THE following Addresses, having been transmitted to Viscount Sidmouth, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, by the several persons whose names are respectively subjoined to each Address, were presented by His Lordship to His Majesty, who was pleased to receive the same very graciously:

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, Recorder, Aldermen, Sheriff, and Common Councilmen of your ancient City of Canterbury, in Burghmote assembled, humbly beg leave to approach your Majesty with the most heartfelt congratulations on your Majesty's Coronation; an event contemplated by all ranks of your Majesty's subjects with sentiments which that sacred and religious ceremony alone could inspire.

As a public testimony of your Majesty's determination to wield the sceptre of power (which we sincerely rejoice Divine Providence has been pleased to place in your Majesty's hands) in a way that may be best calculated to promote the happiness and prosperity of your subjects and to support our glorious Constitution, the period was hailed by every lover of his country with the sincerest emotions of gratitude that ever pervaded the hearts of Englishmen.

Confident in your Majesty's assurances of protection, and devoutly relying on that paternal care which your Majesty has always evinced towards your faithful subjects, and penetrated with the most ardent zeal and attachment for your Majesty's Royal Person, we most fervently pray, that Divine Providence may long preserve your Majesty's sacred life, and grant to your Majesty a happy and a prosperous reign over a dutiful, loyal, and a grateful people.

Given under our common seal, at the Guildhall of the said City, this 4th day of September 1821, Nutt, Town Clerk.

[Transmitted by S. R. Lushington, Esq. and Lord Clifton, M.M. P. for Canterbury.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Members of the Cornwall Literary and Philosophical Institution, established in the Town of Truro, beg permission thus humbly to approach your august Person with our sincere congratulations on your Majesty's Coronation, a ceremony in which we beheld the Sovereign of a free and great people solemnly promise before Heaven, this country, and assembled Europe, to maintain, to the utmost of his power, those Laws and that Constitution under which the blessings of civil and religious liberty, have been enjoyed by the favour of Divine Providence in a measure unexampled in the history of nations.

We are sensible how much we have been indebted for the preservation of those blessings in time of peculiar difficulty and danger, to the wisdom of your Majesty's councils and vigour of your arms. But now in a season of tranquillity, we turn with pleasure to the contemplation of those qualities which form the brightest ornaments of peace, to that early and continued love and munificent patronage of science, and to that refined taste and those literary acquirements by which your Majesty has ever been so highly distinguished; and we feel confident that to the more dazzling trophies of war, won in an arduous and protracted struggle for our name and nation, will succeed, under your Majesty's auspices, the calmer and happier triumphs of literature and the arts.

That your Majesty may continue to sway the sceptre of this great empire, in the full enjoyment of health, honour, and happiness, receiving the best recompence of good Government, in the increasing prosperity and knowledge, and the moral and religious improvement of your people, is our sincere and ardent prayer.

Signed, in the name of the Members of the Cornwall Literary and Philosophical Institution.

R. H. Vivian, Vice-President.
