

gun can be brought to any good conclusion. The Circle of Franconia raises Men, being resolved to have an Army of 24000 Men on foot for the defence of the Empire.

Cologne, Nov. 20. Monsieur de Timbonneau, Envoy Extraordinary from France, is returned from Coblentz, having had several Conferences with the Elector of Trier and his Ministers. The Deputies of Liege are expected here on Sunday next, and considering the disposition as well his Electoral Highness as the said City appears to be now in, it's not doubted but there will be an accommodation of the differences that have so long depended between them, and have been the occasion of so much disturbance to that City. Our Letters from Frankfort tell us, That they were with great impatience expecting the return of the Courier which the French Ambassadors had sent to Paris to know the Kings Pleasure concerning their continuing the Negotiation, as is desired by the Deputies of the Empire, after the expiration of the Term.

From Dantzick they write, That an Alliance of mutual Defence was concluded between the Emperor and the King of Poland, which many are of opinion needs a Confirmation, for that they cannot believe the Crown of Poland will engage it self in a new War with the Turks, which it would do by such a League, if the Advices that come from all parts That the Grand-Signior intends to enter into Hungary with a great Army the next Spring, be true. This is certain, That the States of that Kingdom are to meet at Warsaw the latter end of January next; and it's most probable that such important resolutions, according to the constitution of that Government, will be left to them. From Stockholm they write, That the Dyet which is now assembled there, proceeds, in the affairs that were recommended to them by the King, very much to his satisfaction.
