SATURDAY, JANUARY 12, 1822.

THE following Address, having been transmitted to Viscount Sidmouth, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, by His Grace the Duke of Montrose, has been presented by His Lordship to the King, and most graciously received:

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Provost, Magistrates, and Council of your ancient Royal Burgh of Stirling, in Council assembled, beg leave to approach your Majesty's Throne, to congratulate your Majesty on your safe return from a paternal visit to your Irish and Continental subjects; and that you have been preserved amidst the fatigues and perils by sea to which you were so much exposed. The kind hand of Providence watched over you, and restored you to a free and happy people.

With unfeigned happiness and delight, we observe your Majesty's gracious intention of soon visiting your loyal and affectionate people in Scotland; and we humbly hope that your Majesty will, on that occasion, deign to visit your Royal Burgh of Stirling, so celebrated in the history of former ages, the favoured residence of your Royal Predecessors and the Parliaments of Scotland, and which still continues to be the much admired resort of all travellers. And we trust that your Majesty will so far gratify your loving and loyal subjects here, as to honour them with your Royal Presence, and thereby renew, in some measure, the scenes of former days, which cannot fail to excite emotions of lively joy and gratitude in all our breasts.

That your Majesty's happy and prosperous reign over a free and loyal people may be long continued, is our fervent prayer.

Signed in our name and by our appointment, by John Thomson, Esq. of Allan-Park, our Provost, and sealed with the common seal of the Burgh, at Stirling, the 2d day of January, in the year of our Lord 1822,

John Thomson, Provost.
