TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1821.

THE following Addresses, having been transmitted to Viscount Sidmouth, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, by the several persons whose names are respectively subjoined to each Address, were presented by His Lordship to His Majesty, who was pleased to receive the same very graciously:

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, the Ministers of the Presbytery of Turriff, beg leave to approach your Majesty with the assurance of our faithful and steady attachment to your Majesty's Person and Government, and of our heartfelt gratitude for the blessings of that unrivalled Constitution, by which our civil and religious liberties are so effectually secured and protected.

We most respectfully and cordially congratulate your Majesty on your Coronation as Sovereign of the British Dominions; and most earnestly pray that the Crown, thus happily placed on your royal head, may long remain with your Majesty, and be continued in your illustrious House to the latest posterity.

We have the satisfaction to assure your Majesty, that, amid the agitations which lately prevailed in the kingdom, and the attempts made in some parts of the country to disseminate irreligious and seditious principles, the people, under our pastoral charge, have been distinguished by their unshaken loyalty to their King, and their respect for the civil and religious institutions of our country: sentiments which we shall never fail to inculcate and cherish wherever our influence extends.

That this great empire, under your Majesty's paternal sway, may continue to maintain the high rank it possesses abroad, and to enjoy peace and tranquillity at home; and that your Majesty, after having long and happily worn the Crown of your Fathers, may obtain from the King of Kings a Crown of immortal glory, are the fervent prayers of, may it please your Majesty, your Majesty's most loyal and dutiful subjects, the Ministers of the Presbytery of Turriff.

Signed, in our name and presence, and by our appointment, this 25th day of September 1821.

Alexander Johnston, Moderator.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

The Address of the City of Dublin Commission Grand Jury.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, the Grand Jury, beg leave to approach your Majesty with feelings of the most ardent attachment to your Majesty's Person and Government.

With peculiar delight do we hail the day that brought you our beloved Sovereign to these shores, and afforded us, in common with all others of your Majesty's subjects in Ireland, the opportunity we have long anxiously wished for of testifying our gratitude for this kind and ever-to-be-remembered mark of your gracious condescension and royal favour.

Your Majesty's visit has already been attended with blessings indescribable, and the kind and endearing language which has flowed from your royal lips has been the means of cementing that bond of union among all classes of your Majesty's Irish subjects, which we hope may continue unimpaired to the latest posterity.

We most earnestly entreat the Gracious Disposer of all events to bless your Majesty with a long and prosperous reign, in order that we, in common with your people, may continue to enjoy the mild and happy laws under which we are governed, and that we may have the supreme happiness of welcoming your Majesty again and again to this part of your kingdom, in which your Majesty lives in the hearts of your faithful and affectionate Irish subjects.

Robert White, Sheriff's Peer, Foreman,

[Transmitted by His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Provincial Grand Master, Provincial Grand Wardens, and Masters and Wardens of Lodges, composing the Provincial Grand Lodge of Munster, in especial Grand Lodge assembled, most respectfully beg leave to approach your Majesty with our continued assurances of attachment to your Royal Person, and unabated regard to our glorious Constitution; an attachment not less inculcated by our innate feelings as subjects, than by the fundamental principles of an Order to which your Majesty has been graciously pleased to extend your patronage, and a regard to our Constitution supported by those pillars of the nation, freedom and independence.

We, in common with all your Majesty's subjects, hail your visit to our native land as the most auspicious harbinger of that brotherly love, which is the bond of all society, as the foundation of that unity of feeling to your Majesty's Person and Government, which both so eminently merit, and as the cement of that concord which binds man to man, and unites the whole as in one body, in a firm support of your Majesty's Crown and illustrious House.

May the most High God, in whose hands alone is the power, wisdom, and strength of Princes, grant that your Majesty may enjoy a long, prosperous, and happy reign.

Given under the seal of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Munster, the 6th day of August 1821, and of Masoury 5821.

Shannon (by authority of his Lordship, J. M'Carthy), Provincial Grand Master of Munster.

The humble Address of the Mayor, Sheriff, Common-Council, Burgesses, Freeholders, and other Inhabitants of the Town and County of Haverfordwest, in Common-Hall assembled.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loving subjects, the Mayor, Sheriff, Common-Council, Burgesses, Freeholders, and other Inhabitants of the Town and County of Haverfordwest, in Common-Hall assembled, beg leave to offer up our warmest expressions of zeal, loyalty, and affection for your Majesty's Royal Person, Family, and Government.

Regretting, as we most sincerely did, that your Majesty's sufferings during a short, but tempestuous, voyage in our turbulent and dangerous seas, connected with other prudential reasons, which your Majesty was most graciously pleased to condescend to explain to us in a manner peculiarly delicate and flattering to our feelings, prevented us from having the honour of paying those respectful and marked attentions in passing through our Town and County, that the greatness of the occasion, and the wishes of your good and loyal subjects, were desirous of offering to the Constitutional Head of the Empire vested in your Majesty's sacred Person; yet we could not but feel proud that our justly celebrated Milford Haven, through the intervention of that Divine Power which rides upon the winds and direct the storm, should twice in a few days have offered safety to our beloved Monarch, and rest and comfort to the gallant squadron entrusted with so precious a charge.

Permit us, most gracious Sire, to offer our warmest congratulations on your Majesty's safe arrival in the proud metropolis of the British empire, and be pleased to accept our unfeigned assurances of zealous attachment to your illustrious House. Feelingly alive to the advantages we have derived from hereditary succession in an undisturbed limited Protestant Monarchy, under the mild administration of the law, which, confident in its strength, tempers justice with mercy, we are desirous of no revolution, no Utopian kingdom, fully convinced there is sufficient vigour in the Legislature to correct and to amend what, by lapse of time, may have fallen into decay, as well as to add to, and improve upon, what further experience may have shewn to be defective.

That you, Sire, may long continue to sit upon the Throne of your venerable and revered ancestors, a patriot King, living in the hearts and affections of your faithful people, is the fervent wish and prayer of us your Majesty's most loyal, dutiful, and devoted subjects. G. Harries, M. D. Mayor.

[Transmitted by the Mayor.]

To the King's Most Excellent Majesty.

The humble and loyal Address of the Nobility, Gentry, Clergy, Freeholders, and Inhabitants of the County of Pembroke, at a Meeting held this 24th day of September 1821, at the Guildhall, Haverfordwest.

May it please your Majesty,

We, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, embrace an early opportunity of humbly offering to your Majesty our most sincere and heartfelt congratulations on the safe and happy termination of your Majesty's recent journey, a journey which we rejoice afforded to your Majesty the most ample proofs of the devoted loyalty of a very large portion of your Majesty's subjects, and which gave to them the grateful privilege of personally tendering to their venerated Sovereign the genuine and spontaneous homage of an affectionate and loyal people.

To the unshaken loyalty of the inhabitants of Wales the records of past ages bear honourable testimony, but to the person of your Majesty, whom for so many years they were proud to acknowledge as their Prince, their devotion is the most ardent and enthusiastic, and we beg to assure your Majesty that in no part of the principality is this feeling deeper or more universal than amongst the inhabitants of the county of Pembroke.

That we, the inhabitants of so remote a part of your Majesty's dominions, should have been honoured by your Majesty's presence among us is an event which fills our hearts with the exultation of honest pride; and the proofs, which we personally experienced, of your Majesty's most gracious condescension, have even augmented, if possible, our ever warm attachment to the person of your most gracious Majesty.

The impression which your Majesty's goodness and condensation have left upon our hearts is such as we can only feel but cannot describe.—That Heaven may continue to shower on your Majesty it's best and choicest blessings, and long preserve to your Majesty the Throne and Sceptre of these kingdoms, is the sincere and fervent prayer of us, your Majesty's most loyal, affectionate, and devoted subjects.

By order of the Meeting,
Jos. Harries, Sheriff.
