The King having, in contemplation of the approaching ceremony of His Royal Coronation, been pleased to nominate and appoint Charles Marquess of Queensberry, Archibald Earl of Cassillis, James Earl of Lauderdale, and Robert Viscount Melville, to be Extra Knights of the Most Ancient and Most Noble Order of the Thistle (to succeed as vacancies shall occur in the number of the twelve Knights Brethren of the said Order), His Majesty was this day pleased to invest the said Earls of Cassillis and Lauderdale, and Viscount Melville (the Marquess of Queensberry being absent), with the ensigns of the said Order.

His Majesty having signed the several instruments for that purpose, which were, previously to the ceremony, presented to the Sovereign by Robert Quarme, Esq. Gentleman Usher of the Green Rod (in the absence of the Secretary), the Earl of Cassillis was called into the Royal Presence, being preceded by His Royal Highness the Duke of Clarence, and supported by the Earl of Morton and the Duke of Athol, the two next Senior Knights present. Upon entering into the Royal Presence, with the usual reverences, the Earl of Cassillis was presented by the said two Knights, and, kneeling down, was knighted by the King with the sword of state; his Lordship, having kissed His Majesty's hand, rose up, when the Gentleman Usher of the Green Rod administered the oath to his Lordship; then Green Rod, kneeling, presented the ensigns of the Order, upon a crimson velvet cushion, to the King, who put the ribband over the Earl's left shoulder; and his Lordship, having again had the honour of kissing His Majesty's hand, withdrew, with the usual reverences, in the same manner in which he had entered.
