little and Lessness, in which are included the several Towns and Parishes of Greenwich, Deptford, and Woolwich, and of Lewisham, Lee, Eltham, Charlton, Plumstead, Crayforth, Erith, and East Wickham, in the County of Kent, humbly approach your Majesty's Throne with sentiments of firm and unfeigned attachment to your Majesty's Royal Person and Government; grateful for the invaluable blessings which we enjoy, under the protection of our free and admirable Constitution, rejoicing in the mild and equitable administration of those laws by which this country is pre-eminently distinguished, we cannot contemplate without indignation and abhorrence that seditious and blasphemous spirit, which, under the delusive pretext of Parliamentary Reform, and liberality in religious sentiment, stimulated likewise by a corrupt and licentious press, is meditating the annihilation of whatever is valuable to man, as a political, moral, and religious being.

Notwithstanding, however, the shameless acts which are practised to delude and inflame the ignorant; notwithstanding the tumultuous and seditious clamours of factious and designing men, we are firmly persuaded that the intelligent and virtuous of our fellow-countrymen, on whose fidelity must ultimately rest the stability of the British empire, are zealously devoted to your Majesty, and will ardently unite in the hour of danger to protect the Constitution of their country.

Animated with this conviction, and stimulated by a sense both of duty and of interest, we solemnly pledge ourselves, as far as our exertions may avail, that neither shall the traitor with impunity assail the Throne, nor the infidel insult the Altar.

That your Majesty may long reign over a free, loyal, and united people, and that the British Constitution may continue to triumph over every foreign and domestic enemy, is the fervent wish of the undersigned, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects.

J. R. Williams, Chairman, Lee.

[Delivered by J. R. Williams, Esq. John Angerstein, Esq. and the Rev. Dr. Crombie]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

We, the Rector, Churchwardens, Vestrymen, and other inhabitants of the Parish of St. James's Westminster, are most anxious to assure your Majesty of our devoted attachment to your Royal Person and Government.

We behold with a mixture of grief and indignation, the unprincipled efforts of a base, artful, and seditious faction, to mislead the public mind in the great duties of religion and morality, and to alienate from your Majesty the allegiance and affections of your people.

Being faithfully attached to the Constitution which has been handed down to us from our ancestors, and gratefully sensible of the blessings we enjoy under your Majesty's mild and benignant reign, we feel it an imperative duty to declare to your Majesty, and to the country at large, our unshaken loyalty, and our reverence for religion, convinced, that in rallying round the Throne and the Altar, we are taking the best means of to secure rational liberty, general property, and individual happiness.

We therefore pledge ourselves in every event to support to the utmost of our power, the valuable Constitution we so happily possess, and to protect alike from insult as from danger, the dignity of the Sovereign, the security of the Laws, and the sanctity of Religion.

That the efforts of sedition and irreligion may ever prove fruitless and unavailing, and that your Majesty may long reign in the hearts of a dutiful, affectionate, and united people, is our sincere and daily prayer.

[Delivered by the Very Reverend the Dean of Canterbury, the Churchwardens, and Vestry Clerk.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

SIRE,

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's loyal and dutiful subjects, inhabiting the Parish of Hampton, in the County of Middlesex, beg leave to approach your Majesty with the expression of our zealous attachment to the Throne, and veneration to the Constitution.

We have observed with the deepest concern and regret the base and insidious arts by which a wicked and unprincipled faction has for some time past endeavoured to delude the credulous and unwary, and, through the means of licentious and blasphemous publications, to overturn the Altar and the Throne, and to eradicate every honourable and British feeling.

While the seeds of sedition and blasphemy are thus actively disseminated, we feel ourselves imperatively called upon to step forward with a manly and open avowal of unshaken fidelity and allegiance to your Majesty's sacred Person, and of our unalterable attachment to and determination to defend, with all our energies, that glorious Constitution which your Majesty has so steadily and powerfully maintained.

We humbly pray that the Almighty Disposer of all human affairs may extend his protecting arm over this highly favoured empire, by preserving the Crown to your Majesty and in your august Family to the latest posterity.

[Delivered by the Rev. William Church.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

WE, the High Constable, Freeholders and Inhabitants of the Parish of Chatham, in the County of Kent, actuated by that spirit of loyalty, and by that attachment to our civil and religious Constitution which heretofore were the distinguishing marks of British subjects, beg leave to avow and to declare our unshaken fidelity to your Majesty, and our veneration for the laws of our country. Grieved as we are to see the unceasing efforts that are made to weaken, in the public mind, all sense of religion and all respect for civil Authority, we are thenceforth the more animated in our zeal to guard against the dangers of impiety, and the distractions and confusion necessarily resulting from faction and sedition. However divided the opinions of the public will always be on many political points, and declining to enter into any discussion of them, we cannot but indignantly protest against the machinations of those who strive to subvert every principle of allegiance to the Sovereign, and all regard to establishments founded on wisdom, and which have advanced our national glory and prosperity.

Permit us then, most gracious Sire, to present to you our sincere and earnest wishes, both for the long continuance of your Majesty's health and for the restoration of the peace and tranquility of your dominions, and exulting as we ought to do in the possession of many blessings peculiar to our country, we anxiously hope and confidently trust, that the natural good sense of our fellow subjects will lead them to deem those to be the best friends to the State, who, in maintaining their inherent rights and privileges, are never unmindful of the duty that they owe to their King, of the respect that is due to legal Authority, nor of the reverence that is justly to be paid to the sacred ordinances of our Holy Faith.

John Tribe, Constable.

[Delivered by John Tribe, Esq.]

To his Most Excellent Majesty George the Fourth, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, KING, Defender of the Faith.

SIRE,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Landholders, Clergy, Yeomanry and Inhabitants of the Hundred of Colyton, in the County of Devon, most humbly presume to tender to your Majesty our unfeigned assurances of cheerful submission to your Royal Authority and sincere attachment to your sacred Person.

We have witnessed with the deepest regret, combined with an honest indignation, the flagitious attempts of irreligious and disloyal men, to seduce the minds of the rising generation from the fear of their Creator, and the reverence due to our glorious Constitution; proceedings infamous in design, pregnant with danger in their progress, and dishonourable to the country that gave us birth.

Permit us to assure your most gracious Majesty, that all our thoughts and actions, at this alarming crisis, will invariably be directed to promote the encouragement and extension of morality and virtue in our own families and in our respective parishes; and our lives and fortunes shall never be spared in the defence of our Holy Religion and the dignity of your Majesty's Crown.

[Transmitted by Sir William Templer Pole, Bart.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, Inhabitants of the Town and Neighbourhood of Horncastle, in the County of Lincoln, should not on any ordinary occasion presume to obtrude ourselves on your Majesty's notice, but at the present eventful crisis we feel it a duty from which as loyal subjects we cannot shrink, humbly to offer to your Majesty our sincere assurance of unshaken allegiance and faithful attachment to your Majesty's Royal Person and Government, and of our firm resolution to contribute by every means in our power to the support of our most Holy Religion and the happy Constitution under which we live.

We view with the deepest concern and abhorrence the spirit of infidelity and disaffection now so unblushingly avowed, and through the baneful agency of a blasphemous and seditious press so widely propagated; we trust, however, (under Divine Providence,) to your Majesty's paternal care and to the wisdom of Parliament for protection from the dangers with which we are threatened, and for that relief from the present distresses of the country of which their nature will admit.

To these distresses we are not less feelingly alive than the most clamorous of our fellow subjects, who, by inflaming the passions and misleading the judgment of the ignorant and unwary, aggravate the evils they affect to deplore. That the safety and honour of your Majesty's Throne and the unrivalled excellence of our admirable Constitution may remain unimpaired to the latest posterity, shall be our constant and most fervent prayer.

[Transmitted by the Rev. John Dymoke, Champion of England.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

The dutiful and loyal Address of the undersigned Inhabitants and Visitants of the Town of Cheltenham and its Vicinity.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, the undersigned, Inhabitants and Visitants of the Town of Cheltenham and its Vicinity, beg leave to approach your royal presence with renewed assurances of our inviolate attachment to your sacred Person and Government.

We beg to assure your Majesty, that we have witnessed with the deepest sorrow and indignation the attempts which have been made, under specious pretexts, aided by a blasphemous and licentious press, to excite discontent and encourage infidelity and disloyalty, to the total subversion of our glorious and unrivalled Constitution in Church and State.

Under this conviction we feel impelled, by the strongest sense of what we owe to your sacred Majesty, as well as to ourselves, to avow, at this momentous crisis, our firm and unalterable resolution to support, by our most strenuous exertion, your Majesty's constitutional authority and dignity, and to promote among our fellow subjects the same spirit of affection and loyalty by which we ourselves are actuated.

We earnestly hope that the blessing of Providence will attend every effort of your Majesty to restore peace and confidence among us, and that your Majesty may long reign over a free and united people.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

The humble and dutiful Address of the Provost, Magistrates, and Councillors of the Royal Burgh of Dumbarton.

WE, your Majesty's faithful subjects, the Provost, Magistrates, and Council of the Royal Burgh of Dumbarton, beg leave humbly to approach the Throne with unfeigned expressions of our unabated loyalty, and sincere attachment to your Majesty's Person and Government.

When the efforts of the wicked and the factions are daily exerted to delude and influence the multitude, with the almost avowed purpose of subverting the Constitution under which this country has so long enjoyed blessings inestimable and unexampled; and when in aid of this design the basest attempts are continually made to loosen in the minds of the community the moral restraints of religion, and to deprive them of its hopes and consolation; we feel it our imperative duty, in common with a great majority of our fellow subjects, to express our firm determination to counteract, by every mean in our power, the designs of the impious and disaffected; and with our utmost energy to maintain the rights and dignity of the Crown, and the authority of the Laws, as the safeguard of that rational liberty we enjoy, and which is the pride and ornament of the country.

Signed in name, and by appointment of the other Magistrates and Councillors, and the Corporation seal ordered to be appended hereto, at Dumbarton, the 5th day of January 1821 years, by John Daxen, Provost.

[Transmitted by the Duke of Montrose, K. G.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the undersigned Inhabitants of the ancient Town and Parish of Barking, in the County of Essex, beg leave at this important crisis to approach your Majesty with the assurance of our inviolable fidelity to your Majesty's sacred Person, and of our unalterable attachment to the Constitution of the country as by law established.

When the intemperate machinations of a disloyal and desperate faction, assisted by the licentiousness of an unbridled and profligate press, are unceasingly employed to seduce the people from their allegiance, and to eradicate by the most poisonous doctrines all sense of religion from their minds, we feel imperiously called upon, as dutiful and loyal subjects, to make an explicit declaration of our sentiments, by assuring your Majesty of our determination to rally round the Altar and the Throne, and to exert every means in our power to preserve inviolate our glorious and hitherto unsullied Constitution. Conscious that the clamour which, with unwearied industry, has been raised by designing demagogues against all the constituted Authorities of the State is in direct opposition to the legitimate opinion of the nation, we feel confident that it is only necessary for the well-disposed part of the community to evince a firm and determined spirit of resistance to the enemies of the public peace in order to frustrate their designs, which, if silently permitted to gather strength, may ultimately terminate in the destruction of all that we reverence as Christians, and all that we venerate as Britons.

Warned then, but not dismayed, by the progress which moral and political licentiousness has already made, we desire to avow our firm reliance on the vigour and promptitude of your Majesty's Councils, seconded by the loyal dispositions of your faithful subjects, to defeat the traitorous attempts of these our internal enemies; and we beg, Sire, to express the fullest confidence, that, in adopting every necessary measure for the protection of the dignity and the constitutional prerogatives of the Throne, your Majesty's paternal solicitude will be extended to the preservation of those rights and privileges which we inherit from our forefathers, and which we are anxious to transmit unimpaired to our posterity.

Whilst we unite with our loyal fellow countrymen in wishing your Majesty a long and prosperous reign, we earnestly implore the Divine Disposer of events, that the delusion under which a portion of your Majesty's subjects have been led away from their duty to their God, and their allegiance to their Sovereign, may be quickly dispelled, and that they may be deeply impressed with a conviction, that the prosperity of the country and their own personal happiness are essentially dependant on the observance of that precept of our holy religion, "fear God and honour the King."

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Minister, Churchwardens, and other Parishioners of the Parish of Foleshill, in the County of the City of Coventry, crave permission to approach your Majesty, to declare our firm and unfeigned attachment to your Royal Person and Family; our veneration for our glorious Constitution, of which your Majesty is the head; and to express our gratitude to Divine Providence for the invaluable blessings, religious and civil, which this highly favoured land has enjoyed, and still continues to enjoy, under the illustrious House of Brunswick.

It is with sincere concern we witness the malicious, continued, and systematic efforts which are made by men of infidel principles, by the lovers of sedition and anarchy, and the haters of just and equitable government, to overturn our invaluable Constitution, and to deprive us at once of our religion, our liberty and laws. We further deeply lament that that powerful promoter of good, when rightly employed, the press, has so largely contributed to deluge the land with the detestable doctrines of these ill-designing men.

Convinced that loyalty is a duty inculcated by our holy religion, and that "to fear God and honour the King" are injunctions inseparably united by its Divine Author; we consider ourselves loudly called upon to rally round the Throne, and, in these days of insult and blasphemy, when every thing valuable is threatened to be wrested from our possession, to signify our resolution to defend it to the utmost of our power, and to support every measure, calculated to continue to us those national blessings, which emanate from the wisely framed and incomparable system of Government which our ancestors handed down to us.

That Almighty God, who so signally interposed for the entire overthrow of our foreign enemies, during the gloriously memorable period of your Regency, will, now He has called you to the Throne, be pleased to prosper your measures for confounding the devices of our domestic foes. That He will grant you a long and prosperous reign over a loyal, affectionate, and grateful people, enabling you to defend our Religion, and its venerable institutions, and to preserve inviolate our unparalleled Constitution, are the ardent prayers of your faithful and devoted servants.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's subjects, the Inhabitants of the Town of Cowbridge and its Vicinity, in the County of Glamorgan, beg leave to offer to your Majesty the expression of our sentiments of fidelity and allegiance to your Majesty's Person.

We have viewed with disgust and abhorrence the industrious dissemination by various publications of irreligious and seditious principles, (with which, however, we are happy to find this neighbourhood is untainted,) tending to vilify and degrade our holy religion and its sacred institutions, and to endanger that Constitution, which we owe to the wisdom and energy of our forefathers, and to which we beg permission to declare our unalterable attachment, and which it is our duty and determination, by all lawful means in our power, to defend from the attacks of open or disguised enemies.

Permit us further, Sire, to express our hope and confidence that by a provident and economical application of the powers and resources committed to your Majesty's disposal, we shall eventually be relieved from the distresses by which we are at present surrounded; and to add our prayer to the Dispenser of all blessings, that your Majesty may long reign in the hearts of your dutiful and loyal subjects.

[Transmitted by Wyndham Lewis, Esq. M. P.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

SIRE,

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, resident in the Town and Parish of Chipping Barnet and their immediate Vicinity, alarmed at the audacious efforts of impiety, sedition and treason, which we have so painfully witnessed, implore your Majesty to accept our humble declaration, in common with other dutiful and loyal subjects, against the principles openly avowed, which if they could be matured into their desired operation, must derange the every system of order and decorum.

Sire, we entreat that your Majesty will receive our dutiful and ardent protest against those erroneous doctrines and those violent proceedings, which, while they presumptuously aspire to annul every right, religious and civil, have for their ultimate object, as we earnestly believe, the subversion of the Constitution and the Throne.

With the most respectful submission we crave leave to assure your Majesty, that we hold in just detestation and abhorrence the blasphemous insults which have been offered to the religion of our country and the contempt which has been daringly, but we trust impotently, cast upon its impartial and honourable judicature. Thus impressed we deem it highly fitting that your Majesty's subjects should at this time beg permission to declare their unfeigned attachment to that invaluable Constitution, which the experience of ages has proved to have been founded in wisdom.

In conclusion, we beg to express our firm reliance upon the constituted Authorities of the State for the preservation of all that is most dear to us as christians and as men. And we humbly entreat your Majesty to be persuaded, that in discouraging the attempts of impiety and disaffection, we will, by our exertion, our influence and our example, do all that we may be able to accomplish, for the maintenance of a just reverence towards our Sovereign and of a dutiful obedience to the laws.

Sir Simon H. Clarke, Bart., in the Chair.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

The humble dutiful and loyal Address of the Mayor, Aldermen, Portreeve and Inhabitants of the Borough of Penryn, in the County of Cornwall and its Vicinity.

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, have to lament that the arts of wicked and designing men, (who appear neither to "fear God or honour the King,") have in some degree succeeded, through the medium of a licentious and polluted press, and by seditious meetings, in drawing the ignorant and unwary aside from the paths of loyalty and virtue, thus endeavouring to bring into contempt our holy religion and the constituted Authorities of the land. Sensible of the blessings which we enjoy under our happy Constitution, we deeply regret and hold in abhorrence all attempts to excite disaffection and irreligion, therefore as "faithful Cornishmen," we beg to offer to your Majesty our assurances, that we will ever by our influence and example endeavour to prevent and counteract the evils which must necessarily result from infidelity and sedition, and that we are determined to resist all measures tending to subvert the established Authorities of the realm.

We pray Almighty God, "by whom King's reign and Princes decree justice," to impart to your Majesty's Council wisdom, prudence and energy, that peace and concord may speedily diffuse their blessings amongst us, and that your Majesty may long and prosperously reign over a free and happy people.

John Stona, jun., Mayor.

[Delivered by Henry Swan, Esq. and Pascoe Grenfell, Esq. M. M. P.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the undersigned Inhabitants of the Village of Walton-le-dale, in the County of Lancaster, beg to address you with the unfeigned attachment to your Person and veneration for the existing laws of our country.

Recent events, which we must admit are in themselves deeply to be regretted, have afforded to the disaffected additional pretexts for assailing the Constitution under which we have so long enjoyed so many blessings. Every disloyal artifice has been called into exertion to excite the turbulent and delude the ignorant; infidelity and sedition stalk hand in hand through the country, braving the institutions of our Church and State,—and the low murmur of factious discontent has burst into the loud threat of open insurrection.

Under these circumstances therefore, when apathy among the loyal tends but to render their adversaries more daring, we think ourselves imperiously called upon to profess most decidedly, our steadfast adherence to the principles of the Constitution, and our firm reliance on the administration of its laws.

We humbly entreat that Providence, which has defended the progress and crowned the close of a foreign warfare, to continue its protection of your Majesty's dominions from the more fearful ills of domestic discord. May the Almighty Disposer of the affairs of men bless the efforts of your Government for the welfare of your subjects, and render your Majesty through a long and prosperous reign the beloved Monarch of a virtuous and happy people.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

WE, your Majesty's most loyal and dutiful subjects, the Mayor, Aldermen, Common Council, and Inhabitants of the Borough of Lostwithiel, in the County of Cornwall, beg leave to approach your Majesty with the earnest assurance of loyalty and affection. We beg your Majesty to believe, that we view with the utmost indignation the attempts made by factious and unprincipled men, to attack Heaven with impiety, and to diffuse a spirit of insubordination and discontent through the kingdom, tending equally to subvert the Throne and the Altar. In times then, like the present, we feel ourselves called upon openly to express our unshaken attachment to your Majesty's Person and Government, and to our invaluable Constitution in Church and State as by Law established, and to declare our anxiety and determination to support them to the utmost of our power, and to transmit them to our posterity, pure and unsullied.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address of the Inhabitants of the Town and Borough of Lisburn, and its Vicinity.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, Inhabitants of the Town and Borough of Lisburn, and its vicinity, assembled by public notice in the Town Hall, on Monday the 18th day of December 1820, beg leave, at the present arduous and critical period, to express our firm and unalterable attachment to your Majesty's sacred Person, and mild auspicious Government; with our fervent prayers, that your Majesty may long wield the Sceptre of this realm, with glory to yourself and happiness to your people.

We rely with the most perfect confidence on the wisdom and patriotism of your Majesty's councils, for the preservation of our unrivalled Constitution against all its enemies, and every insidious attempt to impare or subvert it.

We feel sincere satisfaction in expressing our belief, that the great body of people among us are not contaminated with the pernicious principles of anarchy, irreligion, and infidelity, which have been recently disseminated with nefarious industry in other parts of the united kingdom. Detesting as we do all such principles, we are resolved by every legal and proper means to oppose their progress in this country; in the full conviction of their tendency to overturn our Religion, Liberty and Laws, from which we derive so many inestimable blessings, and under which we hope to live and die.

Signed by order of a numerous and respectable meeting,
S. Cupples, Secuschal.

[Transmitted by the Lord Lieutenant.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's most faithful subjects, the Mayor Aldermen, and Common Council of the Burgh of Evesham, in Common Council assembled, humbly beg permission to approach the Throne with unfeigned assurances of our unshaken attachment to your Majesty's Royal Person and Government.

We trust that the portentous and threatening aspect of the times, which appears to us to be pregnant with danger to every thing which is deservedly held sacred, or dear to civilized man, will justify our venturing to obtrude into your Majesty's presence.

We deeply lament the progress of an apparently organized system, engendered by an impious philosophy, and conducted by turbulent men, devoid of truth, honor, or conscience; who obtain the popularity of the depraved and base, by reviling the nobles and magistracy of the land, and by offering insult to religion and its highest ministers; who incite discontent by torrents of malevolent misrepresentations, while they endeavour to destroy the bonds of civil society, and domestic comfort; in this dreadful system of delusion they are joined by a press, the licentiousness of which must endanger its very liberty: by a press, which has emancipated itself from all control of religion, morality, and common decency, which every day brings forth some withering blasphemy, some atrocious libel upon the Government, or some wicked appeal to the worst passions of the lower orders of the community, calculated to extinguish that loyal attachment to the Throne, the Church, and the Law, which has hitherto been the pride and glory of Britons.

We have witnessed with grief and detestation, the effects already produced by these phrenzied projects; sentiments, which a very few years ago would have excited abhorrence, are now listened to unmoved. Under the shield of the highest subject in the kingdom, without any regard to her person, honour, or interest, attacks have been made upon whatever is held sacred in religion, or estimable in our civil establishments. The highest judicial tribunal in these realms, during a late solemn and necessary investigation, has been publicly insulted by audacious menaces, and the intimidating shouts of a deluded and debased multitude. The determination of that august tribunal has been exultingly hailed by the factious as a triumph, not depending upon the innocence of the party accused, but achieved by external interference; and the judges who dared to pronounce an opinion unbiassed by popular clamour, have been stigmatised with every degrading epithet which malignity could bestow. While these proceedings were pending, we felt it due to the impartial administration of justice to abstain from any public declaration or even animadversion upon the shameless conduct of the self-styled friends of that high individual. But now that the enquiry is concluded, we hasten to unite with the loyal and patriotic of the nation, to protest against such interference with our revered tribunals, such appalling violations of the eternal principles of justice; and we lament that prostitution of the freedom of the press, which taking advantage of the credulity of ignorance, has with such malignant industry circulated the most gross delusions. Such a state of things involving the most essential interests of mankind, imperiously requires, before the poison has sank to deep into the vitals of the state, that a wholesome vigour of the law should be applied with intrepid firmness, to bring it back to utility and decorum.

We beg most confidently to assert, that notwithstanding the many atrocious misrepresentations with which we have to contend; notwithstanding the deafening clamour of infidel liberality and seditious anarchy, that in this land, comfort is more universally diffused, and the laws more impartially administered than in any other within the record of history; that the benevolence of the rich attends to every want; that property is protected, and that freedom, both civil and religious, is secured upon the firmest basis. And we are firmly resolved, with God's assistance, to use our best endeavours by obedience to our laws, and by devotion to our holy religion, to preserve these blessings, and to transmit them unimpaired to our posterity.

We pray God to grant to your Majesty's councils a continuance of that wisdom and firmness, by which this nation has triumphed over a world in arms; and that amidst the arts of peace, your Majesty may long uphold your Throne in righteousness, and in the love, confidence, and prosperity of a free and loyal people.

Given under the common seal of the Burgh, this 22d day of December, in the first year of the reign of our most Gracious Sovereign George the Fourth.

SIRE,

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, Householders and Inhabitants of the Town of Ramsgate, and Parish of Saint Laurence, in the Isle of Thanet, beg leave humbly to approach your Majesty's Throne at this eventful and alarming crisis; when mischievous and dangerous opinions are industriously propagated by the restless, discontented, and unprincipled, who are actively engaged to vilify and bring into contempt, all those institutions which we and our ancestors have held to be sacred and venerable, and the best securities for national prosperity and individual happiness, we deem silence to be criminal.

We, therefore, humbly beg to declare our unshaken attachment and allegiance to your Majesty's sacred Person and Government; to assure your Majesty of our firm determination to use every exertion and means in our power to uphold our invaluable Constitution in Church and State; and to resist and counteract the designs of all those, who would deprive us of the glorious inheritance bequeathed to us by our ancestors; for the protection and preservation of which, we look up with unbounded confidence to your Majesty.

A PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE, R.

WHEREAS Our Parliament stands prorogued to Tuesday the twenty-third day of January next; We do, by and with the advice of Our Privy Council, hereby publish and declare, that the said Parliament shall, on the said twenty-third day of January next, be held and sit for the dispatch of divers urgent and important affairs: And the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Knights, Citizens, and Burgesses, and the Commissioners for Shires and Burghs of the House of Commons, are hereby required and commanded to give their attendance accordingly, at Westminster, on the said twenty-third day of January next.

Given at Our Court at Carlton-House, the twenty-fourth day of November one thousand eight hundred and twenty, and in the first year of Our reign.

GOD save the KING.

By the KING.

A PROCLAMATION.

GEORGE, R.

WHEREAS His Royal Highness the Prince Regent, in the name and on the behalf of His late Majesty King George the Third, was pleased, by His Royal Proclamation, bearing date the twentieth day of November one thousand eight hundred and nineteen, to declare His Royal will and pleasure, that the Governors or Deputy Governors of Gibraltar and Malta should be authorised to issue Mediterranean Passes for the protection of ships belonging to His said late Majesty's subjects in those possessions, according to a certain form therein referred to, marked (C), under and subject to certain regulations and sureties therein set forth; and whereas doubts have arisen as to the term during which it was intended that the said Passes should remain in force; We taking the premises into Our Royal consideration, and judging it necessary to remove such doubts, have thought fit, by and with the advice of Our Privy Council, to publish this Our Royal Proclamation, and We do hereby declare, that the Passes to be issued by Our Governors or Deputy Governors of Our said possessions of Gibraltar and Malta for the protection of ships or vessels belonging to Our subjects in Our said possessions, according to the form (C), and under the conditions set forth in the before-mentioned Proclamation of the twentieth of November one thousand eight hundred and nineteen, shall be and continue in force for one year from the day on which the same shall respectively be issued, and no longer; and that at the expiration of that term, the said Passes shall be delivered up to the said Governors or Deputy Governors for the purpose of being cancelled, as required by the said Proclamation of the twentieth of November one thousand eight hundred and nineteen.

Given at Our Court at Carlton-House, this twenty-second day of November one thousand eight hundred and twenty, and in the first year of Our reign.

GOD save the KING.

AT the Court at Carlton-House, the 22d of November 1820,

PRESENT,

The KING's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS the time limited by His Majesty's Order in Council of the twenty-ninth of May last, for prohibiting the exportation of gun-powder, arms, or ammunition, to the places therein specified, will expire on the thirtieth day of this instant November; and whereas it is expedient, that the said prohibition should be continued for some time longer; His Majesty, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, doth hereby order, require, prohibit, and command, that no person or persons whatsoever (except the Master-General of the Ordnance for His Majesty's service) do, at any time during the space of six months (to commence from the thirtieth day of this instant November), presume to transport any gun-powder or salt-petre, or any sort of arms or ammunition, to any port or place within the dominions of the King of Spain, or to any port or place on the Coast of Africa, or in the West Indies, or on any part of the Continent of America (except to a port or place, or ports or places in His Majesty's territories or possessions on the Continent of North America, or in the territories of the United States of America), or ship, or lade any gun-powder or salt-petre, or any sort of arms or ammunition, on board any ship or vessel, in order to transporting the same into any such ports or places within the dominions of the King of Spain, or into any such ports or places on the Coast of Africa, or in the West Indies, or on the Continent of America (except as above excepted), without leave or permission in that behalf first obtained from His Majesty, or His Privy Council, upon pain of incurring and suffering the respective forfeitures and penalties inflicted by an Act, passed in the twenty-ninth year of the reign of His Majesty King George the Second, intituled "An Act to empower His Majesty to prohibit the exportation of gun-powder, or any sort of arms or ammunition, and also to empower His Majesty to restrain the carrying coastwise of salt-petre, gun-powder, or any sort of arms or ammunition;" and also by an Act, passed in the thirty-third year of His late Majesty's reign, cap. 2, intituled "An Act to enable His Majesty to restrain the exportation of naval stores, and more effectually to prevent the exportation of salt-petre, arms, and ammunition, when prohibited by Proclamation or Order in Council:"

And the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury, the Commissioners for executing the Office of Lord High Admiral of Great Britain, the Lord Warden of the Cinque Ports, the Master-General and the rest of the Principal Officers of the Ordnance, and His Majesty's Secretary at War, are to give the necessary directions herein as to them may respectively appertain. Chetwynd.

- Lewin Payne, Gent. to be Ensign. Dated 22d September 1820.

Whitehall, January 15, 1821.

The Lord Chancellor has appointed Robert Loosemore, of Tiverton, in the county of Devon, Gent. to be a Master Extraordinary in the High Court of Chancery.

Whitehall, January 6, 1821.

WHEREAS it hath been humbly represented unto the King, that, in the night between the 28th and 29th of November, at Illogan Highway, in the county of Cornwall, a most atrocious murder was committed upon Mr. Samuel Rogers; His Majesty, for the better apprehending and bringing to justice the persons concerned in the murder above mentioned, is hereby pleased to promise His most gracious pardon to any one of them (except the person who actually committed the same), who shall discover his accomplice or accomplices therein, so that he, she, or they may be apprehended and convicted thereof.

SIDMOUTH.

And, as a further encouragement, a reward of FIFTY GUINEAS is hereby offered by the Magistrates to any person or persons (except as aforesaid), who shall discover the said offender or offenders, so that he, she, or they may be apprehended and convicted of the said offence.

Whitehall, January 12, 1821.

WHEREAS it hath been humbly represented unto the King, that, between the hours of one and two o'clock in the morning of the 25th of Deember last, a great body of men, to the number of between three and four hundred, armed with guns, pistols, and other offensive weapons, feloniously assembled on the sea shore on Romney Warren, between the towns of Romney and Dymchurch, in the county of Kent, in order to be aiding and assisting in the illegal running, landing, and carrying away of foreign spirits, and other prohibited and uncustomed goods, from a certain boat, which was seized by some Officers and seamen of His Majesty's ship Severn, in the execution of which duty the said Officers and seamen were maliciously and feloniously fired at, and some of them wounded by the said armed men, so assembled as aforesaid;

His Majesty, for the better apprehending and bringing to justice the persons concerned in this felony, is hereby pleased to promise His most gracious pardon to any one of them (except the persons who actually fired at and wounded any of the Officers and seamen as above mentioned), who shall discover his accomplices therein, so that they may be apprehended and convicted thereof.

SIDMOUTH.

And, as a further encouragement, a reward of FIVE HUNDRED POUNDS is hereby offered to any person (except as aforesaid), who shall discover the said offenders, so that they may be apprehended and brought to justice for the said felony, such reward to be paid on conviction by the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty.

Whitehall, January 12, 1821.

WHEREAS it hath been humbly represented unto the King, that, between the hours of one and two o'clock in the morning of Sunday the 31st of December last, as Mr. Joshua Anderson, of the city of Carlisle, Surgeon, was riding on horseback, through Caldevgate, in that city, he was shot at from near the Royal Oak public-house, kept by Martha Hind, by some person unknown, and severely wounded in the face;

His Majesty, for the better apprehending and bringing to justice the persons concerned in the outrage above mentioned, is hereby pleased to promise His most gracious pardon to any one of them (except the person who actually shot at the said Joshua Anderson), who shall discover his accomplice or accomplices therein, so that he, she, or they may be apprehended and convicted thereof.

SIDMOUTH.

And, as a further encouragement, a reward of FIFTY POUNDS is hereby offered by the said Joshua Anderson, to any person (except as aforesaid) who shall discover the said offender or offenders, so that he, she, or they may be apprehended and convicted of the said offence.

WHEREAS by an Act of Parliament, passed in the forty-third year of the reign of His late Majesty, intituled "An Act for permitting certain goods imported into Great Britain to be secured in warehouses without payment of duty," it is, amongst other things, enacted, that it shall and may be lawful for the importer or importers, proprietor or proprietors, consignee or consignees, of any of the goods, wares, or merchandise, enumerated or described in the table therunto annexed, marked (E), and which shall have been legally imported or brought into the port of London, to lodge and secure in a warehouse or warehouses to be provided for that purpose, any such goods, wares, or merchandise, under the joint locks of the crown and the merchant, without payment at the time of the first entry of the duties of customs due on the importation thereof: and it is by the said recited Act further enacted, that if the Lord High-Treasurer, or the Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury for the time being, or any three or more of them shall deem it expedient, that the provisions of the said Act should be extended to any goods, wares, and merchandise, not enumerated or described in either of the tables annexed thereto, and should cause a list of such goods, wares, and merchandises, to be published in the London Gazette, then and from thenceforth, all and every the provisions, regulations, and restrictions, of the said Act, shall extend to such goods, wares, and merchandise, in every respect in as full and ample a manner as if the same had been inserted and enumerated in the said tables respectively, at the time of passing the said Act:

No. 17669.

We, the undersigned, Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury, pursuant to and in execution of the powers vested in us, in and by the said Act, do hereby declare, that it appears to us expedient that the provisions of the said Act should be extended to the article of legally imported or brought into the port of London (not being imported by the United Company of Merchants of England trading to the East Indies); and that such ground madder should be added to the list of goods, wares, and merchandise enumerated and described in the table annexed to the said recited Act, marked (E), and that such ground madder should be lodged and secured at or in such warehouse or warehouses, under the regulations and directions of the said Act: and we do further declare, that from and after the publication of this our certificate in the London Gazette, conformable to the directions of the said Act, all and every the provisions, regulations, and restrictions of the said Act shall extend, and be construed to extend, to all such ground madder in every respect in as full and ample a manner as if the same had been inserted and enumerated in the table annexed to the said Act, marked (E), at the time of the passing of the same Act.

Given under our hands at the Treasury Chambers,

Whitehall, this 21st day of December 1820,

CHAPTER 1

The first part of the book discusses the basic concepts of the theory of functions of a real variable. It begins with the definition of a function and the properties of functions. The next section deals with the limits of functions and the continuity of functions. The third section discusses the derivatives of functions and the rules of differentiation. The fourth section deals with the integrals of functions and the methods of integration. The fifth section discusses the applications of the theory of functions to physics and engineering.

1.1. DEFINITION OF A FUNCTION

A function is a relation between a set of objects (the domain) and another set of objects (the codomain) such that each object in the domain is related to exactly one object in the codomain. The domain of a function is the set of all possible input values, and the codomain is the set of all possible output values. The range of a function is the set of all output values that are actually produced by the function.

Let x and y be real numbers. We say that y is a function of x if there is a unique real number y corresponding to each real number x . This is written as $y = f(x)$, where f is the function. The set of all x for which $f(x)$ is defined is called the domain of f , and the set of all y for which $y = f(x)$ for some x in the domain is called the range of f .

For example, let $f(x) = x^2$. Then the domain of f is the set of all real numbers, and the range of f is the set of all non-negative real numbers. The function $f(x) = x^2$ is a continuous function, and it is differentiable at every point in its domain. The derivative of $f(x) = x^2$ is $f'(x) = 2x$.

The function $f(x) = x^2$ is a continuous function, and it is differentiable at every point in its domain. The derivative of $f(x) = x^2$ is $f'(x) = 2x$. The function $f(x) = x^2$ is a continuous function, and it is differentiable at every point in its domain. The derivative of $f(x) = x^2$ is $f'(x) = 2x$.

The function $f(x) = x^2$ is a continuous function, and it is differentiable at every point in its domain. The derivative of $f(x) = x^2$ is $f'(x) = 2x$. The function $f(x) = x^2$ is a continuous function, and it is differentiable at every point in its domain. The derivative of $f(x) = x^2$ is $f'(x) = 2x$.
