And whereas it appears that the progress of discovery has already advanced on the Northern Coast of North America, and within the Arctic Circle, as far as 113 degrees of West Longitude, or thereabouts, from Greenwich; but has not arrived Northward, according to any well authenticated accounts, so far as 81 degrees of North Latitude:

- To 87°, a further sum of £1,000
- To 88°, a further sum of £1,000
- To 89°, or beyond, a further sum of £1,000

And if your Majesty should graciously approve these proposals, we further, with all humility, submit whether your Majesty would not be pleased, by your Order in Council, to revoke, cancel, and annul His late Majesty's Order in Council, of the nineteenth March one thousand eight hundred and nineteen, establishing the scale of rewards therein contained, for the accomplishment of certain proportions of the said Passage or Approach."

His Majesty, having taken the said Memorial into consideration, was pleased, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, to approve thereof; and His Majesty doth hereby establish the scale of rewards proposed in the said Memorial.

And His Majesty is further pleased, by and with the advice aforesaid, to revoke, cancel, and annul the Order in Council of the nineteenth of March one thousand eight hundred and nineteen, establishing the scale of rewards therein contained, and the same is hereby revoked, cancelled, and annulled accordingly.

PRESENT,

The KING's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS by an Act, passed in the first year of the reign of His present Majesty, intituled "An Act to continue until the fifth day of July one thousand eight hundred and twenty-five, an Act of the fifty-seventh year of His late Majesty, for regulating the trade and commerce to and from the Cape of Good Hope, and for regulating the trade of the Island of Mauritius;" His Majesty is authorised, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, by any Order or Orders to be issued from time to time, to give such directions, and to make such regulations touching the trade and commerce to and from all islands, colonies, or places, and the territories and dependencies thereof, to His Majesty belonging, or in His possession, in Africa, or Asia to the eastward of the Cape of Good Hope (excepting only the possessions of the East India Company), as to His Majesty in Council, shall appear most expedient and salutary, any thing contained in an Act, passed in the twelfth year of the reign of His Majesty King Charles the Second, intituled "An Act for the encouraging and increasing of shipping and navigation," or in an Act, passed in the seventh and eighth years of the reign of His Majesty King William the Third, intituled "An Act for preventing frauds, and regulating abuses in the plantation trade," or any other Act or Acts of Parliament now in force, relating to His Majesty's colonies and plantations, or any other Act or Acts of Parliament, law, usage or custom to the contrary in any wise notwithstanding; and whereas by virtue of the powers granted by the above recited Act of the fifty-seventh year of His late Majesty, an Order in Council was passed on the twenty-eighth of May one thousand eight hundred and nineteen, for regulating the trade of the Island of Mauritius, with states in amity with His Majesty, on the conditions therein set forth; His Majesty is pleased to direct that the said Order be and the same is hereby revoked; and His Majesty is further pleased, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, to order, and it is hereby ordered, that from and after the date of this present Order, British vessels arriving at any port of the Island of Mauritius, or its dependencies, from any country in amity with His Majesty, laden with any articles of the growth, production, or manufacture of such country (excepting all articles composed of cotton, iron, steel, or wool of foreign manufacture), shall be permitted to enter and land their cargoes, and dispose of the same in the said ports, subject to such duties as may be there payable thereon:

And it is further ordered, that British vessels arriving as aforesaid, shall be permitted to export to any such foreign country in amity with His Majesty, cargoes consisting of any articles of the growth, production, or manufacture of the Island of Mauritius, or its dependencies, or of any other articles which shall have been legally imported there, on payment of such duties as may be payable thereon:

And it is hereby further ordered, that vessels belonging to the subjects of any foreign state in amity with His Majesty, which foreign state shall allow British vessels to carry on trade as aforesaid between the ports of such state and the Island of Mauritius, shall be permitted in like manner to import into the ports of the Island of Mauritius, or its dependencies, from any port of the state to which such vessel shall belong, any articles of the growth, production, or manufacture of such foreign state (excepting all articles composed of cotton, iron, steel, or wool of foreign manufacture), and to dispose of the same in the ports of the said Island and its dependencies, on payment of the same duties as shall be payable on the like articles when imported from such foreign state in British vessels: provided, however, that if higher duties are charged on the export of such goods from any such foreign state, to the Island of Mauritius in British vessels, than are charged on the export of similar articles to the said Island in ships of such foreign state, a countervailing duty of equal amount shall be charged on the said articles when imported into the Island of Mauritius, or its dependencies, in vessels of such foreign state, over and above the duties payable on the like articles when imported from such state in British vessels:

state, than shall be charged on the export of the like articles in British vessels to such foreign state:

It is, however, hereby further ordered and declared, that no foreign vessel, allowed by the terms of this Order to export a cargo from the Island of Mauritius, or its dependencies, shall be permitted to export such cargo to any of His Majesty's possessions, or to any other place than a port or place belonging to the state or power to which the vessel itself shall belong:

And the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury, and the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, are to give the necessary directions herein as to them may respectively appertain. Chetwynd.

THE following Address has been presented to the King; which Address His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously:

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

The dutiful and loyal Address of the Ministers and Congregations of Protestant Dissenters of the Independent denomination, in the connection of the late Reverend William Huntington, in London and its Vicinity; and in the branches of that connection in various parts of the Country.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, the undersigned, Protestant Dissenters of the Independent denomination in the connection of the late Reverend William Huntington, most respectfully beg leave, at this time especially, to approach your Majesty with the unfeigned assurance of our dutiful and affectionate attachment to your Majesty's sacred Person, and with the heartfelt sentiments of loyalty and respect towards your Majesty's wise and paternal Government.

Yes, Sire, we say at this time especially, when, deeply penetrated with the grateful recollection of the privileges so long enjoyed under the benignant sway of your Majesty's Royal Father, King George the Third, of blessed memory, and duly sensible of the obligations we owe to your Majesty for the continuance and confirmation of those privileges, we have beheld with the utmost abhorrence, and detestation the attempts that have been made, and are still making, to disseminate the principles of disaffection and sedition, to call into action the worst passions of human nature, to excite to the disorganization and overthrow of every valuable institution, to unhinge the bonds of society, to annihilate all moral obligation towards God and man, and to introduce anarchy, confusion and ruin into every class of the social compact, from the Throne of the Monarch to the mansions of the wealthy, the circle of the citizen, and the cottage of the peasant.

Impressed with these sentiments, we cannot but deprecate the practice recently carried to such an unprecedented extent, by some evil disposed persons, of taking advantage of passing occurrences to effect their nefarious designs by inflammatory speeches, tending to excite clamour and discontent in the minds of the ignorant and unwary; and abusing to licentiousness the liberty of the press, endeavouring, by means of seditious and blasphemous publications, to inflame their minds, to mislead the well disposed, to banish all fear of God, to bring into contempt all Authorities, lawfully constituted, and to diffuse a phrenzied fervour throughout the land, alike dangerous to your Majesty's Person and Government, and to the peace, tranquillity, and welfare of your Majesty's loyal subjects of every rank and degree.

We view with regret, but we hope without any just cause of alarm, the unceasing efforts of one class of the community to induce your Majesty to remove from your Councils those eminent Statesmen who, with such fidelity to your Majesty, and with such honour and advantage to the nation, have, under your Majesty's auspices, so long dispensed the resources and wielded the strength of the British empire. We, in common with the rest of your Majesty's faithful subjects, feel and lament the heavy pressure of the present times, occasioned, as we believe, by a concurrence of fortuitous circumstances beyond the sphere of human efforts to controul; but we entertain a confidence that all that a wise and paternal Government can effect towards the amelioration of those circumstances, will be still attempted by your Majesty's present Ministers. We remember, with gratitude, the signal and unparalleled success with which it pleased God to crown the measures of those Ministers so wisely adopted and continued by your Majesty when exercising the Sovereign functions as Regent of the United Kingdom. For these successes, brilliant and important beyond example, either in this or any other age or clime, we desire to render unfeigned thanks to the Supreme Disposer of all events; and as it hath pleased Him thereby to give peace to the bleeding nations, with these facts in view, and with the confidence thus reposed, we venture humbly and respectfully to submit our hope that it may be your Majesty's pleasure that no such change of administration, as this clamour would presume to dictate, may at this juncture take place.

With the enjoyment of our present privileges as Protestants and as Dissenters, we beg permission to express to your Majesty our grateful and entire satisfaction; nor can we conceive it possible that there is a single individual, throughout your Majesty's dominions, either among the Dissenters, the members of the Romish Communion, or any other sect, who can justly complain of any undue restrictions in the exercise of his religious faith, or in the mode of his religious worship; the extension of those privileges, by our late venerable and beloved Sovereign, and the continuation of them by your Majesty, has for ever superseded every possible objection, and anticipated every reasonable claim to further indulgence, on this point: for if liberty of conscience is required, we already fully possess it; if additional concessions are demanded, that demand, we humbly conceive, can only originate in a latent wish for power, an incipient grasping at authority; and therefore it was with genuine exultation we hailed your Majesty's determination to follow the example of your illustrious Ancestors of the House of Brunswick in maintaining inviolate the Protestant interest and the Constitution of this country as by law established in Church and State.

Thus, Sire, we have presumed respectfully to lay our sentiments at the foot of the Throne, conceiving it our bounden duty so to do, when infidelity and disloyalty, urged by every malignant motive, are stalking unblushingly through the land. Those sentiments we have imbibed as Christians and as Britons; they were strenuously inculcated by our late revered Pastor; and, above all, we consider them as authorised, warranted, and enjoined by the precepts of Divine Revelation; and, as such, we hesitate not to declare our firm and conscientious conviction that not only infidelity to our God, but disloyalty to our Prince in the exercise of his rightful prerogative, is incompatible with true Christianity.

Expressing, as we thus do, our heartfelt attachment to your Majesty's Royal Person and Government, and our ready obedience to the laws of our country, we sincerely pray that the Almighty King of kings and Lord of lords may bring to nought all the evil designs of your Majesty's enemies, whether foreign or domestic; and that in the pleasing contemplation of the welfare of your subjects, your Majesty's reign may be long and prosperous over a free, united, and happy people.

With these sentiments, we beg permission respectfully to subscribe ourselves, your Majesty's most dutiful, most loyal and devoted subjects,
